DOROTHY DIX

Fiance Refuses To Accept Daughter Of Young Widow

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a young widow whose husband was killed in an accident a year and a half ago. I have a daughter, Sally, 7 years old and we have been living with my parents. For the past eight months I have been going with a nice young man who wants to marry me but he does not want my little girl. He is willing for me to have her week ends, but that is all. I have an income and a good home with mother and dad, but I do get lonely for a companion.

Dorothy Dix

DORIS

ANSWER: Dont' let loneliness blind you to your duties as a mother. Sally is your first responsibility; her welfare must be your prime consideration. Happiness will never be bought at her expense. Sacrificing the child to a fiance's whims will merit nothing but misery and no man worthy of your love would demand so much.

When the first requisites of a good husband—kindness, consideration, unselfishness — are so lacking in a fiance, certain it is that you have picked the wrong man. Wait for a man who will be glad to accept the responsibility of your little girl, who will, in fact, be unable to resist her charms.

Your Conscience Will Hurt

Should you accede to your friends wishes and leave Sally to marry him, you would never have an easy moment with your own conscience. Your life would be a constant yearning for the child and you would never cease reproaching yourself for her abandonment. You are fortunate to have so many material advantages in life. Don't be spoiled by them and expect all life to be a bed of roses. Until the right man comes along for you, a certain amount of loneliness will be the thorn, but the love and companionship of your daughter should be ample compensation.

DEAR MISS DIX: Until two months ago my husband was devoted to me. Then he met a young girl of 19 and fell in love with her. He is 30. He assures me he loves me, too, and doesn't want his freedom. I am expecting a baby in three months, and this girl thinks my husband will divorce me after the baby is born. He has begged me to stick to him until he gets over this affair but I am afraid it might get more serious. R. F.

ANSWER: Your husband is in the throes of an infatuation that will probably be as short as it was stormy. He doesn't show much consideration in subjecting you to such emotional strain when you are already undergoing so much, but it's fortunate for the human race that a woman's strength can uphold man's weakness.

Your husband is a weak character, and it is your fortitude that will ultimately bring a united family through this crisis. There'll be quite a few heartaches before the happy ending, but stick with your husband and he'll come to his senses.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: At 29 am I too old to wear pedal-pushers or shorts? My husband likes them on me because I am of small build—5 feet 5 inches tall, weight 125 pounds. I bought them for special occasions such as hiking or driving, but my mother thinks they are unsuitable and wants me to exchange them for a pretty sundress.

✧ ✧ ✧ PAT

ANSWER: The suitability of wearing apparel depends more on circumstances than on age. A young-looking woman of 29 with a nice figure will look better in informal clothing than a teen-ager with a heavy build. If you and your husband like this type of clothing, there's no reason why you should shun it.

But please note—there are times and places where such things are in order and times when they are not. I would hesitate to mention the fact that shorts, halter suits and the like are not the proper thing for church, except that I have seen so many costumes of this kind at services. Pick the occasion, wear the proper accessories (or rather, don't wear accessories such as jewelry), and enjoy your pedal-pushers.

Be Individual In Your Dress

NEW YORK (CP)—For women who aspire to the best-dressed classification, designer Anthony Blotta gives this tip: "Get the assembly line out of your system."

Mr. Blotta contends that modern mass-production methods and art-in-industry streamlining have blunted the average woman's urge to be herself.

"She has not yet accepted rubber-stamp fashion, but she does not demand the variety she once did."

The woman who, in choosing her clothes, thinks only of what "they" are wearing is on the wrong track—she will be lost in the crowd, says Mr. Blotta.

On the other hand, the one who studies the work of fine designers until she finds the ones who best express her own feeling about line, color and taste has found the guide to distinction.

Furthermore, says this designer, it's just as easy to be different as it is to look like the woman next door—and at no greater cost.

Of Interest to Women

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Raspberry Wine Requires Finesse To Make Properly

QUESTION: I find your column very homey. Perhaps some day I shall get around to trying them all (your recipes I mean).

Reading your todya's recipe for Black currant wine inspired me to ask for a recipe for red raspberry wine, considering that I have plenty of raspberries but no currants.

I have been watching patiently for a recipe for fish and chips. Does not the fish have to be dipped in a batter to get that golden crust on it?

I do appreciate your helpfulness. Mrs. John W.

ANSWER: For a gal that is "teetotal" I am acting strangely. This making of homemade wine is a fine science. I hope you use the first recipe listed here—for it yields a finer product.

Homemade Raspberry Wine No. 1

Ten quarts each finest ripe red raspberries and boiling water, 6 lbs. sugar, 2 tablespoons brewers' yeast, ¼ oz. isinglass, 1 pint French brandy. Wash the fruit and drain well. Place in earthenware or wooden vessel, pour over boiling water and let stand, covered, 24 hours. Pass through fine sieve and let stand another day, covered. Strain carefully, without disturbing the sediment which has settled on the bottom, into another vessel. Add the sugar, stir in the yeast, and as soon as the sugar is dissolved turn into a clean dry cask. Cover the bunghole with a folded cloth until fermentation subsides, then bung it closely. Let stand 1 month, then rack off into clean cask; add the brandy and isinglass dissolved in a little warm water, bung tightly and let remain undisturbed for 12 months. Then bottle, cork securely, let stand 12 months longer before using.

Put 6 quarts ripe raspberries into an earthenware or clean wooden vessel bruise with heavy wooden spoon or potato masher and pour over 6 quarts cold water. Let stand 24 hours, stirring 3 or 4 times. Strain through jelly bag but do not squeeze it. Measure the liquid. To each quart add 1 lb. loaf sugar, stir until dissolved, then turn into wooden cask. Bung loosely until fermentation ceases. Tighten bung. Let remain 3 months. Bottle. It may now be used but is fine if it stands much longer.

Fish and Chips

Fish: Select halibut or cod fillets cut in serving pieces (or any desired fish) and dry very well with dry clean tea towel. Dip into batter: Sift 1 cup flour with ½ teaspoon salt then add gradually 2/3 cup milk which has been beaten with 1 egg yolk⅔ Add 1 tablespoon melted shortening and fold in the beaten egg white. When you dip the fillets in this batter let them drain a little then plunge into deep fat at 385 deg. Fahr., about 8 or 10 minutes turning over once. Drain on unglazed paper towel.

Chips: Pare and cut into long strips of desired size, old potatoes. Let soak in cold water to cover 1 hour. Drain and dry thoroughly. If desired pre-cook in boiling water 3 minutes and drain and dry. If you do not precook potatoes they require longer time in frying fat. Fry in deep fat at 385 deg. Fahr. turning over once, until crisp and golden and tender. Drain on unglazed paper towelling, sprinkle with salt before serving.

Salads Ideal For Summer Crisp, Cool, Nutritious

By KAY REX
Canadian Staff Writer

This is Natioual Salad Week seven days set aside to point up the value of crisp, colorful uncooked dishes.

Sponsored by the Canadian Horticultural Council, salad week was founded to promote the use of farm and garden products.

The federal agriculture department says there are three types of persons—those who eat salads because they like them; those who eat salads to be healthy; those who don't eat salads at all.

For a wife faced with a non-salad-eating husband, the department suggests a subtle approach.

Does he like cheese? Then try a salad in which cheese is the dominent ingredient. Is salmon a favorite? Stress salmon.

"Many a man . . . has been weaned away from less nutritious food to a liking for salads by such wiles," advises the department. "But don't expect him to ever admit it."

Salad Dressings

Home economists of the department's consumer section have a few tips on dressing which may prove valuable to the salad-conscious housewife.

Here is their recipe for a french dressing.

Ingredients: one-quarter cup cider vinegar; three-quarters cup salad oil; one teaspoon sugar; dash of pepper; one-half teaspoon salt; one-half teaspoon dry mustard.

Place all ingredients in a jar with a tight-fitting lid. Shake until thick and creamy looking. Store in a cold place. Shake well before using.

For variety—add two tablespoons chopped parsley, one chopped hard-cooked egg and ¼ cup chopped cooked beets. Use this dressing with a plain lettuce salad.

Add ¼ teaspoon cup tomato catsup and serve on meat salads.

Add one teaspoon of meat sauce and serve with vegetable and egg salads.

Add three tablespoons of peanut butter and use on cabbage or carrot salads.

Add three tablespoons of grated cheese and serve with vegetable salads.

Another Recipe

Carrot salad is a favorite with those who like bright dishes. Ingredients: one bunch of carrots cooked and diced; one can peas, drained; one teaspoon chopped onion, celery diced in small pieces; dash of lemon juice; salt and pepper to taste two hard-boiled eggs; salad dressing.

Line a salad bowl with lettuce. Fill in centre with salad. Slice eggs and put on top.

Recent tests have proved that most persons like frozen peas with sugar. At the California Foods Research Institute 190 women each were given tw opaper cups of peas. Of this figure 155 preferred those to which three per cent sugar (by weight) had been added. Thirty-one preferred peas packed in their natural state, without sugar. Four expressed no preference.

JELL-O GINGER-UPPER
The delicious freshness of Jell-O, the tangy zip of gingerale, combine to make this treat!
1 package Raspberry Jell-O
½ cup hot water
1½ teaspoons lemon juice
1½ cups gingerale
1 cup diced, drained, canned pears
Dissolve Jell-O in hot water. Add lemon juice and gingerale gradually. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in pears. Turn into mould. Chill until firm. If desired, garnish with whipped cream, and grapes dipped in slightly-beaten egg white and fruit sugar. 6 servings.

Jell-O is a registered trade-mark, owned in Canada by General Foods, Limited

JELL-O
NO OTHER DESSERT CAN BE SERVED IN SO MANY WAYS!
A Product of General Foods

or JELL-O DANCING DOLLS
Chill separately Lime and Strawberry Jell-O (2 of Jell-O's 7 delicious flavors) in individual moulds. When firm, unmould Jell-O "skirts" on plates. Peel banana, halve lengthwise. Cut in inch slices; dip in lemon juice. Place banana slice, round side up, atop each Jell-O "skirt". For heads, attach maraschino cherries with toothpicks. Garnish "skirts" with whipped cream "flounces". 8 servings.

or GRAPEFRUIT JULEP CUP
Pile cubes of Lime Jell-O (the flavor is gloriously fresh pure fruit from real limes) in sherbet glasses with 12 grapefruit sections, cut in chunks. 4 or 5 servings. Wonderful flavor combination . . . but only with Jell-O can you get such delicious results, with such grand economy! Jell-O's superb "locked-in" flavors mean more tempting desserts, fresher tasting salads.

or LEMON CRYSTAL WITH PEACHES
Half fill parfait glasses with cubes of Lemon Jell-O (the flavor is pure fruit from real lemons). Cover with sliced, drained, canned peaches. Fill glasses with cubes. If desired, garnish with whipped cream and additional peach slices. Makes 5 or 6 servings. Delicious — easy — and thrifty, Jell-O Powders make dessert-planning a lark.

or CHERRY SURPRISE
Pure eating pleasure! Chill Pineapple Jell-O in shallow pan. When firm break into flakes with a fork. Line parfait glasses with strips of sponge cake. Fill with mixture of equal parts of flaked Jell-O, Baker's Coconut, and canned, pitted red cherries. 6 servings. Serve such "party-perfect" desserts every day. With Jell-O they're so gloriously thrifty!

Liquor, Disturbances Charges Yield Fines

Two out-of-town men were put in police cells overnight and today charged with causing a disturbance on Cameron St. and having illegal possession of liquor.

Today in police court John Clark, 35, Welland, pleaded guilty to illegal possession and was fined $15 and costs. The other charge was dropped. Ronald Mayer, 24, Oshawa, pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance and fined $10 and costs. The liquor charge against him was dropped by the Crown.

Originally they pleaded not guilty to both charges and were remanded in custody on $100 bail to August 16. After thinking it over for a while they decided to change their plea.

PAVING STARTS

Resurfacing of Lindsay streets started Thursday when the asphalt plant which turns out the surfacing material went into operation. The resurfacing started on the Lindsay Street strip south of the bridge. Plans show that only half of the main street will be done at a time so that sections will not have to be closed off.

Wait And See Says Howe About Seaway

WASHINGTON, July 27 (CP)—Production Minister Howe of Canada last night struck a cautious note on the possibility of Canada developing the St. Lawrence seaway without United States help.

"We'll have to consider this thing carefully and wait and see what develops," he told reporters as he embarked for a light back to Ottawa.

Mr. Howe was in Washington for joint Canda-United States industrial mobilization talks.

He said he was aware that the US House of Representatives public works committee, by voting 15 to 12 to table a bill to undertake joint development of the project with Canada, had the effect of "pigeon-holing" US legislation.

But he said the question may be taken up again at some later date by Congress. Meanwhile Canada would study the problem of proceeding to develop the Canadian side of the seaway without US help.

However, he believed it would take several hundred millions of dollars to do the job and that was a "lot of money." Canada would have to study the matter carefully before making a final decision, he said.

Paratroopers For Defence Sent To Korea

OTTAWA, July 27. (CP) — Canada is starting to tap the ranks of her home-defence paratroopers fairly heavily to keep up the Korean commitment.

It was learned at Camp Petawawa, Ont., yesterday that a 160-man company from the 1st Battalion, Royal Canadian regiment, has been posted to Wainwright, Alta., to be available for Korean service.

The men would presumably be among those available for replacement of men due for rotation leave back in Canada. It is likely that equal continguents from the other two paratroop battalions will get the same assignment.

They are the men of the 23rd Airborne Brigade, the formation the government decided it could not afford to send out of Canada when the UN started pressing for troops last year.

At that time, the 23rd was the only formation Canada had available to send. Now she has the 25th Brigade in Korea and another, the 27th, preparing to go to Europe.

Institute Visits Thousand Islands

ROSENEATH, July 27 (ENS)—Roseneath Women's Institute sponsored a bus trip to Gananoque on Wednesday and a boat cruise around the Thousand Islands and over to New York State.

Thirty-four members and their friends left Roseneath at 7. a.m. going by Highway 45 to Cobourg and then by Highway 2 to Gananoque, stopping at the village of Deseronto,seeing Old Fort Henry in Kingston, and having dinner in Gananoque Park before leaving on an afternoon cruise of the Thousand Islands. They returned home at midnight.

Included among those on the trip were: Misses Jessie Sherwin, Mary Halstead, Nelda Brown, Mrs. A. Nill, Mrs. Harry Down, Mrs. Frank Brown, Mrs. Jas. L. Timlin, Mrs. Albert Halstead, Mrs. Arnold Elder, Mrs. Walton Lean, Mrs. John Beatty, Mrs. J. W. Pacey, Mrs. George Bull, Mrs. E. Sandercock, Mrs. Clarence Down, Mrs. C. Grigg, Mrs. E. Burrison, Mrs. Oscar Adams, Mrs. Fred Murphy, Mrs. Fran k Adams, Mrs. Bart Thackeray, Mrs. Harold Taylor, Mrs. Clarence Thackeray, Mrs. Alfred Pringle, Mrs. Cephas Robins, Mrs. Er Darling, Mrs. Harold McCracken, Mrs. Leo Timlin, Mrs. Leslie Tucker , Mrs. James Thompson, Larry Timlin, George Nill, Bill Murphy and Frank Taylor.

Mixed Salad

KITCHENER, July 27 (CP)—A huge transport truck, loaded with potatoes, cucumbers, tomatoes and apples, upset five miles west of here Thursday. No one was injured. One police officer's terse description: "mixed salad."

RESPONDS TO TREATMENT

Reports from the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, show that nine-year-old Sandra Best of Lindsay is responding to a new and very expensive form of treatment. The girl was admitted to the hospital last week with leukemia—a disease that attacks the bloodstream. Doctors say that there are hopes of achieving victory over this disease which is threatening the girl's life.

Six Cattle Killed By Lightning Bolt

STRATFORD, July 27 —(CP)—Six cattle were killed by lightning as they stood under a tree during a severe electrical storm at nearby Brunner Thursday on the farm of Wesley Whitney.

The dead cows were discovered by 12-year-old David Whitney in the evening when he went to get the animals at milking time. The loss represented half of the Whitney herd.

Tagged Potatoes Sold, Marketer Fined

For permitting four bags of potatoes to be removed that had already been tagged and put under detention by agricultural inspectors, C. H. Langford, RR 7, Peterborough, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs in police court today.

E. A. Walton, senior fruit and vegetable inspector for Eastern Ontario, said he saw Langford at the market square May 26 with 10 bags and two hampers of potatoes. He said the potatoes were not graded and he placed a detention tag on them.

This evidence was corroborated by Carleton Patton, provincial fruit and vegetable inspector.

Some 20 minutes after the potatoes had been labelled as nonmarketable the inspectors returned and found three or four bags gone. Inspector Patton said Langford admitted selling them.

In his own defence Langford said that the potatoes had been sold before they were tagged by the inspectors, and the owners later claimed them. When they were taken he was absent on business and his wife was at the stand. So he denied responsibility.

Magistrate R. B. Baxter, Port Hope, said that Langford, if he was innocent, could easily have brought his wife along as a witness but he didn't do so.

Mine Checks Shaft Accident

SUDBURY, Ont., July 27 (CP)—Officials of the International Nickel Company's Frood Stobie mine today began an investigation into an accident that claimed two lives and sent five others to hospital Thursday.

Killed were Leslie G. Marsh, 35, and John A. MacDonald, 37, both of Sudbury.

Doctors at the company's hospital in nearby Copper Cliff reported the condition of the injured men as satisfactory today.

The injured: John K. Morton, Gills Ethier, Earl Coombs, W. Psadowski and P. Goguen, all of Sudbury or its suburbs.

The accident occurred when timbers collapsed at the 1,200-foot level of the mine, about a mile north of here. Help reached the men immediately.

Mixed Party Sail River For Sociology

MOUNDSVILLE, W.Va., July 27 (AP)—The nautical trip of two unmarried girls and a pair of bachelors—all for the sake of sociology—is coming along swimmingly.

At least that's the way it worked out last night.

Today, they may be under way again.

The four young people, hitching rides down the Ohio river, got dunked last night when their 12-by-20 foot raft turned turtle.

They planned to continue the river jaunt to the Missisippi, then on south to New Orleans. It's what they call an experiment in sociology to find out how four people adjust themselves to living in a confined area.

One of the nautical-minded girls is Mary Ellin Grady, 24-year-old University of Michigan student. She said any objections about four unmarried young people making such a trip were silly.

"Besides," she added, "all of us have other romantic interests."

The other seafarers rescued by nearby river boats were Geraldine Garcia, Boston artist; Milton Borden, 30, of New Bedford, Mass., and Don Brown, 24, a University of Michigan student from New York.

Their cramped raft with an eight-foot-square cabin was being towed by a river boat when it turned over.

7,000 Seek Nun Hope For Cures

STE. MARGUERITE, Que., July 27 (CP).—More than 7,000 men, women and children poured into this small Laurentian village yesterday, drawn by the belief they might obtain relief from sickness and deformities by divine cures from a 62-year-old nun.

It was the final reception for Sister Ann Felicite, who has been visited by more than 200,000 suffering people in the last two years.

Villagers here claim "cures" have been effected through Sister Felicite's prayers, but none of the "miracles" have been recognized by authorities of the Roman Catholic Church.

Cure Rev. A. Caron of the Ste. Marguerite parish declined to comment on the nun's activities. The archbishop's palace at Montreal also preferred not to discuss the matter.

No reason was given by Sister Felicite for the discontinuation of the "receptions."

Freighter Picks Up 43 Mexican Survivors

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 27 (CP)—The Grace Line freighter Anchor Hitch radioed yesterday it had picked up 43 survivors of the Mexican vessel Guarnero 60 miles south of the Abrejos lighthouse off the coast of Lower California.

The message said the survivors were ot be landed at Ensenada, Mex., today.

The Guarnero, with a leaking hull, flashed distress signals Tuesday and sank after all its passengers and crew were removed by the Anchor Hitch.

Famous Russian Collective Farmer Dies

MOSCOW, July 27 (AP)—The death of Ferapont Golovaty, one of Russia's most-famous collective farmers, became known today. He was 61.

During the war Golovaty, who lived at Saratov on the Lower Volga River, donated enough money from his savings to buy two planes for military use.

This movement- spread among other collective farmers and billions of rubles were donated to buy tanks, guns, planes and other army equipment.

Chinese Nationalists Fear Invasion

TAIPEH, Formosa, July 27—(AP)—A reported Communist build-up near Quemoy, off the China coast, has Chinese Nationalists worried about a possible invasion of the 50-square-mile island.

The Quemoy garrison reported 60,000 Chinese Reds assembled on nearby Amoy.

Quemoy is within easy gun range of both Amoy and the Red China mainland.

RAF Pilots Fly Here In Style For Training

LONDON, July 27. (CP)—British pilots chosen for training in Canada will go there in style starting next month.

Instead of travelling in a strictly utilitarian service aircraft, it was learned today, they'll make the trans-Atlantic trip in stratocruisers chartered by the Air Ministry from BOAC.

They'll fly on BOAC's scheduled services.

In addition to the scheduled flights, parties of AF trainees will make special non-commercial flights by BOAC. The first group is scheduled to leave tonight for Montreal. The RAF decided to charter BOAC planes because of increasing commitments elsewhere.

The RAF trainees, all with 12 weeks' initial training, will be groomed as pilots and navigators under a Canadian scheme covering North Atlantic Treaty forces.

The 71-year-old woman, now blind, continued the story of what she says was her life with Fields, who died Dec. 25, 1946, in connection with her claim for a widow's share in his $711,428 estate.

Mrs. Williams claims she and Fields were married in New York June 24, 1893, and that she bore him seven children.

Between 1900 and 1905, she testified, Fields "would leave a note on the door saying he had gone to lunch but sometimes I wouldn't see him again for several weeks."

Concerning the final parting in Chicago, she said she had had him arrested after she saw him with another woman. He was released after a court appearance and they walked down the street.

He asked her to wait while he made a call nearby and "I never saw him again."

The comedian's legally-recognized widow, Mrs. Harriet V. Fields, opposing Mrs. William's claims, was married to Fields in Can Francisco in 1900.

Liquor Employees Civil Servants Frost States

TORONTO, July 27 —(CP)—Premier Frost said today that employees of the Ontario Liquor Control Board are civil servants.

His statement followed the refusal of commission chairman Arthur Welsh to meet union officials who sought to represent the employees.

A week ago, William Mills, prosident of the General Truck Driver's Union, in a wire to the Premier, demanded the resignation of Mr. Welsh "for his dictatorial and discriminatory action in attempting to stiffle union organiaztion" among the employees.

Mr. Frost made today's statement after consultation with Mr. Welsh and Sivil Cervice Commissioner C. J. Foster.

"The background of this problem is that some previous administrations felt that employees of the Liquor Control Board were not in the full sense civil servants and accordingly, these employees had their own organiaztion with which to deal with the Board," the Premier said.

"Whatever were the reasons for that decision there appears to be no reason why employees of the Liquor Control Board should not be recognized as being civil servants in the full sense of the term."

Same Benefits.

The Premier said the employees receive the same benefits of superannuation, sick leave, holidays and cost of living bonus as other provincial employees.

"As a matter of fact, the president of the Civil Service Association at one time was a Liquor Board employee and numerous employees of the Board are members of the Civil Service Association," Mr. Frost added.

The Premier said that the same situation applied to employees of the Niagara Parks Commission. After consultation with chairman Daley of the Commission, it had been decided that there should be no doubt as to their status.

UN, Red Delegates Clash Over Place Of Buffer Zone

Truman Accuses Russia Of Making War Preparations

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

DETROIT, July 28. (AP)—President Truman bitterly accused Russia today of making dangerous, war-like military preparations "around the world" and warned his country to get ready for "any emergency". Truman questioned whether the Communists "really desire peace in Korea" since, he said, Soviet rulers "are putting themselves in a position where they can commit new acts of aggression at any time." And he assailed administration critics at home for "trying to stir up trouble and suspicion between the people and their government."

Truman flew here from Washington to address an outdoor audience in Cadillac Square in front of the city hall as part of this industrial city's 250th anniversary celebration.

"We can not let our guard down, no matter what happens in Korea," he said in his prepared speech.

"The free world must have armed strength—and have it now—not in reserve, not later, but now.

"We must have men, ships, planes, tanks, and bombs — on hand—ready for any emergency."

The President said Russia's actions "certainly are no indication of peaceful intentions," and went on:

"We do not yet know whether the Communists really desire peace in Korea or whether they are simply trying to gain by negotiations what they have not been able to gain by conquest."

"We intend to find out. The talks can be successful if the Communists are in fact ready to give up aggression in Korea."

He declared that the North Koreans and Chinese Communists "are getting a steady flow of new equipment from the Soviet Union for ground and air use."

"But whatever happens in Korea," the President asserted, "we must not make the mistake of jumping to the conclusion that the Soviet rulers have given up their idea of world conquest."

Getting Ready

The President charged that the armed forces of Russia's satellites "are rapidly being brought to a peak of military readiness" and that the Russians themselves "have more than 4,000,000 men under arms in Europe and the Far East."

Truman said he is dedicated to the building up of such armed strength in the free world that "the Kremlin will have to drop its plans for aggression and subversion."

"When we reach that point," Truman declared, "there can be peace between the Soviet Union and the rest of the world."

Because the United Nations "met the challenge" in Korea, the UN is "a going concern, stronger than ever," Truman asserted. . . .

"We will never quit in a fight for world peace."

5 Fire Brigades Save Village From Mill Fire

MOUNT BRYDGES, Ont., July 28 (CP)—Five companies of firemen, aided by civilian volunteers, fought a desperate two-hour struggle to save this village early today when a fire swept through a lumber yard, levelling a two-storey planing mill, a warehouse, several barns and valuable stocks of lumber.

The fire started in the planing mill of Mount Brydges Lumber Company Ltd., shortly after 2 a.m. and at its peak threatened the entire community.

Firemen, concentrating on confining the blaze, poured water on nearby barns, houses and a grist mill. All buildings in the yard, two nearby barns and large stock piles of lumber were reduced to rubble and ashes before the flames were brought under control.

$500,000 Loss

Unofficial sources placed loss at close to $500,000 which was partly covered by insurance.

The insistent hooting of a CNR freight train roused the community to action about 2:15 a.m. The train engineer apparently spotted the fire as the freight sped past the lumber yard.

When Mount Brydges' volunteer fire brigade arrived, one end of the planing mill was ablaze. Within 15 minutes the mill was a fiery shell and flames had leaped across a 25-foot roadway through the yard and touched off a warehouse and office building opposite.

Packed with sash pine, and clappboard the warehouse burned like kindling.

Barney Barrowcliffe, assistant chief of the Mount Brydges brigade, was overcome by the intense heat. He was revived in the office of Dr. V. V. Pardy with oxygen and later returned to the fire.

Firemen from London, Strathroy, Delaware and Glencoe by this time had arrived in response to calls for assistance. At times firemen had to turn hoses on one another as heat scorched their faces and started to melt oilskins.

Fanned by a steady breeze the blaze spread rapidly from the warehouse eastward down the lumber yard to another storage barn and stacks of lumber. Flames were licking the metal walls of a grist mill at the eastern end and had crept within 15 yards of St. Judge's Anglican Church when the light breeze changed direction, fanning flames back toward their path of destruction.

UN Troops Hit Heavy Resistance

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 28—(AP)—Attacking United Nations troops bumped into heavy resistance again today on the eastern Korean front, where they have been trying for three days to capture dominating high ground.

The hill mass the U.N. Allies want is northeast of Yanggu.

An Eighth Army communique said light enemy contact was reported along the rest of the eastern front and on the central and western fronts.

U.S. B-29's hurled 100 tons of 500-pound bombs at a supply centre at Chinnampo, west coast port city for the North Korean capital of Pyongyang.

Fifth Air Force fighters and light bombers flew 229 sorties through heavy rain and hilltop-level clouds Saturday but limited visibility obscured results.

Save Injured Woman After Mountain Fall

BREUIL, Italy, July 28 (Reuters)—A rescue party reported late Friday night that it had reached a critically injured woman trapped in below-zero weather atop the 14,700-fot Matterhorn in the Swiss Alps after her veteran guide fell to his death. She was identified as Mrs. Hilda Erlanger, 48, of New York.

Earlier reports said the woman broke both legs when she and world-famous Swiss Alpinist Otto Furrer fell 230 feet down the Italian side of the mountain. Furrer was killed.

The woman spent Thursday night lying in a shallow crevasse in 20-below-zero temperature and howling winds. She was about 13,000 feet up.

Boy Covered By Burns Hanging From Tree

MOUNT VERNON, O., July 28 (AP)—A nine-year-old boy—his body covered with burns that may have been sadistic torture—was found hanging unconscious head down from a tree Friday.

Dallis Popham, 18, found the lad, his brother, John, about 100 yards from their home six miles north of Mount Vernon.

Deputy sheriffs said they sought a man who drove a car near the spot shortly before John was found.

At hospital a doctor said the burns might have been made by a cigaret lighter. They seared one foot, the forehead and both palms. A shoe was burned through.

Substitution

BERLIN, July 28—(Reuters)—If a man in Dresden, East Germany, wants a bathing suit, he'll have to buy a lady's two-piece job—bra and all.

Only two-piece suits are available in stores there, which have run out of men's bathing trunks, the newspaper Saechsische Zeitung reported.

All-British Division Takes Form

Commonwealth Members Join Together In Korea

By BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, July 28—(CP) — With simple ceremony, the first British Commonwealth division came into being today.

As Brig. John M. Rockingham, commander of Canada's 25th Infantry brigade and the commanders of the two other commonwealth brigades which now are welded into a powerful divisional force stood at attention, Lt.-Ken. James A. Van Fleet Eighth Army Commander, and Divisional Chief Maj.-Gen. J. H. Cassel broke out the flags under which the new formation will fight.

They both involve the same shades of blue and white, one the United Nations flag, the other formation's banner using the same colors with "Commonwealth" across it in gold letters.

A senior officer from each division of the unit stood in the spectators' enclosure for a 20-minute ceremony which included speeches by Lt.-Gen. Sir Horace Robertson, Australian commander of the Commonwealth occupation forces in Japan, Lt.-Gen. James Van Fleet, and Gen. Cassell.

As the divisional banners were displayed, five masts directly behind were unfurled representing the five countries with troops in the Commonwealth division.

Heroic Achievements

In a message read at the ceremony the United Nations supreme commander, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, said he took the opportunity "to express my appreciation of the heroic achievements of the division's component forces."

"The Australian, Canadian, Indian, New Zealand and United Kingdom contingents have served with valor, fortitude and courage and have brought distinguished credit on themselves and their homelands and all freedom-loving nations," Ridgway said.

He said the integration of these forces "emphasizes the immutable unity and solidarity of the autonomous communities of British people and expressed in unmistakable terms, an unshakable determination to defeat the forces of aggression.

Patricias

The Patricias, first Canadian unit to reach Korea, arrived at Pusan, Dec. 19, 1950, four months after Prime Minister St. Laurent announced that Canada would recruit a special brigade of infantry and supporting arms as part of the United Nations forces.

They fought as part of the 27th and 28th Commonwealth Brigade groups until the arrival of the remainder of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade Group early last May, rejoining the 28th Commonwealth Brigade later that month while the other Canadian units completed their training.

In mid-June, the Patricias were united with the 2nd Battalions of the Royal Canadian Regiment and the Royal 22nd Regiment, the 2nd Field Regiment of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery and the Lorth Strathcona's Horse, an armored regiment, to form the Canadian brigade.

THE BRABAZON, Britain's largest aircraft, is shown above on take-off from London airport on its first passenger flight. The plane, which can accommodate 100 passengers, carried 26 persons, including members of parliament and aviation engineers, on a 30 minute flight. The big ship will be used in trans-Atlantic service.

Mental Patient Arrested, Child Brutally Slain

MONTREAL, July 28 (CP). — Police today are holding a former mental patient, Edwin Yulle, 23, for questioning in connection with the brutal slaying yesterday of seven-year-old Caroline Windsor in suburban Verdun.

The child's body was found in the dining room of her grandparents' home, five knife wounds in her body and the blades of two kitchen knives still sticking into her. She had been stabbed five times, once in the chest, abdomen and thigh and twice in the back. Police said four knives were used.

Caroline had been living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Windsor at her grandparents.

Police said Yulle was released from a mental institution 18 months ago and was employed by a laundry.

Police said Yulle told them he washed his hands in the nearby St. Lawrence river and told two men he had killed a little girl. He hailed a cruising police car, repeated his story and led police to the home where the body was found in a pool of blood.

Police said the child's clothing was disarranged and there was a "definite possibility" she had been raped.

Duelling Reappers In German Colleges

BONN, Germany, July 28 — (Reuters) —The duel of honor—next to beer drinking, the favorite pre-war pastime of German college boys—is making a re-appearance despite a ban by the Allies and German university heads.

West German educational leaders have called a conference in Cologne early next week to discuss the matter.

Student duels were banned by the Allies in 1945 and a university conference last year went on record as outlawing the custom. But more than 200 students Thursday night approved the duel as "a morally and legally correct means of education."

The duelists wear goggles, an armor of cotton and bandages around their neck and pulse. Only their skull can be hit with the short heavy sabres.

Hint Of Red Double-Cross Not Official Says US Gov't

By FRANK O'BRIEN

WASHINGTON, July 28. (AP)—The United States defence department has washed the official label off a briefing officer's virtual accusation that the Communists are framing a double-cross in Korea, but has not denied the officer's accuracy. And high authorities at Washington defence headquarters said they were unable to explain another major puzzle that developed yesterday—a statement by their chief, Defence Secretary George Marshall, that the United States plans to have 400,000 American troops in Europe in 1952.

That is nearly twice as many as previously indicated by Marshall, who has said six divisions would be the American contribution to Europe's defence. His figure yesterday included 60,000 airmen.

Marshall was testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in support of the administration's $8,500,000,000 foreign economic and military aid program.

One Unit to Japan

About the same time yesterday, an army briefing officer told newspapermen—without identifying the unit—that one good-sized United Nations combat unit in Korea had been withdrawn from the battle area and sent back to Japan. This was the first hint of such a move. All previous reports had been that UN forces in Korea were organized at full strength for further combat, if necessary.

Nine Arrested In Dope Ring

NEW YORK, July 28—(AP)—Federal authorities early today arrested eight men and a woman described as members of a $3,000,000-a-year French-Italian counterfeiting and dope ring.

Deported vice king Charles (Lucky) Luciano was named as head of the Italian link of the alleged 19-member smuggling combine.

Seven of the men were arraigned early today after seizure of bogus money with a face value of $100,000 delivered to an undercover agent last night. Authorities said the bundle of fake 10 and 20 dollar bills, delivered in a cardboard suitcase by two men, was to be exchanged for $22,000 in real currency.

The seven were held in a total of $450,000 bail. A hearing was set for Aug. 10.

US Attorney Eugene F. Roth said the ring was receiving its drugs from merchant seamen.

Iran Oil Refinery To Shut Down

ABADAN, Iran, July 28 (Reuters) — The Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's refinery here will shut down completely Tuesday, it was announced today.

The refinery, largest in the world with a normal daily output of 15,000,000 gallons, has gradually been cutting production during the oil crisis.

The last time it was shut down was in 1941 when the Allies entered Iran.

A statement issued on behalf of A. E. Mason, Anglo-Iranian chief representative in South Iran, said that after the shutdown "about 100 Anglo-Iranian technicians will gradually be released for special leave in Britain."

About 650 British staff will be left in Abandan and Bandar Mashur and about 350 in the oilfield area.

A staff of 100 technicians will remain as a care and maintenance party in the refinery, the statement said.

54-Year-Old Scot Swimming Channel

DEAL, Kent, England, July 28 (AP) — Ned Barrie, 54-year-old Scotsman from Edinburgh, entered the water today in an attempt to swim the English Channel.

Barnie swam from Cap Gris Nez, France, to England last year and is trying to reverse course now. Only three persons ever have made the swim in both directions.

There was no word, meanwhile, of the six Egyptian and two British swimmers who plunged into the chilly waters on the French side this morning.

Reds Want Line At 38th, UN At Battle Line; Both Sides Refuse Budge

General Says No Sign of Agrement
Positions of Two Clear
Work In An Atmosphere of Cool Formality

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

UN ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 28. (AP)—United nations and Communist cease-fire teams clashed head-on today over the thorny problem of a military buffer zone across the Korean peninsula. Gen. Nam Il, chief Red envoy, stated the Red position "with more force and verve than on any previous occasion," an eyewitness said. But at the end of two hours and 25 minutes, both sides held stubbornly to their earlier positions.

The Reds want the buffer line along the 38th parallel. The UN Allies want it along the present battle lines.

Air Force Brig.-Gen. Zilliam P. Nuckols, who attended today's three sessions, said there was no indication of an area of agreement.

Both sides refused to budge.

A heavy rain hammered down on the former Kaesong restaurant as the grim negotiators faced each other across the green-topped conference table.

Cool Formality

The atmosphere in the room was officially described as "cool military formality."

The phrase was not elaborated, but it recalled a description of the first meeting of Liaison officers in the same room July 8.

Col. Andrew J. Kinney said the tone of that first meeting was "military courtesy—a cold way of not being exactly hostile."

Nuckols said the positions of the two sides today were "reasonably clear-cut. But there is a considerable difference between the positions."

Concerning Nam, Nickols said, "I wouldn't say he was belligerent, but he certainly was forceful."

The delegates presumably will return to the knotty question in tomorrow's meeting—the 13th—scheduled to start at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. EDT, Saturday).

There was no hint today that either side was prepared to give ground, or offer a compromise. Such a move may come later if the talks threaten to break down.

Nuckols stressed that the "discussions have been essentially a restatement of points made previously. Little, if any, real progress is being made."

May Switch

The negotiators may decide to drop the buffer zone problem for the time being and pass on to other points of the agenda.

If they do, they may find those points just as hard to solve.

Still to be discussed are: (1) concrete arrangements to end the shooting and supervise the truce, (2) arrangements for an exchange of prisoners and (3) recommendations to the governments of countries concerned on both sides.

This last problem would include the Red demand for a withdrawal of all foreign troops.

Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief UN negotiators gave the United Nations' position on the buffer zone in a 52-minute speech yesterday.

When Nam presented the Communist view today, Nuckols said he was "more obviously emphatic than before."

3-Month Surplus 11 Times Amount Sought For Year

OTTAWA, July 28 (CP)—The federal government, budgetting for a 1951-52 surplus of $30,000,000 piled up a surplus of $336,445,157 in the first three months of the fiscal year, it was disclosed Friday night.

The monthly treasury report, issued by the office of Finance Minister Abbott who is on holidays, showed that revenues totalled $886,638,608 and expenditures $530,293,451 in the three-month period.

In 1950-51, Mr. Abbott budgeted for a surplus of $15,000,000 and wound up with one of $203,456,000.

In his budget speech last April 10, Mr. Abbott estimated 1951-52 revenues at $3,730,000,000 and expenditures at $3,700,000,000. When treasury reports for the first and second months of the year indicated that his estimated surplus of $30,000,000 would be greatly exceeded, he sounded a note of caution.

He said expenditures in the latter part of the fiscal year likely would wipe out much of the surplus built up in the early months.

Harriman Hopes To Solve Crisis

By EDWARD CURTIS

LONDON, July 28—(AP)—W. Averell Harriman flew in from Tehran today and told reporters he thought the Iranian oil crisis could be solved if Britain agrees to Iran's proposals for reopening negotiations.

"I am hopeful that proposals that the Iranian government have made will form the basis of the two governments getting together," he said. "I am personally quite confident that if negotiations can be re-established, a satisfactory solution would be worked out."

Harriman, President Truman's international trouble-shooter, has been in Tehran trying to bring Iran and Britain together to discuss the dispute over nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian oil company's properties. Last Tuesday the Iranian government, through Harriman, offered for the first time to discuss the crisis with the British government. A previous negotiation attempt by directors of the billion-dollar company broke down after one meeting.

"I have come to London," Harriman told reporters, "as there seems to be some questions on which the British government wanted clarification from the Iranian government. I felt it would be easier to personally discuss them than by telegram."

He was accompanied on the flight by Sir Francis Shepherd, British Ambassador to Iran.

Cubans Stop Reds Publishing Magazine

HAVANA, Cuba, July 28 (AP) The Cuban government revealed how "persuasive measures" induced the Russian Embassy to cease publication of its Communist propaganda magazine.

"The Embassy was asked," said Interior Minister Lomberto Diaz, "if in Russia, those who opposed the regime there would be permitted to publish a similar magazine.

"The Embassy's answer was: 'Let them try it.'

"We then told the Russian Embassy: 'Well, you can try continuing publication of your magazine.'

"It hasn't appeared since."

Cruelty, Neglect In Red Hospitals

By RICHARD O'REGAN

VIENNA, July 28—(AP)—A little boy convalescing from scarlet fever was found lying on his stomach in his hospital bed, his hands tied behind his back.

The nurse said he was being "disciplined."

The Communists admit that such cruelties sometimes go on in their hospitals. Their newspapers also admit startling neglect and carelessness.

Grave Mistakes

The official Hungarian newspaper Szabad Nep, for instance, reported these "grave mistakes" at the Lasszlo Isolation Hospital in Budapest:

"Nurses wake up the infants at 4 a.m. to bathe them or take their temperature, claiming they cannot tidy up the wards for the morning medical visit unless they do . . . the statistics showing the development and progress of the children is written on the charts just by guesswork . . . the doctors do not know that the nurses go over from one section for infectious diseases to another, visiting each other.

"The other day, Nurse Agnes Pacnik just 'ran over' from the scarlet fever ward to the diphtheria ward to borrow penicillin . . ."

In Bulgaria, often you can get an ambulance to take you to a hospital only if you are a Communist or know a Communist.

The Sofia newspaper Rabotnitschesko Delo said this happened to a worker named Adonoff, member of a co-operative store:

With Pull

"Two days after his return to work from an operation, Adonoff got worse. When the hospital was called, the hospital director promised to send an ambulance. But the car did not come.

"When new calls were made to the hospital, there was no reply. A state hospital at Jambol was called. But they said they could not send an ambulance because the patient was not from their district. The district physician at Topolovgrad was called, and he said the patient must help himself.

"Finally through intervention of the district committee of the (Communist) Party, an ambulance was secured elsewhere."

Woman Wrestler Dies After 2nd Bout

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., July 28—(AP)—Jeannette Wolfe, 18, a woman wrestler from Columbus, died in hospital today after collapsing last night during a mat bout.

An inquest will be held today.

The woman wrestled in two bouts here last night. In the first she was pinned.

In the second, she was paired in a tag match. During the match, she tagged her partner to relieve her in the ring, then collapsed.

Malik Says Reds Want

Business-Like Relations

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY

MOSCOW, July 28—(AP)—A group of British Quakers left for home today after hearing Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob A. Malik tell them Russia is ready for "business-like" negotiations with the west on world issues and does not want to export its revolution.

The Quakers told western newspaper men yesterday that these were among replies made to a seven-point peace program they presented to Malik at a meeting Thursday night. Western observers are waiting with interest to see if the news of the Malik-Quaker talks are published in the Soviet press.

Disappointed

A member of the British group said he was "both encouraged and disappointed" by the interview with Malik. He said he was encouraged because of the time and attention the Soviet government had given to them and disappointed because Malik answered by merely calling attention to past Soviet statements and actions on the subject.

The program contained the following points:

1. Restraint of anti-western propaganda in the Soviet press.

2. Willingness to permit United Nations membership for countries presently excluded and to join in consultations as an instrument of peaceful co-operation between peoples.

3. Non-interference in the domestic affairs of non-Communist countries.

4. A general world program for radical disarmament.

5. Co-operation by the Soviet Union in a world plan for improving economic and social conditions in backward countries.

6. A big four conference among the foreign ministers of the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and France.

7. Correspondence between Soviet citizens and citizens of other countries and a program for more travel by foreigners in Russia and by Russians in other countries.

Quebec Plans New Law Against Reds

Reds On Trial Can Be Banned From Office

QUEBEC, July 28. (CP) — The autumn session of the Quebec legislature will be called upon to adopt a plan, aimed at Communists, to speed-up disqualification proceedings against municipal officers with criminal records.

Premier Duplessis announced this at his press conference yesterday and said the law will ban from office, while appeals are lodged and decided on, municipal officers disqualified by lower court judgment.

Persons with criminal convictions are already denied the right to hold public office by municipal legislation but there are cases where "Communists multiply dilatory proceedings so they can continue to exercise public offices," the premier said.

He said the proposed law is not aimed at depriving anyone of his rights.

"Instead of being settled gradually, a disqualification case and all the motions and petitions that may be brought into it will be settled at once," he said.

Four Cars Involved In City Accidents

William McIlmoyle, 16, of 315 McDonnel St. operating on a temporary driver's licence, Friday afternoon collided with the rear of a car driven by Edgar McFadyen, 26 Kingan St. Both cars were coming to a stop at Parkhill Rd. as they were going south on Water St.

There was no damage to McFadyen's car but McIlmoyle's vehicle received bumped in front fenders and a ben tie rod. Police Constable Vic McConnel investigated.

A similar accident occurred Thursday night on Water St. near Simcoe St.

William Archibald, 319 Margaret Ave., driving north on Water about 8 p.m., stopped in the line of traffic for a red light at Hunter St. The car behind him ,driven by R. H. Walling, 451 Edison Ave., ran into the Archibald vehicle.

There was minor damage to the Walling car. Police tested the brakes and found the hand brake useless and only the left rear wheel had any brakes at all. Brake test efficiency was only 25 per cent, they said.

Police Constable Sherman Kellele investigated.

Union Asks Stores To Accept Vouchers

TIMMINS, July 28—(CP)— A welfare committee set up by striking Hollinger mine workers announced Friday it will issue vouchers and ask local merchants to accept them for food and goods. Some 1,600 men have been on strike since July 9

W. H. Sefton, international representative of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.), said the committee will call a meeting of retail and wholesale merchants to present the voucher plan. The union would redeem the vouchers each week.

Meanwhile Mayor Phillip Fay asked Jules Timmins, president of the Hollinger Consolidated Mining Co., to come to Timmins to settle the strike.

No Waste

VANCOUVER—(CP) — Campaign to utilize all forms of wood waste took a new turn this month when plans were made for manufacture of boiler compound out of cedar waste. It is believed $500 worth of the required chemical constituents can be obtained from each ton of cedar waste, formerly discarded and burned at the shingle mills.

Delegates Conference Room Boasts Little Comfort

By SAM SUMMERLIN.

KAESONG, Korea, July 28 — (AP). — The three North Korean and two Chinese Communist cease-fire delegates always enter the conference room from the left.

The Allied delegation of five Americans and one South Korean enters from the right.

The meeting room, 20 by 40 feet, is formed from three separate rooms, made possible by removing sliding doors.

The walls are papered. Overhead are exposed beams.

In the centre of the room's middle section is the conference table. It is 4 feet wide, 20 feet long. The covering is a green oillard cloth, heldd own by thumb tacks.

Two small flags rest on brass stands on the table. One is the United Nations flag. The other is the flag of the North Korean Reds.

Close by is a pitcher containing a brownish liquid, rumored to be tea. To date, no one has lifted the glass, turned upside down over the pitcher.

Straight - back chairs with slightly-padded seats accommodate the delegates. Facing each Red delegate is a triangular brass nameplate bearing the name, engraved in English, of the UN delegate opposite him.

Head Delegate

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, senior UN delegate, sits opposite North Korean Gen. Nam Il, head Red delegate.

UN staff advisers and stenographers sit at two tables in the right section of the room. Communist aides occupy the section at the left end.

From the moment the delegates enter, the atmosphere in the room is tense. The delegates are quiet and formal. There is no exchange of pleasantries or passing of cigarets.

The discussions always begin without ceremony. Either Joy or Nam Il just start talking. Except for interpreters, they do all the talking.

Each speaks only a few sentences at a time. Then there is a pause for translations.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, July 28 (CP) — Coarse grain futures prices turned lower in late trading on the Grain Exchange Friday. Earlier they had been firm. Trading throughout was dull. The flax decline was influenced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics report indicating a larger acreage.

Export loadings of wheat included 720,000 bushels to Italy and 200,000 to the United Kingdom. Prices of Class 2 wheat and IWA were down ⅛.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 EDT today:

Synopsis:

A pleasant summer weekend is expected for most of Ontario with afternoon temperatures in the high 70's today and in the eighties Sunday. A narrow bank of cloudiness persisting along the Lower Lakes during the night will move southward today so that sunshine will break through by afternoon. Cloudiness in Northern Ontario is associated with a weak disturbance centred near the shores of Hudson Bay. Although skies will remain cloudy today and Sunday the temperatures will be quite warm. Thunderstorms are expected in these northern regions Sunday evening.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Sunday:

Niagara, Lake Ontario and Northern Lake Huron regions; Toronto and Hamilton cities:

Cloudy clearing about noon today. Sunny and warm Sunday. Winds light. Low tonight and high Sunday at Toronto, Hamilton and St. Catharines 60 and 85. Wingham and Trenton 60 and 80.

Summary for Sunday—Sunny and warm.

Oil Terminal For Port Hope

PORT HOPE, July 28—This lakeshore town figures in plans recently completed for a petroleum pipeline connecting Montreal with Ottawa, Toronto and Hamilton.

Three companies — British American, Shell and McColl-Fronenac — are participating in the venture.

The main 10-inch pipeline, 400 miles long, will have terminals at Cornwall, Prescott, Brockville, Kingston, Belleville, Port Hope, Toronto, Clarkson and Hamilton.

Having a designed initial capacity of 40,000 barrels daily, the line will transport finished products from the three firms' refineries at Montreal. Construction is expected to start soon, but depends on the availability of steel.

Most of the crude oil purchased to feed the Montreal refineries goes to Montreal by pipeline from Portland, Me., where ocean tankers unload.

The officer went on:

"On May 16 the Chinese Communists launched a major offensize....by May 23 the Communist effort was broken and the Eighth Army moved immediately into counter-offensive.....This was so effective that the Chinese Communists were driven back in confusion, losing over 100,000 men and suffering 10,00 prisoners. This was their most disastrous defeat....

"They were hanging on the ropes....

"Acting in good faith, the UN (after cease-fire talks were proposed) halted the advance..... when in position to achieve even greater success.

"The picture since then has been one of constant and continuous (Communist) build-up behind screening forces.

"There has been continuous and aggressive action all along the line.

"The enemy has moved south through Korea a far greater quantity of supplies than he needs to support forces during negotiations.

"Fresh Chinese Communist units and thousands of individual replacements have moved in....

Some Cold Water

That stood as entirely official until last night.

Then Clayton Fritchey, information director for the Defence Department, stepped in with just enough cold water to wash the official label off. Fritchey told reporters:

The briefing officer's on-the-record statement "should not be construed as a defence policy or a change of policy, or a policy by the Army Chief of Staff."

It was, Fritchey said, "simply an officer giving advice" to reporters and should be "judged only as a comment...."

But there was nothing in what Fritchey said that denied the accuracy of what the briefing officer said.

Prices Climb Strongly On Markets

By BILL DANIELS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Prices climbed strongly on stock markets this week. Trading was similar to that of last winter when the 20-month bull market was in progress.

There were some who thought the bull market had resumed while there were others who had reasons for thinking it had not. Certainly the picture looked much brighter than it had for some time.

Those who thought the bull market had resumed noted that volume on the Toronto Stock Exchange for the first three days this week was well over 2,000,000 shares a day, the most active the Toronto market has been since last February.

It was the fourth week in a row prices had been higher, this week's advance being the greatest. Much of the caution of the last few months was gone.

Slows Down

On the less optimistic side it was observed that some of the buying steam early in the week subsided Thursday and yesterday. (Toronto's volume of 1,526,000 shares yesterday was the slowest of the week). Gains were not so numerous or great yesterday.

Another idea about the current trend was the observation that in the latter part of most summers in the past, prices moved higher. In view of the rest the market has had in the last five months and the recent good corporation news there was no reason to think this summer would be among the minority.

Whether this week's advance was a temporary gain or the continuation of last year's bull market seemed to be the question on Bay Street this week but it also seemed too early to decide.

From Friday to Friday the Toronto Stock Exchange indices showed industrials up 5.03 at 332.46, golds 1.55 at 80.91, base metals 4.86 at 175.05, and western oils 1.83 at 106.28.

In the Montreal averages papers were up 5.57 at 816.05, industrials up 1.8 at 228.1, banks off .06 at 29.36, utilities up .2 at 85.3, combined up 1.2 at 180.5 and golds up 2.41 at 62.90.

In New York the Associated Press average of 60 stocks jumped $3.30 at $95.60.

Fortunes Lost In Stock Skid

LONDON, July 28 (CP)—Fortunes were lost Friday as the London Stock Exchange nosedived in swift reaction to a government proposal to restrict shareholders' profits by freezing dividends.

Millions of pounds were lost in share values. Brokers said the session was the most active since those which followed the Sept. 18, 1949, devaluation of the pound.

Overseas issues, not affected by the Treasury order pegging dividends to the average of the last last two years, boomed with Canadian issues and Rhodesian copper stocks leading the way.

Reuters index of British industrial shares slumped from 152.4 to 146.7, one of the sharpest drops recorded in a single day.

Women's Guild Meet

OMEMEE, July 27 (ENS)—The Women's Guild of Christ Church, Omemee, met at the home of Mrs. H. Sisson on Thursday, July 26, with 18 members and four visitors present. Mrs. H. Laidley presided.

Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Laidley volunteered to be responsible for the chancel work for the month of August. Mrs. S. Nurse and Miss H. Clark were appointed to work on the tower committee.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Sisson, Mrs. Magee and Mrs. Ruttle.

"Boldly Untruthful" Story Common Defense—Cadi

WINDSOR, July 28 — (CP) — "Boldly untruthful" defence in police court criminal cases were scored Friday by Magistrate J A. Hanrahan.

In finding Mitch Hrycyk guilty on a drunk driving charge, the magistrate said: "The attempt he made to explain away the evidence of police officers is typical of the boldly untruthful type of defence that has become so commonplace in this court.

"It shows a deplorable contempt for the value of the oath. Apparently with some, it is safe to say anything by way of defence."

Hrycyk was sentenced to 15 days in jail, despite the arguments of defence counsel Morris Kamin that recent changes in the drunk driving section of the Criminal Code showed parliament's intention of allowing a magistrate to use discretion in sentencing. The driver's car was ordered impounded for three months and his licence suspended for the same time.

Evidence of Constables Doug Morris and George Stannard was that Hrycyk was trailed for almost a mile on Tecumseh Rd. early in the morning of July 15. Both officers said the car weaved and both said Hrycyk was intoxicated when he was stopped.

Sgt. Charlie Johnson, who saw Hrycyk after he was brought to the station, gave his opinion that the man was intoxicated.

Cracked Knuckle

In his defence, Hrycyk said he had a cracked knuckle on his right hand and was forced to shift gears and steer the car with his left arm only. The weaving observed by the officers came when he was shifting gears, he said. He denied that he was intoxicated.

"Those police officers," Magistrate Hanrahan said, "were subjected to a cross-examination that left nothing to the imagination in regard to the condition of the accused. I am satisfied that they gave their evidence fairly and truthfully.

"It is quite apparent that the explanation offered could not explain what the officers saw. I find the accused guilty as charged."

ON LOST PLANE—Able Seaman Frank R. Laker, 20-year-old Winnipeg seaman was a passenger aboard the missing Korean airlift plane believed down in the Alaska Panhandle. Laker, recently married in Winnipeg during a 30-day leave, was returning to duty with his ship, H.M.C.S. Ontario.

Price Rollback Expected To Pass House

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Senate approval of a new economic controls bill—permitting some price and rent rollbacks and opening the way for some increases—today shifted the controversial measure to the House of Representatives.

House leaders plan to call it up for a vote Monday. They predicted passage, which would send it to President Truman just a day before the present law expires at midnight Tuesday.

The senate passed the bill last night shortly after a senate-house committee had completed work on a compromise version of separate measures approved earlier by the two branches.

Lopped 12 Months

The new bill would continue wage, price, rent and other emergency controls until next June—12 months less than Truman asked. It would relax consumer credit curbs.

Lawmakers generally expected Truman to sign the bill.

The new price-control provisions authorize price rollbacks to pre-Korea levels for non-farm commodities, provided that cost increases which occurred before last Thursday are taken into account in fixing ceilings.

Senators who helped draft the compromise measure said the cost increase formula also will result in some price "roll-forwards." One official of the office of price stabilization estimated off-the-cuff it would boost automobile price ceilngs about 10 per cent.

The bill also would assure retailers and wholesalers their "customary percentage margins over costs."

Rescued Mussolini Now Only Tourist

STUTTGART, Germany, July 28 (AP)—Former Nazi storm trooper Otto Skorzeny, who once rescued Benito Mussolini and later spearheaded the 1944 Ardennes counter-offensive, no longer has a wanted sign on his head.

He flew in two days ago and apparently is regarded as just a tourist in West Germany today.

Police said they no longer want the scarfaced daredevil for escaping interment camp in 1948. He was scheduled for denazification prosecution as a "major Nazi offender."

Police confirmed a German warrant for Skorzeny's arrest as a fugitive expired six months ago and no action will be taken against him now. An American military court acquitted him of war crimes in 1947 after he spent two years in jail.

Ate 53 Raw Eggs

TILLSONBURG, July 28 (CP) —James Mabee ate 53 raw eggs along with 6 glasses of milk and four glasses of water in an hour and 45 minutes here Friday and collected a $62 bet on the dare. After the lunch was over Mabee was ready to take on all comers for another side bet, but no one took him up on it.

Well-Organized Bandits Use Walkie-Talkie, Escape

BRADFORD, Ont., July 28. (CP)—A well-organized band of holdup men used a walkie-talkie radio to outwit police in their getaway after robbing the Bank of Commerce of $4,200 here Thursday. This disclosure was made by police last night after they found a wireless telephone set during a house-to-house search for the gang in downtown Toronto.

"We know these men are local thugs," said Inspector John Nimmo of the Toronto force. "They are well organized and have taken to using radio communication in an attempt to escape police."

While the search shifted to Toronto, 25 miles south of Bradford, Ontario provincial police maintained road blocks throughout this area, checking automobiles.

One suspect was picked up in Toronto yesterday and booked on a charge of vagrancy while his recent activities were checked.

Hail of Bullets

The bandits escaped from the bank in a hail of bullets after scooping up the money from a teller's cage.

Discovery of the walkie-talkie tipped police to the escape method used by the gang.

At first it had been thought only three men took part in the robbery, but now it is believed there was a fourth man never seen by the bank employees.

Police believe the fourth man was in a second getaway car parked some distance from the bank. He was probably in position to watch the roads to and from the bank and advise his companions by walkie-talkie of the best escape route.

Manitoba Desperate For Rain For Grain

WINNIPEG, July 28 — (CP) — Anxiety is turning into desperation in Southwestern Manitoba as grain crops deteriorate under bright, dry sunshine. Only a heavy rain in this section within the next few days can save the crops, farmers say.

The weather office, however, said "there is no band of generally rainy weather in prospect at all."

Officials of the Provincial Department of Agriculture said a good deal of oats and barley already have been plowed under or pastured off in the area. In the northern and eastern sections of the province the situation is better but officials said more rainfall is needed there also or crops will deteriorate.

Youth Trapped In Car Wrapped In Live Wires

KITCHENER, July 28 (CP)—John Berwick, 22, sat trapped in his automobile for 30 minutes Friday night while crackling power line burned hole the size of quarters in the hood. Two high-tension wires fell criss-crossed over Berwick's car after another car crashed into a supporting pole. Berwick was treated at hospital for shock when the power was finally turned off.

Paterson Fears Fewer Entries For Hay Prizes

Five hundred dollars for hay prizes at the Peterborough Exhibition, and Frank Paterson is worrying about the number of entries slumping from last year's fine forage show.

"I'd say hay is just about the most important thing we grow around here," said Mr. Paterson, "and the fair board has been doing its bit by helping to stimulate interest in high quality mixtures of grasses and legumes, or whatever goes into the barn.

This summer, however, has been sprinkled too often with rain, and particularly around the time of making hay, and some farmers who might have turned bales into the show are likely to persuade themselves that their samples are below par, and not worth entering in the competition.

"If many did that, it would be a disappointing feature," Mr. Paterson said. "I would like to get across the idea that if one man's hay is off in quality, so is his neighbor's. That is altogether likely. The rain falls on them all alike, or mostly so. It would not be a case of one man turning an A-1 bale like last year, and the rest of the district having nothing worth while.

"It is a case of letting us see what we have in an off season of a little too much moisture.

"So, B's bale should be as good as A's and also Z's because they have all come through the same weather conditions. And that's no reason why they should all keep their grass at home."

"Let's have a lot of entries," Mr. Paterson said.

Six Italians Arrested, Looted Plane

GRENOBLE, France, July 28—(Reuters). — Six Italian woodsmen were arrested today for looting money and religious souvenirs from the wreckage of the airliner Canadian Pilgrim which crashed last November in the Alps killing all 58 aboard.

Police swooped down on their cottages in the mountain village of Cordéac and found $3,000 in cash, religious articles, jewels, and a bishop's habit hidden under mattresses and in granaries.

The raid ended an eight-month search which cast a cloud of suspicion over a scode of villages. Three other Italians are still being sought.

The Skymaster, carrying 49 Canadian Holy Year pilgrims including 13 members of the Roman Catholic clergy and a seven-man Canadian crew, crashed on rocky Obiou Peak. Also among the dead was an American and an Italian priest. Most of the Canadians were from Quebec Province.

Guides who brought down the bodies reported that scavengers had been at work. The wreckage showed evidence of persons poking about for loot.

Police investigated. Aided by Maurice Bellonte, Chief of the French Air Security Office, they made surprise searches and pulled in suspects for questioning.

Each time they drew a blank—until a few days ago. The clues suddenly pointed to the woodsmen from the Italian side of the border.

10,000 Workers Start Holidays In Oshawa

OSHAWA, July 28 — (CP).—Industry in this usually bustling motor city came almost to a halt Friday as some 10,000 auto workers started their annual vacations. PUBLIC MEETING BY CITY COUNCIL

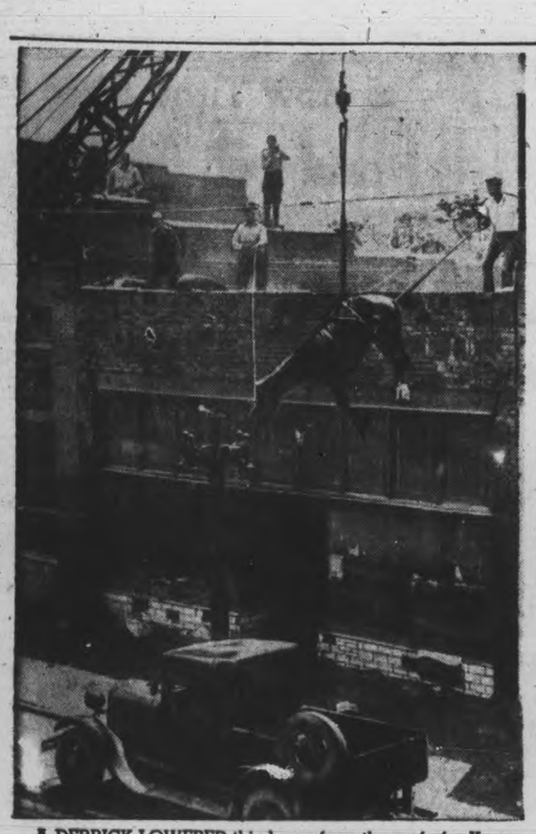
A public hearing of the ratepayers of the City of Peterborough will be held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, Peterborough, on Thursday evening, August 2nd, commencing at 7.30 o'clock, by the City Council, in respect to the request made to the City Council by the Board of Education of the City of Peterborough that the Council issue debentures for an additional sum of $65,000 toward the cost of the new Collegiate Institute to be built on the west side of Monaghan Road, immediately south of Gillespie Street.

The Board of Education originally requested the City Council to issue debentures for the sum of $585,000 and this debenture by-law was submitted to the ratepayers at the last Municipal Election and a majority of the ratepayers favoured the issuing of these debentures.

The Board of Education has informed the City Council that an additional sum of $65,000 is required to construct and furnish the proposed school, if the school is to include a gymnasium, as originally planned.

Under the High Schools Act, Revised Statutes of Ontario 1950, Section 48, Sub-section 7, Municipal Councils may pass by-laws for the purpose of raising or borrowing money required by the Board of Education for permanent improvements to school buildings, without submitting a by-law to the vote of the electors. In view of these Statutes, the Ontario Municipal Board is prepared to approve the issuing of these debentures, if the City Council requests the Municipal Board to do so.



At the special meeting of the City Council to be held on Thursday evening, August 2nd, the Council proposes to give first and second readings to a by-law entitled, "A By-law Authorizing the Borrowing of $65,000 Upon Debentures for Permanent Improvements, Namely, the Construction of a New Collegiate Institute."

However, before considering the passing of the by-law, the Council invites all ratepayers having interest in this matter to attend this meeting and make any representations they desire concerning the proposed passing of this by-law by the City Council.

Members of the Board of Education will be present at this meeting to explain the reasons that have caused the Board to decide unanimously that the gymnasium is required as part of the new Collegiate Building and to answer any questions.

Dated at Peterborough, this 26th day of July, 1951.

E. A. OUTRAM,
City Clerk.

A DERRICK LOWERED this horse from the roof of a Kansas City building, liberating the animal that apparently swam there two weeks ago during the record flood. The horse was watered and fed regularly until provision could be made for its rescue which turned out to be a ticklish job when the sling slipped several times. The horse was taken to a humane society shelter to await its owner.

Shorter Hours, Cost Of Living Cause Of Crime

TORONTO, July 28 — Shorter working hours and the higher cost of living were blamed Friday for recent increases in crime by Herb Lipps, superintendent of Toronto branch of the Pinkerton Detective Agency. He told the Rotary Club that from thousands of investigations his operatives have put their fingers on the shorter work week as the biggest single factor contributing to the increase in crime.

"People have more time to themselves," he explained, "but, because of the higher cost of living have less money to spend on recreation. Idleness always breeds trouble and an increasing number of people are turning to crime."

Business Up

Mr. Lipps, who directs operatives as far west as the Rockies, revealed that his men have done more business in the first quarter of 1951 than they did during the whole of 1950. Much of the increased he traced to industrial crime where large numbers of workers are stealing from their employers.

The business boom has attracted more "private eye" operators and has done nothing to clear away the cloud hanging over the heads of the detectives who run their own or very small agencies.

"These men," Mr. Lipps said, "often have to take everything that comes their way—divorces and union investigations—cases which give them a bad name.

"Stiff competition has made the average private investigator avaricious and guilty of sharp practices. Often, too, the lure of big retainers and exciting work has brought many into the business who are neither morally nor mentally fitted for it."

AS CANADIANS SWELTER under a strong summer sun, the people "down under" in Australia are experiencing one of the coldest winters in half a century. The photo above was taken about twenty miles from Melbourne when the noon temperature was recorded at 39.6 degrees, the lowest since July 4th, 1901.

Government May Take Over Importing Of Butter

OTTAWA, July 28 (CP)—The cabinet is expected to consider soon whether the government should be given a monopoly in butter imports, informed quarters said Friday.

At present, imports are not restricted and the trade has been purchasing small shipments of butter from Western Europe, presumably for storage against a possible butter shortage next winter.

However, Agriculture Minister Gardiner told the Commons last spring that if Canada was found to need more butter by Dec. 1 next it would be purchased by the government's dairy products board from British preferential countries, such as Australia and New Zealand.

May Speculate

The official thinking behind this move is said to be that if the government allows the trade to import butter freely, widespread speculation may develop with the result that butter prices might be driven higher.

Officials said the problems to be considered by cabinet are:

1. Should the dairy products board be given a clear field in butter imports immediately to allow it to build up a stockpile against a possible winter shortage?

2. Should imports be restricted to British preferential tariff countries or should the board be allowed to buy butter from all countries able to supply it?

Officials expect that a decision will be made possibly within the next few weeks.

They say that, unlike last year, the government so far has not been asked by domestic producers to buy any butter at its official support price of 58 cents a pound and that the outlook is that the government will obtain no butter from the farmers this year.

About this time last year the government had purchased about 30,000,000 pounds and was on its way to building up a stockpile of about 38,000,000 pounds. But, even with this stockpile, it was unable to prevent a shortage during the late winter.

The current situation is not encouraging. Production during the first five months of 1951 was down about 9,000,000 pounds from output in 1950. Many a farmer is taking advantage of high beef prices to turn dairy cattle to the beef market.

Meanwhile, agricultural officials are quietly probing world markets to find out just how much butter could be obtained in the event the cabinet gave them authority to purchase.

Quebec Paper Cuts Saturday Editions

QUEBEC, July 28 — (CP) — L'Action Catholique, Quebec daily newspaper, Friday announced that due to increased newsprint costs and postal rates it no longer will publish a Saturday edition for its 80,000 subscribers.

The newspaper said that henceforth its Saturday issue will be 5,000 copies of a remake of its final of three Friday editions with reports of last-minute news.

This limited Saturday edition will be distributed by street-sale in Quebec city where delivery boys normally distribute about 20,000 copies of the paper daily.

Radar, Plane Trial Of Defences Success

MONTREAL, July 28 (CP) — All phases of a two-week long exercise in directing and "shooting down" enemy aircraft heading for Eastern Canadian targets were "highly successful," RCAF officials in charge of the exercise announced Friday night.

The fortnight's 24-hour-a-day operation tested a protective radar screen stretching from Chatham, N.B., to the western tip of Ontario and co-ordinated radar detection posts and fighter bases.

No. 1 radar and communications unit RCAF (reserve) conducted the operation with detachments at Chatham, Ste. Foy, near Quebec, Uplands and Kingston, and Sherbrooke and St. Hubert, Que.

11 Hollinger Men Have Passes Cancelled

TIMMINS, July 28 (CP)—The picket-line passes of 11 of the men engaged in maintenance during the strike of 1,600 employees of Holinger Consolidated Gold Mine will be cancelled today.

William Sefton, chief organizer for the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL), said the 11 men are supervisory help which the union considers nonessential to maintenance. They are mine captains who have been working 12 hours a day seven days a week to maintain underground equipment valued at $2,000,000.

Cancellation of their passes will leave 31 workers engaged in maintenance.

Industry, Commerce, Labor Talk With Mayor

WINDSOR, July 28 (CP) — A conference of industry, labor and commerce is being called by Mayor Arthur J. Reaume to discuss mounting unemployment in the city.

The mayor revealed his plan to get a combined opinion on Windsor's situation in a speech to the Optimist Club.

Invitations to the conference were mailed Friday and it is hoped the meeting date can be arranged within a few days.

"Federal credit curbs, excise taxes and other causes of layoffs will be examined for their effect on Windsor.

"There is no justice that I can see in federal restrictions that pick on one particular community or industry to bear the brunt of the attack on inflation—if that is what is going on here," the mayor said.

No Legislation Free From Court

TORONTO, July 28 — (CP) — Premier Frost told a labor delgation Friday that no legislation can be totally insulated against application to the courts.

The delegation from the Ontario Federation of Labor was led by George Burt, president and Canadian director of the United Auto Workers (CCL). It protested the failure of the government to appeal the recent Gale judgment which overturned a decision of the Ontario Labor Relations Board.

The premier said he did not think labor leaders wanted legislation that was arbitrary and beyond appeal. He reminded them that a decision of the British Columbia Labor Relations Board had been appealed by a labor organization affiliated with the CCL.

The delegation asked the premier to bring in legislation at the fall session of the Legislature to make the check-off of union dues from pay cheques Ontario law, saying failure to agree on the check-off was preventing settlement of the Hollinger Gold Mine strike at Timmins.

$41 Million Plant Going Up At Edmonton

EDMONTON, July 28 (CP)—A 500-acre wheat field is being rapidly transformed into a $41,000,000 industrial plant on Edmonton's eastern outskirts.

The huge Canadian Chemical Corporation, petroleum chemical and cellulose acetate plant, expected to be in full operation within 18 months, will use purified pulp shipped from the corporation's dissolving plant at Prince Rupert, B.C., to turn out chemicals for Canadian and United States industry.

Most of its acetate production will go to United States textile mills.

Body In Whirlpool

NIAGARA FALLS, July 28 — (CP)—A naked body was caught in eddies of the lower Niagara River Friday Police, unable to tell its sex from the top of the gorge, said it "may stay there for hours."

4 Million Clicks

LONDON, July 28 (Reuters)—Turnstiles of the Festival of Britain's south bank exhibition have clicked more than 4,000,000 times since the King declared the festival open neary three months ago. Some 250,000 foreign tourists have flocked to Britain during that time.

Stagger Days Off

BRANTFORD, July 28 (CP)—Public criticism of Brantford doctors taking the same day off each week has led to a new plan which will insure that no citizen is unable to reach a doctor in an emergency. Under the plan, a minimum of three doctors will be on call at all times for emergencies.

Virginia, first settled in 1607 by English colonists, was named for Elizabeth, the virgin queen of England.

No Guns On Hip In Texas—Shucks

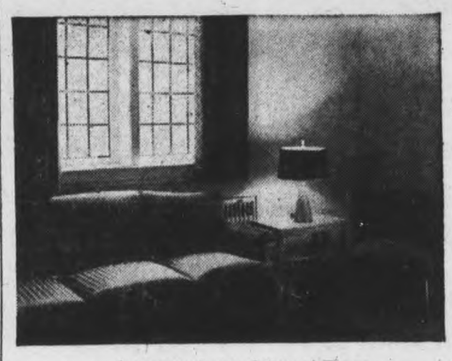
NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., July 28—This may come as a shock to small fry, but in Texas not everyone wears a .45 Colt revolver slung at the hip.

A properly outraged Texan has sent this information to local officials following the publication of a story about one of his fellow countrymen attempting entry into Canada while toting a gun.

When the customs officer asked the Texan if he had anything more than his luggage, he pointed to the gun, and said: "In Texas we wear 'em."

The story eventually reached Mineral Wells, Tex., where it was read by the man who sent the postcard.

He wrote:



"Dear Friends: We know you are civilized and we also are civilized. Occasionally a big-mouthed bum gets by and makes a jackass of himself. We don't wear guns down here and if that gentleman (?) gets caught wearing one in Texas he'll pay a fine of $100 with a few days in the pokey, maybe. Just want to get the records straight."

Tractor Rolls Over Kills Woman Driving

CALEDON, Ont., July 28 (CP) —Mrs. Blake Huff, 30, was killed Friday when the tractor she was driving overturned near here and pinned her beneath it. Her two-year-old daughter, who had been sitting on her knee, was trapped under the tractor, but Mrs. Huff's body saved the girl from serious injury.

Caledon is about 30 miles northwest of Toronto.

"Too Horrible to Contemplate"

Mr. Aneurin Bevan, the Welsh political orator and Labour fire-brand who resigned from the Attlee Cabinet last year, has issued with friends and political supporters a Manifesto. The pamphlet is called "One Way Only." In it the domestic and foreign policies of the Nye Bevan faction are set down. This is Mr. Bevan's bid for power.

• • •

Like a good politician he tries to lure the British labour vote by promising more for less: more welfare, a lower cost of living and less rearmament. These are the sort of policies politicians not in power can advocate without having the responsibility of trying to carry them out and make them work. Everybody wants a better living, lower taxes and less armament. Will Mr. Bevan be able to beguile the delegates to the Labour Party conference in Scarborough next October? He is a brilliant speaker, strongly left wing and has considerable personal magnetism. He and his group say that they do not want to "do anything which might in the least impair the unity and strength of the Labour movement." No—what they want is control of the Labour movement holus-bolus. Mr. Attlee is too able a man and too shrewd a political leader to let Mr. Bevan wrest the Party from under his nose. And he enjoys a reputation for sincere middle-of-the-road socialism which puts Mr. Bevan's fiery speech and temperamental actions in an unsubstantial light.

• • •

The crux of the difference between the two labour elements is re-armament. Mr. Attlee believes that close alliance with the United States is essential and that the only way to cope with Russian imperialism is to face it with united strength. Mr. Bevan thinks that Britain is ruining itself on needless rearmament, is spending on guns instead of butter, and that Russia can be dealt with in easier, quieter ways. He believes that American policies are leading to war, and wants Britain to get off the American band-wagon. If he had to choose between the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R., he would choose to side with Russia.

• • •

Mr. Bevan will almost certainly become Prime Minister some day. His views on foreign policy are therefore important to the West. If any Government which Bevan might form is to remove Britain from the western democratic orbit and align itself with eastern European, communist, democracy, is not the spectre of Bevan more disturbing than the "spectre of war" which he talks of the United States providing? "The Labour delegates who assemble at Scarborough next October will be haunted by one spectre—the fear of war" the Bevan manifesto reads. We suspect that the Labour delegates at Scarborough will be haunted and harried by the spectre of Bevan.

• • •

Despite his protestations that he and his friends do not want to impair the unity of the Labour movement, they are doing it by their dissidence from the Labour Party. The Bevan manifesto says that a Conservative Government "is too horrible to contemplate." If Mr. Bevan and his coterie persist in their schism with the Attlee Government, they will have to contemplate a Conservative Government; for if the Labour Party is split, it cannot win the next elections. It is believed in some quarters that that is precisely what Mr. Bevan and his friends want: a Labour loss to the Conservatives. They might hope thereby, with Labour in Opposition, to push the Labour Party further to the Left into their own policies, and thereby oust Mr. Attlee from the leadership.

Mr. Bevan's bid for power is bold.

Applying For New Pensions

Old age pensions for everybody of the age of 70 or over regardless of need or financial status go into effect next January. These pensions must be applied for. The application forms will be available in the local Post Office on and after Monday.

People who are now 69½ years old, who do not already receive a government old age pension and who have lived in Canada for 20 years are entitled to file applications for a pension. The application forms to be available at the Post Office are for this purpose. Although there is no immediate urgency about filling in the forms and sending them to Ottawa; if there is too great a rush in the last days of the year, approved applicants may find their first cheque delayed. So it is well to apply early. The first old age pension cheques under the new universal scheme will be mailed to pensioners at the end of January 1952—next January. Present pensioners do not need to make new applications; they will get the pension automatically.

The new law stipulates that every man and women in Canada who has lived here for 20 years and is 70 years of age or older on January 1st next will be entitled to a pension of $40 a month. This is payable without means test or any other restriction. All that applicants have to do is prove their age and the fact that they have lived in Canada 20 years. How will they provide proof of age? By a copy of a birth or baptismal certificate, by records in family Bibles, by church rolls, marriage records, military discharges, naturaliaztion certificates, or even acknowledgement of age by an insurance company: any official or semi-official document whatsoever is sufficient. Proof that the applicant has lived in Canada for at least twenty years can be furnished in a great variety of ways and is fairly easily established from municipal records, voters' lists, and by sworn statements of clergymen, lawyers, bank managers and others who know the applicant. What to do and how it is to be done are explained clearly on the new application forms.

More than 300,000 Canadians are now in receipt of old age pensions under the present system, where a means test is made. Under the new universal system some 400,000 new pensioners will be added to the 300,000 present ones.

Under the new plan the Federal Government will pay the entire cost of the pension to all who are 70 or over. Formerly Ottawa paid 75 per cent. and the Provincial Government 25 per cent. Shortly after the new year begins it is expected that "old age assistance" will be provided for people aged between 65 and 70 who are not entitled to the Old Age Pension by right, but have need of a pension. Pensions of this kind, based on means tests, will be paid for equally by the Federal and the Provincial Governments.

July Is The Weddingest Month

A June wedding used to be the heart's desire of prospective brides. Either they have had a change of heart or are not getting their desire. Last Saturday Peterborough witnessed no fewer than 37 weddings. It was a record day and far outran June Saturday weddings. Every Saturday this month has been heavily loaded with brides; there has been every bit as much jingle-jangle of nuptial bells and hoot-tooting of wedding procession horns on July Saturdays as on June ones, and last Saturday definitely established July as the peak month for Peterborough weddings.

Why the change from June to July? Perhaps July has always been more popular than the reputed favourite June. June is probably a poetic favourite; July the real one, the month brides actually choose. The choice is not entirely romantic, and here we pay tribute to the good sense of bride and groom in July. Most factory holidays fall in July, and so the happy bride kills two birds with one stone (dear! dear! that sounds heavy-handed); she and her new husband make their honeymoon coincide with the holidays-with-pay period. Last Saturday three-quarters of our industrial plants' staffs began their annual vacation. Among that holidaying crowd went 37 newly-wedded couples. May the joys of these lovely July days remain with them long after their return.

The Queen Of Whist Is Gone

An old spinster who died in New York city last Wednesday may be remembered in these parts with some respect and gratitude. She was the lady who taught people to play whist well. Miss Kate Wheelock, who would have been 94 had she lived until next month, was a pioneer professional teacher of card games and was once known as "the Queen of Whist".

Miss Wheelock came into the game when it was not considered quite proper for American ladies to play cards. At her home she was, however, not allowed to play for stakes or on Sundays. But she developed such a skill in her pastime of whist that she began to teach professionally, at fifty cents an hour in Milwaukee in 1885. From that day until her ninetieth birthday she never looked back, so it is said. Certainly she never turned her back on cards, and she went from laurel to laurel on whist. Kate Wheelock whist clubs grew up through the country. She was the first woman made an associate member of the American Whist League (in 1893). Owing to the pressure of modernity after the turn of the century, she turned her attention to auction bridge and then to contract bridge. But whist was her game; she never ranked with Culbertson. Whist lingers on, as did the Quen of Whist until last Wednesday when her final tally was made.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Prince Philip
Duke of Edinburgh

(U.K. Information Office)

ON July 9th, 1947, the betrothal was announced of Lieutenant Philip Mountbatten, R.N. to H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth. On the eve of the marriage, which took place on November 20th, 1947, H.M. the King conferred on him a knighthood, created him Knight Commander of the Order of the Garter, authorized his use of the prefix "His Royal Highness', and created him Baron Greenwich of Greenwich, Earl of Merioneth and Duke of Edinburgh.

HE was born on June 10th, 1921, at Corfu, son of Prince Andrew of Greece. On his father's side he is of Danish descent—Prince Andrew was a younger son of King George I of the Hellenes, son of King Christian IX of Denmark. The Danish royal family is one of those ancient ruling houses that have no surname, so when becoming a British subject on March 18th, 1947, Lieutenant Mountbatten took his mother's family name. At the same time he renounced his right of succession to the Greek throne—he would have been fifth in the line.

Prince Philip's mother was Princess Alice of Battenberg, eldest daughter of Prince Louis, who was naturalized in 1868 and joined the Royal Navy, rose to become Admiral of the Fleet and First Sea Lord, and during the first world war took the name of Mountbatten, renounced his royal title, and became first Marquess of Milford Haven. Prince Philip's uncle, the second Marquess, also served in the Royal Navy, like his cousin the third Marquess and his younger uncle, Earl Mountbatten. Finally, since Prince Louis of Battenberg married a granddaughter of Queen Victoria, Prince Philip is the Queen's great-great-grandson and second cousin to King George VI. Tall, fair-haired and strikingly handsome, he bears witness in his looks to his northern descent.

HE came to Britain at an early age to be educated, making his home during the holidays with his uncle, then Lord Louis Mountbatten. From a preparatory school, Cheam, he went to Mr. Kurt Hahn's school, which after the Nazi rise to power moved from Salem, Germany, to Gordonstoun, near Elgin in Scotland. He was popular with his schoolfellows, both on account of his friendly, unaffected manners and his good sportsmanship; he was an enthusiast at riding and swimming, and was captain of the school's cricket and hockey teams. (He is a good all-round athlete, and later at the R.N. Gunner School at Whale Isand was invited by the Ship's Company to play in their 1st Soccer IX—an honour accorded to few officers.)

He was a good scholar too, was head of the school before he left, and a keen student of Shakespeare who took part in school performances. In Elgin he was well-known to the townspeople, as he and his friends often spent their free afternoons there, browsing in the bookshops or invading the sixpenny store. He made friends among the local boys too, whom he met on and off the cricket field, and on fishing, swimming and sailing expeditions. Mr. Hahn is a progressive and individual schoolmaster, one of whose theories is that his boys should take part in the local life of the towns and villages around. Prince Philip kept up many of these friendships, and during the war would renew old contacts when on leave in the north.

HIS love of the sea showed itself early. He was a keen oarsman, and qualified as a British Sea Scout. He and his schoolmates built a cutter, and he took part in several sailing trips to the Shetlands, the Hebrides, and Norway. He was such a good sailor that he was allowed—a privilege granted to few—to be in charge of an open boat under sail in the Moray Firth without an adult on board.

In 1939 he left school to become a Royal Navy cadet, at the same time applying for British naturalization; he was still at Dartmouth when the war broke out, and his naturalization, like that of many others, was held up. At Dartmouth he was a brilliant student, being awarded the King's Dirk as the best all-round cadet of his term, and the Eardley Howard Crockett prize as the best cadet. Later when taking his sub-lieutenant's exam he obtained four firsts and one second, gaining nine months' seniority out of a possible ten.

IN January 1940 he went to sea as Midshipman in the battleship Ramillies, and after serving in the cruisers Kent and Shropshire was appointed at the end of the year to the battleship Valiant in the Mediterranean Fleet. The story is told that after a month or two's inactivity he applied for a few days' leave, saying: "This is a dull war. There's no shooting." He was to see shooting soon enough, for at the end of March, 1941, came the Battle of the Cape Matapan, when he was in charge of a section of searchlight control in the Valiant, and for his work in illuminating the Italian Fleet during the action received a mention in dispatches from Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham (now Admiral of the Fleet Lord Cunningham). His own comment on the battle was: "It was as near murder as anything could be in wartime. We just smashed the cruisers Fiume and Zara . . . . I hate to think how much worse it might have been for the Italian warships if we had met them by day instead of in a night action."

After coming home to qualify as a sub-lieutenant Prince Philip was appointed to HMC Wallace, a destroyer. When the 2nd Lieutenant left in July, 1942, he took his place (he was promoted Lieutenant 16.7.42), later succeeding the 1st Lieutenant in October of that year, one of the youngest officers, at twenty-one, to have been second-in-command of a large destroyer. In July 1943 he took part in the Sicily landing, when HMS Wallace covered the Canadian beachhead.

LATER in the year he came home for a course in HMS President, London, and then early in 1944 he was appointed 1st Lieutenant in HMS Whelp, one of Britain's newest destroyers, just nearing completion. He sailed in her for the Far East, took part in the war against Japan, serving for a time as ADC to his uncle, and was present at the Japanese surrender in Tokyo Bay.

On the return home of HMS Whelp in 1946 Lieutenant Mountbatten took over her command for the last two months to "pay her off" into reserve. Later he joined HMS Glendower, the Royal Naval establishment in Pwllheli, North Wales, transferring to HMS Royal Arthur, in Wiltshire, another training establishment, where he was one of the two officers responsible for training petty officers. There appointments were a further evidence of his ability, for only officers with a high record for leadership are selected for these duties.

In March, 1948 he began a six-months' course of studies at the Royal Naval Staff college, Greenwich, after which he went on half-pay because of his new public duties as husband of Princess Elizabeth. In August 1949 he resumed full naval duties, being appointed 1st lieutenant of HMS Chequers of the Mediterranean Fleet, and was stationed at Malta. In January 1950 he went to the Red Sea in his destroyer and visited King Ibu Saud and King Farouk during the voyage. Last August he took command of the sloop HMS Magpie.

"IS THIS A PRIVATE FIGHT OR CAN ANYONE GET IN?"

New Oil Fields

(NEW YORK TIMES)

WHAT MAY well be the beginning of a new major domestic oil source in the northern Middle West is indicated by two recent important finds 100 miles apart, one last April in North Dakota and another in the past fortnight in Montana. For several decades this country has depended heavily, though not exclusively, upon southern and western areas—such states as Louisiana, Texas and California. If these new finds in North Dakota and Montana presage the opening of comparable rich fields they are of great importance. The mounting number of cars and oil heaters in this country is steadily increasing our consumption of this material, while from a global point of view the shadows over the future of oil production in the Middle East, particularly Iran, make it most desirable to increase production from more certain sources, as in this country, as rapidly as possible.

In our gratification over these new finds we should not lose sight of the factors which made it possible for oil to be discovered at depths of 7,000 to 11,000 feet underneath the earth. The contributions of geologists, drilling technicians and related specialists are, of course, of the highest importance, for they make possible the location and then the reaching of this buried treasure. But important, too, are the enterprise and the willingness to bear risks which motivated these efforts. Wells that find oil are well publicized, but the large number which are no more than dry holes in the ground are recorded only in red ink in private ledgers. The men and organizations who search for oil at fantastic depths risk millions in such ventures, and frequently lose them. But they continue even after repeated disappointments because on balance profits can be made if a reasonable proportion of successes is attained. In this activity, as in many others, the role of the profit motive in inducing socially useful action is of primary importance, a fact which our people and our legislators might well keep in mind.

Pretty Silly

(Vancouver Sun)

The public expects something more from a British prime minister than childish bromides on who won the war.

For that reason most Canadians will contemplate with disapproval the statement of Clement Attlee at a dinner in London. Said Mr. Attlee, beaming at a thousand British and American guests:

"General Eisenhower was the man who won the war. Always remember that."

General Eisenhower's gifts are tremendous. His skill and tact are undoubted. He is a topnotch military commander. Nobody doubts these things.

But somehow, when we hear Mr. Attlee's unwarranted flattery, our minds go back to the Olympian spectacle of Winston Churchill breathing new life into the nostrils of the staggering Briish nation by his own sheer force of character.

Our minds go back to the voice of Franklin Roosevelt carrying comfort, tranquillity and courage to every corner reached by ether waves.

And since the late war was not a tilting yard where victory or defeat hung on the lance of a single champion, our minds go back to the toil and tears of millions of common soldiers, sweating and bleeding on European beachheads.

How silly can politicians get?

Of Mice And Coyotes

(Vancouver Province)

Last year the farmers of Red Deer declared war on the coyotes. The coyotes were a nuisance and a menace to stock. If the coyotes were wiped out a problem would be solved.

This year the farmers have a greater problem. They killed off so many coyotes that field mice—the coyote's natural prey—are increasing by millions.

Said one farmer: "We should pen up our hens and small stock and then let the coyotes run loose. They are by far the lesser of two evils."

By interfering with a simple natural balance between field mice and coyotes the farmers of Red Deer have created a worse problem than the one they tried to cure.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Thus said the Lord; I am returning unto Zion, and will dwell in the midst of Jerusalem: and Jerusalem shall be called a city of truth; and the mountain of the Lord of hosts the holy mountain. (Zech. 8: 3.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Beautiful for situation, the joy of the whole earth, is mount Zion, on the sides of the north, the city of the great King. (Ps. 48: 2.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. . . . . And the city lieth foursquare, and the length is as large as the breadth . . . . And the city had no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it: for the glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof.

And the nations of them which are saved shall walk in the light of it: and the kings of the earth do bring their glory and honour into it. And the gates of it shall not be shut at all by day: for there shall be no night there. . . .

And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb's book of life. (Rev. 21: 2, 16, 23-25, 27.)

"It's horrid stuff, you know. Ugh!" and she shuddered at the thought of it.

"Why, certainly," said the druggist.

Just then another young lady sat down and ordered a chocolate ice cream soda. The druggist asked the patient if she wouldn't like one too. With a smile, she accepted, and drank the soda with much enjoyment.

"Now tell me," she said. "How would you disguise the taste of castor oil?"

The druggist beamed all over. "Aha, my dear young lady. I just gave you some in that soda."

"But, good heavens!" screamed the young lady, "I wanted it for my sister."

Remaking The World

(New York World Telegram and Sun)

OUR government is encountering some difficulties in trying to give away money.

Syria has refused to accept a grant for an irrigation project because landlords there suspect the State Department wants to introduce land reforms and social changes which might be inimical to their interests.

The plan was to finance a small "Tennessee Valley" experiment in Syria's Ghab Valley, where model agricultural communities of small landowners could be set up as a practical approach to a program of economic improvement in that backward area. But instead of applauding the scheme as a measure to discourage communism among Syria's land-hungry peasants, the landowners regarded it as a threat to capitalism as it is practiced in Syria.

The landowners concede that the irrigation plan is sound. But they want it financed by private capital so the reclaimed land can be sold at a profit.

This may impress our planners as a cold-blooded rejection of a well-intended effort to rescue Syria from its feudal decadence. But there's an old saying that you can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink. And the Syrians who speak for their government just aren't buying generosity.

This is not the first experience of this kind since the United States set out to build a better world. In many places our motives are suspected because we are so freehanded. More good might result if we did not attempt to do too much, too quickly. Backward peoples do not readily adapt themselves to the Western way of doing things. And they cannot be reformed before they recognize the need for reform.

But, for what it's worth, there should be some consolation in the thought that if some people don't want our money, there are plenty of others who do.

Out Of The Past

(Brandon Sun)

"Englishman, 25 years old, five feet eight inches high, indifferent build, bends forward when he walks, pale appearance, red-brownish hair, small moustache, talks through his nose, cannot pronounce letter S properly, and does not know any Dutch." From the Transvaal government poster offering 25 pounds for the recapture of Winston Spencer Churchill, prisoner of war, after his escape from Pretoria prison in December, 1899.

The family car turned south off Highway 7, rolled through the village of Keene and came to a stop at the shore of Rice Lake. The kids hopped out and raced up the slope to their left. Mom and Pop struggled up the incline with picnic baskets.

It was warm and windy up there. The great lake spread below them in three directions. Small groves of hawthorn and oak grew from the irregular ridges on the crown of the hill. It was a pleasant shady place for a picnic.

"What a spot for a park," ruminated Pop as he munched sandwich and enjoyed the view.

"Uh-huh," mumbled one of the kids with his nose in a comic book. "Wish there was a pop stand here . . ."

And that is the general opinion of the Serpent Mounds at Rice Lake.

Let picnickers, and all of us, step back mentally a few thousand years. The Rice Lake Serpent Mound was in place then, a religious motif of the ancient Mound Builders. No one knows where these people came from to North America. But they built similar serpent mounds in Lock Nell, Argyleshire, Scotland, and Adams County, Ohio.

They are not burial mounds as is popularly believed, even though later Indian tribes used them as such. Remains have been found close to the surface. These intrusive burials have been proved to be of quite recent times, say, six or seven hundred years.

The most complete expert report on the Serpent Mound was made in 1896-97 by David Boyle, an Ontario archeologist. He was a sceptic. But by exhaustive measurements and recovery of relics he was able to satisfy himself that it was one of the greatest archeological finds of all times. Nothing has been done about it since then, more the pity. There is little money for this sort of thing in Canada.

The Mound is composed of five parts. The largest is a ridge five feet high and 189 feet long, in the shape of a reptile, facing east. Four smaller egg-shaped mounds, averaging about 40 feet long, are arranged around the serpent, two on the east and two south.

Early man paid respect to the serpent on one hand and to the egg on the other in connection with the great mystery of life. The snake symbolized rejuvenation and perpetuity on account of its skin-shedding and the egg represented origin. It is not easy to account for the coupling of these symbols by peoples widely separated in point of time as well as of distance.

There are other mounds in the Rice Lake area. Cameron's Point on the north side at its eastern end. Two mounds on the old Miller farm west of Hiawatha and three on the old Preston farm on the bank of the Trent a mile below Hastings. At Gore's Landing a long ridge, mentioned first by Mrs. Trail in her book, "The Canadian Carusos" was found to be of a natural formation.

But there is nothing like the Serpent Mount on the north shore. Mr. Boyle called it "unique" and recommended 55 years ago that it be restored and turned into a national park. The ground belongs to the Federal government under the custodianship of the Hiawatha Indians.

Do you suppose they could be persuaded to turn it over to the Government for park purposes? If the high-sounding Treaty phrase, "theirs as long as the grass is green and the water runs" remains in their minds, the Serpent Mound project will be forgotten, a spot for vandals to dig for skulls and arrow heads.

It is forgotten, indeed.

Serpent Mound, Rice Lake

Our district snakes are ugly things, but useful. The common striped garter snake keeps down garden pests and its black water cousin is a busy scavenger of inland waters. The puffing or spreading adder, quite a rare type, is also harmless. The Rev. Willard B. Day of the Church on the Rock, Burleigh, recently tied in with one of these repulsive-looking reptiles and killed it. He came upon The Thing in his flower garden, three feet of it. It puffed out the back of its head and gave out with audible hisses. The common belief that adders emit a poisonous gas is the bunk. Nor are they a type of the poisonous rattler or water moccasin. So, if you see one of these reddish-brown, white-bellied characters rising up to hiss its displeasure at being disturbed, it's okay. More than likely you will scare it away before you can pronounce its name, Heterodon Contortrix. Or so the book says.

KAWARTHA SCOREBOARD:

Well, sir, the muskies are surely but slowly being boated throughout the district these days. Rice Lake leads this week with three fish of mention; the Rev. John W. Love, DD, of Washington, Pa., a 25-pounder in front of Brisbin's Camp . . . David Ifft of Smithport, O., a 16-pounder . . . his cousin another Mr. Ifft, a 20½-pounder . . . At Pigeon Lake, Harry Logan of Buffalo boated a 15½-er . . . Libro Perina of Paterson, N.J., a 20-pounder from Lake Katchewanooka . . . Best walleye reported this week — it can't be the biggest, surely — was 8 pounds, 9 ounces, taken at Pigeon . . . Mac McWilliams of Gail Park, Buckhorn Lake, came through with the first fishing oddity of the season, a 4-pound walleye with a 1-pound black bass stuck down its gullet. Double-taker Louis Fry thinks both he and the pickerel struck at the same time. Could be . . . An irate angler who was fishing in the river at Omemee was so upset when two small boys rowed past, and over, his troll that he caught them ashore and whaled the daylights out of the urchins with his rod. Spare the rod, chum, accidents will happen, especially when the lads claimed never to have seen Irate Isaac before . . . Regattas at Kawartha Park and Crowe's Landing today. At Rosedale, Balsam Lake, on Aug. 4; Juniper on Aug. 6, and none at all this year at Bewdley . . . Stony Lake cottagers are getting a bit peeved about the Trent Canal's huge lock-gate lifter barge parked at the Government dock, so far, all summer. All available docking space is needed there, apparently.

Ladle In A Pot Of Gold

It Is A Beauteous Evening

It is a beauteous evening, calm and free,
The holy time is quiet as a Nun
Breathless with adoration; the broad sun
Is sinking down in its tranqillity;
The gentleness of heaven broods o'er the Sea;
Listen! The mighty Being is awake,
And doth with his eternal motion make
A sound like thunder—everlastingly.
Dear Child! dear Girl! that walkest with me here,
If thou appear untouched by solemn thought,
Thy nature is not therefore less divine:
Thou liest in Abraham's bosom all the year;
And worshipp'st at the Temple's inner shrine,
God being with thee when we know it not.

—WILLIAM WORDSWORTH (1770-1850)

WHAT GOES ON BEHIND GLITTERING STAGE LIGHTS

WHAT THE AUDIENCE SAW this week at Queen Mary auditorium is shown at the right: a scene taken during the performance of "The Hasty Heart." That is the finished product, the result of a hard week's work by actors, director, set designers and painters, stage manager and stage hands. These enthusiastic young people each average more than 60 hours' work a week putting one play on, getting the next one ready. Other pictures show what the audience does not see: the work back stage and before the play opens.

JERRY SARRACINI AND PETER MEWS (back to camera) quietly put the finishing touches to costume and make-up in men's dressing room in the furnace-pipe basement of the school, before going up to the stage. Stage Manager Peter Keary has just announced: "15 minutes, please," which means that the curtain will go up in a quarter of an hour.

THE PLAY IS ON, and this is what it looks like from the wings.

IN THE WINGS, from which the picture on the left was taken, Ron Bailey, dressed for his part which does not keep him on the stage very much in the play, doubles as prompter, following each line, as it is delivered, noting any slips, wrong cues, etc. At the lighting control is Peter Keay. He has a specially marked copy of the play, showing every change of light and shade required. The big switch box controls all lights on the stage and also the house lights. Ready to bring down curtain on the end of Act 2 is Jean Robb poised for the final cue line.

Summer Players Work Hard

By A. J. THOMAS

Some workmen trimming trees in the area dropped into Queen Mary School one afternoon this week to get a drink of water. They saw the stage set for "The Hasty Heart" from the back of the hall and said, "Where on earth did you get all that bamboo?"

"Oh, we painted it," set designer Peter Mews said.

"But," said the man, "that's a lot of bamboo sticks to find and nail up." "We painted them; they aren't real bamboo; we put paint on a flat surface to make it look like bamboo."

"Golly," said the man, "they look real."

Getting sets like that ready, a new set every week, is only part of the job the people of the Summer Theatre have to do, but like other of their jobs, it takes thought, skill and hard work. Actors and back-stage people and box-office helpers all take a hand.

To paint all the walls and get even a ceiling put up in "bamboo" is a large order. It is the kind of order the Summer Theatre folk fill each week. Saturday night or Sunday morning the old set comes down—and a good set for a good play which has gone off well is a rather poignant thing to see disappear. Bang! Hammer! it's down, ready for carting up to The Barn. It's all ended. The framework for a new set is waiting in the back hall. The week after, boards of the old set, repainted, redesigned, are used in a third play.

The Summer Theatre people are among the hardest working in Peterborough. They get ready for the night's performance, every night in the week except Sunday, at seven. Play starts at 8.20. The evening ends at eleven, by the time make-up is off and clothes changed. After that, and a bite of supper, the actors go home to study their lines for the next play.

Next morning rehearsals begin on the new play at 10. Break for lunch. More rehearsal from two to five. Tea. Back to Queen Mary to get ready for the evening performance.

MUSIC

I always loved music; whoso has skill in this art is of a good temperament, fitted for all things. We must teach music in schools; a schoolmaster ought to have skill in music, or I would not regard him; neither should we ordain young men as preachers unless they have been well exercised in music.

—MARTIN LUTHER: Table-Talk, DCCCXXXVIII, 1569.

There is no performance Sunday, but that is one of the busiest days. Saturday night the new set has been trucked to the school from The Barn, and the props (chairs, lamps, cups, books, etc.) for the new play are also assembled.

Let's begin the week with the Summer Theatre people on Tuesday. The Monday First Night is over. Tuesday at ten in the morning actors assemble for first reading of next week's play Those who will not be on stage that week are busy getting props or are at The Barn, helping to get the new sets ready. Lunch at one. Back to rehearsal and other jobs from two until five or 5:30. After that, evening performance. After that: home-work—learning the lines of Act 1 of the new play

And so it goes each day until Saturday by which time they hope that the set for the new play is well on the way, most of the stage properties are in the offing, and all actors know their parts, cues and movements. (They rehearse in the kindergarten).

Up at The Barn the week has probably been hectic, everybody taking a hand when he or she is free: hammering, sawing, making ends meets, painting. "The Barn" is the old brick barn on the Wharry property at the end of Middleton Driver, which Mr. and Mrs. James Wharry have generously made available to the Summer Theatre. All the sets are made and painted there. Also, two of the actors sleep there, in old horse stalls on camp beds. It saves rent (summer theatre actors do not draw imposing salaries) and allows nightly watch over the theatre's properties and equipment.

Saturday night after the last patron has gone it is nearly eleven. The school must be shut up at eleven, according to agreement with the Board of Education.. There is a last-minute rush to get the equipment ready for Sunday. The new set is trucked in from The Barn to a back hall.

Then comes Sunday. The school looks deserted to anybody passing by. Inside there is feverish activity all day long. Pulling the old set down, setting up the new; having a technical rehearsal (for the stage manager and the lighting cues—lights must go on and off and be dimmed at just the right moment and that takes practice. Then usually there is a dress rehearsal. By eleven Sunday night everybody is exhausted.

But Monday the new play must be whipped into final shape. Work begins early. Something on stage needs fixing—the back window has fallen through. One scene needs special rehearsal. Another sofa has to be found. The dress for the leading actress has not arrived. The kilt is the wrong tartan. The person who has promised to lend a special picture for the wall cannot find it. The food for the stage-tea has to be got ready.

(Do actors really eat and drink the stuff on stage? Yes. But it is not what it seems, always. If they are supposed to be drinking Scotch they are drinking colored water. With whisky they might splutter or get a throat-tickle and not be able to deliver the lines. If they are supposed to be eating sausage — well sausage - meat might stick to the palate and prevents clear enunciation. Bananas are a popular stage food; they go down smoothly and do not interfere with enunciation. Next time you see an actor eating mashed potato on stage, it is probably mashed banana.)

Monday is hectic right up to the last minute. Then the curtain opens, and all is serene. The audience does not know or feel that only 20 minutes ago Actor X's wife had a baby in Toronto or Actress Y's hat fell into a dish of rouge make-up.

Fifteen minutes before curtain time the stage manager announces it courteously. Five minutes before, he says "Beginners On." The actors who begin the play take their places on stage, and give a quick look around it to see that the props they use are there and in their right places. There is quiet on stage and below in the dressing rooms. Some of the actors take a last-minute puff on a cigarette, throw out a gag joke to ease the tension they are under. "God Save the King" sounds on the other side of the curtain. A quick silent signal is given. The curtain goes up, and the play is on.

This reporter has been greatly impressed by the workmanlike way everybody connected with the Summer Theatre goes about his business—all fifteen or sixteen of them. There is little nonsense but they manage to have fun. They are serious about their work and they work very hard. There is splendid co-operation; everybody turns his hand at everything. (For instance, Peter Mews acts in almost every play each night, often playing major parts; he rehearses the new play every day and has to learn his lines for it; in-between he designs and helps build and paint the sets. My guess is that he works 14 hours a day.)

Behind all this is the management and direction and planning and organization which begin months before the summer season starts. Michael Sadlier, managing director of the Summer Theatre, begins his work for it nine months in advance.

Actors and back-stage people all have a sense of artistic, vital purpose. They realize not only that every night and every week their reputations are made or marred, but also that the theatre is an art with a great tradition and a good future, and they want to be worthy of it. The curtain-calls at the end of the play are partial proof of how well they have succeeded—and never fear that everybody connected with the Summer Theatre on and off stage doesn't know exactly how many curtain calls there were!

MORNINGS AND AFTERNOONS the actors rehearse for the next play; in the evenings they are on the stage with the current show. Here, in the rehearsal room which is the kindergarten of Queen Mary school, stellar newcomer, Pegi Brown, Ann Murray (on window ledge) and Peter Mews go over a section of "The Little Foxes," next week's play. The girls this last week had an easier time than usual, because there was only one in "The Hasty Heart." Kate Reid. The others were not, therefore, on stage during the week; yet they did not have the evenings Scot free; they help behind scenes and at the box office.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Once a year the boss says reluctantly: "Perdue, I guess you're entitled to a couple of weeks holidays; when do you want them?" We always say, "right now," in case he changes his mind. So we pull out this aft for two weeks to roam the highways and byways as long as the shekels hold out. The local sports whirl will have to whirl without us for that brief period, but Don Grant will take over the desk in our absence. Those having newsworthy items concerning athletics are advised to contact him. Your co-operation will be appreciated, especially where postponements or changes occur.

Ever since Adam took a chance on dibs from Eve's apple, man has been prone to gamble. In fact, we take a chance on our lives every time we amble down the street. Just recently one Sam Perlman, who is published of The Daily Racing Form, gave some surprising evidence to the gambling committee in session at Toronto. He claimed that in all U.S.A. gambling a survey had shown that merely seven per cent was on horse racing. He showed that 24 per cent of gamblers placed money on church lotteries and bingos, 20 per cent bet on the cards and dice, seven wagered on such things as elections, sports and so on, while 16 went for slot machines, another 15 on punch boards, and seven per cent on numbers games.

Racketeers Move In

The American basketball scandals have rocked the sports world during the past six months. The cage game is the big winter sport in the States and it has been proven that a number of top players in some of the bigger colleges have taken bribes for scoring or not scoring points, as the big-time gamblers dictate. District attorneys and even senators are delving into the rotten business. We all know there is gambling going on all around us. Any local citizen can buy sweepstakes tickets, lotteries or betting slips. That is okay by us. Churches, service clubs and other worthy organizations raise needed money by encouraging gambling. We see nothing wrong with it, so long as crookedness doesn't creep in.

* * * * * *

What does burn us up is when the shady characters move is on the racket. Then the fix is on, and somebody gets hurt. You can't stamp out gambling any more than you can stop a drinker by putting in prohibition. That has been proven in the past. This writer doesn't encourage gambling, by any means, particularly where a guy goes overboard and squanders money. But neither does he object to a buck bet once in a while or a raffle ticket on a car. The law is peculiar in regards to gambling. It permits open gambling at Toronto race tracks, but it's illegal to bet on the horses in downtown Toronto. A pin-ball machine operator is fined but a service club or other worthy organization can gamble openly. Aw, nuts!

Petes Start To Roll

Looked like a good lacrosse game for a couple of quarters last p.m. here, but then the loop-leading Petes hit their stride to roll to a 21-7 win o'er the third-place Mimico Mounties. Weather kept the crowd down. Main snipers for the locals were Harry Wipper, Curly Mason, Don Ashbee and Ross Powless. In there effectively at times, too, were Russ Slater, Ike Hildebrand, Don Crowe, with a couple of points each going to Jerry Fitzgerald, Nit O'Hearn, Em Creighton, Arn Dugan and Bob Thorpe. That takes in most of the team, showing there is plenty of scoring punch all through. Moon Wootton was his usual sharp self in the twine tepee, and the other goalie also came up with some fine saves. A right clean tussle. Petes go to Brampton today and Toronto on the morrow, next home fray being here Friday.

* * * * * *

Hockey rumors roll around here in midsummer, but nothing you can pin down. Petes expect to hold a meeting early in August to discuss things, and the Eagles have been doing a bit of checking, as well. Ned Vitarelli, former coach of the Legionnaires, has been transferred back to town on his job, and it's possible that Johnny Godfrey—who suffered a bad eye injury last winter—may show up again on defence for the McGillis men. One or two of the better Belleville forwards have been checked by local puck officials, and more casts will be made by both clubs during August. Apparently neither Petes nor Eagles want any part of those long senior "A" hauls, nor do they wish to combine. But we do hope they'll get a decent grouping this coming winter.

PHENOM—Proportionately to his times at bat, Willie Mays has the best home-run record in the major leagues. Mays stepped right into centre field for the New York Giants, May 25, upon being called up from Minneapolis, with which club the 20-year-old Fairfield, Ala., lad tore the American Association apart. He owns one of the strongest and most-accurate throwing arms, is above the average in speed, runs bases well and doesn't hesitate to hit the dirt, with or without his cap, which he frequently loses.

Two Jockeys Barred For Life In Ontario

FORT ERIE, Ont., July 28—(CP)—Two jockeys have been barred from Ontario tracks for life as a result of several races run at Fort Erie race track.

The jockeys are Bobby Keane of Toronto, a veteran who has been in and out of trouble in various parts of the continent in recent years, and Phil Marchese of Pawtucket, Rhode Island, a newcomer to Ontario tracks this year.

They were ruled off by the Ontario Racing Commission for what was tersely described as "conduct prejudicial to the best interests of racing."

The commission, which took action following an extensive investigation of several races here, didn't elaborate on its findings.

However, there have been reports here that several riders were approached and offered sums of money for helping fix races.

And, in Toronto several bookies are known to have lost thousands of dollars on a number of Fort Erie races which brought exceptionally heavy and accurate win and place betting. By the middle of this week it was difficult ot place anything but a small bet through Toronto bookies on Fort Erie races.

Unsatisfactory Ride

The life suspension followed a decision by the commission Wednesday when Keane was set down for the balance of the meet here plus an additional 10 days for an unsatisfactory ride on favored Hemjohn.

One of the better known jockeys on the continent, Keane was involved in a 'fixed" race at Florida's Tropical Park in April, 1946, although he was subsequently cleared of the blame when he swore that he had crosesd up two other jockeys by going out and winning the race after pretending to accept a deal to throw it.

In April, 1947, Keane was suspended by stewards at Gulfstream Park, Fla. They recommended he be ruled off for life because his association and actions were detrimental to the best interests of racing."

Later Keane was set down on the Quebec circuit but was reinstated both there and in Florida. He was refused a licence for Ontario tracks early in 1949. However, he was granted a probationary licence later.

Catholic League

The remainder of the Catholic Softball League schedule will be run off at the Sacred Heart field to complete a season of 40 games, with playoffs for four teams following. The rest of the schedule:

July 30—St. Peter's vs. St. Alphonsus.
31—Immaculate Conception vs. Sacred Heart.
Aug. 1—St. Peter's vs. St. John's.
2—Sacred Heart vs. St. Alphonsus.
7—Immaculate Conception vs. St. Peter's.
8—St. John's vs. Immaculate Conception.
9—St. John's vs. Sacred Heart.
13—St. Peter's vs. Immaculate Conception.
14—Sacred Heart vs. St. Peters.
15—St. Alphonsus vs. St. John's.

Petes Beat Mounties 21-7 To Increase Lead In OLA

The Petes cemented their grip on th top rung of the OLA senior ladder here last night by trouncing the third-place Mimico Mounties 21-7 before a little more than a thousand fans. Threatening weather kept down the crowd. It was a clean contest, the visitors drawing the only two penalties. They had a 3-1 lead in the first quarter, but were down 7-5 at the half and trailed 15-6 going into the one-sided fourth frame.

While the Mounties were minus a few regulars, the Petes were slow in getting going but once they began to roll it was just a matter of how many. They found their legs some in the second quarter and really tore in through the last two heats. Both goalies were good in this game, making many excellent saves in every quarter. The slight drizzle of rain at the start failed to muss up the ground. At that, the game was fast in spots and draggy at other times, with some fairly close checking seen.

Whipper Leads

Leading lamp-lighter for the Timber Structures was Harry Wipper with four goals and three assists for seven points. Next in line was Curly Mason with six points, and Don Ashbee and Ross Powless with five each, all these players shining on the offensive. In on three apiece were Russ Slater, Ike Hildebrand and coach Don Crowe. Two points each were counted by Jerry Fitzgerald, Nit O'Hearn, Em Creighton, Arn Dugan and Bob Thorpe, as Dootch Vitarelli aided on one after a lengthy layoff due to a knee injury. The smartest goal was a "sleeper" by Curly Mason with Hildebrand's pass at the goal-mouth.

Ken Dixon and Chuck Simpson scored two each for the weakened Mountaineers, single goals going to Dennis Peterson, Pop Chard and Harold Downer. Chard also had an assist as did Vince Gilkinson, while Baldy Venner aided on a pair. The visitors battled valiantly but ran out of steam in the last half. They missed their high scorer, Don McPhail, who has a leg injury. Teams:

Mimico: Goal, Taylor; defence, Chard and Simpson; centre, H. Downer; wings, Gilkinson and Allwell; rover, Pritchard; alternates, Horwood, Peterson, K. Dixon, Knox, Venner and Stock.

Petes: Goal, Wootton; defence, Fitzgerald and O'Hearn; centre, Thorpe; wings, Dugan and Vitarelli; rover, Ashbee; alternates, Wipper, Crowe, Mason, Slater, Powless, Hildebrand and Creighton.

Night Racing Starts English Tracks

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, July 28—(CP)—A British experiment in night racing may result some day in an electrifying headline: "Jockey Wins 12 Races in One Day!"

The possibility is highly remote but it could happen. If night racing becomes an established feature at some British tracks, the compactness of this tight little island would make it possible for a jockey to accept six mounts at one track during the afternoon, scoot to a waiting plane and ride six more steeds at another track in the evening.

(Six races daily constitute the usual program at British courses, compared with seven or eight in Canada).

Of the 20-odd major courses in Brtain, several are only a few miles apart. Six or seven courses are within easy reach of London. If one of these happened to be operating in the afternoon and the other in the evening, commuting riders wouldn't even need an airplane to go from one course to another.

The first night meeting ever held in the United Kingdom took place at Castle Irwell, Manchester, in mid-July. The first race started at 6.30 and the last went at 8.50. There was the usual large attendance, about 15,000, despite the kind of weather for which Manchester is notorious.

No Luck In Overtime

Jockeys who worked "overtime" had little luck. Willie Nevett, who rode at Hamilton Park, in the afternoon, got to an airport 10 miles from Manchester at 6.10, but a hectic ride to the course left him too late to ride in the first two races. His other mounts lost.

Peter Maher also was scheduled to ride at Manchester, but bad weather prevented him from making the trip. Earlier, he won an important two-year-old race at Sandown Park, near London, on the speedy filly Constantia.

Despite the Manchester—visibility five minutes before the first race was less than two furlongs—the horses ran to form and crowd reaction seemed favorable.

Lord Sefton, steward at the meetin, said he was against the principle of night racing But he conceded that it was a break for the working man to be able to go home, have tea and then see the horses he only read about during the week.

The biggest complaint so far seems to have come from the stable boys. They have to rise with the dawn to exercise the animals under their care and they say that with night racing their chores wouldn't be completed until midnight, giving them little chance for sleep.

W. C. Frith, clerk of the course, said discussions will be held to determine whether the experiment should be repeated.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

The family hour mixed rink tournament is scheduled for tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

On Monday night, the club singles and the novice singles are on.

The final rounds in the provincial playoffs for District No. 14 were held on our greens Thursday evening. The winners now go to Oshawa on Wednesday to play in the next stage. Should they be successful there, they will return here on Aug. 25 for the final games.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Young Ross Siemms of Toronto lost his chance to win the sixth annual United States junior chess championship at Philadelphia on Friday when he lost to Saul Wachs of Philadelphia in a close eight-round match which had to be decided by adjudication.

Wachs needs only a draw in today's 10th and final round of the tournament to win it. He leads a field of 43 with 7½ points.

Irving Bizar, New York, moved into second place with seven points. He defeated Jack Kagetsu, Toronto, in the ninth round. Kagetsu defeated W. E. Chapman, York, Pa., in the eighth.

Wachs and Bizar meet tomorrow in the match that will decide the new US junior champion.

Siemms, 15-year-old Ontario junior champion and early leader in the tournament, has 6½ points and dropped into a tie with Lionel Joyner of Montreal for third place.

Kagetsu has six points.

A Toronto yacht, The Circe, swept across the line Friday at Rochester, NY, to be the first Canadian vessel in 11 years to finish first in the Silas George Cup races on Lake Ontario.

The Circe, piloted by Reg. Dixon, hails from the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto. It navigated the 15-mile course in the second day event in one hour, 53 minutes and 33 seconds.

Arlington Park's $143,750 handicap, at Chicago, richest of its kind in the racing world, will be decided to day with 10 outstanding thoroughbreds scrambling for the guaranteed $100,000 first prize.

The horse finishing second will draw down $25,000, as much as 85 per cent of America's stakes events are worth to the winner. Third place will net $12,500 and fourth $6,250.

The race at 1¼ miles will climax Arlington's 36-day meeting.

Quarterback Al Dekdebrun made peace with Toronto Argonauts Friday.

The 27-year-old star pivot who returned to his home in Buffalo, NY, Tuesday after expressing dissatisfaction with his salary was back with the team Friday.

"It's good to be back," said Dekdebrun at practice. "Nobody's going to have to worry about my attitude being good, either. When I play for a club, I give everything I've got."

Seventeen-year-old Rae Milligan of Jasper Friday became the youngest golfer to win the Alberta women's golf championship by turning back defending champion Mrs. A. K. Snell of Edmonton 8 and 6 in the 36-hole final.

The Jasper girl, whose father is the golf pro at Minaki, Ont., about 100 miles east of Winnipeg, was the sensation of the tournament. She won low qualifying honors and, in all except one match piled up lop-sided margins.

At Seattle, the world's speedboat record holder made it definite Friday:

His new Slo-Mo-Shun V, which has loafed at 140 miles an hour in trial runs this week, will be ready for the Gold Cup races here Aug. 4 "barring accidents."

Some doubt of his new craft's performance had been in the mind of Stanley S. Sayres until Thursday. But it was erased when the boat knifed through the water at 140 MPH with the throttle barely half open.

At Harrogate, England, Flory Van Donck of Brussels won the $5,880 North British Golf Tournament Friday with a record low score of 337 for the 90 holes.

He shot a 66 and 68 in the final two rounds Friday to end with the lowest total in history for a British five-round tournament. He won $1,400.

Weslock Faces Kesselring For Golf Title

LONDON, Ont., July 28 (CP)—Defending champion Nick Weslock of Windsor Essex and 22-year-old Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener Westmount hooked up today in the 36-hole final for the Ontario amateur golf championship.

The two top Ontario amateurs who survived the third and fourth rounds yesterday at the London Hunt Club course were both shooting for their third Ontario crown.

There was little to choose between the two golfers. Kesselring has had a comparatively easy time disposing of his opponents. He wasn't extended to the 18th hole on any of the four elimination rounds.

Weslock, on the other hand, has had some tough rounds—the second when he went to the 20th with Bud Smith of Guelph before winning and the third when he defeated Emerson Creed of London on the final hole. The competition, if anything, had improved Weslock's game and he shot some fine golf yesterday to reach the finals.

After eliminating Creed in the morning round, he returned to beat Jack Nash, also of London Hunt, two and one in the afternoon.

Against Creed, Weslock pulled probably the most spectacular shot of the tournament when he played a hook with his No. 9 iron, sending the ball over the trees and clubhouse to the corner of the green on the 17th.

Kosselring, who last won the championship in 1949, defeated Don Varey of Brantford three and two in the morning, and ousted Doug McKellar of Toronto Scarboro three and one in the fourth round.

Jack Nash had eliminated Moe Norman of Kitchener Rockway one up and Doug McKellar defeated veteran Phil Farley of Toronto Scarboro at the 19th in other third-round matches.

Makeup of Ontario's four-man interprovincial cup team was decided by yesterday's play.

Don Varey got a place on the team along with Kesselring, Weslock and Farley. The Ontario champion automatically qualifies for a place on the team but since Kesselring and Weslock are members, the fourth spot goes to Varey who is next in line.

Today's 36-hole final was scheduled to get under way at 10 a.m.

In the consolation flight Bill Givens of Toronto and Scarboro and John Watson of Chatham were slated to meet.

McNamee Tops Swim Sprints, Girl Sets Record

VANCOUVER, July 28 (CP)—In about another year, says coach Percy Norman, young Gerry McNamee of Vancouver will be ready. By ready, he means for the Olympics and a head-on clash with John Marshall of Australia, the world's fastest swimmer.

All beams after McNamee completed his sweep of the sprints last night at the Canadian swimming championships, rotund Percy said:

"Nobody knows whether Gerry can beat Marshall. But we'll find out in time."

The 17-year-old speedster scored an easy victory in the 400-yard freestyle last night at Mahon Park pool in suburban North Vancouver.

McNamee's time for the 12 lengths was four minutes, 26.4 seconds, eight-tenths of a second off the Canadian record held by Allan Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, BC. Previously, McNamee had won the 100 and 200-yard freestyle sprints.

Record Breaker

A winsome girl of 15 also was included prominently in the Olympic chatter around the pool, where yesterday's last two events were run off in almost complete darkness.

Shirley Campbell of Fergus, Ont., who teans down a record almost every time she enters the water, posted a new Canadian mark in the junior women's 400-yard freestyle. She had established the old one only six hours before.

In the afternoon heats, Shirley set a record of five minutes, 13.7 seconds, 3.5 seconds better than the times he had posted at Hamilton several weeks before. In the final at night, she did the 400 yards in 5:13 flat. So far, she is the only record-smasher of the meet.

The four-day meet entered its last day today with nine finals still on the card plus 10 heats.

The Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club led the individual teams with 52 points. Montreal was second with 37 and Ocean Falls, BC, third with 35.

Red Wings Win One-Hitter By Trefenauer

By The Associated Press

Bob Tiefenauer, rookie knuckle ball artist with Rochester Red Wings, is the latest International League pitcher to flirt with a no-hitter.

Tiefenauer pitched the Wings to a 7-2, one-hit victory over Ottawa Giants in the second game of a doubleheader last night. He lost his bid for fame with one out in the ninth.

Pinch-hitter Pete Karpuk opened the ninth by getting on base via an error. Tiefenauer retired the next hitter but Harvey Gentry followed with a triple and scored himself on an error to break the spell.

Tiefenauer's gem was the 11th one-hitter in the league this season. There have been two no-hitters.

The Wings also won the opener, 4-1, behind the four-hit pitching of Ed Yuhas. Yuhas lost his shut-out when Fred Gerken homered in the second inning.

20th Two-Hitter

Hal Hudson, rookie lefthander of Toronto Maple Leafs, turned in the 20th no-hit performance of the season as he pitched the Leafs to a 6-0 victory over Springfield Cubs. Johnny Sullivan and Bud Heslet drove home all the runs. Sullivan doubled home three in the fourth and Heslet batted in three with a homer in the sixth.

Buffalo Bisons wrested second place from Syracuse, beating the Chiefs 3-2 and 2-1. Willy Post won the opener with a sixth-inning homer. Moe Savransky stopped the Chiefs on five hits, two of them homers by Bud Foiles and Frank Drews.

Rudy Minarcin checked the Chiefs on four hits in the second game to gain his 10th straight victory and 13th of the season. Hank Workman, acquired from Binghampton, homered in the ninth to spoil Minarcin's shutout.

Baltimore Orioles and Montreal split a doubleheader, the Royals winning the opener 3-2 and the Orioles th nightcap 6-0.

Chris Van Cuyk checked the Orioles on three hits to win the opener. The Royals won the game in the sixth on two walks and Bobby Morgan's single.

Lou Possehl held Montreal to five hits in blanking the Royals in the nightcap. It was his eighth victory.

A Manner of Speech All Her Own

Irish Dialect Predominates In Manvers Township Though All Canadian-Born

(The following account of events in the history of Bethany Village is but a tentative beginning to establish records. There are many gaps to be filled in, of which the writer has no accurate facts. The writer would be very pleased to hear from anyone who has further information.)—Editor.

By VIOLET ANN CARR

Bethany, the council seat of Manvers Township, is a thriving village on 7A Highway, 18 miles west of Peterborough. When the township of Manvers was first surveyed, Lifford was the main village, and of this once promising settlement, no industry now remains. (Lifford village has been dealt with in a previous article.) Incidentally, the township of Manvers was named in honor of Charles Pierrepoint, who succeeded to estates of his uncle Evelyn, Duke of Kingston, and was created Baron Pierrepoint and Viscount Newark upon Trent in 1796 and Earl Manvers in 1806. He was born in 1736, died 1816, the year the township was surveyed. He was succeeded in earldom by a son, Charles Herbert, born 1778, died 1860. The township of Manvers is in Durham County, which was surveyed in 1792. The county is called after Durham County in England, the name being a corruption of Saxon words Dur-a-hill and Holme, a river or island.

When the eastern portion of the township was surveyed in the early 1800's there was no mention of Bethany, in fact, the road now known as 7A Highway which runs through the centre of the village was not even thought of. Early settlers trekking westward from Cavan Township blazed the trail one mile south of the present highway between Sixth and Seventh Concessions to what is now a county road running north and south one mile west of the present village. Here there was a natural pond of water, and here also James Preston, one of the earliest immigrants, built the first grist mill, which is still in use today, being owned by Allan Gribble. The machinery for the mill came from England to Port Hope and was hauled from there on wagons. It is not known exactly in what year it was built, but according to older residents it must have been in the early eighteen hundreds.

On this same road where the grist mill was established, a road was built south towards the settlement which later became Manvers Station and north to Graham's Corners, so called because a family of Grahams took up some 600 acres of land there. On the north of the Corners, on the farm now owned by Thomas Jennings, the first tiny chapel was built of Methodist denomination and the first cemetery was established. Here, also, John Grandy, who it was said, was a doctor who did not practise his profession, kept a small general store.

Record of Grants

The first record of Crown Grants of Land we have been able to obtain were vested in the names of Margaret Wait and Jane Wait and are for Lots 23 and 24 on the Sixth Concession, bearing the dates of November 5, 1817. We have not been able to obtain any information of these two ladies or their descendants. No doubt there were many others who took up land about the same time. According to the Registry Ofifce at Port Hope, much of the first property was not registered uhtil many years after families had moved in. Records of deeds were not considered of as much importance in earlier days.

Among the first settlers we find the names of Arthur Graham, John Staples, Richard Johnston, Sr., Joseph Hutchinson, Henry Hutchinson, Robert Fallis, James Fallis, Robert Porteous, James Preston, C. C. Cain, Matthew Hammond, Abijah Morris, Johnston Morton, William Davis, J. Keeley, R. E. Byers, John Smith, J. Peel, T. Thompson, H Benson, M. Staples.

Of all these names mentioned as taking up land on the Sixth and Seventh Concessions, none of the same name remain except that of Weston Hutchinson, who is now the owner of the homestead of his grandfather, Joseph Hutchinson. The first house on the farm was made of logs and replaced in 1855 by the present brick building, which was the first brick house to be built in the Township of Manvers. The bricks for the house were made from clay on the farm. The Johnston homestead adjoining was divided between Richard Johnston's sons James and Alex. James was a Justice of the Peace, and according to an account in Beldon's Atlas "the family had much local influence." James' son, Richard Johnston, continued to farm until he retired to live in the village, and this property is now owned by Calvin Reynolds. Alex's farm is now owned by Addison Scott. Incidentally, Melville Johnston, who has been Reeve of Monaghan Township for many years, is a grandson of Alex Johnston.

There is no information available as to when the road was actually built between the Seventh and Eighth Concessions (7A Highway). Rumors of the coming railway encouraged more settlers in the general vicinity and land was gradually cleared for the settlement which later became known as Bethany. Those who owned property in the immediate vicinity which was sold for village lots are listed as M. McAllister, Josias Wilson, William Davis, James Crozier, Robert E. Byers, James Kelly, H. Hunter, T. McGrath, Mrs. F. Bradburn, William Rowan, David McMullen, John Bigelow, John Smith, Joseph McGill, David Jamieson, Capt. Graham and W. Williams. There may have been other early settlers of which we have no record. All of the aforementioned seem to have been mostly Irish immigrants, landing at Port Hope, moving into Cavan Township, and later into Manvers. To the present day, although practically everyone is Canadian born and many of our grandparents were of English, Scottish and French nationalities, the original Irish dialect is predominant in the language. It has been said that anyone who moves 10 miles away from this district is still known to have originated there by his manner of speech. The writer recalls vividly, when first applying for a position in Toronto, being given an application form to fill out, which asked your nationality. This was before we had the right to say Canadian, and we were somewhat puzzled as to how to reply, having a set of grandparents who were originaly English, Welsh, Irish and Scottish. However, the form was duly filled out and in a later conversation with my employer, he reminded me of my answer to that particular question, and said "Why didn't you just say you were Irish, with all that accent?" The nickname of "Irish" stuck with me all through the days spent in that office. One of the agents of the firm had occasion to make a business trip through Peterborough, Millbrook,, Bethany and Cavan, and when he came back his greeting was "The Top o' the Mornin' to You; now I know for sure where you came from; they all talk the same!"

Naming Village

In 1885 a meeting was held at the home of Michael McAllister who owned the farm now in possession of Thomas Morton, to decide on a name for the settlement and the new railway station soon to be built. Various names were submitted . . . . . "Fellsville," "Plumped Inn", "Grahamstown," "Mullen Hill" and "Middletown" were some of the suggested names. Finally the argument was settled by Mr. McAllister who stated "We have Biblical names all around us: Zion, Hebron, Ebenezer, etc. Let us call this place "Bethany", for it is as said in the Bible of that other Bethany, 'A tiny village nestled in among the hill'."

In 1856 and 1857 the long awaited Midland Railway was constructed through from Port Hope, by way of Millbrook to Lindsay and with the coming of the railway, new industries opened up and Bethany became quite an active centre. As might be expected, the railroad with "The Iron Horse" was viewed with different emotions; the older people declaring that they, nor any of their families would use it. The younger people, like those of today, were anxious and willing to risk the displeasure of their elders and try out the new invention. The railway company gave a free trip to all those who would accept. There were no comfortable coaches such as we have today, nor did the train travel at any great speed. The engine was wood burning, and at stated places along the route large piles of wood were stacked for refueling. On the day of the excursion, flat cars were used with cedar branches nailed along the sides and seats placed crosswise on the cars and many enjoyed the first trip. The railroad was a blessing, as the people soon found out, as they could ship their surplus of lumber, cattle, hogs, grain etc. to other countries, or to other cities which were springing up throughout Ontario. George Price (father of Walter Price of this village) also Mr. Hancock, with his crew of men kept the railroad in repair and safe for trains. His section ran from Kelly's crossing in Cavan township north to Franklin village.

100 Acres Sold For Cow

Up to this time, land in the section was easy to obtain. There is one old record of one hundred acres of land being bought for a cow! Mail was brought in once a week by a rider on horseback from Port Hope.

In an Atlas published by Beldon's in 1878 we find excerpts concerning the vicinity of Bethany, which includes the names mentioned previously and continues "Large grants of property were also made to Bishop Mountain, Church of England Bishop of Quebec in the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth concessions of Manvers township, amounting to thousands of acres, in 1816. The families of Argues, Armstrongs, Beamish, Benson, Byers, Cairns, Craig, Touchburn, Wilson, Gray, Johnston, Lyons, Little, Morris, McGuire, McGill, McAllister, Neal, Preston, Russell, Staples, Syers, Ryley, Fallis, Graham, Ward, Kelly, Lee, Porter, Rehill, Sisson, Raper and Pritchard were settlers of more recent date. Col. Williams of Port Hope owns considerable property. There are several families of the Grahams. Capt. Graham of the Durham Artillery is weel known. He is also treasurer of the township. The Patriarch of the family, now approaching his 90th year was one of the very early settlers and helped to cut the present travelled road from Port Hope through to Bethany. He has acquired a competence for his old age and has succeeded in placing the members of his family in comfortable circumstances. The Argues were very early settlers some of them hold a portion of the land originally granted to Bishop Mountain. The Armstrongs are very numerous and own land all over Manvers. Thomas Benson, better known as "The King of Manvers" is a hale old Irish gentleman of 80 years, a very old settler and has held the position of deputy reeve a great many years and taken an active part in municipal affairs. The Wilsons are another old family with numerous descendants. Josias, residing on the 8th concession (part of his farm sold for village lots) has been several years in the township council and has also been a member of the United Counties Council. Abijah Morris on the seventh concession, a farmer and magistrate is an old settler of respectable standing. James Neal on the seventh concession is another old and respected settler and has long enjoyed Her Majesty's Commission of the Peace. The Preston family own considerable property on the seventh, eighth and tenth concession. Members of the family have always occupied conspicuous positions and taken a leading part in township affairs. Isaac is a Captain in the Volunteers. Porter Preston is a prominent man, owner of saw and grist mills and has done his share in aiding in the improvement and progress of the township. The Staples in Manvers are a branch of the highly respectable Cavan family of that name. They are connected with the Gradys and other families of note. Alfred Ryley has been the efficient town clerk of Manvers for many years and has the reputation of being a most useful public officer as well as a good man of business. The family of Fallis of Cavan, have also branched out into Manvers as thriving farmers. The father of Mr. James Kelly (partner of Mr. Grandy) was one of the first settlers in Cavan and afterwards in the village of Bethany. There are several families of the Sissons on the seventh and eighth concessions: good, thrifty English farmers and noted as the first in the township who introduced an improved breed of sheep."

Residents of Bethany can scarcely credit what a thriving village there was in the 1860's. From the memoirs of the late William Davis . . . . we find the following list of those in business: Myers Blacksmith Shop; Morrison's Implement Shop; White's Tinsmith and Stove repairs; William McKeown, Undertaker and Furniture; David Rowan, Tailor and Post Office; Garnet & O'Brien's Dry Goods and Groceries; Mark Graham's Bakery and Grocery; Charles Reynolds, Undertaker and Furniture; Alfred Staples, Tinsmith; Richard Staples, Butcher; Robert Nyland's Shoe Store and Shoe Repairs; (incidentally Mr. Nyland built one of the first two storey houses in the village, now owned by Miss Winnifred Nesbitt); Jonathan Bryans Butcher Shop; John Trews was well known as a builder of waggons and had a skating rink built at the rear of his shop. John Westlake was a Carriage Maker and it is said he built the first Reaper used in this country, later, his son William Westlake owned a Blacksmith Shop; Strike's Tailor Store; Sadler's Harness Shop; William Graham's General Store; Winlow's Drug Store; John Grandy, General Store and Tailor Shop; Alfred Ryley's General Store; T. G. Ryley's Drug Store; Dr. C. H. Brerton's office and residence; John Blakely's Harness Shop; John Richardson's Carpet Weaving; Mrs. Gault, Dressmaking and Millinery; Bradburn's Carriage and Wagon Shop; William White, Blacksmith; William Gardiner, Shoemaker; Robert Kennedy, Blacksmith.

In 1937 an Examiner interview with the late J. J. Preston, MP for East Durham, who resided in Bethany, gave a list of the business section for 1887 which included many of the above mentioned names and also included John Barnicutt, operating a shingle mill; R. E. Byers, sewing machine agent; William Chickley, Shoemaker; Henry Dawkins, Tailor; Thomas Fowler, Carpenter; Francis W. Galbraith, Carpenter, builder and owner of saw mill; George Garnett, manufacturer of sash, doors, butter tubs and other wooden ware. Garnett and Parker, General Merchants; J. Geddis, cooper; Jeffery Graham sawmill; John Hall, Blacksmith; Francis Hamilton, Hotelkeeper; James Johnston, Justice of the Peace; R. J. Johnston, General Store; C. W. Kelly, Confectioner and Fruit Store; Pames Lee, Shoemaker; Thomas Lee, Carpenter; Lee and Donaldson, Cabinet makers; Misses Serepta and Elizabeth Gardiner, Dressmakers; George and William McCartney, Carriage Makers; Gregory Nilands, Boots and Shoes; T. N. Pitts, Tailor; Charles Porter, Blacksmith; Mrs. F. Powers, Milliner and General Store; Preston Bros. Flour Mill and Grain Agents; Porter Preston Justice of the Peace; Staples and Noble, Butchers; William Strike, Tailor; Joseph Thompson, Shingles; Touchburn and Preston, Grain Dealers; T. Courtney, Meat Market; Levi Sisson, Grocer. Mr. T. J. Jackson purchased the meat market from Mr. Courtney in 1898 and the adjoining grocery from Levi Sisson in 1908, continuing in business for thirty years.

The hotels did a thriving business in early days and we have mention of Raper's Hotel, Campbell's Hotel, Lang's Hotel, Hamilton's Hotel, McKinnon House. Samuel Vance was the proprietor of the liquor store.

The first school was built on the corner of the farm owned by Robert Kennedy, who gave the land free of charge. The exact date when it was built is not known, older residents say about 1863. Mrs. Sarah Johnston, a daughter of Robert Kennedy who lives in the village and is now 88 years of age remembers attending the first school. With the increase in population a larger building was soon needed and in 1876 the new school was built at its present location, on land purchased from James Crozier. Capt. William Graham, David McMullen and Johnston Morton were the trustees at the time of the building. The old school was sold to Alfred Staples and used as a butcher shop until 1911 when it was destroyed by fire. The new school had two rooms. In 1929 it was made a continuation school with grades nine and ten added. The first teacher's salary that we have record of was $400.00, whereas now the principal reduring the construction of the

The Orange Hall, owned by LOL 1022 was first constructed in 1859, the land for the building being given free of charge by Mr. Andrew Brown, who organized the local lodge. Mr. Brown was the station agent of the new Midland Railway at that time. Later, wuring the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway, 1911-1912, the building was moved to its present location on John Street. The Temperance Hall was built north of the property on which Mrs. Clara Armstrong lives and with the coming of the second railway, also had to be moved. In later years it was remodelled into the home where Mrs. Isabel Perry now resides.

SURVEYED 135 YEARS AGO the township of Manvers in Durham county has an edge of a few years on the first survey in Peterborough county. Bethany, the principal village in the township, has had a long and varied history. In the above photo, taken from an old tin type, is shown one of the first stores in Bethany owned by Robert Kennedy.

DURING THE LAST QUARTER of the last century and the first in the present, Bethany was a thriving business centre with two railroads and numerous stores. Above is the main street as it looked in 1906. You will note the many wooden buildings, showing that the village was once the centre of a great lumber business.

LINED WITH TREES here is shown the north side of the main street as it looked in 1910.

Sermons From Bible Fit For Society, Persons

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

I have always objected to the term "the social gospel."

The phrase is an objectionable as it would be to speak of "the individual gospel." More right and proper it is to speak only of "the Gospel," as a gospel for individuals and for society, inasmuch as individuals live in social relationships and no man stands alone.

So far as I am concerned "social preaching" is another poorly termed phrase. My preaching has always been Biblical. No matter what theme I might discuss, or how close its relationship to some issue in the community life, my sermon has been based upon the Bible.

The Bible in its religious teaching and in its records of God's dealing with man, and the dealings of men with one another is a profound and inexhaustible textbook of sociology.

There is no problem in society today, or in the life of a modern nation, that is not exemplified, with some very clear teaching if men would seek it, in the concentrated history of the Jewish people as set forth in the Old Testament histories and prophecies.

The causes of social disintegration, of national disruption, decay, and disaster, are there set forth as plain as day; and there is no reason whatever to assume that those causes do not operate as tragically for modern peoples as they did then.

It was in the seemingly most prosperous periods in the life of Israel that the seeds of downfall were sown. The glory of Solomon darkened with gloom, when the people torn by oppression rebelled under Rehoboam, Solomon's son, and the divided kingdom began its way toward the ruin and dispersion of the people of the North, and the exile of the people of the South.

When the prophet Amos saw the righteous being sold for a pair of shoes, and the altars of religion being increase, without any corresponding righteousness and justice, He saw full well what the end would be ,and he fearlessly declared His message, even though it meant his own destruction.

Christ's gospel for society took into it all the wholesome teaching and experience that had gone before. With even greater sternness than those of old time He denounced the continuing sins and social evils of His day. If one doubts it, or minimizes the social impact of the teaching of Jesus, let him turn to that catalogue of "Woes" in Matthew 23.

But Christ had no gospel for society that did not have its rise and its place in individual hearts and lives. If there was one thing upon which Jesus insisted it was the value and worth of the individual life. It was the outstanding message of the parable of the Ninety-and-Nine, or of the Lost Sheep—that and the fact of God's persistent seeking of even one.

In a democracy, particularly that insistence upon the value of the individual, and upon his responsibility, should never be weakened. We are wont to define democracy in terms of the rule of the majority, but majority decisions do not make anything wise, or right. The true basis of democracy is self-rule, which means that every man is his own king. God help society when the king abdicates!

Holidays Extended

LONDON (CP). — An employee who was last to arrive in the morning, took time and a half for lunch and was first to leave at night was immortalized in his firm's magazine. A story citing his record was entitled: "Every Day a Holiday With Pay."

Literal Minded

OTTERSHAW, Surrey, England (CP)—This village was forced to build a new road sign to replace the old one, that read: "Ottershaw welcomes careful drivers." Two youths in a stolen car drove into it.

COAL DEPTHS

A depth of 4,000 to 5,000 feet is considered the maximum for profitable coal-mining in Britain.

Historic Coin

LETHBRIDGE, Alta.—(CP)—Paul Horvath found an 1852 halfpenny coin while digging his garden. It bore an impression St. George and the dragon and the words "Bank of Upper Canada 1852" inscribed on it.

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CIII. No. 23 — SATURDAY, JULY 28, 1951

THIS WHOPPER WAS TAKEN near McCracken's Landing, Stony Lake, on Thursday by Leonard Newnham (above). It caused great consternation and speculation to hundreds of summer cottagers who viewed the monster at Carveth's Boat Livery. But all agreed on one thing, its weight—30 pounds. Can YOU name it?—
(Examiner Staff Photo)

Three-Month Watch On Monster Fish Ends
Douro Settler Beaches 30-Pound "Thing"

Leonard Newnham, a settler of Douro township, about a mile south of McCracken's Landing, watched the antics of a whopping fish all spring He was never able to get very close to it for a good look until Thursday.

Lying among some shoreline swamp trash, Mr. Newnham caught it off guard and brought it to hook. After a violent tussle he got it ashore but did not know what his prize was.

He took it to Carveth's Boat Livery near the landing in the heart of a summer cottage colony. Campers came in droves to see The Thing.

They rushed back to their cottages for cameras and returned to shoot hundreds of pictures of it. They measured it, hefted it and got involved in all sorts of heated arguments about its specie.

The only thing they agreed on was its weight—30 pounds.

They called it a bull pout, a channel cat, a ling, a sturgeon, and many local name variations known to both Americans and Canadians. It had them buffaloed.

Some people put in phone calls to the Chamber of Commerce, and the Examiner and the Lands and Forests district office in Lindsay. On Friday a small delegation headed by biologist Gordon Buie of Lindsay drove up to see the monster.

It did not take Mr. Buie a moment to determine that it was a Cyprinus. It was the granddaddy of them all. Its sucker-like mouth was decorated with two long fleshy barbels, and its smooth, gaunt, olive-green sides had a row of large round scales near the fins.

The crowd of onlookers were still in the dark as to the fish's kind until the biologist stepped into the car and said:

"That's the biggest carp I ever saw in my life."

Crown Lists Nasty Words, Avoiding Swearing In Court

COBOURG, July 28—Robert and Kenneth Hill, Oshawa brothers, were found not guilty yesterday by Magistrate R. B. Baxter on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 10-year-old Toronto girl. However both pleaded guilty to being drunk and each was fined $10 and costs and Robert Hill was fined $10 and costs for having liquor in an illegal place. The case was heard with the public excluded.

The two accused, with a Toronto woman and her child, drove from Toronto on June 30 with the intention of going to visit the accuseds' relatives in Brighton. They got as far as Welcome where, as the result of the complaint of a service station proprietor, police picked the passengers up and took them to the county jail at Cobourg where Robert and Ken Hill were locked up.

The taxi driver testified that he didn't know there was any liquor in the car until the three adults started to press him to have a drink. He refused but the woman and the Hill brothers passed the bottle around among themselves and proceeded to become noisy and profane. They interfered with his driving and he pulled up at a service station at Welcome where, he said, the two accused got out and started to fight. Later provincal police came and took the mother and child and the two men to Cobourg.

List of Profane Words

Provincial Constable H. Wooldridge and Frank Clough of Cobourg testified that the language of the Hills in the police cruiser was highly profane and that some force had to be used to get them into the county jail. Crown Attorney Harry Deyman filed a list of the profane words in order that it would not be necessary to utter them in court.

The accused admitted being under the influence of liquor and said they could not recall using the language related by the police or the taxi driver.

Magistrate Baxter in dismissing the charge said that the drinking and swearing in the presence of the child came very close to meeting with the degree of guilt necessary for a conviction, and while it was not as willful as it might have been under other circumstances, the accused had been careless of the effect their actions and profanity might have on the child.

Farm Forums Hold First Picnic

Discuss Work, Ideals Of Radio Forums At First County "Do"

Most of Peterborough's Farm Forums were represented at ther first county picnic Friday afternoon and evening at Wallace Point.

The largest group was from Donegal Forum, Asphodel, indication extension of that Peterborough support of this comparatively new rural movement. Fairview in Smith was next in attendance and after them Lily Lake, also in Smith, then Central Smith, Westwood, Stewart Hall, Cold Springs.

The count of numbers by president Wellington Sutton at the supper hour did not include several groups who had to leave early for home affairs, and some who came after tea for the evening program and dancing.

Floyd Griesbach, president of the Ontario Forums, and Clare Burt, secretary, Toronto, discussed the ideals and accomplishments of Farm Radio Forums in the rural life of the province and of the Dominion.

Reeve R. R. Stewart welcomed everybody into the "banner township" of Otonabee.

Mr. Burt quoted some remembered expressions he heard in talks at the recent national conference of Forums at Amherst, NS. One of them was the statement of Dr. H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, that "Farm Forums have made it possible for us to organize our social, economic and political destiny with wisdom, and to live in peace and harmony with our neighbors in the world."

Learn To Live

Dr. E. A. Corbett, who is remembered from his several local visits, said "we must put forth a special effort to learn how to live while we are engaged in making a living." He cited the development of choral singing by the miners of Wales during many lean years; the contribution of the Negro spirituals originating during slavery; and more recently the folk dancing of the Danes as a means of maintaining their spirit and morale during Nazi Germany's occupation of Denmark.

Leslie Stutt, educational director of the Saskatchewan wheat pools, said at the conference that National Farm Forums were vital across Canada in disseminating information about the problems of the people of Saskatchewan.

The provinces could not succeed as they were doing if they lived each to itself alone. In its educational program Saskatchwan people were capable of handling their own affairs, but in doing so they lacked contact with the rest of Canada if the Forum service were lacking.

The other citation by Mr. Burt was the appeal of the Rev. Dr. H. H. Coady to maintain CBC as a tower of strength in developing Canadian unity and in expression of the voice of the people of this country.

Means Of Communications

Mr. Griesbach said Farm Radio Forum was an agency of immediate national communication among farmers. Its area extended to the bounds of the nation, reaching out far and wide.

The local Forum groups provided the means of freedom of expression among members, eliciting a new vocalism in rural communities. There were also reports back and forth, reviews, exchange of information and opinions and views through the Forum Guide and also the Signpost. The Radio Forum had also developed ways of getting action in a great many directions.

Mr. Griesbach suggested the timely analogy of the threshing machine. Into it went the harvest from the field, including weeds wtih the grain. Finally there was the cleaning and grading stages until only the pure grain emerged. In the same manner the Radio Forum harvested ideas and winnowed out the chaff from the sound proposals and policies representative of farm thinking and planning.

Rural people have to think things over and out today because they are living in the midst of them.

It was vastly different for the pioneers. They were concerned chiefly with the job in hand.

"They had no Korean affairs to worry about," said Mr. Griesbach. "By the time they heard about wars and rumors of war it was too late to worry. In those days affairs happened and developed long before they were generally known far from the fields of action."

W. W. Dawson, president, and Harold Lewis, fieldman, of Peterborough Federation, spoke briefly mentioning the evidence of the growth of Forums in this county during the last few years.

Former Police Chief Heads New Havelock Fire Brigade

HAVELOCK, July 28. (ENS)—Havelock council has passed a bylaw providing for organization of a volunteer fire brigade. Chief will be Bay M. Bell, former village police chief. Under the chief will be a deputy chief, two captains, and not less than 16 firemen, the bylaw stipulates.

Deputy chief will be William White, and captains and firemen are to be appointed by Chief Bell. In the near future, applications will be received in council chambers from those wishing to be members of the department.

The bylaw requires that all member of the department be physically fit, of good reputation, and 18 years of age or more. Age ceilings are 70 years for the chief, 65 for other officers and 60 for firemen.

Medical examinations every three years will be required for all members. Official title of the brigade is the Havelock Volunteer Fire Department.

Old Houses Fall To Make Space

Five houses are in various stages of evanishment. Some have already disappeared, and others are coming apart.

Two houses are gone from the gore at the Rubidge-Park intersection in front of the CGE offices, and a third, right at the tip, is being demolished. A new service station is being built there.

Silverwoods have torn down the old roughcast house north of their dairy on Aylmer St. It had seen a lot of Peterborough in its days, back to the time when the nearby creek was a source of waterpower and industry.

Another old house disappeared recently from the vicinity of the Sherbrooke St. corner of George St. It was north of the Loblaw and Goodfellow-Dougherty stores on the west side of the street.

The terrace on the east side of Louis St. took off to oblivion several months ago in the clearance of that front of the government's postal-customs lot.

This is a total of 11 dwellings of moderate rents that have been liquidated here since spring.

Skids 93 Feet, Hits Hydro Pole

After skidding 93 feet to avoid hitting a car on Hunter St. E., Ralph Galbraith, 17, of 552 Chamberlain St. late Friday night crashed into a telephone pole snapping it off.

He will appear in court Monday on a charge of careless driving.

Galbraith was driving west along Hunter St. shortly after 11 p.m. and slammed on his brakes when he saw a car ahead about to make a left turn into Howell's service station, 127 Hunter St. E.

The car skidded 93 feet and ran into a telephone pole on the south side of Hunter, between Rogers and Mark Sts., and just west of the CNR tracks. The impact moved the pole five inches at the base and broke it off 15 feet above ground level.

Driver of the second car was Frank Harvie, 337 Caddy St.

The front end of the Galbraith car was badly damaged. The front bumper was broken, the radiator grill smashed and the radiator split. Galbraith was uninjured.

He was taken to the police station by P.C. Douglas Farthing who investigated the accident with P.C. Clare McGillen. Later Galbraith was released but will appear in court Monday on the careless driving charge.

Falls On Toy Pistol, Lindsay Lad, 6, Hurt

LINDSAY, July 28—Del Mark, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Mark is recuperating satisfactorily in Lindsay hospital following surgical treatment for a wound received when he fell on a toy gun.

Del was playing in the yard of his grandparents home, Constable and Mrs. Percy Mark Friday morning when he fell on the toy which inflicted a severe wound in his abdomen.

Walloped Lad, 11 With Rod Fisherman Fined

LINDSAY, July 28—A 33-year-old Hamilton man was fined $5 in Lindsay police court when he was found guilty of assaulting an 11-year-old Omemee boy.

The accused was charged with striking the boy with a casting rod on the afternoon July 7. The blow caused abrasions of his stomach and arm.

First witness was the boy who cliamed he had been struck with a rod by the accused. He told court that another local boy and himself had gone to the river for a swim.

They were accosted by the accused who claimed that two boys, one looking like the witness, had run his line down as he fished in the river.

At this time the accused was on his way back to the river to swim. The witness' companion then dove into the weeds causing the witness to laugh. The accused then came back, thinking that the boy was laughing at him and ordered him to stop. When he didn't stop the accused struck him with his rod, the witness said.

The companion of the first witnss took the stand and gave similar evidence. Both boys denied having ridden down the accused's line.

The accused was found guilty and fined $5 and costs of $9.

Film Council, Library Sponsor Band Concert

Sunday evening's program at Nicholls Oval is again under the sponsorship of the Peterborough Film Council and Public Library in conjunction with the Recreation Commission.

Master of ceremonies for the evening of record music and films will be William Graff, librarian.

Kabalevsky, The Comedians and Cinderella Ballet Music by Prokofiev will make up the program's music and the following films will be shown: Sailing in Canada, Holiday in Manitoba, Island of Faith, and Caribou Hunters.

Told To Go To Church

COBOURG, July 28—(ENS)—A 16-year-old Hamilton township youth was allowed on suspended sentence on a charge of indecent assault of a seven-year-old girl. The court was told that the boy kept to himself and didn't mingle with other people of his age and that after his arrest, he was so ashamed that he declined his father's offer to go his bail. Magistrate R. B. Baxter in allowing him on suspended sentence, directed him to attend church every Sunday unless prevented from so doing by illness.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

FINED

Joe Sullivan, Peterborough was fined for illegal parking and William Bateman, Bailieboro and Craig Beattie, Campbellford, were each fined $10 and $2.50 costs for speeding in Port Hope police court.

CONTINUING WARM

Citizens hoping for cool weekend weather may be disappointed by today's weather prediction. It calls for the same, sunny, warm, shirt-soaking weather of the past week.

HOT IN THE WEST

There might be a heat wave on the way. The CNR crop report from Winnipeg says prairie temperatures have been higher, with Winnipeg registering 95 degrees. Crop prospects are at least satisfactory.

LIFTLOCK COVER

Cover design of Saturday Night this week is a down stream perspective of the Trent Canal from the Peterborough liftlock. Its scenic beauty is enhanced by the row of trees along the highway bank, and also by the graceful iron grill through which the camera looked down on one of the pontoons. It is excellent photography by the Ontario Department of Travel.

RADIO BROADCASTS

The CBC will present two radio broadcasts in Tweed August 5, Salute to Tweed and Neighborly News. These broadcasts will form a part of the Tweed Diamond Jubilee celebration. Reid Forsee, producer of Neighborly News and Don Fairbairn, conductor of the same program, will handle broadcasts.

Wider Roadway Cost More In Morrow Park

"It is easily explained, and I thought the council knew all about it," said G. A. Gillespie, secretary-manager of the Exhibition, in reference today to the $1,500 item in the account for the road through Morrow Park.

"We got a bid on a roadway 20 feet wide, but the council thought that 24 feet would be better and safer. I think it was City Engineer Chalmers who estimated that the extra width would cost $1,500 more. That's all there is to it."

"The $2,000 from the council was their part of the cost of original road, as estimated; so, the $1,500 is an extra for the wider strip. We think that should be agreeable to the council, because the road goes through to McGill St."

"The gravel for the south end of it was loaded free by the county, and the trucking was also free."

Heat, Light Developments Great Home Improvements

Some of the greatest improvements in the new home are in heating, ventilating, lighting and sound control. It is not necessary to consult a laboratory to have thse controls, nor it is necessary to have great control panels to adjust them, as some people think. The term "air-conditioned" has been loosely applied to many heating systems in the past few years. It is wise to investigate this feature of your new home thoroughly and avoid a costly error. Comfortable living and easy housekeeping depend a great deal on your heating system doing a good job. Good planning, and consultation with a progessive designer or architect, make all these available for the modern home.

Radiant vs. Convection

In order to understand radiant heating, a more familiar form must first be understood: convection heating, the type used in most homes. Hot water, hot air and steam systems are all forms of convection heating and require registers or radiators to carry the heat to different areas of the house.

In radiant heating, the same basis of heating is required but the heat itself is transmitted through the floors, the walls or the ceilings by means of hot air ducts or hot water coils encased in the construction. In the home which uses radiant heating there are not hot and cold areas in the rooms, and the floors are warm. When large surface areas are used to radiate the heat, the entire room glows with the gentle warmth of a bright spring day. In most radiantly heated homes, the occupants find a thermostat temperature of the floor, wall or ceiling is only 82 degrees to 85 degrees, it is impossible to use any material on the heating surface with no danger of damage. This temperature is about the same as the surface temperature of the skin.

Installation costs of radiant heating systems may be compared very favorable to the old-fashioned method of convection heating. In many installations the operating costs have proven to be more economical.

Solar Heating

In solar heating, we take advantage of the seasonal position of the sun to gain the most of its benefits. This involves not only the placement of certain sections of the house, but the design of the landscaping, as well. Rooms in which we desire the early morning sun are placed toward the southwest. Large areas of sealed, double-glass windows are used in the southern exposure, but incorrect use of such areas may result in disaster. Here, an expert must be consulted, who can calculate with precision the exact angles of sunlight for each hour of each day of the year for the longitude involved. Protection against the sun is also involved, both by a "sun visor" on the house and by a deliberate development of the landscaping to provide shade during specific seasons of hours. Here, too, it is well to consult a landscape architect who can give you valuable advice on plantings for the solar house. All phases of planning and building a solar house are so important to the comfort of that house that careful planning is required.

Ventilation

We have spoken of sealed windows, but if a house is sealed how do we get fresh air? The answer lies in screened and insulated louvre panels in the walls, or in ventilation by mechanical means. One of the simplest methods of mechanical ventilation is the installation of fan units in various parts of the house, or ventilation may be accomplished by a single fan unit. The term "air-conditioned," loosely applied to many systems, is generally understood to mean the control of air temperature, humidity, circulation and purity. New filters which collect pollen, smoke and dust particles will make today's "air-conditioning" a fact, and a boon to home cleanliness and health. Considering the saving on the life of rugs, draperies and upholstering, air-conditioning will prove an economical measure, as well.

One good method of ventilating, and often overlooked by homeowners, is the use of a fan in the attic. This is an effective method and an economical one. As in many other phases of home-build and homeplanning, it is necessary to consult an expert when considering air-conditioning equipment for the home.

Wiring and Lighting

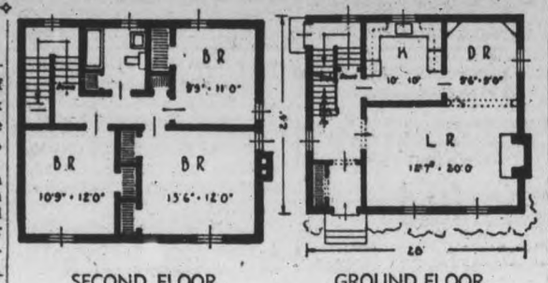
Electrical wiring systems should be designed to meet not only present-day needs but also to accommodate the appliances which may be installed in the future. Plenty of outlets should be included in the wiring plan. In working areas, double outlets should be installed for equipment you know you'll have in the future, such as a deep freezer, ventilating fans, dishwasher, etc.

Provide, too, for exterior outlets—one or two for Christmas tree lights and other uses. A good plan is to make allowance for several telephone outlets for extra phones when you can afford them.

Equipment, Appliances

The new home demands planning for electrical living if it is to be designed for complete convenience. Be sure to make allowance for all the appliances you have now or expect to buy. Make a check list of your appliances and where they are to be used. Don't overlook the possibility of using several in each room. Provision should also be made for the exciting possibilities of television. Hobby shop power tools may require heavier wiring. Perhaps you have some ideas of your own, and will want to make allowances in your wiring plans for these, as well.

Sound Control



The basic objective of sound control in a home is to create a condition where all normal activities can be carried on by each member of the family without disturbing anyone else. Today's house can be sound conditioned at no great expense, with consequently a greater degree of comfort and privacy. The best way to decrease noise is, simply enough, to stop it at its source. In rooms where the greatest noise, occurs, which include the living room, playroom and kitchen, noise can be reduced by the use of sound-absorbing materials. Rubber, wood, and special acoustical materials are in this category. These need not be functional alone, but highly decorative as well, such as walls, of masonry, wood paneling, and sound-absorbing blocks placed in a decorative pattern.

OTTAWA, July 28.—Canadian destroyers assigned to Korean war duty with the United Nations Fleet steamed a total of 207,893 nautical miles, the equivalent of nearly 240,000 land miles, from July 5, 1950, to March 31, 1951.

When on August 1 the destroyers complete a full year of participation in the Korean campaign, they will have added considerably to that total.

Five ships have contributed to the mileage figure—the Cayuga, Sioux, Athabaskan, Nootka and Huron. There destroyers have been constantly maintained in Korean waters for the past year, with two additional ships serving as reliefs.

The first three RCN ships to serve under the UN flag — the Cayuga, Sioux and Athabaskan—sailed from Esquimalt, BC, on July5, 1950, and commenced operations on August 1.

Sailing Dates

HMCS Nootka left Halifax November 25 and relieved the Sioux January 14. HMCS Huron sailed from Halifax January 22 and on March 15 replaced the Cayuga. The Sioux returned to the Far East in May to relieve the Athabaskan and was followed six weeks later by the Cayuga, who took over from the Nootka.

The mileage records show that HMCS Sioux covered 49,436 miles in the 214 days from when she left Esquimalt until she returned on February 4 of this year. This record surpasses by a substantial margin that established by the Sioux during her busiest period of the Second World War.

Up to March 31, the Cayuga had steamed 52,052 miles and the Athabaskan 46,660. The Nootka had covered 32,915 miles and the Huron 16,830.

The Huron's total was compiled in the 68-day period between January 22 and March 31.

The Huron and HMCS Iroquois frequently operated together during 1943-44 operations. They saw service on the North Russian convoy route, and in the English Channel and the Bay of Biscay with the crack 10th Destroyer Flotilla. During a 274-day period (Oct. 1, 1943, to June 30, 1944) the Huron covered 37,899 miles and the Iroquois 30,799. In 270 days of the Korean war, the Cayuga steamed 52,052 miles and the Athabaskan 56,660.

Although conditions and circumstances surrounding naval operations in Korea are dissimilar to those of the Second World War, the Canadian destroyers with the UN fleet are spending a remarkably high percentage of their time at sea. Last winter, the Cayuga carried out a patrol which kept her at sea for 50 consecutive days; the Sioux had a 43-day stretch and the Athabaskan was not far behind with 33 successive days at sea.

Progress of Peterborough: LXXXI

Peterborough In the 80's Had Prosperity Despite Collapse of Lumber Trade

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

The 1880s were a period of transition in Kawartha ecomomic life—the lumbering industry began a swift decline lasting twenty years; agriculture was being mechanized in the south and abandoned in rocky northern townships; mining in east and north proved unprofitable; trapping followed the fur-bearing animals north into Nipissing District—all the outdoor industries exploiting natural resources were proving less attractive to ambitious youths by 1890, and they began migrating to seek their fortunes. Some went to Peterborough and other towns of eastern Canada and the United States, entering the new industrial establishments, or professional or commercial life. In Peterborough County the rural population was stationary while the urban population rose from 28 to 39 per cent of the total; in Victoria County, the rural population fell sharply while the urban proportion rose from 23 to 28 per cent; Haliburton's population (all rural) gained only 7.4 per cent in the decade. Other youths went to the prairies of western Canada and the United States, where fertile wheat-land was cheap, and where fortunes could be made by starting new communities and speculating in real estate, contracting for construction jobs, or starting new mercantile enterprises.

The period 1880-1893 was prosperous except for a minor depression 1883-86. Capital investment in Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton Counties rose from $1,624,723 to $4,435,151 between 1881 and 1891, and the value of production rose from $3,695,725 to $6,411,010, two-thirds being in Peterborough County. The number of industrial employees increased from 3,277 to 4,100, while the average annual wage rose from $223 to $278 (in Peterborough $292 and in Victoria $250). Agricultural production grew moderately, and prices rose only a little in the decade, so that the average person, whether in town or country, was living more comfortably by 1890.

The collapse of the timber trade can be summed up in a few district statistics:

	1881	1891
Cu. ft square pine	747,500	111,718
Cu. ft. other sq. timber ..	2,987,000	200,322
Number of sawlogs	2,420,130	1,077,823

The square timber trade fell to one-tenth, and the sawn-timber trade declined to less than one-half, as lumbermen and fires swept over the northern forest. Most of the production was from Haliburton, but the effects of the decline were felt through the whole district. Smaller firms such as Dickson and MacDonald of Peterborough, Strickland of Lakefield, and Fowlds of Hastings, continued to cut on scattered limits in north Peterborough and south Haliburton, competing with the Rathbun Company of Deseronto and Glen Alda, and Irwin & Gordon of Peterborough and Toronto who in 1883 took over the assets of the Canadian Land & Emigration Company of Haliburton. But the larger companies like Ullyot & Sadler of Peterborough and Lindsay, and Boyd of Bobcaygeon, sought limits on French River and north of Georgian Bay, erecting steam sawmills in that area to cut the timber. The deaths of Mossom Boyd (1883), Robert Rogers (1885), and John Ludgate (1886) mark the end of the pioneer Kawartha lumbering era.

With the shanty market vanishing, Kawartha farmers increased their exports over the improved railway lines. Depleted soil and cheap prairie wheat brought a swing to mixed farming: barley and oats for the American industries, horses for the prairies, bacon for Britain, milk for the cheese factories, and food for the industrial towns of Ontario and Quebec. Crop acreage increased 20 per cent and pasture 80 per cent, but the important were improvements in stock-breeding and increased use of machinery and fertilizers. Flour and grist mills declined from 33 to 29, but production rose from $807,184 to $1,872,685, two-thirds in Peterborough County. Cheese factories increased from 18 with production $37,675, to 40 at $290,752, two-thirds in Peterborough County. Meat-curing plants increased from five with production $67,440, to 9 at $210,473, all but one in Peterborough County. Other industries dependent on agriculture flourished in similar fashion.

Rise And Fall Of Villages

The story of the Kawartha villages in this period is a fascinating one—their sudden rise when new mills began to operate, often encouraged by bonuses, and their sudden decline when the industries only too often failed. Of 87 villages with 25 or more people 52 grew in size, 10 remained steady, and 25 declined in this decade (most of the last group being in Victoria County). They depended on small factories producing cheese-boxes, wagons, brooms, leather, tubs, sash and doors, woollen cloth, farm tools, bricks, staves, etc, printers, barbers and dressmakers, they serviced the rural areas. Larger villages like Millbrook (incorporated 1880), Omemee, Lakefield, Norwood, Bobcaygeon, Oakwood, Havelock and Hastings still survive, often with dimished populations, but many of the smaller ones like Baddow, Clydesdale, Cresswell, Glen Alda, Lakehurst, South Dummer, Preneveau and Madowa have faded almost away. Their individual industries were relatively small, but in total they gave the district, when added to that of Peterborough and Lindsay towns, an industrial production of $6,411,019 by 1891 (see above). District industries with production over $200,000 yearly, in order of importance, were: flour & grist mills, sawmills, cheese factories, woollen mills, tailors and clothiers, farm implements, foundries, wagon works, and meat-curing plants.

Most of the increase in district population from 70,083 to 73,938 in the decade was in Peterborough County, and Victoria began a decline which has continued ever since. Townships losing population were: Eldon, Fenelon, Laxton, Digby, Longford, Emily, Ops, Mariposa, Verulam(in Victoria); Asphodel, Douro, Otonabee, Ennismore, North Monaghan, Smith (in Peterborough); Anson, Hindon, Lutterworth (in Haliburton). As hundreds of young men migrated to "greener fields", the average age of the population rose. A few of the many migrants who became prominent in eastern Canada and the United States were: S. Kydd, W. A. Sherwood, Thomas Langton, R. McLaughlin, Archbishop F. McEvay, Archbishop M. Spratt, J. R. Hall, Justice John Armour, Joseph Flavelle, George Cox, Robert White, Edward Wood, Ryerson Ritchie, Bishop D. Scollard, Dr. E. Spilbury and Katherine Wallis. Many others achieved success in the arts and professions, in industry and commerce, two generations ago. In the political arena, the district did not have any representatives in the Senate of Canada; in the House of Commons, Peterborough's members were John Burnham (C) and Geo. Hilliard (C) to 1887, then J. Lang (L) and Jas. Stevenson (C), while Victoria's members were H. Cameron (C) and A. McQuade (C) to 1887, then J. A. Barron (L) and A. Hudspeth (C).

Bright Reports From West

The few district soldiers who went on the 1870 Red River Expedition, and the 51 men of the 57th Regiment who enlisted as G Company of the Midland Regimet for service in the Northwest Rebellion of 1885, brought back glowing stories of its cheap fertile soil; some of them stayed in the west, and others returned later. Typical is Lt. Col. Wm. Kennedy, who went to Winnipeg 1870, led a contingent of Canadian boatmen on the Nile Expedition 1884, and died in London the next year; John Benson, Peterborough miller, was another who went west in 1870. Percy Edmison of Smith went west in 1870 and became a pioneer in Dakota. Sanford Fleming, who learned surveying under Richard Birdsall about 1850, surveyed the CPR route to the Pacific in 1872, and others like Edward Brown of Douro (killed in the 1885 Rebellion) were prairie surveyors; G. G. Stewart, son of Hon. T. Stewart, and a Fleming protege, surveyed in Manitoba in 1879. John McDougall went to Edmonton in 1873 and became a merchant and mayor. Patrick Burns went west in 1879 and became a leading contractor and meat-packer. Henry Rubidge was a Chicago railway executive 1875 on.

The newspapers of the 1880s were full of advertisements for cheap western lands, and announcements of people leaving for the prairies. Dr. Ed. Benson, Manitoba coroner, went in 1874, and his assistant, Dr. W. Emmons, in 1882. Hon. David McFadden, leading Manitoba politician, went in 1880, also Alex Haggart, Winnipeg MP, and Alex Bethune (later mayor of Vancouver). Sir Wm. Mackenzie and Sir. D. Mann, railway builders, went in 1880 and 1886 respectively. E. H. D. Hall and Frank Hall went west 1883-4 but returned, likewise the two Strickland brothers. Dr. John Willoughby went to Saskatoon 1883 and was captured by Riel in the Rebellion. Robert Green, BC Senator, went to Winnipeg 1882 and Kootenay 1885. Henry Smith, mayor of Peterborough 1881-2 and 1884, went to Winnipeg and became Commissioner of Dominion Lands for Western Canada. Wm. Staples, Manitoba, MP, went west in 1885, and Frederick Haultain, who became Northwest Councilolr and Territorial Premier.

Among those who remained, more pioneers died in this period: Ab Clegg, Adam and James and John Hall, Dan Hopkins, Col. F. Haultain, David Hatton, John Flavelle, Robert Nicholls, Wm. Eastland, R. H. Dennistoun, P. M. Grover, Robert Rogers, Walt Patterson Sr., etc.

Yet though young people were migrating and pioneers passing away, the district was prospering and hopeful for the future, as revealed in Mulvaney's "History of Peterborough County" (1884) and the several district directories of the period. Churches, schools and libraries were more numerous and widely used; newspapers, magazines, and books were more widely read and intelligently discussed. More people could afford to holiday at summer resorts from Idylwyld on Rice Lake to Sturgeon Point on Sturgeon Lake and Juniper Island on Stony Lake. A group of Peterborough canoeists who went to the American Canoe Association regattas at Lake George in 1881 and 1882 created such a favorable impression that the A.C.A. regattas of 1883 and 1887 were held at Juniper Island, making the beauties of the Kawarthas known over the continent, and starting an annual migration of American tourists which has developed into a major local industry. The lakes and rivers became dotted with summer hotels and cottages, where canoeing, fishing, swimming, hiking, and other holiday pastimes were popular.

Stock Salesmen Rob Clients Of Every Cent

TORONTO, July 28 — (CP) — O. E. Lennox, chairman of the Ontario Securities Commission, said Friday that many unlicensed stock salesmen in Ontario take every penny their clients own.

"Many of these men aren't satisfied with a small profit," he told the Ontario Legislature Crime Investigation Committee. "They like to get right behind the kitchen chair and clean their victims out of every cent."

Appearing for the third successive day to tell the committee about Ontario stock and security operations, Mr. Lennox estimated that about 12½ per cent of registered Ontario stock and security dealers use high-pressure mail and phone tactics on persons in the United tates.

He was behind efforts of US officials to rid themselves of "high-pressure Ontario stock salesmen" but he thought it also important to protect the interests of legitimate dealers.

It was not the duty of the commission, nor within the power of the Ontario government, to put a blanket ban on use of mails by broker dealers.

Development of Canada's resources also suffered because "we need the money and the American wants to invest."

Jail terms, instead of fines, would help to curb fraudulent stock dealing.

Speak Both Tongues

QUEBEC, July 28 — (CP). — A memorandum requesting more extensive bilingualism in Canada has been sent Federal authorities by La Federation des Societies St. Jean-Baptiste, it was announced Friday. The memorandum wass ent to Prime Minister St. Laurent, Defence Minister Claxton, Production Minister Howe and "all the French-speaking ministers."

Life Saving Rules

TORONTO, July 28 — (CP)— The Ontario Red Cross has started a campaign to label all boats in the province with life-saving instructions in an effort to decrease the number of water fatalities. Transfers which can be pasted to boats are being distributed to boat owners.

Athabaskan Sails

OTTAWA, July 28 (CP)—The Canadian destroyer Athabaskan will sail from Esquimalt, BC, Aug. 2 for her second tour of operations in the Korean war zone, naval headquarters announced Friday. The ship returned to Canada May 17 for a refit after nine months of operations in the Far East.

Drawings, Specifications Detail House Construction

Working drawings are the pattern from which your house is built. They must be sufficiently detailed to illustrate clearly the type of construction intended. They should be dimensioned to show overall exterior measurements, room sizes, ceiling heights, and other factors which combine to establish the physical size and shape of the completed dwelling.

Whether you intend to use stock plans or have the house "drawn to order" the drawings should include the plot plan which will show the property dimensions, sideyard dimensions. North point, adjacent streets and lanes, and municipal or private sewer and water facilities. Plans of each floor, including the basement, should show plumbing and heating systems, and electrical outlets. In addition, drawings are required of all exterior elevations and a section through at least one exterior wall from the highest point of the roof to he basement footings. Plans should be drawn to a scale of not less than ¼-inch to one foot.

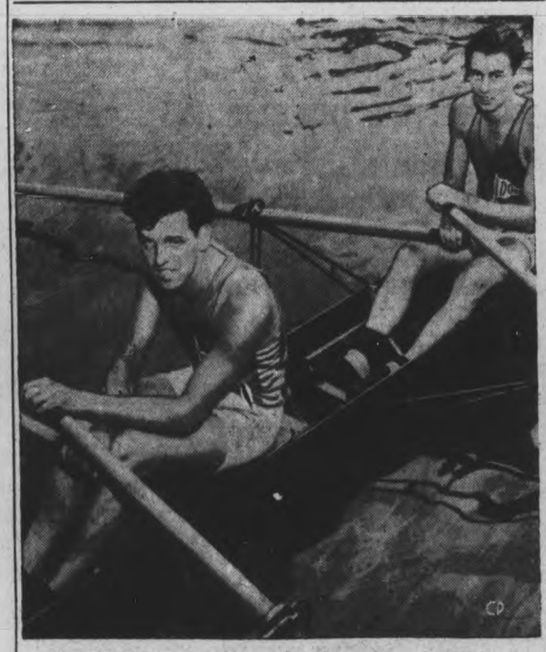
It is worth noting that stock plans can be altered to suit individual tastes. If such changes are minor the contractor can merely indicate them on the drawings, but if major structural changes are desired, an architect should be engaged to revise the drawings.

Specifications are written documents which stipulate the kind, quality, and sometimes the quantity of materials and workmanship required for construction. They complete the contractor's instructions by showing all materials, finishes, equipment and other details which are not indicated on the drawings.

May Remove Sailors Without Papers



SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., July 28 (AP)—Cmdr. Elmer J. Bodenlos of the United States Coast Guard said Friday that within four days he may have to remove from Great Lakes vessels passing through the Sault locks all American seamen not carrying proper security-clearance papers. He said federal law has set a deadline for removal of all unauthorized sailors from lakes ships at Aug. 1.

40,000 Idle

DETROIT, July 28 — (CP). — More than 400,000 auto workers here are idle because of production schedule disputes, and critical materials shortages. More will join the ranks of unemployed on Saturday when General Motors Corporation begins a series of staggered shutdowns.

Bail Reduced

WINDSOR, July 28 — (CP).— Bail was reduced from $10,000 to $5,000 for John Laramie, 18, one of three men charged with robbery with violence in the theft of $55,800 from Cliff Chivers, a Chrysler of Canada Credit Union official. Laramie and John Stoyanovich, 18, were arrested in Toronto and brought to Windsor to face the charge. The third man is John Tarcea, 25, who was picked up in Windsor shortly after the robbery.

SIX STRAIGHT—Reggie Dubiel, stroke, and Cliff Boston, bow, of Toronto Dons Rowing Club made it six straight when they won the junior 145-pound doubles at Thursday's Royal Canadian Henley Regatta at Port Dalhousie. They finished four open lengths over a Hamilton Leander pair. The Dons double had previously uon two races at Toronto's Dominion Day Regatta and swept junior and senior 145-pound and senior doubles at Detroit.

Sage-MoynesRites

Oakwood United Church was setting for the wedding of Joyce Lorraine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Moynes, Oakwood, to Glenn Beverly Sage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Sage of Peterborough. The Rev. J. W. Wilkinson, minister, performed the ceremony.

Pink and white gladioli and ferns decorated the church. Mrs. J. W. Wilkinson played the wedding music, sang before the service and during signing of the register, choosing "Give me your hand" and "Because."

The bridal gown was of white net over taffeta, fashioned with a fitted bodice topped with a brocaded taffeta jacket with long, slim sleeves. The net overskirt was embroidered in gold threads. A fingertip veil of embroidered tulle fell from her coronet headdress of pearls and she carried A[illegible] Beauty roses. She was given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in imported lace over slipper satin with a full gathered skirt which swept to a train. She wore a pearl necklace and carried a heart-shaped bouquet of rubrum lilies and stephanotis.

Miss Shirley Wood of Peterborough, was maid of honor. She wore mauve Swiss eyelet on organdy over mauve taffeta. Misses Edna and Doris Lee, sisters of the bride, were her attendants, both gowned in Swiss eyelet on white organdy over green taffeta. They carried baskets of sweet peas, daisies and larkspur.

George Glendenning of Peterborough, was groomsman. Charles Gorrill, cousin of the bride, and Gordon Gervin ushered.

The reception was held in a garden setting in the basement of the church. Mothers of the bride and groom received, gowned in navy with white accessories and wore corsages of pink carnations and stephanotis.

For travelling the bride chose a grey and white sharkskin ensemble and had a corsage of sweetheart roses. The couple are honeymooning in Orillia, North Bay, Ottawa and Montreal, to be followed by a cruise on the St. Lawrence and Saguenay rivers. On return they will take up residence in Peterborough.

Out-of-town guests were from The Pas, Manitoba, Carman, Manitoba, Provost, Alberta, Ancaster, Hamilton, Peterborough, Toronto and Lindsay.

Marion Lee Weds Ronald G. Davis

St. Paul's United Church, Cambray, decorated with pink and white gladioli and baby's breath, was scene of a pretty wedding when Marion Bertha, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lee, Woodville, was united in marriage with Ronald George Davis, BSc., EE, Peterborough, only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Davis, The Pas, Manitoba. The Rev. W. E. Rowland officiated.

Soloist Mrs. E. R. Wright of Lindsay, aunt of the bride, rendered two selections, "Until" and "O Perfect Love," accompanied by Alvin Lee, brother of the bride, near Provost, Alberta, for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in imported lace over slipper satin with a full gathered skirt which swept to a train. She wore a pearl necklace and carried a heart-shaped bouquet of rubrum lilies and stephanotis.

Queen Mary Is Expert On Antique China

LONDON—(CP)—Queen Mary, visiting Chelsea's exhibition of china, passed quickly round one stand.

"That's all modern stuff," she said.

The Queen Mother spent much time viewing the old china exhibits and during the visit became the first of the Royal Family to borrow from Chelsea's public library. She chose a book called "The Imperial Russian Dinner Service."

PEI Woman Ready To Try Channel Anytime

KEPPOCH, PEI (CP)—Evelyn Henry would not balk at a chance to swim the English Channel.

The attractive, 23-year-old Keppoch nurse, who swam Northumberland Strait July 15, said in an interview she would give the English Channel a try "If someone wanted to pay my way over."

She is the first person to swim the tricky, swift-flowing waters which separate Prince Edward Island and the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick mainland.

Miss Henry made the crossing from Cape Tormentine, NB, to Borden, PEI, in eight hours, 49 minutes. The distance is roughly nine miles but she figures she covered about 15 because of strong tides.

The nurse whobecame an RN only last month brank coffee and soup and ate sandwiches and a chocolate bar on the way. Her 56-year-old father followed in a rowboat.

Did she have any doubts about the swim?

"I knew I could make it even though I never swam more than six miles before," she said.

Her reason: "I just wanted to see if I could swim that far."

The Northumberland Strait is noted for its cold water, currents and strong tides.

"I used the breast stroke most of the way," she said, "But switched to the side and back strokes for a change.

"I wasn't tired. I felt fine. I left Cape Tormentine at 8.26 a.m. and had it fairly calm until I was about three miles from Borden. Then it started to get rough and the tide rip was stronger."

Miss Henry was born at Keppoch, a village five miles south of Charlottetown. She swims nearly every day and is an expert horse-woman. After a year at Prince of Wales College, she began training at Charlottetown's Prince Edward Island Hospital, where she now works.

Faths' Hemlines Go Down Again

PARIS, July 28 (AP). — The hemline is down again — to the bottom of the calf.

That was the biggest news revealed by the Jacques Fath collection, which today raised the curtain on Paris' fall and winter fashions. Skirts as vuluminous as grandmother wore, and with just as many petticoats underneath, are Faith's new favorite. He tops them with tiny-waisted bodices, skin-tight but modestly high-necked.

Dramatic combinations of black and white are the number one color scheme, followed by smoky and sandy tones, browns, and pale pink, yellow and lilac.

Materials are rich velvets, satins and taffetas. The slope-shouldered, wide-skirted silhouette is definitely reminiscent of the New Look, but shorter, with slightly rippled ,irregular hems.

FOR PARENTS ONLY

First Steps In Swimming

By NANCY CLEAVER

Young Canada is eager to learn how to swim. Hundreds of girls and boys at camp receive expert swimming instruction and soon are at home in the water. Hundreds more take advantage of the community swimming pools or bathing areas where regular classes are held for beginners. But there are many children who are not able to go to camp or attend a swimming class. They must turn to their parents to give them some help in the first steps in swimming.

Here are some definite suggestions for parents of a five, six or seven year old, or even an older youngster who is eager to learn to swim.

Teach him first of all how to float. Walk out with him into the water until it is up to the child's waist. Then show him how to duck into the water and try to touch his ankles. When the child attempts this he will discover that his feet will float up to meet his hands. Next, show him how to grab his knees and pull them toward his chest "like a jelly fish!" Before he knows it, the child begins to have confidence that he can stay up on the surface and not sink like a stone to the bottom.

Often a child is so anxious to learn that his body is tense. One way to teach him to relax is to play a towing game. Take a very short piece of heavy rope. Make a strong loop and have him grab it. Then tow him through the water by pulling this rope. Encourage him to limber up. "Make his legs and arms loose." Then get him to put his face in the water, (holding his breath) while he is being towed.

When he wearies of towing, go back to the floating lesson. Get your child to squat down till his shoulders are covered with water. Stand in front of him a couple of feet away. Have him stretch his arms out to you, in the water, when he gets used to this, tell him to push forward with his feet and touch your hands. Your presence so near gives him confidence. As he becomes sure of himself, have him push off a little harder and a little further each time.

He may be surprised and a little alarmed to find he is floating. Show him how to get up by himself by bringing his arms downward with a quick sweeping motion towards his knees and doubling his legs up.

Kicking practice should begin on the edge of the pool or swimming place. Show your child how to sit on the dock, and keeping his ankles limber, and his legs straight, have him kick. When he has mastered the knack, let him hold a rope or the edge of a raft and kick in the water, putting his face in too.

Your child will likely be eager to combine floating and kicking. Have him take a deep breath and see how far he can propel himself on a Dead Man's float. Show him how to raise his head while he strokes downward and take a breath. If he wants to raise his shoulders as well as his head out of the water, impress on him that "A swimmer keeps his shoulders under water!" "This is a MUST in swimming.

Arm stroking and breathing come next and should be taught together. On the land, show your child how to combine these. Starting in a bent position, have him put his hands on his knees, then bring the right hand forward then pull toward the knee, then repeat with the left arm, practicing each arm in turn. Teach him how to breathe in through his mouth and blow bubbles out through his nose, turning his head to one side.

Learning to swim—like the building of Rome, isn't done in a day! It takes quite a number of brief lessons for a child—but never work so hard at it that it ceases to be good fun! While Junior is learning the art of swimming, mother and dad are using a lot of patience and tact and understanding. Above all, they are never "fooling" their child so he gets even a small scare! But it is worth all the time and energy it takes to overhear Junior saying proudly, "My Dad or my Mother showed me how to swim!"

O'Neil-Mannell

The marriage of Katherine Mary Mannell and Mr. Ira F. O'Neil took place on Saturday at the home of the bride's father, Mr. William James, 564 Chamberlain St., and was solemnized by Mr. Howard of London, Ontario, authorized minister of the Christadelphian Church.

The couple was attended by the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie James of Peterborough, and those present at the ceremony were immediate relatives and friends, including her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Armstrong of Brighton.

They left afterward for North Bay to visit the groom's mother, Mrs. Annie O'Neil. On return they will live in their new house on Brunswick Ave.

For her wedding, the bride wore a dress of pale green nylon marquisette, over green taffeta, with white hat and accessories and corsage of red roses. Mrs. James wore a printed silk dress with black hat and accesories and corsage of roses.

Blodgett-McManus

The wedding was solemnized in St. Peter's Cathedral Monday morning by the Rev. G. Sullivan of his cousin Bernadene Catherine McManus and Kenneth Paul Blodgett. The bride is daughter of Mrs. McManus and the late W. J. McManus, and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. Justice Blodgett of Peterborough.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. John McManus, the bride wore a gown of lustrous white satin with bertha neckline and full flowing skirt extended into a train, Her fingertip veil of embroidered silk net was caught to a Juliet cap of satin studded with pearls and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli. Miss Jean McManus attended her sister, wearing lime green taffeta with matching headdress and mittens and carrying a nosegay of yellow gladioli.

The groom was attended by his nephew, John Gerald McCormick. Ushers were Earl Blodgett and Michael McManus.

Soloists at the wedding were Miss Margaret Sullivan and Mrs. T. Daley and Mrs. R. G. Aman presided at the organ.

The reception was in the YWCA Green Room, the bride's mother receiving in navy sheer with white accessories and corsage of pink carnations, and the groom's mother in lilac crepe with white accessories and corsage of yellow carnations.

The couple left on a trip to Midland and Toronto, the bride wearing a printed silk dress with white accessories and orchid corsage.

They will live in their new home at 384 London St.

Salad Strategy Designed For Balky Spouses

That old chestnut about leading a horse to water, applies to a good many men and the salads their wives know they should eat. If your spouse becomes balky at this point, remember another adage about there being more than one way to skin a cat. A salad, you know, needn't necessarily be served on a salad plate. There are just as many vitamins if it appears on a relish tray or in a bowl of ice, or left handily in the refrigerator for contemplative munching.

A large tray or cake plate is as pretty as a spring bouquet if bright radishes with a couple of leaves left on, carrot curls or sticks, snowy cauliflowerets, green pepper strips, olives and tomato wedges with plenty of watercress are tucked around. You might centre it with a pottery mug or water glass holding crushed ice and sprouting celery stalks, green onions, more carrot sticks and watercress.

If that doesn't get him, marinate whole cooked green beans, cooked peas, slivers of cooked beets, and carrot sticks separately in garlic French dressing. Arrange on lettuce cups and garnish with radishes and sliced hard cooked or deviled eggs. Cabbage wedges, as well as the others, are tempting between meal snacks.

Or just be firm about it, and make such a crisp, colorful and tempting spring salad that one taste will lead to more.

To tiny inside spinach leaves, add shredded carrots, sliced green onions and radish slices. Toss with French dressing and garnish with hard cooked egg quarters and sprinkle with crumbled crisp bacon.

Cook fresh peas and small cubes of carrots together until barely tender. Drain and let stand in French dressing. Toss with sliced green onions and green peppers. Garnish with radish roses.

Shred carrots, thinly slice radishes and mild onion. Mix with 2 tablespoons mayonnaise and ¼ cup French dressing. Pour over bite sized pieces of lettuce and toss.

Rub salad bowl with garlic. Toss lettuce, cress, sliced radishes, cucumbers and green onions with tops with Blue cheese dressing.

GETS 200 PROPOSALS—Mrs. Jean Gregory, 27-year-old divorcee of Vicksburg, Miss., reads one of the 200 proposals she received after announcing she would marry any teetotaler who would support her three children and pay medical expenses for her mother, a cancer victim. With the pretty, young mother is her 7-year-old daughter, Germaine.

"Salad Week" To Promote Healthier Eating

The coming week, as many housewives already know is "Salad Week" in Canada.

The idea of Salad Week, of course, is not to have everyone sit around and munch salads to the exclusion of all other foods. But salads deserve a place on everyone's menu—a much more prominent place than they now get. The idea of Salad Week is to focus greater attention on salads for use throughout the whole year.

Canadians are notoriously poor salad eaters—in fact, estimates place per capita consumption at somewhere less than one half of American consumption and the American consumption is somewhat below what constitutes a balanced diet.

Salad ingredients are a necessary and tasty part of the diet—and this is the time of year when they are most plentiful.

Delicious fruits and vegetables—fresh from farm and orchard—make meal-planning and money-saving a delight. Housewives can serve delicious salads to make low cost meals with a minimum of cooking in hot kitchens. And with uncooked vegetables the family will get vitamins usually lost in cooking.

Pie Social Held At White Church

HAVELOCK, July 28—The annual pie social at White Church, Rush Point, on Wednesday evening, was a successful event, the church being filled with people from the district, and from Havelock and Trent River. Proceeds amounted to over $50.

The caravan team currently conducting vacation schools in the district, comprising Miss C. Rutherford and Miss L. Pilkey, of Toronto; Miss M. Baker, of London, and Miss Betty Hopper, of Hagersville, was present. Miss Baker opened the pie social with a short sing-song. James W. Davies, student minister, officiated as chairman for the evening. Miss Barbara Pollock rendered a piano-accordion solo, "Ice Palace," and also an encore number. Miss Baker followed with an endurance contest, "Old Mr. Finnigan." Of the three pairs of contestants taking part, Miss Pilkey and the Rev. R. G. Newman were the winners by managing the chant without cracking a smile. A vocal duet was sung by the Misses Beverley and Shirley Bennett with Donald Pollock as accompanist, and also an encore number. Rudyard Kipling's "If," recited by Mr. Earl Pollock, gave the younger members of the audience some advice for Christian living. Little Joan McGowan played two guitar solos, "When I Grow Too Old to Dream" and "Sidewalks of New York"; "The Stovepipe Hole" and "Little Baptiste" from "The "Habitant" were recited by Mr. Newman.

The Misses Barbara and Marina Pollock sang two duets with the former playing the accompaniment on her piano-accordion. A stunt was presented by the Christian Caravan team with the assistance of Misses Joan Seeney, hirley Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Burrell Keating and Ray and Donald Pollock. Rolls of paper were given to each couple, the gentlemen in each case proceeding to mummify his lady partner: the winning couple were Miss Joan Seeney and Mr. Ray Pollock. A vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Agnew, of Havelock, with Donald Pollock at the organ, concluded the program. Fillowing this refreshments were served with pie as the main item on th menu.

BUT, HUBBY COMES FIRST—Mrs. William Black, an ex-model, of Rockville Centre, New York, had to choose between her 47 cats and her husband, so she's giving up the cats. Annoyed by the felines—seen answering Mrs. Black's chow call—her husband delivered an ultimatum: "Either they go or I go." So Mrs. Black began looking for a happy home for each cat.

Return Of Full Skirts Forecast In Fath Show

PARIS, July 28—(Reuters)—Jacques Fath decreed the return of the full skirt when he opened the Paris fashion season Friday, the fullest skirt that has been seen for years. He calls it the "lioness silhouette," inspired by courtesans of the romantic era.

More than 250 models demonstrated what he meant—feminine curves and wasp waistlines accentuated by great bell skirts. Yards and yards of material are converted into the wide gores of fine accordion pleats, into gathers or folds. They are worn over buckram petticoats or stiffened crinolines.

With all this fullness, skirts are also a little shorter.

The balloon effect of the new sleeves is stressed by high collarless necklines and fullness suggested around the shoulders and necks by shirred yokes. The sleeves, mounted diamond-wide into the bodice, are draped to the elbow and fit snugly to the wrists. Shoulders are sloped.

For daytime wear, he shows tent coats over bell-skirted suits. Fur is everywhere. Gauntlet gloves sport 18-inch fur cuffs.

Fath continues his breath-taking evening ensembles. Full velvet and satin coats are shown over short decollete ball gowns. Most popular—daytime colors are dark green, olive or emerald. Tweed effects are introduced in jersey and rabbit's hair in soft honey-beige, gold and brown.

Parisian bag, glove and shoemakers broke into the fashion season act with special showings of their own products, as sensational in their way as anything the dressmakers have to offer.

A quilted satin, jet-spattered handbag with a false-bottom drawer, removable for use as an evening envelope bag—and presumably handy in case of hold-ups—was a star of Roger Model's bag and glove show.

A dainty cocktail bag was a replica of a lace fan.

For the practical minded, there were bags with glove rings and gloves with scarf rings, and both bags and gloves with outside flaps for a package of cigarets.

Charles Ordan, who makes shoes to accompany the Fath, Lanvinin and Rochas collections, showed the press a collection of shoes marked by extremely tall, spiky heels. Some were in embossed leather, the others were decorated with petit point.

"I'll Take Vanilla"

Easy to make and good to eat. You guessed it Vanilla Ice Cream.

Two tablespoons of flour ¼ cup sugar, a few grains of salt, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 1½ teaspoons vanilla, ½ pint (1¼ cups) whipping cream chilled.

Combine the flour, sugar and salt. Mix to a smooth paste with ¼ cup of the milk. Add remaining milk. Cook in top of double boiler, stirring constantly, until thick, about ten minutes. Add a little of the hot mixture to the beaten egg and stir into the mixture in double boiler. Add vanilla. Cook 2 minutes stirring constantly. Chill. Whip cream and fold into chilled mixture. Pour into freezing tray and freeze until firm, about two hours.

What's Right?

A husband and wife are in an argument when unexpected guests arrived.

WRONG: They make no effort to hide the fact that something is wrong.

RIGHT: They make an effort to appear as though everything is all right, so that the guests won't be uncomfortable.

DOROTHY DIX

FindNeighborsThoughtless With Others Play Yard

DEAR MISS DIX: In order to keep our girls on our own premises, we have fixed a beautiful play yard for them, which includes a sand box, small slide and double swing. Here's our problem. Every child in the neighborhood is constantly in our yard. Most of the time our girls stand aside while other youngsters make use of the equipment. I don't like to teach my children to be selfish, but I also don't want them to be imposed upon. Our neighbors have the means to fix similar places for their own young ones. If one of these children gets hurt who would be to blame?

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: While local laws may differ on the subject, I do believe that in most places you would be liable if one of the neighbors' children were injured in your yard. You might use this as an entering wedge to have the youngsters restrained to their own property.

It is a shame that people will so thoughtlessly abuse a privilege such as you extend to your daughters' friends. As long as some mothers know their children are happy and safe in someone else's yard, they will take advantage of the opportunity to have free time of their own. Since you provide the equipment, you are bound to bear the brunt of such imposition, and there isn't much you can do about it without involving a lot of hurt feelings.

There's A Bright Side

There is a side of this in your favor. All children crave companionship, and yours have their fun and their friends under your own watchful eye, where you know they are safe. Though the noise of other children may irk you at times, remember the days of childhood are fleeting and the quiet of adolescence will come all too soon. In the meantime, your daughters have built up a nice circle of friends and have acquired the gift of getting along with people. When the tumult becomes too annoying, plead a headache and send the visitors away for the remainder of the day, but don't try to isolate your little girls from them altogether.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a girl 17 going with a man 25 years old. He is married and has two children. His wife left him and is getting a divorce but she will have the children. He wants me to marry him after he is divorced but I know my mother won't let me. I am thinking of running away and getting married. Do you think I should, or should I find someone more of my own age?

TESSIE

ANSWER: Thank heaven, Tessie, you have sense enough to ask advice from someone! It indicates at least that you haven't decided definitely to set out on this crazy course. Follow your mother's counsel, which will be, as you assume, to give up any idea of marrying a divorced man with two children. Romance for you should be a gay thing of dancing, picnics, hikes and hay-rides, not a shady affair with a disillusioned man who has one marriage in ruins behind him.

The love you want is fresh and young, not the lukewarm leftover of a disastrous marriage.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 16 years old. Three weeks ago I broke off with a boy I had been going with for three months. While we were going together he bought me some records and now would like them back. Should I return them or not?

W. D. G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Since the records were apparently gifts to you, there is no obligation to return them. However, if the boy is inclined to make a fuss over the matter, it would be better to give back the records and wash your hands of the whole matter. Other boys and other records will soon take the place of those you've lost.

Wife Of Mayor Of London Noted Beauty

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON (CP).—When London's Lady Lowson visits British Columbia and Ontario, Canadians will get their first official look at a woman whose photogenic features keep flash bulbs popping wherever she goes.

In the nine months since her husband became Lord Mayor of London, honey-blonde, 32-year-old Lady Lowson has earned distinction as Britain's most photographed celebrity. Always recognized as an elegant woman, she has brought new sparkle and vivacity to dignified Mansion House, residence of London mayors.

The Lord Mayor's office was created in 1192 and a suitable atmosphere of antiquity still surrounds it. Even the King has to perform a special ritual before he can enter the sacred precincts of the City, the "Square Mile" of business office in the heart of London.

The name of the present Lord Mayor is appropriately impressive. Under a recent baronetcy, he became Sir Denys Colquhoun Flowerdew Lowson of Westlaw, Perthshire. Young Lady Lowson's classic taste in clothes, regal bearing and genuine Scottish beauty make her a perfect foil for her tall, 45-year-old husband, one of the youngest lord mayors in history.

Not First Visit

The Canadian tour of the Lord Mayor and Lady Lowson starts Aug. 30 and will take in such cities as Victoria, Vancouver, Winnipeg, Toronto and Ottawa. Lady Lowson—or Lady Patricia as she is sometimes called—said she has already visited the Dominion several times, but is looking forward to going again in her new official capacity.

"I hope to renew acquaintance with many of the friends I met there before," she said.

A proud mother of three children—Gay Anne, 13; Melanie, 10, and Ian, 6—Lady Lowson does not plan to take the children with her to Canada. She thinks they should be kept in the background during the pomp and ceremony that go with Britain's No. 1 civic office.

Clothes? Surprisingly enough, no special shopping spree will precede the Canadian tour. Lady Lowson bought an extensive wardrobe last year and hopes it will carry her through even the possible extremes of Canadian climate.

One choice for special functions is a full-skirted gown in stiff silk or satin with a softly-draped winterhalter neckline. For day wear she favors slim, tailored suits in navy, brown and black but her choice of evening colors tends to emerald, royal blue, violet and crimson.

For the first time in her life, she has a lady's maid. "It would be impossible to manage all by myself," she said. "There just isn't time and one needs help with the full skirts of the evening gowns.

Salad Week Tip

When considering color in a salad it is important to remember that as in nature, you can mix many colors which would normally clash if there is sufficient green to act as a neutralizer.

LITTLE IODINE by JIMMY HATLO

Readers' Saturday Column Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION: You recently published some recipes that were treasures from the wives of Consuls in Canada, promising in your first column on the subject that there would be thirteen in all. It may be that I have missed some, although I look forward to your column every issue. Or, it may be that you have not yet published them all, as I have only five: Fudge Cake, Finnish Cabbage Rolls, Chestnuts with whipped cream, Swiss Orange Doughnuts, Ponnukokur.

If you have published the other eight, is it possible for you to send me the recipes? Or could you print them again? I'm sorry to be one of those who asks for "repeats" . . . .

One more request . . . When I make fruit pies such as apple, raspberry, rhubarb custard, etc. my bottom crust remains "doughy". It looks raw when it comes from the oven, The rest of the pie is delicious,—it is the same with one or two-crust pies. . . . Mrs. G. B. H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: As I notified you by letter the National recipes for which you were enquiring appeared earlier this week in this column.

The raw pie crust has me puzzled. Have you checked on your bottom oven burner to see if it is working all over? When you bake a pie shell or layer cakes are they properly baked on the bottom?

The usual way to overcome soggy pie crust that is caused by the crust being soaked by the filling before it has been dried out by the baking, is to pre-bake the bottom crust (this applies especially to filled pies like custard or pumpkin) before pouring in the filling, then bake the pie with the filling in. Or you may brush the bottom crust with egg white and bake at 450 for 10 minutes before pouring filling. This will not do for 2-crust pies.

Another step you should take to make sure the bottom crust is baked (when you have had your oven tested for defectiveness in the bottom burner) is to stand the pies on the bottom rack very near to the bottom burner for 10 or 15 minutes it is baking at 475 deg. Fahr. Please write to me and let me know if any of these suggestions cure your trouble.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Could you give me a recipe for preserving blueberries without processing?

Also a recipe for preserving blueberries to make pies? (also without processing). A reader

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If "A Reader" would send me her name and address and repeat her question and tell me again what I am going to tell her I will do, I will send her a booklet which I prepared for a company who put out a sulphur product used to preserve fruit. It was very satisfactory for blueberries. Otherwise I do not know what to tell you. All methods of preserving blueberries "process" them in one way or another. So, as a matter of fact, does freezing them—but I am assuming you do not include freezing in your exception, so will include it, for it is an ideal way to keep them for pies.

Home Freezing of Blueberries

The varieties of blueberries that are frozen by processors are Concord, Rancocas and Rubel. Choose well - ripened berries. Place clean berries in cheese cloth bag and dip in boiling water 1 minute. (If this step is not taken, skin of blueberries tends to become tough when frozen.) Drain and cool. Pack into waxed cartons made for the purpose, sprinkling each pint with 2 or 3 tablespoons sugar. Leave ½-inch headspace when you put on cover. Freeze fast at once.

6—In Memoriam

JOHNSON—In memory of Elsie May Taylor Johnson, who passed away July 29, 1947.

She was a flower too sweet for earth.
Sent here but for a while,
God marked her when He gave her birth,
And took her with a smile.
The depth of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well,
And while she lies in peaceful sleep,
Her memory we shall always keep.

—Always remembered by Mother and Dad, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Taylor.

MORROW—In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Flying Officer Clifford W. Morrow, who lost his life July 29, 1944.

Gone from us but leaving memories
Death can never take away,
Memories that will always linger
While upon this earth we stay.
And so we leave in God's keeping
The rough road safely over.
Not dead to those that love him.
But only gone before.

—Ever remembered by his mother, dad, sisters and brothers.

SEXSMITH—In loving memory of our dear parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Sexsmith. Mother passed away July 24, 1944; father on Aug. 2, 1946.

Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
Loving and kind in all their ways,
Upright and just to the end of their days:
Sincere and true in heart and mind
Beautiful memories they left behind.

—Sadly missed by their five sons and five daughters.

7—Cards of Thanks

Acting Patrol Sgt. Gordon Trennum and Mrs. Trennum, grandparents of little Gerald Gordon Wilson, whose life was suddenly taken wish to thank all the neighbours and friends who sent floral tributes or assisted in any way when our hearts were heavy after losing one whom we all loved. Also Major Everitt and his father of the Salvation Army for their comforting words, Max Kaye, funeral director who gave us every comfort possible; and the Peterborough Police Department for their kindness which we will never forget.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilson wish to thank the doctors and nurses of the Civic Hospital and the neighbours and friends who were so kind during their sad bereavement through the loss of their darling son wee Jerry. To Major Everitt and his father for the comforting words. Also the ePterborough Police Department for their many acts of kindness and Max Kaye, funeral director who gave every possible comfort. These acts of kindness will always be remembered.

The family of the late Albert Ryan desire to thank the Sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital and attending doctors for their kind attention. Also friends, neighbors and relatives for kind expressions of sympathy and all those who sent floral tributes, and spiritual offerings in their recent sad bereavement.

Lived In Campbellford 50 Years, Succumbs

CAMPBELLFORD, July 28 — (ENS)—A resident of Campbellford for more than fifty years, Agnes Winnifred Carney, widow of the late Stuart Crosson, passed away at her Front Street home on Thursday, following a stroke last Sunday.

Agnes Carney was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and came to this county at an early age. She resided in Trenton before moving to Campbellford, where she was employed in a printing office in this town. She had been in failing health for a number of years, and suffered a stroke last Sunday.

Surviving are three children, Marie Crosson, at home; Kathleen Crosson, a school teacher in Welland, Ontario, and one son, Bernard of Campbellford. A brother, Frank Carney, and a sister, Mrs. Alex Fife, both reside in Peterborough. There is one grandson, Thomas Crosson.

A member of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Mrs. Crosson's health prevented her from attending during the past few years.

Rev. Father J. C. Moloney and Rev. Father J. P. Collins conducted services from the church on Saturday morning at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Donald Munro

The funeral for Mrs. Donald Munro, the former Margaret Anice Munro, Warsaw, who died Wednesday was held Friday from the Hendren funeral home, Lakefield. The Rev. R. D. Duncanson of Norwood Presbyterian church conducted the service.

Pall-bearers were Ted Rose, Russell Greystock, Douglas Evans, Max Sinclair, Albert Selkirk, Herbert Tucker. Flower bearers were D. Tucker, H. Smith, T. Davis, Gordon Ponds, M. Tucker and J. OLeahy. Burial was in Apsley cemetery.

PARKING PLACE

South America's biggest motor-car parking building planned at Sao Paulo in Brazil has eight floors with 56,000 square feet.

Canada Imports From US Reach All-Time Record

OTTAWA, July 28 (CP).—Canada's purchases from the United States reached an unprecedented $1,230,000,000 during the first five months of 1951, the Bureau of Statistics reports. This was more than $400,000,000 higher than last year's $817,000,000. Total purchases from all countries reached a record-breaking $1,742,000,000, up almost $600,000,000.

Canada's biggest imports from all sources were of commodities made of iron, with purchases of automobile parts, machinery, farm equipment, pipes, tools and other items running to $567,039,000 for the five months against $386,030,000 in 1950.

Previously the Bureau had reported Canada's five-month exports at $1,446,700,000, up about $500,000,000 from last year's $1,156,000,000, bringing total trade in imports and exports to a peak $3,188,700,000, up more than $1,000,000,000 from $2,326,900,000 last year.

However, the increase in imports far exceeded the advance in exports leaving Canada with a trade deficit of $295,200,000, about 20 times greater than the $14,300,000 deficit in 1950.

HONOR SANDY—Sandy Somerville, left, of London, Ont., voted the outstanding Canadian golfer of the half-century in a Canadian Press poll, was presented with a silver teapot by Dick Young, past-president of the Ontario Golf Association, on behalf of the association. Somerville many times Canadian and Ontario amateur title winner and only Canadian to win the U.S. amateur title, was honored during play for the 1951 Ontario title in London, Ont.

Donkey Softball At Omemee

OMEMEE, July 28—(ENE)— A donkey softball game provided novel entertainment on the Omemee arena as a second item of sport Friday night.

It was preceded by what promised to be a good exhibition of regular softball on the diamond between Mt. Pleasant and the Omemee Combines had it not been rained out at the end of the 4th, when the score was 7-6 in favour of Omemee.

Line-ups were

Mt. Pleasant—Dracup 3b, Craig c, K. Bryans 1b, Jamieson 2b, C. Bryans lf, Fee rf, Mitchell p, MacKnight cf Fair ss.

Omemee—Scott 3b, Johnson p, Hickson c, O. Crawford ss, Parsons cf, Eggleton 1b, Pogue lf, Shaughnessey rf, Weir 2b.

Umpire—W. Bryans.

In the donkey game the City Slickers were the champions, winning a 7-5 victor yover the Country Hayseeds.

Contrary Donkeys

Clarence Clifford was the only successful rider of the one little white donkey whose favourite trick was to toss its would-be rider over its head but for variety could also use the tail throw. No other player even made first on it. The most contrary beast was the first base donkey who persisted in wandering off the base and could only be persuaded to return by holding up its two front legs while it walked on the hind ones. Clifford, for the Slickers, reached the home plate twice and Ralph Veals made the circuit twice for the Hayseeds. Hayes, W. Fisher, Easton, Jamieson and Eggleton each made one for the Slickers, while Black, Fallis and McLean each scored once for the Hayseeds.

Line-ups

City Slickers— H. Bannon p, J. 2b, N. Ruttle 3b, D. Graham ss, Scott Young rf, H. V. Smith cf, Hayes c, E. Fisher 1b, W. Fisher C. Clifford lf. Replacements were Easton, Jamieson and Eggleton.

Country Hayseeds—Ralph Veals 1b, A. Kerr p, F. Fee ss, R. Northey 3b, J. Black c, L. Fallis 2b, L. Mitchell rf, R. McLean cf R. Smockum lf.

Ran On Road, Girl Injured By Auto

Another small child who ran out onto the road heedless of motor traffic was injured Friday.

Darlene Sloan, 2½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Sloan, 499 Sherbrooke St., received minor injuries and was taken to Civic hospital after being knocked by a car near her home.

The little girl ran out from the south curb of Sherbrooke St. and onto the road. The right rear fender of a car driven by Loretta Booth, 247 Park St., caught and knocked her down.

Miss Booth, who was returning from work at the time, said she was unable to avoid the child. She took Darlene to Civic hospital where she was treated for brush burns, cuts on the forehead, and a cut on the left arm, skinned knees and bruised shoulders.

Darlene is being released today.

Hotel Beer Licence Suspended One Week

Three Win Medals

TIMMINS, July 28 — (CP) — Three members of the Ontario Provincial Police were presented with medals yesterday to mark 20 years of distinguished service with the force. They are: Inspector I. R. Robbie and Cpl. T. S. Berard of Kapuskasing and Constable T. A. Holdcroft of Matheson.

1,000 Sea Cadets Camp Out On Georgian Bay Island

By RON EVANS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MIDLAND, Ont. (CP) — More than 1,000 energetic Canadian youngsters are summer visitors at Georgian Bay's rocky Minnicog Island, a few miles north of here.

The boys who swarm about the 57-acre area known as Princess Alice Camp are Royal Canadian Sea Cadets from every part of Canada. Water and air are clean and fresh and it is a good place for boys to learn about the sea.

Every two weeks through July and August 300 boys from Vancouver and Montreal, St. John's and Prince Albert and a score of other cities and towns across the Dominion arrive at the camp.

Princess Alice Camp is one of three for Canadian Sea Cadets. It was sold to the Navy League of Canada, sponsors of the RCSC organization, in 1943, at a cost of $1, by Canadian industrialist George Leitch of Toronto and James Norris of Chicago, Ill. During the war years the Princess Alice Camp was used to train navy personnel as well as Sea Cadets.

Navy Chief

The man with the job of training, feeding and caring for the teen-age boys, some of them thousands of miles from home, is Lt.-Cmdr. Jim Christ, RCN, of Toronto. His executive officer is Lt.-Cmdr. P. K. Wilton, RCN, of Halifax.

On arrival at the camp, the Cadets are divided into 10 divisions.

Each morning of their 14-day stay they are up at 7 a.m. for religious services on the deck—a square of grass in front of the administration hall. Rev. Robert Good of Ottawa, is the camp's Protesant Padre, while Rev. W. H. Principe of St. Michael's College, Toronto, and Rev. M. Robitaille of St. Marie College, Montreal, conduct the Roman Catholic services.

Breakfast Is Next

At one table sits Claude Brisson, 14, one of the 38 French-speaking boys from Montreal. Next to him, George Warford, 14, of St. John's, adds the Newfoundland accent to the general din. Down the line 15-year-old Gerald Mackie of Prince Albert, Sask., talks across the table to Tom Graham, 16, of Vancouver. The leader of the group of 66 boys from British Columbia, Rev. T. L. Leadveater, is quick to point out to visitors that his boys took first place in the swimming, dinghy racing and cutter competition in the camp's weekly regatta.

After breakfast comes one of the four, one-hour daily instruction periods when the boys are taught dinghy sailing, cutter pulling, signalling, seamanship and citizenship.

Sick Bay

There's a well-equipped sick bay staffed by Dr. Edward Klein of Harvard University and Nurse Isobel Cody of Newmarket, Ont. If there's a real emergency the radio-telephone to the mainland alerts Midland Hospital while the boy makes the trip in one of the camp's motor launches.

Following a summer at the Georgian Bay camp a cadet may attend HMCS Cornwallis, near Digby, N.S., and the camp at Latona, Vancouver, B.C. Operational costs of these camps, including a $3,000 weekly food bill at Princess Alice, are paid by the Royal Canadian Navy, with the Navy League responsible for maintenance.

Training which they have received at camps such as Princess Alice has proved invaluable to the ex-cadets who form 60 per cent of Canada's naval forces.

Said Dr. Klein:

"Here it is not important what language a boy speaks or where he was born. If he pulls a good oar he is to the boys a 'good guy,' and that lasts."

Obituary

GEORGE EDWARD MULLEN

George Edward Mullen, 72, 630 George St., died suddenly at his residence Friday.

He was born and educated in South Monaghan, son of the late Richard Mullen and Isabella Mahood. He has lived in Peterborough for six years. Formerly a farmer in Smith township for 42 years, he was an elder of George St. United church.

He leaves six daughters, Pearl, Peterborough; Mrs. F. Madill (Mabel) Wingham, Ontario; Mrs. C. Paedon (Daisy), Newtonville; Mrs. R. Jackman (Fern), Lakefield; Mrs. E. Ellison (Margaret) and Mrs. William Greatrix (Barbara) both of Peterborough; five sons, Edward J., Windsor; Harold A. and Roy R., Smith township; Gordon J. and Lorne both of Peterborough; two brothers Amos, Vancouver, British Columbia and Fred, Edmonton, Alberta, and 15 grandchildren. His wife, the former Harriet Gray predeceased him in 1949.

The funeral will be held at the Kaye funeral home, Monday at 2 p.m. The Rev. A. A. Mathews of George St. United Church will conduct the service. Burial will be in Ray's cemetery, Lakefield.

New York State To Ask To Join Ontario In Hydro

ALBANY, N.Y., July 28 (AP) — The state power authority Friday was reported preparing to ask Washington once more to permit New York State to develop St. Lawrence river hydro-electric power jointly with Ontario.

The New York State bid was made ready in the wake of yesterday's action by the House of Representatives public works committee killing a bill to provide federal development of the controversial St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

Chairman John E. Burton of the state power authority could not be reached for comment.

However, an informed source said the state power authority was considering two possible courses of action in a new appeal to the federal power commission to authorize a New York-Ontario power project in the St. Lawrence.

May Go To Court

The source said the authority presumably would decide whether to file a new petition to the FPC or go to the courts in a move to reinstate an identical petition rejected by the FPC last winter.

A decision on the power authority's plans will not be made until Charles Goetz, its Washington counsel, returns from vacation next week, it was said.

The federal power commission rejected last Dec. 22 the state's application for permission to undertake the St. Lawrence power phase only as a joint project with Ontario.

The federal agency recommended to congress then that the federal government develop the St. Lawrence, both for navigation and power, at the earliest possible date.

The commission refused Jan. 25 to give New York State another hearing on its New York-Ontario application.

Both In Favor

Both President Truman and Governor Thomas E. Dewey favor development of the St. Lawrence seaway and power potential, although the president wants both undertaken simultaneously by the federal government.

In the face of long and successful opposition in congress to the seaway, Dewey has proposed frequently that New York State be allowed to undertake only the power phase, jointly with Ontario.

He has criticized the Truman administration for "needlessly depriving the people of New York State of cheap power by its refusal to permit the state to go ahead with the power project."

Williams, Guest Battle Sculling Crown

By CECIL SMITH.

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont., July 28 (CP).—Two young Canadian scullers will race down the old Welland canal here today to decide the Canadian singles rowing championship of the 69th Royal Canadian Henley Regatta.

The top event of 11 final day races matches Bobby Williams of Hamilton Leanders, United States national singles champion, and Jack Guest, Jr., of the famous Toronto Dons rowing family.

United States rowers loom large in the contests for two other titles—the senior eights and the team championship.

Buffalo West Sides, Detroit Rowing Club and St. Catharines will vie for the Ned Hanlan Cup—prize in the senior eights contest. The two US teams won qualifying heats yesterday and the St. Catharines eight was the fastest second-place team.

Buffalo West Sides went into the final day with a commanding lead in the team competition for the Maple Leaf Trophy. The West Sides gathered 104 points yesterday from two firsts, four seconds and one third for a total of 157 points to lead the second-place Toronto Dons, who have 106½ points.

Qualified

Williams qualified to meet Guest for the Canadian singles title when he swept to a three-length win yesterday in the association singles over Derek Riley of Winnipeg, second, and Charlie McIntyre of Seattle, third.

Runners-up in the team competition, at the close of yesterday's races, were Toronto Argonauts in third place with 97, Detroit Boat Club with 45, and St. Catharines with 44. The St. Catharines team won the team trophy in 1949 and 1950—the first two years it was offered.

Charlie Good of Minneapolis won the junior 145-pound singles championship by beating out Don Decastro of West Indies and Bob Middleton of the Dons, who placed second and third, respectively.

BLOCK BUSTER—With two out and the bases loaded, Ray Boone's squeeze bunt landed a short 15 feet from the plate on the third-base side. Pitcher Vic Raschi lost his balance, never got hold of the ball, (1) shoveled it along the ground to the left of Yogi Berra, blocking the plate. (2) Bob Avila crashed into Berra. (3) Avila flew through the air (4) Berra was bowled over (5) Berra was flat on his back and dazed, as Luke Easter also scored, and Avila headed for the dugout. Cleveland catcher Jim Hegan, shinguards on but the next hitter, looked on, as Bill McGowan appeared to be holding him back. (6) Easter, Hegan and teammates Gil McDougald and Johnny Mize, left to right, gathered round as Trainer Gus Mauch snapped the catcher out of it, and the umpire called time. The crash resulted in the Indians' only two runs in this edition of the big series at Yankee Stadium.

Chicago Leads In Ninth Rain Starts, Lose In 8th

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

So you think the life of a major league manager is all peaches and cream? Well, listen to Paul Richards' tale of woe.

Richards, top candidate for manager of the year honors, led his Chicago White Sox into Yankee Stadium last night to battle the league-leading New York Yankees.

The Yankees won, 3-1, by the grace of Lady Fortune to retain their one-game lead in the tight American League pennant race which finds the Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indias tied for second and the White Sox fourth, 4½ games off the pace.

Chicago, trying to climb back in the fight, entered the game nursing six defeats in its last seven games and a tongue lashing from Richards.

Two On Base

The Yanks led, 3-1, going into the ninth. The Sox scored a run with none out and had two runners on base when a thunderstorm halted play for about 15 minutes. Play was resumed and with one out, pinch-hitter Bert Has socked a two-run single to put the Sox in front, 4-3. Another hit loaded the bases but then the storm broke again.

Plate umpire Hank Soar waited an hour and two minutes and then called the game. The act wiped out Chicago's lead and the score reverted to the end of eight innings and the Yanks were the victors.

Richards, hopping mad, announced that he would file a protest. "It wasn't unplayable," Richards fumed. "There is no such thing as an unplayable field. All they had to do was take the cover off, and they didn't do that."

Home runs by Gene Woodling and Joe Dimaggio off Billy Pierce accounted for the Yankee lead going into the ninth. Rookie Tom Morgan then lost his stuff and before the rains ended the game four other Yankee pitchers saw action in the stormy inning.

Yank manager Casey Stengel also got into a argument with the umpires. Stengel protested the banishment of third baseman Gil McDougald by umpire Bill McGowan. McDougald walked over to talk with Morgan when he was pitching to Floyd Baker with two on and none out. McGowan promptly ejected Mc-Dougald for apparently delaying the game. Baker singled to make it 3-2 and the first rain broke.

After play resumed, Don Lenhardt walked and Haas and Nelson Fox singled before the second storm brought an end to the game.

Indians Win

The Indians edged the Red Sox, 3-2, in Boston to tie the Red Sox for second place. Home runs accounted for all of the scoring. Ray Boone belted two for the Indians including a game-winning blow in the nith off Ellis Kider. Al Rosen socked the other Indian homer and pinch-hitter Charley Maxiell homered with one on in the seventh off Bob Lemon for Boston.

In other American League games the Washington Senators defeated the St. Louis Browns, 7-0, and the Philadelphia Athletics downed the Detroit Tigers, 10-6.

Con Marrero blanked the Browns on eight hits to post his 10th victory. Mickey Vernon led the Senator attack, driving in two runs on a pair of doubles and a single.

Gus Zernial and Elmer Valo banged out three hits apiece to lead the A's to victory over Detroit.

Dodgers' Win

Brooklyn, meanwhile, continued to roll along in the National League. The Dodgers overcame a five-run deficit to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 12-9. Roy Campanella broke it up with a three-run homer in the ninth off Al Brazle. The victory was the Brooks' 10th straight over the Cards and it dumped the Red Birds out of third into fourth place in favor of the Philadelphia Phillies.

The runner-up New York Giants, 9½ games behind the Dodgers, tamed the Cincinnati Reds, 5-3. The Giants broke a 3-3 tie with two runs in the seventh inning. Don Mueller tripled and scored on Monte Irvin's single. Irvin stole second and scored an insurance run on a one-bagger by Whitey Lockman.

Howie Pollet yielded 13 hits and four home runs yet went all the way as the Pittsburgh Pirates topped the Boston Braves, 8-4. Sid Gordon slammed two homers and Roy Hartsfield and Walker Cooper one each for the Braves.

The Phillies scored their third straight shutout as they beat the Chicago Cubs, 2-0. Bubba Church blanked the Cubs on five hits.

6 Women Ready To Race Pacers

TORONTO, July 28 —(CP)—A field of six pacers have been assured for next Tuesday's harness race for women drivers at Thorncliffe raceway. A seventh horse has been placed on the "also eligible" list in the event one of the original entries is forced out of competition.

In addition to the regular purse, a special purse of $100 has been offered for the drivers. The field and drivers are:

Maud Grattan — Mrs. Mildred Williams, Beamsville, Ont.

Peter Aubrey — Mrs. Grace Grieg, Toronto.

Balbo Siskiyou — Mrs. Gideon Litt, Sebringville, Ont.

Miss Chipso — Miss Annabelle Waples, Phelpston, Ont.

Jessie Dale — Mrs. Vivian Creighton, Norval, Ont.

Bert Patch, Jr. — Mrs. Victor Lutman, Toronto.

Another horse, Jimmie Brewer, has been placed on the also eligible list and his driver will be named Monday.

Civic Softball

Civic Softball League standing has Bell on top with 22 points, Foresters next with 21, Busmen 14, Police 13, Utilities and S. Army and Grant & Loucks with eight apiece, and PLC with six. Games Tuesday Bell vs. Police, Grant & Loucks vs. S. Army; Thnursday: S. Army vs. Police, Grant & Loucks vs. PLC.

At the Bowl last night, Foresters beat Utilities 26-21 in a loose encounter. The winners got five runs in the first frame, four each in the second, sixth and seventh, one in the fourth and eight in the fifth. The losers counted one apiece in the first and fourth, five in the second and seventh each, and nine inn the third.

Sweden Winning In Europe Davis Cup

BASTAD, Sweden, July 28 — (AP).—Favored Sweden needed only to win the doubles today against Germany to gain the final round of the European zone Davis Cup eliminations.

If Sweden comes out on top, it will stand by for the final results of the American zone to determine who will meet the defending champion Australians in December.

Lennart Bergelin smashed the German hopes when he whipped 42-year-old Baron Gottfried Von Cramm 6-4, 6-1, 6-4, in the opening singles then, Sven Davidsson, the No. 2 Swedish player, polished off Ernst Cuchholz, 6-2, 6-1, 6-4, for a 2-0 lead.

The final two singles will be played tomorrow, but unless the Germans pull a big upset today, they will be meaningless.

FAIR TEAM?

Coach Johnny Metras thinks the University of Western Ontario Mustangs football club will be a front line team this year, and "might be able to win the odd game or two."

He told a Kiwanis Club audience Friday, despite losing a number of top players, through graduation and other causes "what our team lacks in experience this year, they make up in enthusiasm."

Good Old-Timer

EDMONTON—(CP)— Maybe it sounds like a threshing machine, but Gordon White's 1918 touring car is still running and it has had no mechanical repairs for 21 years. White bought the old Studebaker last year.

PEEK-A-BOO—Upset by Dale Mitchell, Phil Rizzuto ended up in this ungainly position, but forced the Indians' outfielder at second base in the big series at Yankee Stadium. Second Baseman Jerry Coleman fielded Luke Easter's grounder and tossed to the shortstop.

$100,000 Prize For Winner At Arlington

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP). — Groundsmen worked hard throughout the night and this morning preparing Arlington Park race track for today's $143,750 Arlington Park Handicap, richest of its type.

The track was sloppy yesterday after a heavy thunderstorm. Its condition today will determine the number of starters for the rich race, which closes Arlington's season.

No matter how many start, the winner is guaranteed $100,000, second place $25,000, third $12,500 and fourth $6,250.

A field of 10 was set tentatively yesterday. It included the probable favorite, Rokeby Stable's County Delight, topweighted at 124 pounds including jockey Eric Guerin. County Delight, four-year-old son of Count Fleet-Matriarch, by Sir Gallahad III, already has accounted for the Dixie and the Gallant Fox Handicaps this season and finished among the first three in five other stakes events.

Lineup

The other nine were Greentree Stable's One Hitter, Walmac Farms Volcanic, Brandywine Stable's Cochise, Hasty House Farm's Inseparable, King Ranch's Curandero, Hal Price Headley's Aegina, MA and Roy Saffir's Dr. Ole Nelson, Tom Gray and Mrs. Harry Trotsek's Oil Capitol and Mrs. John Payson Adams' Miche.

If track crews can't get the oval in shape for the mile and a quarter go, Volcanic probably will be scratched. Three others—Cochise, One Hitter and Miche—will be on the doubtful list.

County Delight was establishing himself overnight as a lukewarm 5-2 choice.

One Hitter has only one triumph to his credit this year—the mile and a quarter Massachusetts Handicap at Suffolk Downs June 13—but last year won the Questionnaire and Manhattan Handicaps and the Pimlico Special.

Cochise has scored this year in Brandywine, Sussex and Grey Lag Handicaps.

Maudeen Volo Cleans Both Divisions

THORNCLIFFE RACEWAY, Toronto, July 28 (CP).—Maudeen Volo owned and driven by expugilist Harvey Fleet from London, Ont., came from behind to win both divisions of the pacing stake at Thorncliffe raceway on Friday.

She lay behind the pace in the first dash of one mile and came around her field to win handily. In the second heat, at one mile and one-sixteenth, Fleet employed the same tactics and his mare wasn't pressed unduly.

Walter G., owned by F. M. Samis of Goderich, won the first and Johnny Worthy, owned by Lockhart and Wood of Collingwood won the second for a daily double at $61.90.

Hugh Proudfoot, member of parliament for Fort Coulonge, won his first race of the meeting when his favored Lady Lee P. took the fourth dash. His mare was driven by Eric Conley.

Sugar Ray Says He's Not Ready To Quit

SOUTHAMPTON, England July 28 (AP).—Sugar Ray Robinson isn't going to hang up his boxing gloves for quite a while yet—even if he fails to regain his middleweight title from Randolph Turpin in New York in mid-September. Reporters aboard the French liner Liberte on which he and his entourage are returning to New York, Sugar Ray said:

"Frankly, I'm not at my best right now and I'm definitely not getting any younger. But I still have several charity fights I want to do."

Robinson said he had discussed with British promoter Jack Solomons the possibility of a third fight with Turpin—this one in London if Sugar Ray regains title in the New York fight.

"If I am successful," he said, "I should certainly be glad to fight again in London. The result might be the same as the first fight but I think I could do a little better."

OLDSMOBILE'S "ROCKET"

How this Famous Engine Sets the Pace in High-Compression Progress!

Oldsmobile's "Rocket"—the most famous automotive engine of modern times—is now in its third triumphant year! Designed from the crankshaft out for true high-compression performance and economy, the "Rocket" incorporates such outstanding new features as overhead valve, V-type design, a short, rigid 5-bearing crankshaft, hydraulic valve lifters—and many, many more!

For 1951, the new high-turbulence combustion chamber and carburetor give greater gas savings, a new distributor means even more efficient high-compression operation.

This new "Rocket" Engine has become the most-talked-about power unit in Canada! That's why the striking "Rocket" symbol on the hood of the Oldsmobile "88" or "98" marks it as one of the world's most advanced motor cars!

The "Rocket" Engine and Hydra-Matic*— AN UNBEATABLE PARTNERSHIP!

Fully proved — constantly improved — Hydra-Matic still leads the way! Back in 1939, Oldsmobile pioneered Hydra-Matic, the first fully automatic transmission. Since then, advancement after advancement has been built into Hydra-Matic, culminating in the 1951 version with Instant Reverse.

Today, when you get behind the wheel of a "Rocket" powered Hydra-Matic Oldsmobile, you experience a superlatively smooth drive . . . a no-clutch drive that gives you positive response. That's because Hydra-Matic is the perfect partner for "Rocket" Engine Power! It's a team that puts the "Rocket" Oldsmobile years ahead—and puts Oldsmobile owners years ahead, too. See your Oldsmobile dealer!

*Hydra-Matic Drive is optional at extra cost.

The "Rocket" is the peak in smooth, flashing, economical power! New combustion chamber design for greater gas savings—new extra size carburetor—extra large intake valves—new starting motor and damp-proof wiring harness—new air cleaner and intake silencer—short, rigid 5-bearing crankshaft—hydraulic valve lifters—auto-thermic pistons.

"Rocket" Means Performance!

The "Rocket", first of all, is famous for its eager power! It has proven itself a performance leader on hills and highways, over boulevards and back-roads all across the country.

"Rocket" Means Economy!

Operating on gas available everywhere today, the "Rocket" will give more "go" on less gas. Its high-compression gas-saving qualities continue to amaze new Oldsmobile owners.

"Rocket" Means Durability!

A "Rocket 88" Oldsmobile took first place in the gruelling Mexican Durability Run. The "Rocket" can truly stand on its record for outstanding dependability plus rugged durability.

"Rocket" Means Oldsmobile!

The "Rocket" engine is only part of Oldsmobile's leadership in every phase of motor car manufacture. See and drive "Rocket" Engine Oldsmobile—the all-time great Super "88" or the glamorous "98".

Scientists Search Interior Of Little-Known Greenland

LONDON (CP).—To explore a remote and mountainous area of Greenland, a scientific expedition has left England in a Royal Air Force Coastal Command flying boat, which was making the flight in the course of training.

The plane carried a privately-sponsored expedition consisting of three Royal Navy officers and an officer of the Royal Marines. The party, which has the approval of the Royal Geographical Society and other scientific bodies, will spend a month or six weeks in Greenland.

Commander C. J. W. Simpson, DSC, of the Navy leads the party which includes Navy Lieutenants F. R. Brooke and Angus Erskine and Capt. M. E. B. Banks of the Royal Marines.

Surveys of the mountainous coastal ranges surrounding the Greenland ice cap have been nearly completed but little is known of the interior, which consists of a sheet of ice 1,600 miles long and 600 miles wide, rising in the centre to a height of about 10,000 feet.

Chief objective is a range of rocky mountains about 100 miles long and 40 miles wide in the area known as Queen Louise Land. These mountains, which rise to about 7,000 feet, are called nunataks, the explorers' name for a mountain rising beyond an ice field. To get there the party will have to cross a glacier 20 miles wide.

Use Rubber Boat

This year's party aims to make a preliminary survey for a more ambitious expedition planned for next year, when surveys will be made in the fields of geology, glaciology, meteorology and biology.

The party intends to land on a long lake near the coast and make its way to the glacier by means of a rubber boat. It will cross the glacier with the aid of a Greenland trapper and dog sleds to survey a second lake about three miles long, lying on the eastern edge of Queen Louise Land.

On this lake it is hoped to establish a base for further operations next year, and also to discover whether the lake would make a suitable landing for float planes to be used by the main expedition next year.

Geological specimens will be obtained and the party will reconnoitre a suitable sled route through the mountains to the inland ice lying to the west.

Statue Game Big Show At Laguna Beach

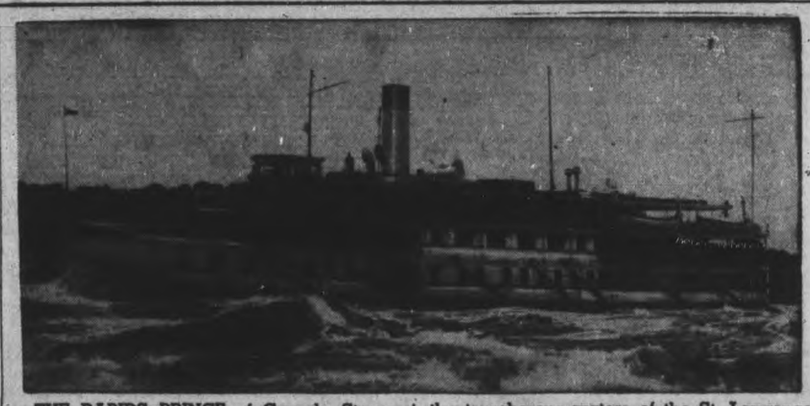
By HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD, July 28 (AP)—The child's game of "Statuary"—children fall into graceful and other position and hold them as long as possible—and statuary as it is played in Laguna Beach have little relationship.

In Laguna Beach, famous paintings are reproduced with startling accuracy be serious-minded adults. Plumbers, doctors, housewives and merchants of this sea coast town, an artists' colony and resort 60 miles south of Los Angeles, get into the act.

Now the sixteenth annual program, called "The Pageant of the Masters" is underway. As usual, it is drawing capacity audiences (3,000 in the outdoor theatre) for its 16-night run.

Last Supper



The climax of every performance is a reproduction of Da Vinci's "The Last Supper." and a new note lately is a nude—Titian's "Sacred and Profane Love."

Each picture is held for a minute and a half. Even such slight movements as muscle twitches are frowned on by the directors. Voted the most popular picture, year after year, is that of a single figure, "African Sentinel," by Elihu Vedder. Second in popularity, in one-figure pictures, is Gainsborough's "Blue Boy."

It requires a staff and cost of 300 to stake the pagent. Prop men, artists, electricians, make-up men and directors are mostly amateurs.

The annual take is about $50,000, enough for props and lights and to pay some full-time workers.

The introduction of an undraped young lady, as per Titian, aroused little or no comment in Laguna. "We're pretty broad-minded here," said one of the actors, "But some of the visitors will object."

THE RAPIDS PRINCE of Canada Steamships Lines has left Kingston, Ont., on its last voyage. The proud and gay ship, which plied the treacherous waters of the St. Lawrence river through the famous Long Sault and Lachine Rapids for 41 years, is being towed to Hamilton for scrap.

Coldsprings WI Hears Talk On Institute Work

COLDSPRINGS, July 28 (ENS)—The monthly meeting of the Coldsprings Women's Institute was held in the township hall on Wednesday, Mrs. Keith Harper presiding.

Mrs. Neil Carruthers, Cobourg, second vice-president of the Northumberland and Durham District WI, was guest speaker.

She gave a descriptive address on the third annual Women's Institute Holiday held at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph. She said 1,500 women were in attendance, and in speaking of the Lady Tweedsmuir historical books, she spoke of the records being kept on the present day people and how they will go down in history for years to come.

The program was in charge of Mrs. C. Timlin, convener.

The motto, "A good citizen is not content just to sit, he finds his place in any community," was prepared by Miss E. Hoskin, and read by Mrs. L. McIntosh. Mrs. S. Wallace gave a reading, "The Story of the Three Farmer's Boys." Marlene Turk favored with a solo, "My Heart Cries for You." Current events were given by Mrs. R. Willis. Miss Edith Hoskin, the historical research convener, told of the origin of the Canadian postage stamp, how it was first issued in 1851. The first three post offices were in Quebec.

The secretary, Mrs. H. McKinley, reported $328 on hand.

It was voted to send $5 to the Cobourg hospital auxiliary fund.

At the August meeting, there will be a flower show, which anyone may enter, Miss Jean Noble will be guest speaker.

Allies, Red Stalled Over Zone Position Fighting Continues

By SAM SUMMERLIN

UN ADVANCED HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 30. (AP) —Allied and Communist truce teams today agreed on only one point—the fighting in Korea will continue while the cease-fire talks are going on. The negotiators made no progress toward establishing a military dividing line across the Korean peninsula. The mutual decision to continue the 13-month-old Korean war was disclosed in the United Nations communique issued after today's meeting.

The communique said Gen. Nam Il, senior Red delegate to the Kaesong talks, read a series of prepared statements in which he made a detailed analysis of the UN and Communist positions.

He then asked the Reds for comment on the Allied proposals "so that the final solution to this item may reflect our mutual views."

Presumably this will be given in tomorrow's session, scheduled to start at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. EDT Monday).

Today's session started at 11 a.m. with the two sides deadlocked on the problem of a cease-fire buffer zone. It lasted, without interruption, for three hours and eight minutes.

The Reds want a 12½-mile cease-fire strip centred along the 38th Parallel, pre-war boundary between North and South Korea. The Allies want it to follow present battle lines, which extend up to 25 miles into Communist North Korea and is located in excellent defensive terrain of the Allies own choosing.

Political Boundary

Before today's meeting got under way, an official Allied spokesman made it clear the UN negotiators consider the 38th merely "a political boundary" and as such not suitable as a military dividing line. They regard it as poor defensive ground.

"A military armistice conference is interested in providing a defensive line for each side," said Air Force Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols, deputy chief of information for the UN command.

Nuckols attends the cease-fire sessions and briefs correspondents on what happened.

This morning he told reporters the 38th Parallel was "an arbitrary line picked out of a hat, so to speak," in 1945 for the exchange of Japanese prisoners. The Russians handled those north of 38, he said, and the Americans took care of those to the south.

Thus it has "no military significance," the spokesman added.

This view was bitterly attacked today by Communist radio stations in Peiping and Pyongyang.

Both warned indirectly that the Allied stand might force a breakdown in cease-fire talks.

Pyongyang radio pulled no punches in its attack on the Allied stand.

Predict Red Victory

It predicted a Red victory at Kaesong with these words: "Just as America lost militarily on the front, there is no doubt she will be defeated in the conference."

ALLIES, REDS STALLED

Four Generals Tried In Poland As British Spies

LONDON, July 30 — (AP) — Warsaw radio announced today four generals and five other Polish officers will go on trial tomorrow charged with running a spy ring for the United States and Britain.

Among the defendants is Brig. Gen. Stanislaw Tatar, former chief of operations for the Polish Home Army.

Others include Col. Marian Utnik and Col. Stanislaw Nowiski, who served with Tatar in the London staff of the Polish refugee army in the Second World War.

Recalled

Utnik was chief of the Polish purchasing mission in London until last October, when he was recalled to Warsaw.

The Warsaw broadcast said the nine defendants, financed from Washington and London, had sought since 1945 to undermine the Polish army and make ready for a forceful overthrow of the Communist regime.

In addition to Tatar, Utnik and Nowiski the defendants were identified as Brig.-Gen. Franciszek Herman, former deputy chief of the home army's second department, Brig.-Gen. Jerzy Kirchmayer, Maj.-Gen. Stefan Mossor, Col. Marian Jurecki, Maj. Wladyslaw Roman and Commander Szczepan Wacek.

US Planes Blast Pyongyang

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 30 (AP) —United States warplanes blasted the North Korean capital of Pyongang through rain today in one of the most determined air assaults of the Korean war.

A Fifth Air Force announcement said two Marine Corsairs collided in the rain clouds and were lost.

The air force said an F-51 Mustang exploded in the air after it was hit by intense small arms fire.

B-29 Superforts blasted three Red supply centres in North Korea—Chinnampo and Kyomipo in the west and Hamhung on the east coast.

Air force planes made 405 individual flights in the Pyongyang attack. The number of Marine planes participating was not given.

North Koreans fled Monday from major hills northeast of Yanggu.

Allied troops battled to the crest of the hill mass at the climax of 5½ days of bitter fighting.

Along the rest of the Korea warfront, Allied patrols reported only light enemy contact.

Hit By Wire, Unhurt

WASAGA BEACH, Ont., July 30—(CP)—Seven-year-old Marilyn Brown escaped with slight burns on the arms and legs when a live Hydro line—carrying 4,000 volts—broke and knocked her to the ground Saturday. Wasaga Beach is on Georgian Bay.

Model Shanghai Worker Too Busy, Falls From Grace

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG, July 30 (AP)— Pity poor Yuan Kai-Li, the model Shanghai steel worker inside Communist China.

This is how he "deviated," how he "got alienated from the masses"—and how his work grade fell from "A" to "C." The story is from the Shanghai Literation Daily, party mouthpiece just received here.

Yuan was a good technician. He was credited with helping bring production by May, 1950, to double its previous total.

Gets Ideas

The Communist party glorified Yuan. It sent him to the National Congress of Model Workers and Combat Heroes in Peiping. With the ideas he got there, he needled production up some more.

Then he became a member of his trade union's executive committee, production committee, the management committee's propaganda officer for the party and vice-director of the Committee for Elimination of Counter-Revolutionaries.

All this was inside the factory. Outside, he became the workers' representative at the people's conference, the representative to a new municipal centre committee, the vice-chairman of the consultative council of the new municipal centre and the people's representative of his residential district.

12 Meetings Weekly

He attended an average of 12 meetings a week. These required three to 10 hours each. In addition he did his 12-hour night shift.

Last winter he complained that his extra-curricular duties were taking up "all my own time and one-third of my factory time."

Yuan finally reached such a point of exhaustion that the party cadre at the mill had to give him "five glucose injections per month to keep him going."

Last December his work grade fell to "C."

At last report, Yuan was in uncertain health, full of glucose, half asleep but still on his feet and carrying on a 22-hour schedule.

Jealousy

LONDON, July 30. (CP)— Keeper Herb Jones' penguin colony is so jealous of one couple's eggs that he is going to issue plastic eggs all round to keep the peace. The dignified, boiled-shirted atmosphere has become strained by the attention "Tubby" and "Babby" pay to their 18-day-old egg. One of the others is incubating an apple, another a tennis ball.

Farmer Kills 2 Children, Wife, Self

Baby, One Child Survive Domestic Quarrel

NEW HAMBURG, Ont., July 30. (CP)—A triple murder and suicide drew an abrupt end to a long siege of domestic strife Saturday when a 39-year-old farmer fatally shot his wife and two children, then killed himself with the same .22-calibre rifle.

A bread delivery driver making his rural rounds discovered the bodies of Wilbert Gofton, his 35-year-old wife, Clara, a son, Cecil, 7, and a daughter, Dolores, 5.

The driver was attracted by the cries of 11-month-old Elina, lying in her crib a few feet from Gofton's body. Another child, Carl, 2, had been at a nearby farm for six days visiting friends.

The slayings occurred about 7:30 Saturday morning on the Gofton farm about 15 miles south of this village and about 18 miles southwest of Kitchener. The bodies were found eight hours later.

Many Quarrels

Neighbors said Gofton had often threatened to kill his wife. Police had frequently intervened in domestic quarrels.

The quarrel that preceded the shooting apparently involved Mrs. Gofton's attention to another man. The chores on their farm had been done and she was putting some bundles into the automobile when Gofton became enraged, apparently thinking she was about to take the baby and leave.

Police who pieced the story together, said he killed her outside the kitchen door with one bullet.

Four Bullets

He dragged her body indoors, then proceeded to a front bedroom, passing the baby in her crib. He shot Cecil and Dolores as they lay sleeping in a double bed. Returning to the kitchen, he shot himself. Only four bullets were used.

Police said they could not understand why he didn't take the life of the baby unless it was that he overlooked the child in his frenzy.

After discovery of the slayings, the baby was taken to a neighbor whose daughter cared for her. Her brother, at the farm of Hans Kondert, was too young to comprehend what had occurred. He was taken for a picnic Sunday afternoon.

Stay Vigilant Van Fleet Warns

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 30 — (AP).—Gen. James A. Van Fleet today ordered Allied troops to "maintain constant vigilance" against a possible Red assault while cease-fire talks are going on at Kaesong.

The Eighth Army commander told his soldiers in a statement:

"Everyone is hopeful that the conferences will come to a successful and honorable end so that peace may be restored. No one is more conscious of peace than the soldier."

"However, in spite of our hopes every man must be alert at all times. We must not and will not permit this great United Nations Army to become a victim of a Communist ambush."

Van Fleet added:

"Our army is stronger than ever. Our morale is high. Together, we will keep it the best fighting team the world has ever known...."

Iraq Signs Contract For Oil Deposits

BAGHDAD, Iraq, July 30 (AP) —The Baghdad newspaper Liwa Alistiqlal said yesterday that oil-rich Iraq, neighbor to troubled Iran, is completing a lucrative new contract with foreign oil interests.

The newspaper said the new agreement would give Iraq roughly a 50-50 share in the profits of the British-American-French - Dutch - Iraqi Petroleum Company. This is about double the old rate.

BOUNDARY BATTLE—West Berliners heave rocks from a pile of rubble at Communists from the East Berlin sector. The action took place during a pitched battle at the boundary between the American and Russian sectors. Nearly 400 Communists and anti-Communists battled with fists and stones until police broke up the fight. There were no casualties, but two men were arrested.

Boy Missing 24 Hours Found In Bush

TOBERMORY, Ont., July 30 — (CP).—As weary searchers yesterday prepared for their second night probing the swamp and heavy woodland that surrounds this Bruce Peninsula town, the object of their hunt, six-year-old Vincent Sorrente of Windsor, Ont. was found huddled beneath a tree. Beside him was curled a little Beagle dog named Sport who had remained with him for more than 24 hours.

The lad was found between 9 p.m. and 9:30 p.m., hungry and tired but happy to be rescued. Covered with scratches and mosquito bites he and Sport spent Saturday night curled up together in the bush which is frequented by bears and infested with rattlesnakes.

Vincent, a sickly child who has never completely recovered from an accident four years ago, was staying with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Smith at their home on No. 3 Highway, six miles south of here.

With him were his mother, Mrs. Louis Sorrente, of Windsor, and his brothers, Hal 3, and James 8. His father, Luigi Sorrente, came from Windsor when he heard of the boy's disappearance.

Wandered Off

He was playing with his brother Hal, when he wandered away, about 7 p.m. Saturday. After a short time Hal reported that he had gone and a search was launched that at times had 400 persons—including 200 soldiers—searching the bush and nearby marshes.

Almost every adult member of St. Edmund's township joined in the hunt, searching through the night and on into the afternoon. Police and passing motorists came to their assistance and the woods were filled with shouts and flashlight bulbs all Saturday night.

Vincent was found about a mile and a half from where he had disappeared. His parents were astonished that he had travelled that distance as he usually could walk no more than a few hundred yards before becoming exhausted.

IF AT FIRST...

TORONTO, July 30 — (CP) — John McKay, 26, recaptured after escaping from Hamilton police station earlier this month, tried it again in court here today. He bolted but was tackled by police.

Britain To Send Mission To Discuss Oil With Iran

LONDON, July 30. (AP) — Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison announced today Britain will send a Cabinet mission to Tehran to discuss an oil settlement with Iran. He told the House of Commons the mission will be led by Richard Stokes, Lord Privy Seal, and added: "It is not expedient for me at this moment to say anything further on this matter."

Morrison explained the decision came about as a result of consultations with Averell Harriman, President Truman's envoy now in London.

Morrison said there are still some points to be cleared up before the mission can leave for the Iranian capital.

A United States Embassy spokesman announced Harriman intends flying back to Tehran by tonight.

Ready To Co-operate

Morrison said the British government and the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company "have been ready at every stage to meet the legitimate aspirations of the Persian (Iranian) people."

"We have every sympathy with the natural desire of the Persian people to control their own mineral resources," he said.

While Britain is ready to accept the principle of nationalization, Morrison explained, she will not accept a one-sided violation of an agreement.

"We are entering a new era in the development of the Middle Eastern oil," Morrison said.

He said much frustration in the Middle East is "due to the failure to satisfy the urge for social and material betterment."

He stressed the importance of oil resources in the future of the area, and said he hoped that development of the Middle East would be toward "an ever closer partnership between the countries possessing the oil and the foreign countries who are contributing capital, technical skill, and marketing facilities."

Morrison also said Britain is anxious to be friendly with Egypt. He invited Egypt to co-operate "as an equal in the common effort to make the world safe."

2 Young Gunmen Jailed 30 Years

MONTREAL, July 30—(CP)— Two 20-year-old gunmen, Leopold Leblanc and Raymond Moisan, were sentenced to 30 years each in penitentiary today for staging nine armed robberies.

They pleaded guilty at their arraignment last Saturday to nine charges of conspiracy and nine charges of holdup in which they obtained $1,524 from taxi drivers, restaurant owners and drug store clerks.

The bandits were arrested last Thursday.

Before sentence was imposed by Judge T. A. Fontaine, Moisan said he had never used violence during the robberies. However, Judge Fontaine asked the accused if it was true that he and Leblanc had tied up a 70-year-old man and also had locked a taxi driver in the trunk of his car and kept him captive several hours.

At the arraignment hearing, the gunmen told Judge Fontaine they had formed their partnership while serving sentences at Bordeaux jail last year. At that time, Leblanc was serving two years for armed robbery and Moisan one year for a similar offence.

Police said the two men quarreled about the division of their loot shortly before their arrest in a Point Aux Trembles hotel.

South Korea Asks UN Not To Leave Country

UN ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 30, (AP) — A South Korean government spokesman said today United Nations forces should be kept in Korea for at least one year.

The spokesman, Dr. Clarence Ryee, director of public information for the South Korean government, said:

"We don't want the United Nations forces to evacuate Korea until the security of the Republic of Korea is established. But we want the Chinese army to go. They have no business here."

Chicago Blonde Determined To Marry Italian Priest; Jailed For Public Security

MILAN, Italy, July 30. (AP) —A 20-year-old Chicago blonde who came to Italy determined to marry a Roman Catholic priest is in police custody "for reasons of public security," an official of Milan's San Vittore jail said today.

The girl, tall Claire Mary Gertrude Young, figured in the news several weeks ago when her mother came here in an effort to break up the romance with former Missionary Muciano Negrini.

The jail official said Miss Young was taken into custody Saturday, on orders from police headquarters.

The 43-year-old Negrini spent many years in China as a missionary.

Miss Young said two weeks ago she came to Italy to marry Negrini and had taken first steps to relinquish her American citizenship.

The couple met in Chicago where Negrini tried unsuccessfully to obtain American citizenship. He then returned to Italy on orders from his superiors and Miss Young followed him here.

"I came to Italy of my own free will because I wanted to marry Luciano Negrini," she said.

The former missionary quickly interjected, "Only the Pope could permit me to marry her."

Then he added: "I am only joking, of course. I know perfectly well that as a priest I never could marry a young girl."

May Set Up Airlift For Berlin Exports

BONN, Germany, July 30 (AP) —The Western Allies may revive the Berlin airlift—in reverse—if the Russians don't stop restricting exports for the Red-surrounded former German capital.

An informed source said yesterday Britain, the United States and France are lining up planes to take Berlin's exports to the west if necessary to by-pass new Soviet restrictions. Exports are stacking up in the West Berlin warehouses.

2,300 Reds Purged In East Germany

BERLIN, July 30 (AP) — East Germany's ruling Communist party has been hit by a severe new purge which has thrown out 2,300 party functionaries because of "Trotzkyism," the West Berlin newspaper Telegraf reported today. Many have been arrested.

The Socialist Unity (Communist) party has been undergoing "cleansing" to weed out opportunists from the rank and file and "unreliables" among the leadership.

The Telegraf said this operation now had been concluded and that among those arrested were many veteran party members.

50 Passengers Thrown Into Lake Within 15 Feet Of Shore

Ferry Pulled By Cable; Passengers Begin To Haul It In, People Shift Places, Cables Snaps

EDMUNDSTON, NB, July 30. (CP)—At least five persons lost their lives in a scene of watery panic yesterday when a hand operated cable ferry overturned and sank on Lake Caron. Swift, capable action by spectators and oarsmen at a regatta saved many lives among the approximately 50 men, women and children hurled into the water. The dead were identified as: Guy St. Pierre, 18; Armand Nadeau, 20; Robert Levesque, 13; Martin Corbin, 8, all of Edmundson, and Clifford Fongemi, 17, of Frenchville, Me.

All persons reported missing earlier have been accounted for, RCMP said. A search of the small lake, 20 miles from here, was suspended after five bodies were recovered. Police said the search will not be resumed unless others were reported missing.

Some 1,500 spectators were watching when the spill occurred. They had gathered for the regatta, sponsored by the Madawaska Fish and Game Club, owners of the lake.

Warned Too Many

Witnesses quoted one of two ferrymen as saying he warned that too many were getting on the boat. But they disregarded him and some 50 jammed on to the craft which normally carried between 25 and 30 passengers.

The ferry was travelling about 250 feet from a small island to the lake shore. Witnesses said the passengers began hauling on the cable. Within 15 feet of the shore, some changed their positions in the boat.

This brought it to a halt. Then the cable snapped and the craft capsized. But prompt action by others at the scene saved many lives. Within two minutes an estimated 25 to 30 boats were on hand, with their occupants snatching victims from the water.

One boy was reported to have rescued a mother and her small baby, which she held tightly in her arms. At least a dozen men jumped into the water fully clothed in successful rescue attempts.

The bodies of those who were drowned were taken to the town of Edmunston, some 120 miles northwest of Fredericton.

Bull Calf Ski Jumper

OSLO, Norway, July 30. (AP) —The little town of Frederikstad in Southern Norway reported today what is believed to be the first successful ski-jump ever made by a bull calf.

The calf wandered to the top of the well-known Oeya ski-jump, took a good look around, sat down on his haunches and shot down the 40-foot-long run.

Tail flying, the calf made a perfect landing and walked away.

US, Britain Should Control Air, Sea-Taft

PLYMOUTH, Mass., July 30 — (CP)—Senator Robert Taft (Rep. O.) said last night the United States should undertake with the British Empire the control of the sea and air throughout the world.

Speaking at Republican party rededication program, Taft said the US now is undertaking "more than our capacity."

He said that if the United States can gain control of the sea and air, "this country will be safe, and we can be of maximum assistance to those who undertake to check Communism throughout the entire world."

"I believe the control of the sea and air throughout the world is within our capacity and that we should, therefore, undertake to secure that control in co-operation with the British Empire."

Taft said he believes preparation in time of peace for immediate land warfare against Russia "on any large scale on the continent of Europe and on the continent of Asia" is beyond the capacity of the US.

"We can assist those who are defending themselves, but we cannot undertake the job ourselves, or do anything unless the bulk of the defence is furnished by the nations who are directly concerned."

Drunk Uses Clothes To Light Fire In Jail

THOROLD, July 30 — (CP) — Mike Tomchuk mas so disgusted early Sunday when police picked him up on a charge of being intoxicated in a public place that he started a small blaze in his cell in the town jail. Making a neat little pile of his pants, shirt and other wearing apparel, Tomchuk set them alight on the floor of his cell, using up a whole box of matches in the process.

Constable George Fairchild quickly extinguished the blaze with a bucket of water.

Price Of Wool Fluctuates On Forecasts By "Experts"

By FORBES RHUDE, Canadian Press Business Editor.

Wool prices are probably influenced more by psychological factors than are the prices of any other merchandise, the Wool Bureau, Inc., says in a news release from Toronto.

It indicates that these factors include what people think is going to happen rather than what may actually happen.

It says that supplies for next season are likely to be rather better than might have been anticipated, but that they are not such as to depress prices in the next season—unless psychological factors upset calculations.

The release reviews the 1950-51 Dominion (Australia, New Zealand, South Africa) wool-selling season, now ended.

In September, the opening month, average price of 64's Merino wool was 36 per cent above the previous season's close; and by March was 108 per cent above September rates. Crossbred 46's had corresponding rises of 85 and 193 per cent.

Then, by June, 64's had fallen by 46 per cent from March to 12 per cent above September; and 46's by 52 per cent, to 40 per cent above September.

Market Firmer

At final sales in Brisbane and Perth last month, however, the market showed a firmer tendency, which has been borne out by early reports from curent London sales.

Concerning the supply situation, the Wool Bureau notes that the heavy stocks on hand at the close of last war, now have been sold, and it had been thought the total supply for the 1951-52 season would (trade stocks apart) be limited to the current world clip, estimated at about 2,300,000,000 pounds clean.

To this, however, must be added some 80,000,000 pounds clean of New Zealand wool, unsold and unshipped from the 1950-51 clip as a result of the dockers' strike. In addition, owing to Argentina's policy of granting export licenses for wool only at prices above current rates, there is a considerable quantity of medium- and low-crossbred wool in Argentina which will be carried over into next season.

Of psychological factors in the last year, the release says:

"Superimposed on the over-all tight supply situation of wool, the knowledge (or belief) that United States buyers on government account were prepared to outbid everyone else, is very likely to have raised prices to an artificially high level...

"Similar forces (working in the opposite direction) have come into play lately, and there is little doubt that the absence of US buying for military purposes has been a factor."

Harold Cathcart Former Reeve Of Cavan Dies

Harold Elsworth Cathcart, former reeve of Cavan township and prominent citizen and farmer of the Springville district died early today in hospital after a short illness. He was born 59 years ago in Cavan township, son of the late John Cathcart and Susan Dundas and spent his entire life in the Springville area. For many years he resided on the family homestead west of Springville and there operated the farm along with his father. In later years he purchased the old Baptie farm south of Springville on Highway 28 and there he has resided.

Always interested in municipal affairs and works he was the first superintendent of Highway 28 and was the man responsible for most of its building and early upkeep. Later he offered his service to his home township of Cavan and was elected councillor. For eight years he served as councillor, deputy reeve and reeve.

In the affairs of the United Counties Mr. Cathcart took a leading part. He served on most committees of the council and gave special service on the United Counties Good Roads Commission. For the past few years he was interested in the Ganaraska Development and was a member of the Commission.

Of a kind and generous nature, Mr. Cathcart was greatly respected by everyone who knew him. He was regarded as one of the district's most prosperous and progressive farmers.

He was a member of the Springville United Church and of the Board of Session. His wife the former Bertha Armstrong predeceased him.

There survive two daughters, Mrs. Lorne White (Dorothy) of Port Hope and Mrs. Robert Bell (Mayme) of Peterborough; three sons, Manson, Donald and Harley of Springville; three sisters, Miss Jennie Cathcart, Mrs. Orville Young and Mrs. Lily Milburn of Peterborough and one niece, Miss Mildred Brown of Springville.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday August 1 at 2.30 at the family residence Springville with burial in Little Lake cemetery.

Peace Likely To Last Says St. Laurent

ILE AUX COUDRES, Que., July 30 (CP).—Prime Minister St. Laurent told residents of this historic island Sunday that if Canada is to continue her progress, "peace is needed."

"The totalitarian governments are attempting to dominate the western democracies," he said. "But alliances of the western nations are staving off these attacks and it now seems peace is likely to last.

"If peace continues, the young generation will take part in a growth of a nation much greater than has been witnessed by men of mature years," he said.

Man Dies Protecting Girl Baby Sitter

TORONTO, July 30 (CP). — A 27-year-old man was stabbed to death with a spring knife on Saturday night while trying to protect a young baby sitter.

Gerard Guy Ouellette was found fatally injured in an alley with five knife wounds near his heart. He died in hospital.

Charged with murder was Ralph Romans-Boehner.

Police said the stabbing occurred after Ouellette told Romans-Boehner to stop bothering the 14-year-old girl.

The broadcast charged the US was attempting to "invade important parts of North Korea," and said "the United States has rejected cease-fire at the 38th while paying lip service to peace."

Pyongyang then gave these three points as essential for peace in Korea:

1. Withdrawal of opposing troops from the 38th parallel.

2. Cessation of the "American military invasion." (The Communists have indicated they want all fighting to stop—on land, sea and air—while the negotiations go on in Kaesong.)

3. Withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea. (The negotiators agreed to pass this on to higher levels for discussion later.)

Meanwhile allied reports told of an ever-increasing Red buildup of their forces in North Korea.

Fifty US air force night attack bombers reported highways in Western Korea above Pyongyang were clogged with traffic last night.

They said they spotted more than 1,800 enemy vehicles, and attacked more than 600 of them.

Last week they reported as many as 1,000 vehicles a night moving south along coastal roads.

HIT BY BICYCLE

Knocked down by a bicyclist, Eric Downer, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Downer, 371 Bethune St., was taken to St. Joseph's hospital Sunday night with a deep gash in the left leg. He was hit by the bicycle as he stepped off the pavement in front of the fire hall on Aylmer St. He walked home and a doctor was called from there.

Stock Market Opens Higher

TORONTO, July 30—(CP) — Prices turned a little higher today as the session progressed on the stock market.

Following two days of irregular trading, prices opened slightly higher and continued a slow advance in dull trading. Volume for the first three hours of 914,000 shares was about 69,000 more than the same period Friday.

Industrials were ahead with increases ranging from fractions to a point.

Anacon Lead, Callinan Flin Flon, Golden Manitou, International Nickel, Mindamar, Sherritt-Gordon and Steep Rock led base metals ahead. Ascot, East Sullivan, Estella and Nisto eased pennies.

Western oils were mixed.

Senior golds were balanced. Giant Yellowknife and Teck-Hughes added fractions while Sigma and Wright-Hargreaves weakened. Gains and losses were about even in secondary golds.

Court Fines Three For Street Fights

Keith Schweier, 22, of 887 Water St. pleaded guilty today to causing a disturbance on Water St. on July 21. He was fined $15 and costs.

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, KC, said there was a fight and several others were also involved and had previously been sentenced.

He said that Schweier had some self-inflicted knife wounds.

"Four fellows ganged up on me before I could get home," said Schweier. "I had a knife and in the scuffle I got scratched up a bit."

Another pair, mixed up "in the usual type of brawl", were each ordered to pay $10 and costs by Magistrate E. A. Gee, Lindsay.

They were Harvey Staughton, 29, Stewart St., and Hilliard Crowe, 42, Lakefield. Both pleaded guilty to fighting outside a downtown beverage room.

Recalling the sweltering weather Saturday Magistrate Gee remarked: "You certainly picked a pretty hot day for it."

Lansdowne St. Man Gets Jailed For Week

John Currell, 39, Lansdowne St. today pleaded guilty to drunken driving Saturday on Monaghan road. He was sentenced to seven days in jail on this charge. His driver's licence was suspended and his car was ordered impounded.

Currell also pleaded guilty to having inadqeuate brakes on his car and was fined $12.50.

"Fortunately he was involved in no accident," said Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, KC.

Pleading guilty to drunk charges were James Mulligan, 50, a civilian cook at Petawawa, drunk on King St.; Robert Little, 51, Monaghan Rd., drunk on George St.; Albert James Hewitt, no address given, drunk on Water St.

All four were fined a total of $12.50 each.

CHILD CUTS FOREHEAD

Michael Cline, aged 2½ years, St. Catharines, received a cut forehead when he ran down a hill Sunday night, tripped and fell forward onto a back fender of a car. He was attended by Dr. H. E. Gastle, Lakefield, and received outpatient treatment at Civic hospital. The family are holidaying in Lakefield.

No Attempt To Fire Chiang's Two Sons

TAIPEH, Formosa, July 30 — (AP) — Maj.-Gen. William C. Chase, head of the United States military assistance group in Formosa, denied reports today that he was seeking to have Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's two sons relieved of their high Nationalist military jobs.

He told a press conference he is satisfied with progress of his mission and branded all reports to the contrary "wild rumors."

Body Identified

OWEN SOUND, July 30 (CP) —A body taken from Owen Sound bay Tuesday night has been identified as that of Louis M. Evans, 77, who had been missing from the Essex county home. Police here state that laundry marks on the clothing of the body found here conform with marks on the clothing of Evans. He was buried in Greenwood cemetery in Owen Sound last Friday but at that time the body had not been identified.

Age Pension Forms Available

OTTAWA, July 30—(CP)—A start was made today on the registration of 400,000 Canadians entitled to universal federal pensions of $40 a month beginning Jan. 1 next.

Application forms will be made available through post offices all across Canada. Anyone 70 and over, not now receiving an old-age pension, must file one if he wishes to receive a pension under the new old-age security program.

Under the plan, the federal government will pay $40 a month pensions to all 70 and over, regardless of means, provided they have lived in Canada at least 20 years.

At present, pensions of $40 a month — some provinces pay a little more—are paid to persons 70 and over who have lived in Canada for at least 20 years and who can prove their need for such a pension. The federal government pays 75 per cent of the cost of the pensions, the provinces the remainder.

The 315,000 Canadians now receiving old-age pensions need not fill out the new forms. Their records will be transferred from provincial government offices and they will automatically start receiving the new pension next January.

Lightning Storm Kills Two Men

EDMONTON, July 30—(CP)—Two persons were killed by lightning as hail and thunder storms continued to swirl over Alberta during the weekend.

William Budner, 17, of Boyne Lake, 85 miles northeast of Edmonton, was struck Saturday night while working in his backyard.

Louis Koren, 35, of Rusylvia, was killed as he watched the same storm from a window in his home.

Rusylvia is about 50 miles southeast of Boyne Lake.

At Olds, 58 miles north of Calgary, hail blown by high winds brought havoc to ripened oats and barley fields. Damage was reported close to 100 per cent in fields piled four to five inches deep with hailstones.

The Ponoka district, 126 miles north of Calgary, reported one of the worst hail storms in its history Saturday night. Hail stones "as large as hen's eggs" were said to have pounded the district for three-quarters of an hour over a 20-mile area.

Farmers reported spring turkeys killed on several farms and at one ranch several pigs were said to have been "skinned alive". Ditches four feet deep were filled with hail-stones.

Man Beaten Up Sent To Hospital

HAMILTON, July 30 (CP) — Suffering from mysteriously inflicted injuries, a 45-year-old Toronto man, Oscar Ozolins, was rushed to hospital early Sunday fram Walter Bridgman's Park near Zimmerman, Ont. He was admitted in an unconscious state, but is reported to be in "fair" condition today.

Details of how he received his injuries were conflicting, said Nelson township Chief Constable Harvey Hunt.

The chief said today Osolins "definitely was in a fight, but when and with whom I can't establish yet."

It was believed the injured man had been attending a picnic along with about 200 other Latvians from Toronto. The chief was called to the picnic at about 3 a.m. folowing an all-night party.

Chief Hunt said that several of the picnicers may have ganged up on the victim. His injuries were described as including black eyes, lacerations to his face and knees, arms and chest. Car grease was found smeared over his face and body.

German War Veterans Organize Association

BONN, Germany, July 30 (AP) —Germany today had a new war veterans' organization, a group expected to play a big part in politics.

It is the Deutscher Soldatenbund (German Soldiers Federation), which claimed 85,000 members at its formal organization meeting yesterday.

The new group—which hopes to unite other veteran organizations with it—is headed by former Admiral Gottfried Hansen. A spokesman said negotiations have already begun to incorporate the "Afrika Korps" and the paratroop "Green Devils" which also had big rallies yesterday.

Students Meet For Seminar

MONTREAL, July 30 (CP). — Eighty-five university students from three continents will meet for the first time in a Quebec town near Ottawa today, then settle down to five weeks' concentrated study of international problems.

A Canadian delegation of 40 will leave Montreal today for Limbourg, Que., and the opening of a summer seminar sponsored by the International Student Service of Canada. Also due are 20 students from South Asia, 20 from Europe, and five from the United States.

Organized study will include examination of the foreign policies of the major international powers and discussion of difference in the philosophies and religions of the seminar membership. Theme of the conference is: Contributions and Needs of East and West.

Staff of the seminar, headed by Dr. L. E. M. Lynch of the University of Toronto, is composed of faculty members of Canadian, American and Asian universities.

Striking Miners Will Be Moved—Millard

TIMMINS, Ont., July 30—(CP). —Unless the Hollinger strike is "settled fast," striking miners and their families will be transported to jobs in steel mills and base metal mines under contract with United Steelworkers in Ontario, C. H. Millard, national director of the union, said at a rally of 1,200 here last night.

Workers at Hollinger mines have been on strike since July 9 over wages and union security. Main point of disagreement is the question of a check-off of dues which the company refuses.

Mr. Millard said the United Steel Workers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) "will make sure they (the striking miners) are taken to jobs providing decent wages and union security." He added:

"We are not going to let our members stay in Timmins and rot. There are many places where it is more profitable for a man to work than in Hollinger mine for 90 cents."

Quebec Fire Destroys Garage And House

BAIE ST. PAUL, Que., July 30 (CP). — Damage was estimated at about $57,000 last night when fire destroyed a garage and a house in this north shore town 50 miles east of Quebec City.

The blaze, believed started by the explosion of a compressor in the garage of Stanislaus Audet, drove 12 persons from the house. No one was injured among the three families occupying the residence. The fire started about midnight and was brought under control an hour and a half later.

Policeman Fined $100 Sold Sweep Tickets

COBOURG, July 30 —(ENS)— Constable W. C. Cargin of Campbellford was found guilty today on a charge of disposing of sweepstake race tickets and was fined $100 and costs. The offence covered the years 1949 to 1950.

Officers of the provincial police anti-gambling squad on July 10 seized a quantity of Irish Sweepstake lottery books, stubs, and receipts.

US Planning Atom Bomb Tests

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)— The United States is planning more tests of the atomic bomb, chairman Gordon Dean of the Atomic Energy Commission said today.

Dean declined to tell a press conference, however, whether the tests would be at already-announced proving grounds or at some other place. There has been speculation that a new proving ground may be established in the Aleutian islands off Alaska.

Dean said any fire test of a British-made atomic bomb on an American proving ground would probably necessitate a change in the US atomic energy law. Dean was asked this direct question by a reporter:

"Have the British made any overtures about their first atomic test?"

Dean answered:

"If they have they did not make it to us. (The Atomic Energy Commission)."

Dean offered no statement that Britain actually is planning any first test of an A-bomb.

Dean said the commission at one time or another had thought of test sites "in practically every part of the globe." Asked why the same proving grounds cannot be used over and over again, Dean said that one of the reasons was the "heavy logistics" involved in faraway tests such as those at Eniwetok.

No Sunday Sport

WASAGA BEACH, Ont., July 30 (CP)—There will be no Sunday sport at this Georgian Bay summer resort. Citizens of Sunnidale township—which includes this village—Saturday voted 656 to 72 against it.

TOURISTS

A total of 204 tourists making 267 inquiries stopped at the Junior Chamber of Commerce booth during the past week. Saturday the figures were 99 people and 155 inquiries. Sunday there were 105 people and 112 inquiries. Booth operator Bill Duigan says that this is the biggest weekend at the booth since July 1 weekend. The greatest run was on housekeeping cottages in the district which are believed to be filled up.

AN HONEST MAN

There aren't many like this: An unidentified man walked up to Bill MacKenzie, Lake Street, Saturday, and handed Mr. MacKenzie a wallet that he had just lost containing $322 in cheques, as well as a small amount of cash and valuable personal papers. The owner was understandably grateful and offered the finder $10. No, the man replied, he was quite content to see that the real owner got the wallet. Then he left.

Plane Drops Race Pamphlets

DETROIT, July 30 — (AP).— A small private plane, disregarding zooming fighters that sought to trace it, strewed race hate handbills over an area near Detroit's Tank Arsenal yesterday.

The lane and its pilot were sought today by State Police. The Federal Bureau of Investigation also was investig ting the case.

But just what action could be taken against the pilot or distributor, aside from distributing handbills from the air without a permit, was not clear.

The plane made two flights over the Arsenal area, on the northeast section of Detroit. Each time, it dropped approximately 1,000 of the handbills.

The leaflets, mimeographed on typewriter-sized paper of a poor grade, appeared anti-semmitic in tone. One showed a bearded man in a long black coat kicking Uncle Sam off a cliff.

After the first flight, police called Air Force officials at the nearby Selfridge Field. Three training planes, one an F-51 Mustang, were sent to observe.

As the small plane made its second mlight about five hours later, they swooped past it, seeking to note its licence number. The slower craft ignored the passes, and since a number of planes were in the area, the Army pilots lost track of it.

"Stay On Farm" Accused Told

A vagrant, found sleeping in the doorway of a downtown church early Sunday morning, was urged today by Magistrate E. A. Gee to "avoid the bright lights of Peterborough."

He was addressing Mansell Blackman, 21, who gave his address as Mount Pleasant. He fined the youth a total of $7.50.

PC John Conlin said he saw Blackman stretched out in the doorway of the Church of the Open Bible at 5.10 a.m. Sunday.

"I questioned him," said Constable Conlin. "He had no money, he couldn't give a good account of himself, and he had been drinking."

Blackman admitted he had been drinking and said he just sat down in the church doorway for a few minutes to have a cirgaret.

"Well Blackman," summed up the magistrate, "you'd better stay back on the farm if the bright lights of Peterborough affect you like that."

Baby Smothers On Chesterfield

WATERLOO, Ont., July 30 — (CP)—Three-months-old Linda Dianne Way smothered to death yesterday on a chesterfield in her home.

The child was placed on the sofa while the family had breakfast. Her father, Donald Way, found her dead 40 minutes later. He said the infant had turned on her side and wedged her head between seat and back of the chesterfield.

Drownings Take Lives Of 21 Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press.

A heavy toll of death by drowning and an unusually small number of traffic fatalities were reported in Eastern Canada during the week-end.

A Canadian Press survey showed that of 29 violent deaths, 21 resulted from drowning and only one occurred in a traffic accident.

Nine persons drowned in Quebec, six in Ontario, five in New Bruswick and one in Newfoundland.

Other fatalities included a triple murder and suicide near New Hamburg, Ont., and a stabbing at Toronto.

Five persons were drowned on Lake Caron, 20 miles from Edmunston, N. B., when a crowded cable ferry overturned and sank during a boating regatta.

They were identified as Guy St. Pierre, 18; Armand Nadeau, 20; Robert Levesque, 13; Martin Corbin, 8, all of Edmunston, and Clifford Fongemi, 17, of Frenchville, Me.

Five Youths.

Five youths were drowned at St. Gedeon in Northeastern Quebec when they stepped into a hole while playing in a lake.

They were: Sylvian Bourque, 25, Bernard Bourque, 20, both from Isles de la Madelaine, Que., Gaston Hubert, 19, Kenogami, Que., Lucien Gagnon, 20, Jonquiere, Que., and Lionel Gagnon, 20, Jonquiere. The Bourques were brothers— the Gagnons were not related.

Mrs. Tancrede Boivan, 52, and her 18-year-old daughter, both of Montreal, were drowned when their automobile plunged into a bay at Bagotville, 10 miles south of Chicoutimi, Que.

Wilbert Gofton, 39-year-old farmer, shot his wife and two children and then turned the gun on himself near New Hamburg, Ont. Gerald Guy Ouellette, 27, of Montreal, was stabbed to death at Toronto while trying to protect a 13-year-old baby sitter. Ralph Bochner, 23, has been charged with his murder.

Electrocuted.

Perley O'Brien, 60, was electrocuted at Atholville near Campbellton, N.B., when he touched a live wire while repairing a power line.

Aaron Bates, 24, of Windsor, Ont., died of injuries suffered when his car skidded and rolled over. Rosaire Lacoursiere, 24, of Three Rivers, Que., died in a fall from a barn hayloft.

Others drowned were: Marcel Landry, 10, Ottawa; Frank Macina, 18, James B. Foote, 72, president of Foote Transit Company, Harold Byce, 43, all of Toronto; Peter Nicholson, 7, Owen Sound; Frank Neveau, 30, Sudbury; Joseph Ovila Leger, 21, Montreal; Rene Cardinal, 22, Rosemere, Que., and John Oates, 23, Carbonear, Nfld.

FRIVOLOUS SALVAGE—The four-crew members of the raft "Lethargia," which was on a cruise to New Orleans as a proving ground for human relationship, start salvage operations after the craft capsized in the Ohio River at Moundsville, W. Cadets Learn Seamanship On RCN Frigates

ON BOARD HMCS LA HULLOISE, AT SEA — "Out pipes... Last dog watchmen to muster... Cadet duty watch to the After Control Position".

Out of the messdecks and from off the upper decks come cadets at the rush, to begin the watchkeeping duties that are part of their training in the East Coast Training Flotilla as future officers of the RCN and RCN (Reserve).

On the bridge, a senior third-year cadet is second officer of the watch, conning the ship and station keeping; there is a cadet of the watch and other cadets stand the seaboat's crew and one serves lookout duties. Cadets also form as lifebuoy sentry on the quarter-deck. During foggy weather, cadets have been posted in the "eyes" of the ship and in the crowsnest as special lookout. Most of the time a cadet is at the ship's helm.

In the Swansea, second-year cadets man a specially-fitted "after control position", where cadet navigators keep a log book, take regular astronomical sightings and fix the ship's position.

For the cadets, watchkeeping combines both duty and instruction. The lessons learned in seamanship, navigation, boatwork and ship organization classes are put to practical use when the cadets go on watch.

The supervision of cadet watches is also in cadet hands. The Cadet of the Watch assigns duties and is responsible that they are carried out. In this and other ways the future officers prepare themselves, by actual practice, for the duties and responsibilities which go with commissioned rank.

The flotilla's three ships—the frigates La Hulloise and Swansea and the destroyer Crescent — are homeward bound for Halifax from the second of three cruises to the United Kingdom. Distributed nadian Service College.

among them for training are 167 cadets from universities and the Canadian Services Colleges.

Week In Jail, Fine Drunk Driving Penalty

CAMPBELLFORD, July 30 — (ENS)—Joseph Collins of Campbellford received a sentence of seven days in county jail on a charge of drunk driving, and a fine of $10 and $2.50 costs on a charge of having liquor illegally when he appeared before Magistrate R. B. Baxter in Cobourg on Friday.

His driver's license was suspended for 90 days and his car impounded for a like period as a result of the charges laid by Chief George H. Hardy of Campbellford. Harry R. Deyman, crown attorney, prosecuted the case. The charges arose out of an episode on Monday night last, when the accused was stoped in Campbellford after police received complaints and noticed the auto being driven in an erratic manner.

May Settle Strike

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)— A plan to settle the aluminum workers strike at Cleveland, which has been affecting defence industry since its outbreak June 11, has been agreed upon, a federal conciliator said Sunday night. The strike, involved approximately 2,100 workers, members of the United Auto Workers (CIO). The settlement involved wages and working conditions.

Smuggled Body

CHICAGO, July 30 (AP).—The citizen was pale and shaky. He was sure he had seen two men stuff a body into the trunk of their car and drive into the open-air theatre. He had the licence number.

Police sent two squads to the drive-in, finally located the car with five youths in it.

It was simple, explained the youths. To beat the price of admission, three of them hid in the trunk.

Camp Leader For 30 Years

ALGONQUIN PARK, ONT.,— (CP)—Canada's Mr. Camper celebrated his 69th birthday July 12 by donning full Indian regalia and beating a tom-tom for the youngsters placed under his wing.

E. Taylor Statten, known as Chief Big Beaver when he wears his Indian gear, has operated summer camps at Canoe Lake for the last 30 years. He has been host to 10,000 children during that time and neither he nor his staff have laid a violent finger on one.

Boys and girls attending Statten's camps are kept out of trouble by a varied program which emphasizes the "Do" rather than the "Don't". Chief Big Beaver rules his tribe gently but firmly with training procedure borrowed from the Canadian Army and the YMCA.

The problems of raising the younger generation are nothing new to Statten. He has been connected with summer camps since he was 23. His showmanship in pleasing children stems from a brief period as an actor.

Turnip Barrage

At one time he was manager of his own theatre company until it was permanently disbanded by a barrage of turnips tossed by an angry audience in Palmero, Ont.

Working with the YMCA he gained a series of promotions and a career that took him to 52 camps in Canada and as far away as India where he established a camp for underprivileged children at Madras.

His list of appointments in YMCA service reads like a bus schedule. He toured Europe and South America in the interests of camping six years ago while chairman of the World's YMCA boy's work at Geneva, Switzerland, but was ordered home by his doctor when the strain of thousands of public appearances began to show.

He is content to roam around his own camps now clad in a shirt and plain maroon shorts. His hair is turning grey and he has to watch his weight a little but he still finds time to put on his ceremonial Indian robes four times a year for the benefit of the kids.

Prioress Dies

LISIEUX, France, July 30— (AP)—Mother Agnes of Jesus, 90, elder Sister of St. Therese of Lisieux, died Saturday at the Carmelite Convent of Lisieux, of which she was prioress. St. Therese of the Infant Jesus — born Therese Martin—died in 1897 and was canonized in 1925. She is known as the Little Flower of Jesus. Another sister—Sister Genevieve—survives.

Hunger Strike

TOKYO, July 30—(AP)— The families of some Japanese prisoners still held in the Soviet Union today started the fourth day of a hunger strike. More than 50 hungry wives and children of the unrepatriated prisoners take only water and salt and refuse all food. Last week a Japanese government White Paper charged that 77,637 Japanese soldiers were being held in Communist territory and 28,979 others were missing.

Plumbing Code

TORONTO, July 30—(CP) — A renewed drive for an Ontario plumbing code was announced Sunday night following a two-day meeting of the Pipe Trades Council of the plumbing and pipefitting industry. Local unions throughout Ontario were urged to bring the campaign to the attention of their local members of the Legislature. A statement issued by the Council said Health Minister Phillips promised several months ago that a provincial plumbing code would be put into operation before the end of July.

TOKYO, July 30—(AP) — The director-general of Japan's imperial household disclosed today that Emperor Hirohito has started looking around for a wife for 17-year-old Crown Prince Akihito. By tradition, a choice will be made from one of the eligible daughters of Japan's 11 noble families — all closely related to Emperor Hirohito's family.

Toronto Bursar Dies

KINCARDINE, Ont., July 30 — (CP)—Rev. William Jackson Little, 61, Bursar of Victoria College, University of Toronto, since 1932 and superintendent since 1942, died Saturday at his summer home here. From 1919 to 1921 he was secretary of the Methodist national campaign.

Doukhobor Leader Dies Return Of Violence Feared

By GEORGE FINLAY

VANCOUVER, July 30—(C)P— Fear of new Doukhobor violence, fire raids and bomb blasts came last night following the quiet death Saturday of Michael (the Archangel) Verigin.

The burly 68-year-old leader died following an operation in hospital here, surrounded by members of the religious sect. He died of pneumonia. Observers expressed the fear that his death would bring a factional battle and a renewal of violence in the Kootenay Doukhobor colonies when the time comes for the selection of a new "archangel."

But this view was not shared by 28-year-old Russell Verigin, son of the dead leader, who was at the bedside when his father died.

"It is possible our groups now may be welded under a common leader," he said. He has been mentioned as his father's successor. Another candidate may be 38-year-old Joseph Podovinikoff, confidential secretary to Verigin for many years.

Broke Away

Once the spiritual leader of the 2,000 radical Sons of Freedom, blamed for a half-century fight against Canadian laws, Verigin broke away from the Kootenay colonly of Krestova five years ago.

He started a new settlement with 300 followers at Hilliers, 35 miles north west of Nanaima on Vancouver Island, where wives are shared in the communal settlement and "baby" permits must be sanctioned by the colony's elders.

A storm centre for years, Verigin was often called the master mind of reigns of terror in the Kootenays, 250 miles east of Vancouver.

He was no relation to Peter (The Lordly) Verigin, spiritual leader killed in a bomb blast at Farron, B.C., in 1924.

Michael had gone to prison, because, he charged, the Sons of Freedom had plotted against him. In court he denied he directed fire raids in which Doukhoboros applied the torch to private and public buildings.

Fire and nude parades are the symbols of protest used by the radical members of the sect.

Fight Laws

"The Sons of Freedom are fighting against man-made laws," he once warned. "They cannot understand why I, Michael the Archangel, do not fulfill my divine obligation by defending them."

Michael was not recognized as leader by the 10,000 orthodox Doukhobors, who farm rich lands in the Kooteneys, in contrast to the barren, rocky homesites of the Sons of Freedom at Krestova.

The government now has under study a relocation plan for the Sons of Freedom. They will be moved from the desolate Krestova countryside to new farmlands—sometime in the future.

Michael the Archangel will be buried at Hilliers today. Mourners will observe simple but colorful rites of the colony.

No New Factories For Peterborough

Records of the Trade and Industry Branch of the Ontario Department of Planning and Development show that 78 new manufacturing industries were established in Ontario last year—plants of 5,000 or more square feet of floor space and employing a minimum of 10 persons. Not one of these came to Peterborough. Yet the whole trend of industrial activiey is to locate factories in smaller towns and cities. This is stated flatly in the first sentence of the Branch's report and is evident in its statistics. Places like Chatham, Owen Sound, Brantford, Prescott, Cooksville, Ajax, Aylmer, Delhi, St. Catharines and St. Thomas got new industries last year—and large cities like Hamilton, Windsor and Ottawa got none, Toronto only four. Peterborough got none. Why?

• • •

Brantford had an accession of three new industries: A powder company producing chemicals, investment $100,000, to employ 10 people; a metal sash plant, investment $25,000, to employ 15; a manufactury of air compressors and mining equipment, investment $150,000, to employ 35. These are not large industries, but they are well-varied and capable of growth. In addition to this, ten of Brantford's existing industries expanded their plants, the additions totalling $1,016,000. Guelph secured two new industries during the year—an electrical controls manufacturing plant, investment $150,000, to employ 75 workers; and a paper products plant, investment $100,000, to employ 35. Three of Guelph's existing plants also put up sizable additions. Owen Sound added four industries: a wood panelling plant, investment $100,000, to employ 20; a propane gas plant, investment $150,000, to employ 25 workers; a plywood boat concern, investment $15,000, employing 12; a nylon stocking factory, investment $50,000, employing 25. None of these is a big industry, nevertheless, they help to give variety in Owen Sound's industrial life, and add 82 to the town's payrolls.

• • •

Why couldn't Peterborough get a process fibre plant (Wool Combing Corporation of Canada), which invested $120,000 and put up a plant employing 100. That factory went to Galt. It was one of two new industries which Galt secured during the year. The other was a small metal stampings plant employing fifteen people. Last year Brockville got a hosiery factory, with an investment of two million dollars and a payroll of 200. That would have been a nice industry for Peterborough.

• • •

Somehow or other new industries have by-passed Peterborough. Is our tax rate too high? It was lower than Brantford's or St. Catharines', per head. Are industrial sites scarce in Peterborough? The Industrial Commission has several hundred acres waiting for a good new industry. Are we too big? The population is not as large as St. Catharines', and is almost the same as Brantford's. Are houses scarce? They are no scarcer than they are elsewhere. Perhaps prospective new industries do not like the colour of our trees, the kind of unions we have in our chief industries, the wage scales, the industries already here, the shade of our provincial politics, or perhaps manufacturers do not know what a good place Peterborough is and have not heard of its advantages.

• • •

Whatever the reasons, we know that last year, in which 78 new manufacturing industries were established in Ontario, Peterborough got none of them. In fact, Peterborough is not even listed among the centres in which existing industries underwent plant expansion. In fairness to Peterborough we should state that Kingston, Oshawa and Kitchener got no new industries either.

Mr. Truman Shares The Blame

The record of the Eighty-second Congress of the United States has been a somewhat sorry one, and political analysts in that country have been trying to apportion the blame for its performance. Since there obviously is no method of determining this accurately, the conclusions are opinions, but there appears to be fairly general agreement that President Truman's share of the blame is a heavy one.

Those reaching this conclusion point out that when it comes to reasonable compromise, Mr. Truman persists in disregarding the fundamental rules of politics. Any legislator who wishes to swerve from the precise line laid down by the Administration, no matter how slightly, or who attempts to make an appointment without Mr. Truman's prior consent, receives harsh treatment. Three instances of this have been cited, and they reveal a decidedly uncompromising attitude on the part of the President.

Senator Guy Gillette had decided to recommend a certain person for an Ohio judgeship. Learning that Mr. Truman did not approve the proposed recommendation, he went to see the President. He was told there was no reason for concern; his candidate would be appointed. Three days later, the name of another man was sent to the Senate by the White House.

Two years ago, most of the Southern Democrats tentatively sued for peace. They offered a modified form of Fair Employment Practices Act; some of the ablest and most moderate legislators among them worked actively for its adoption. It is said that, by dropping the clause providing criminal penalties for violating standards, Mr. Truman could have regained many Southern supporters, but he flatly refused to make any alteration.

The latest instance is another head-on collision over appointments to the Bench. Senator Douglas of Illinois had named two men. When it became known that Mr. Truman would reject these and make his own appointments, the Senator called on the President, said he regretted the reports, and that he had been a loyal admirer of the President at least eighty per cent. of the time. Eighty per cent. evidently was not enough, and the net result is that there will be a deadlock on the appointments, with the Senate rejecting the Presidential nominations.

A President perhaps has a right to expect one hundred per cent. loyalty—but in the case of Senator Douglas, it hardly seems good politics. When Mr. Truman won in Illinois in 1948, he did so because of the presence of two strong names on the ballot—Douglas and Adlai Stevenson, now Governor. The majority figures are significant: Mr. Stevenson went in with a majority of more than half a million, while Mr. Truman received less than 35,000. One would expect Mr. Truman to be wary about alienating supporters capable of electing him in one of the key states, but he apparently feels he can safely do so. It will be interesting to recall these incidents when State votes are taken at the Democratic Convention next year.

Getting On Without A Government

As we write, France has still no Prime Minister and no Government. Five men have already been asked by President Auriol to form a government but none has succeeded. For a month since the general elections France has been without a Cabinet. But nobody in France or outside it is seriously alarmed. France seems to get along quite well without a Government, for short periods anyway. It has had to do so often during the last six years. The permanent staffs carry on.

Why cannot one of the prominent political figures, former premiers, whom President Auriol has called on, succeed in forming a Government? The failure is entirely for domestic reasons. In foreign matters all the parties of the centre (who together have a majority over De Gaullists and Communists) are in basic agreement on external matters. They disagree on internal policies.

The present deadlock is on two questions: state aid to the Roman Catholic free schools, and a revision upwards of the fixed wage scale. The Socialists and Popular Republicans who must come to agreement if a Government is to be formed, are opposed to each other on both issues. The Socialists do not want government grants given the Catholic schools; Republicans won many of their seats on a pledge to support them. The Socialists promised at election time to increase the pegged wage rates; the Republicans refuse to commit themselves on this so long as the Socialists reject the proposal of grants to the Catholic schools.

The differences will be ironed out in due course and somebody will eventually form a Government. No irreparable harm is being done France during this Governmentless period, for, as the New York Times says, the nation is stronger than its political system. (Incidentally it is a system which took the American governmental fabric as a model.) However, during these weeks of uncertainty, France cannot apply her proper and full weight to international matters in which her interests are involved. In any matter of international moment (a Korean truce, for instance) whose would be the voice of France; who could sit for her at a Council of Foreign Ministers? None.

Moscow Guns Against Ukraine

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

ONCE again the Soviet Ukraine is showing itself to be a thorn in the collective flesh of the Moscow Politburo. During the last few weeks Pravda, acting here as the direct voice of the Moscow Central Committee, has been engaged in a sustained attack on the spirit of Ukrainian nationalism. Ostensibly the attack is confined to Ukrainian literature, and the Kremlin has seized the opportunity to warn all Soviet writers everywhere that there is to be no relaxation in the Communist Party's supervision of their work. But it is written clearly between the lines that in attacking certain Ukrainian writers, the Kremlin is really attacking every aspect of Ukrainian life—and in unusually menacing terms. The fact that Moscow, after thirty years of harshly repressive action, should still find it necessary to denounce Ukrainian nationalism says a good deal for the strength and bitterness of feeling in that sadly-battered land.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE nationalists are not, of course, attacked directly. Their existence is not even admitted in the central Soviet Press (although the local Ukrainian newspapers have a great deal to say about them). Instead, the Moscow Central Committee seized on the occasion of a recent festival of Ukrainian art in Moscow to deliver its attack. When the speech-making, the toasts, the congratulations were over, "Pravada" struck viciously at a number of leading Ukrainian artists whose loyalty to the regime, to which they personally owe everything, was not even suspect. Chief among these was the critic and playwright Korneichuk who is commonly regarded in Russia and the Ukraine as one of those Ukrainians who have sold their own people down the river in order to curry favour with Moscow... who married one of most rabid literary champions of Stalin, the Polish novelist, Wanda Wassiliewska, and who has been lavishly rewarded by his masters with membership of Supreme Soviet and frequent trips abroad. Korneichuk and his wife were attacked for producing an unsatisfactory libretto for the opera "Bogdan Khmelnitsky", based on the work of the Ukrainian national hero, the writer Schevchenko. This attack was a symbolic gesture, intended to warn Ukrainians that their leaders are nothing but the instruments of the Moscow central government and to show that the Kremlin meant business. Korneichuk confessed his sins in the ritual formula and continues undisturbed his pleasant life as one of the new Soviet aristocracy.

THE real attack was contained in an extraordinary four-column tirade against the Ukrainian poet Sosyura, who was in great demand during the war for his patriotic verses. One of his major works, the long poem "Love Ukraine!", written in 1944 and highly praised at the time, was reprinted for the Festival by the Leningrad literary review, Zvezda. And this seven-year-old poem, which the Kremlin has long known all about, has now been made the subject of the most bitter and public attack on Ukrainian nationalism since the great pre-war purges, when the last remnants of the Ukrainian patriots were swept out of every official post in the Soviet Union.

The attack came so pat that what appeared to be an indiscretion by Zvezda in publishing a work suddenly pronounced ideologically unsound—and being heavily rapped over the knuckles for doing so—looks very much like a put-up job. Zvezda was one of the reviews which were violently assailed by Zhdanov in the great broadside which started the ideological purge of 1946. And my own guess is that in publishing Sosyura's poem, Zvezda was acting on instructions of the Moscow Central Committee, who wanted a pretext for a general attack on Ukrainian nationalism. In a word, the editors of Zvezda were told to put up an Aunt Sally for the Central Committee to knock down.

BE that as it may, the viciousness of the attack is extraordinary. Sosyura, who has now produced one of the most abject and grovelling apologies in the records of Soviet grovelling apologies, was attacked for singing the eternal Ukraine instead of the achievements of Soviet Ukraine; for celebrating love of the Ukrainian soil instead of praising Ukrainian achievements under the five-year Plans (all due to Stalin); and for writing about the Ukraine as though it existed in its own right and did not owe everything to its membership of the Soviet Union and the benevolent guidance of Moscow.

AT the height of its outburst Pravda names two figures, leaders of Ukrainian nationalism and separatism, one of whom has not been mentioned in public in Russia for many years, the other of whom has never, to my knowledge, been mentioned at all outside the Ukraine itself: Hetman Petloura and the rebel leader Stepan Bandera. This disastrous poem, Pravda declared, contains sentiments indistinguishable from those of the most rabid Ukrainian nationalists, such as Petloura and Bandera.

Petloura was the Ukrainian separatist leader who succeeded for a time in setting up an independent Ukrainian Republic in the early days of the revolution and was later executed. Bandera, still alive, fought a long-drawn-out guerilla war against the M.V.D. and the Red Army, operating in the Western Ukraine from bases in the Carpathians, which continued until a very recent date, (the Commander-in-Chief of the Ukrainian Underground Army, a rival body of Bandera's, was killed in action near Lvov by M.V.D. troops as recently as March of last year). The very fact that Pravda sees fit to print these normally unmentionable names at all is an indication of the depth of the Kremlin's concern with the loyalty of the Ukraine.

It is a loyalty which will never be won by the Stalin regime. In 1941 the despised Kokhlis (the disparaging nick-name of the Great Russians for the Ukrainians, or Little Russians of the Western borderline) so detested the regime that they—troops and civilians alike—welcomed the Germans as liberators and only began to fight in earnest when the Nazis began to show themselves in their true colours. After that, an Underground Army waged war against the Nazis and the Red Army indifferently, while General Vlassov, the heroic defender of Moscow, surrendered to the Germans and fought directly for them in command of renegade Ukrainian troops. He was hanged after the war.

TODAY the great bulk of the Russian Displaced Persons who refuse to return are Ukrainians. Inside the Ukraine, the smouldering resistance of the peasants was brought to life again by contact with newcomers from what had hitherto been Polish Ukraine, who fought against the collectivization as bitterly as their Eastern cousins had fought a generation earlier. Today the active resistance has been broken; the rebel armies have largely dispersed; the transportation of millions of Ukrainians and their resettlement in remote areas has reduced the native population, which has been diluted by Great Russian settlers. Yet still, after the untold suffering of the Ukraine at the hands of the Germans, after the deportations and the harsh party purge of 15 months ago, the spirit of nationalist resistance to the Kremlin rule remains so strong that the Moscow Central Committee finds it necessary to abandon for the moment the pretence that all is well and to launch a major campaign of propaganda and veiled threats against it.

Dropping Saturday Paper

(MONTREAL STAR)

HOW hard a combination of increased postal rates and the latest boost of $10 a ton in the price of newsprint is hitting Canadian newspapers is shown by a report from Quebec. L'Action Catholique, a French-language afternoon newspaper in that city with a substantial circulation, announces that it will abandon its regular Saturday edition. It is mainly influenced to do this by the new postal rates on newspapers recently imposed by Ottawa which are particularly hard on newspapers with a large proportion of rural circulation, as is the case with L'Action Catholique. The Quebec despatch adds that it is indicated—although without confirmation so far—that two other Quebec papers, Le Soleil and L'Evenement Journal, which are under one ownership, will take similar action and drop their Saturday editions also. It is added further that the subscription price of L'Action Catholique will not be reduced because of the dropping of the Saturday edition.

Nothing but sheer necessity could compel any newspaper to abandon so important a part of the field it serves. Especially is this the case when, as in this instance, a large number of its subscribers live in the country and no doubt rely on Saturday issue designed for leisurely Sunday reading. L'Action Catholique, we are sure, took the step only under unavoidable compulsion.

The position in which the Quebec newspaper found itself is no doubt shared by many another Canadian newspaper. Production costs have been mounting steadily for years and in all directions. The two substantial additions to already much augmented expenses, heavier postal bills and more costly newsprint, present a problem that many Canadian publishers are finding serious enough.

Toronto's Expansion

(Windsor Star)

But none can gainsay that Toronto is a prosperous, progressive and rapidly growing city. By city, we mean the metropolitan area, because the city proper is bulging at the seams and most new developments perforce must be in the suburbs.

Within the past five years 85 new indutrial plants have been built in the Toronto area (22 of them British-owned) with a capital investment of $91,000,000. What this means in employment and in the need for new homes, schools and other facilities necessary to an urban district, can readily be imagined.

In some respects Toronto already has taken over the leadership from Montreal as Canada's most important city. If Montreal doesn't watch out, Toronto will forge to the front in most every way.

We, in other parts of Ontario or of Canada, may chide Toronto with being "hog-town," and cast other epithets at her. But we cannot deny the facts of her progress, or claim she is just greedy—or lucky. Toronto is a great city, becoming even greater.

Taking Chances

(Cornwall Standard-Freeholder)

One has only to stop along the St. Lawrence river front during the Summer to see first rate examples of recklessness on the water. Just recently, the writer saw a small boat, which was powered by an outboard motor, carrying six adults.

The 14-foot craft was weighed down almost to the water line by its occupants. Yet the driver, apparently oblivious to the danger, steered the boat into deep water as he took his friends, or family, for a little spin.

Another member of the staff saw two adults and nine children in a rowboat off St. Lawrence Park. Fortunately the water was calm and the young occupants behaved well. If the skiff had overturned, however, it is doubtful if all the occupants could have been saved.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

It pleased Darius to set over the kingdom an hundred and twenty princes, which should be over the whole kingdom; and over these three presidents; of whom Daniel was first: that the princes might give accounts unto them, and the king should have no damage... Then the presidents and princes sought to find occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdom; but they could find none occasion nor fault; forasmuch as he was faithful, neither was there any error or fault found in him....Then these presidents and princes assembled together to the king, and said thus unto him, King Darius, live for ever.

All the presidents of the kingdom, the governors, and the princes, the counsellors, and the captains, have consulted together to establish a royal statute, and to make a firm decree, that whosoever shall ask a petition of any God or man for thirty days, save of thee, O king, he shall be cast into the den of lions....

Now when Daniel knew that the writing was signed, he went into his house; and his windows being open in his chamber toward Jerusalem, he kneeled upon his knees three times a day, and prayed, and gave thanks before his God, as he did aforetime. Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying and making supplication before his God....

Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the den of lions. Now the king spake and said unto Daniel, Thy God whom thou servest continually, he will deliver thee....Then the king arose very early in the morning, and went in haste unto the den of lions. And when he came to the den, he cried with a lamentable voice unto Daniel: and the king spake and said to Daniel, O Daniel, servant of the living God, is thy God, whom thou servest continually, able to deliver thee from the lions?

Then said Daniel unto the king, O king, live for ever. My God hath sent his angel, and hath shut the lions' mouths, that they have not hurt me; forasmuch as before him innocency was found in me; and also before thee, O king, have I done no hurt. Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel up out of the den. So Daniel was taken up out of the den, and no manner of hurt was found upon him, because he believed in his God. (Dan. 6: 1, 2, 4, 6, 7, 10, 11, 16, 19-23.)

Working Hours

(Kitchener-Waterloo Record)

A survey of working conditions conducted by the economics and research branch of the Department of Labor shows that the work-week in Canada's manufacturing industry is growing shorter year by year. At present nearly 70 per cent of the plants in Canadian industry are working a five-day week.

By October, 1950, the normal work-week for office employees in industry averaged 38¾ hours, a decrease of one-quarter of an hour from 1949. Similarly, the normal work-week for plant workers averaged 44¼ hours, one-third of an hour less than in 1949.

The survey covered 6,300 manufacturing establishments employing more than 724,000 plant and 135,000 office workers during the pay period preceding Oct. 1 last year.

The study revealed that more than 70 per cent of the plant employees were normally working 45 hours a week or less, with about 30 per cent working 40 hours. Among office workers in industry 62 per cent were normally working less than 40 hours a week, with the largest proportion working 37½ hours.

There are some interesting contrasts to be drawn between the average work-week in the various areas of the country The average work-week for plant employees in British Columbia, for instance, was 41¾ hours as compared with 49 hours in Newfoundland, 47½ in the Maritimes (including Newfoundland), 45¾ in Quebec and 43½ in both Ontario and the Prairie Provinces.

In Ontario 35 per cent of the plant employees were on a 40-hour week, 10 per cent were on a 44-hour week, 23 per cent on a 45-hour week and 15 per cent on a 48-hour week.

Channel Packed Scot, 54 Swims Hard Way

DOVER, Eng., July 30 (AP).—A 54-year-old Scotsman swam the English Channel Saturday, the third man to do it in two days.

Ned Barnie, an Edinburgh science teacher who made the crossing from France to England last year, did it the other and harder way today.

But Philip Mickman, 20, a Briton, who followed Barnie on the England-France crossing, gave up eight miles off the French coast. Mickman had been in the water 14 hours when his handlers ordered him into a boat because of heavy seas. The young Briton swam from France to England two years ago and sought to duplicate Barnie's Channel double.

Egyptian

Two others made the crossing yesterday, both swimming from France to England. They were Abdel Litif Abou Heif, 22, Egyptian student who made the season's first Channel swim in 15 hours and 42 minutes, and Philip Rising, 41, an Englishman, who was in the water 15 hours and 35 minutes.

A total of 12 tried the Channel this weekend. Others beside Mickman who failed were six men and two women, including a mass formation of five Egyptians who accompanied Abdel Litif most of the way across but couldn't quite make it.

Federal Boat Hunts Sharks

VICTORIA, BC — (CP) — War against one of the biggest nuisances in the fishing industry—the basking shark—is being intensified by the federal fisheries department.

Taking part in the battle is the 68-foot vessel Comox Park which covers most of the West Coast of British Columbia.

Basking sharks, so called because they just loaf along with dorsal fins showing above water, are "pretty stupid," Capt. H. P. Nightingale of the Comox Park says.

"They can probably travel at very substantial speeds, but all I have seen were just lazing their way along the surface."

Kill By Ramming

It is not uncommon for the patrol vessel's sharp prow to ram a shark, and quite a few have been killed that way. But most kills are made with a special harpoon.

A mature shark is between 40 and 50 feet long, weighing several tons, and when harpooned displays tremendous strength. "We can get very close to the sharks," said the skipper. "And they don't appear to be a bit concerned until the harpoon finds its mark."

Sharks have been known to tear around in the water for as long as two hours trailing the heavy 600-foot rope attached to the harpoon with a drum on the other end before becoming exhausted.

"They raise pure cain with fishermen's gear, especially gill nets," said Capt. Nightingale.

During war years the big sharks were sought for their livers, but today there is no demand for them. It is not unusual for a shark liver to weigh up to 1,700 pounds.

Booking Agent Dies

NEW YORK, July 30 — (CP) — Edward V. Darling, 60, former chief booking manager for the B. F. Keith Circuit and Vaudeville Exchange, died Saturday. Among the stars he booked were Eva Tanguay, Houdini, Nora Bayes, Olga Petrova, Sophie Tucker, Belle Baker and Elsie Janis.

Baptist Mission Workers Lead Vacation School

HAVELOCK, July 30 (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. L. Bigelow, of the Baptist Mission, conducted a Daily Vacation Bible School from Monday to Friday of last week at the North School, Belmont township. The school was sponsored by the Canadian Sunday School Mission of Winnipeg, and was for children from four to 14 years. On Thursday, parents were invited when a display of handcraft work made by the pupils was on display, including plaques, wall-brackets and other articles made from plywood and orange crates. Ball games at the noon recess provided recreation. One girl set the record for memory work by memorising 24 Bible verses in four days.

Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow will conduct a similar school at the Baptist Mission here from July 30 to August 3, sponsored by the Christian Service Centre of Canada. The sessions will be from 9.30 a.m. to 12 noon.

Ontario Tobacco Crop To Be Best In Years

TORONTO, July 30 — (CP) — Ontario tobacco growers this year expect the best crops they have had for several years.

Tobacco in most areas is two weeks ahead of normal growth and the harvest should soon be under way. Priming—the actual harvesting of the crop—is anticipated in the Norfolk district in about one week. In the Essex-Kent area the burley tobacco harvest should begin in about two weeks.

Supplies For Red China Smuggled Over Burma Road

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

RANGOON, July 30—(AP)—The Burma Road—which fed Chiang Kai-shek's armies with US supplies for war against Japan—has become the principal overland route for smuggling to Communist China.

Chinese truck convoys pick up petroleum products, rubber tires and other contraband at the Northeast Burma frontier and transport them over the tortuous Burma Road to Kunming, 275 airline miles eastward. The illegal traffic in these priority goods is steady and significant.

Three Convoys Weekly

An authoritative survey made early this month said the current traffic over the Burma Road averages around three convoys a week with 50 or 60 trucks in each convoy. Most of this trade is in legitimate items such as cotton, but plenty of strategic material is also carried.

One official survey conservatively estimated that about 200 to 300 truck tires a month—or about 10 pre cent of Burma's monthly imports of tires from western countries—are smuggled into Red China by this route.

It is almost imposible to estimate correctly the quantity of smuggled petroleum products, but it is believed to be relatively small.

Prior to last September when the Burmese Government clamped down with a licensing system for shipments of petroleum products to dealers north of Mandalay, there was a booming traffic. It has been smaller since then but it picked up again last March when Peiping began to feel the bite of the Korean War and the subsequent embargo.

Reduce Traffic

Western oil companies, including the only resident American firm—the Standard Vacuum Oil Co.—are co-operating in official efforts to reduced the illicit traffic in petroleum.

A variety of other priority goods in small amounts are being smuggled into Red China. Chinese dealers have been buying up used jeeps in the Mandalay areas for shipment to the Kunming market.

The bulk of the China-bound contraband goes over the Burma Road. There are lesser quantities going into Red China over countless mule tracks leading over the frontier.

Goods destined for China are shipped by various means to Lashio in Northeast Burma. From that point the goods travel by truck to the frontier town of Kyuchkok where they are reloaded on privately owned Chinese trucks for transport to Kunming.

Burmese and Chinese traders in the Mandalay area report that the contraband goods are passed by Burmese Army, police and customs stations after payment of bribes. One reliable survey said a merchant will pay about 3,500 rupees (more than $700) in illegal toll charges to pass a single truck from Mandalay to Kyuchkok.

The Burmese Government has made some efforts to halt the smuggling but so far has been unable either to eliminate bribery or spare enough troops to close the frontier.

Sail Expert To Help UN Work

SASKATOON—(CP)—A Saskatchewan man will join the food and agricultural organization of the United Nations to help Far Eastern countries produce more food.

Dr. George Dion, a member of the University of Saskatchewan Soils Department, will take up residence in Rome, Italy, to join the FAO's technical assistance program for undeveloped parts of the world.

His wife, a fungus expert with the prairie regional laboratory at the university will accompany him.

Dr. Dion joined the soils department in 1942 and later went to Rothamsted experimental station in England to do soil research in connection with wartime food production. While there he married Wendy Ritchie, a London University graduate.

After leaving Rothamsted, Dr Dion spent a year with MacAuley Institute at Aberdeen, Scotland before returning to Saskatchewan in 1946.

His work with the FAO will help African and Asiatic countries develop their programs of soil mapping and classification and survey work connected with soil fertility.

Dr. V. Ignatieff, a University of Alberta graduate, is doing similar work for North and South America in Washington for FAO.

Senators Will Try To Insert Seaway Project In Bill

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—The oft-rejected St. Lawrence seaway project bobbed up again Saturday, this time as a possible rider on the $8,500,000,000 foreign aid authorization bill.

Senators Blair Moody (Dem., Mich.) and George Aiken (Rep., Vt.) said they will attempt to insert the seaway and power development project into the foreign aid bill. They contend that is a bigger place for it and its inclusion might get the proposal before the House of Representatives and Senate—instead of having it die in committee.

The House public works committee voted 15 to 12, this week to table the joint US-Canada St Lawrence project, ending another chapter in the 20-year fight.

"We are not going to give up just because the House committee gave us a temporary setback," said Aiken, a long-time proponent of the St. Lawrence.

More Vital

Aiken said that if the world situation "is as bad as they tell us it is, then the St. Lawrence is more vital to this country and the free nations of the world than most of the items in the foreign aid bill.

Aiken said the cost estimates of the St. Lawrence project, which opponents described as staggering and impossible, should be no obstacle now. He said navigation and power can be developed for relatively small sums and that deeper lateral channels and other works can be spread over 20 years.

Meanwhile, President Truman, Saturday, put in a plug for the seaway and power project during a speech at Detroit's celebration of its 250th anniversary, saying: "They say we can't afford dams and reservoirs. They say we can't afford the St. Lawrence seaway to open the Great Lakes to ocean shipping and bring new iron ore to the steel mills of the Middle West. . . There never was a project in the history of the country more badly neded than the St. Lawrence seaway."

Bill Pending

The administration's foreign aid bill is pending before committees of both Houses. The Senate foreign relations committee has just opened hearings on the measure. Moody said he and Aiken have arranged to appear before the group to present their proposal.

Moody, noting that both President Truman and defence mobilizer Charles E. Wilson, have urged approval of the project as vital to the defence of the United States, added: "The program for building our strength against Communist aggression contemplates an indefinite period of tension — a long period where we have to devote our resources to the development of military strength."

Fitzgerald Tops As Petes Edge Brampton

Timbermen edged Brampton Excelsiors 11-10 at the Rose Bowl Saturday night before a good crowd in one of the feature games of the season from the standpoint of crowd-pleasing lacrosse. It was a thriller from start to finish, as hard fought as the score indicates.

Despite a three-goal splurge in the fourth by Peterborough to take a seemingly safe lead after three terrific action-packed and even frames, Excelsiors wrathfully struck back to rifle three past Wooton and count victory; but strong defensive strategy on the part of the colorful loop leaders proved equal to the challenge in the dying seconds as they staved off the fury of Excelsiors' attack for the tying marker.

Jerry Fitzgerald, premier power on attack Saturday to lead his mates (who incidentally all rated a star) with four sparkling tallies and an assist; Russ Slater ranked next offensively in the summary with three goals and a fine all-round effort. Single pots were registered by Bobby Thorpe, Curly Mason, Nit O'Hearn and Ike Dugan, Hildy and irrepressible Harry Wipper; Mason drew a pair and turned in another three-star effort, one of the best. O'Hearn's work defensively along with skipper Don Crowe and Ross Powless drew plaudits from an appreciative gallery, too. Youthful Don Beatty led the home attack with four of the best while Bobby Sutherland and Nick Ferri followed with three and two goals respectively, the latter assisting twice, the former once; Bradkin tallied the odd goal with Arthurs and Lyons assisting once.

Brampton took an early lead in the first with a fine offensive display for a 5-1 edge and held 5-4 at the half mark.

Timbermen's power asserted itself, however, in the third, as the men of Crowe steamed in four, from Thorpe, Slater, Fitzgerald and Mason against scores by Beatty and Bradkin, to take the edge. Then followed the sensational finale. The game was rough in spots without bitterness, and 20 penalties were evenly divided.

Petes: Goal, Wootton; defence, Fitzgerald, O'Hearn; centre, Thorpe; wings, Ashbee, Dugan; rover, D. Vitarelli; alts., Creighton, Crowe, Slater, Wipper, Mason, Powless, Hildebrand.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

All of our bowlers who are still in the club's handicap singles and also in the novice singles, are asked to be at the greens by 7 o'clock this evening.

It was previously announced that the open trebles tournament for the Review Printing Co. Trophy would be held on the evening of Friday, Aug. 17th. This has been changed to Friday evening, 7 o'clock, of August 10th. Bowlers are requested to note this change.

The winning skips on Saturday night were: H. Northrop, G. Fee and W. Jolley.

There is nothing special coming up this week, at our club—just the regular schedule games and weekly tournaments.

Do you know that our lawn bowling season is half over?

Workman Slams Homer As Chiefs Win Over Bisons

By The Associated Press

Syracuse Chiefs' search for a long-ball hitting outfielder apparently is over.

Hank Workman, who starred for the defunct Newark club a few years ago, has been socking with authority since he reported to the International League club last Friday.

Workman, property of New York Yankees, celebrated with a home run Friday, hit another Saturday and yesterday slammed a grand-slam homer to lead the Chiefs to a 9-6 victory over Buffalo Bisons in the first game of a doubleheader.

Ernie Silverman silenced Workman in the nightcap as he pitched the Bisons to a 1-0 seven-hit victory. The Bisons scored the only run of the game with two out in the seventh when Al Stringer walked with the bases loaded.

The league-leading Montreal Royals stretched their lead over Buffalo by taking a doubleheader from Baltimore Orioles 7-5 and 5-3.

George Shuba led the Royals to victory in the opener, driving in four runs, three on a bases-loaded double. Hec Rodriguez starred in the nightcap, batting in two runs on a single and triple.

The fourth-place Rochester Red Wings downed Ottawa Giants 6-4. Russ Derry broke up the game with a two-run homer in the eighth. Jay Van Noy also homered for Rochester while Harvey Gentry and Fred Gerken connected for Ottawa off Jack Collum who posted his 10th victory.

Springfield edged the Toronto Leafs 4-3 in 15 innings but the Leafs came back to win the nightcap by the same score. Successive singles by Carm Mauro, Ronnie George and Jack Wallaesa decided the opening.

Edmonton Team Picked For 1952

TORONTO, July 30 (CP). — The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association announced here Saturday that Edmonton Mercurys will represent Canada in the next Olympic games, scheduled for next year.

Doug Grimston, president of the association, said Mercurys, who won the world amateur title for Canada two seasons ago, were chosen from six applications.

Mercurys, in the intermediate loop of the Western Canada Hockey League, won the title March 22, 1950, with a clean sweep of their seven tournament games at Stockholm, Sweden.

The announcement was made during an informal meeting of the CAHA executive.

In Norway

In 1952 Olympic winter games will be held at Oslo, Norway.

Grimston said the CAHA major series, held for the first time last season, will be continued during 1951-52. However, only two leagues will be entered—the Quebec senior loop and the Maritime senior circuit. The major series previously included four Ontario teams and four from the western Canada senior league.

Grimston also announced tentative play-off dates for Canada's three main amateur trophies.

The Alexander Trophy final will start April 16 and will be held in the east since only eastern teams are competing.

The Allan Cup finals for senior clubs is scheduled to start April 19 in the west. Junior clubs competing for the Memorial Cup will fight it out in the east with the final starting about April 22.

Oshawa Moves Closer To Top Edge Petes 7-2

OSHAWA, July 29. — Oshawa Merchants moved one step closer to overhauling the league-leading Peterborough Marines in the Viaduct Major Baseball League race, when they defeated the Liftlock City club 7-2 here on Saturday night before a crowd of nearly two thousand customers in one of the best league games of the season.

The game was a well-played affair with tight defensive play featuring the fast action throughout as Bill Edger of Bowmanville took the mound for the Marines against Manager Mike Mellis of the Merchants, making his first start of the season against the Liftlock City club.

Only one error, and that an error of omission rather than commission, was chalked up in the game that was run off in exactly two hours, as each hurler issued only one walk. Strikeouts were scarce, Mellis having only a half-dozen and Edger half that total.

Manager Mellis weathered the only serious Peterborough uprising in the first frame when George Brabin, Oshawa homebrew, opened the inning with a clean single. Joe Stewart fanned, but Joe Lovery poled a double to centre and Al Menzies and Andy Milne each singled in succession, into left. Those four solid clouts gave the Marines a pair of runs and had runners on 2nd and 3rd with only one out, but Bill Edger went out on a short fly into left which permitted no advance, and Bill Huntley grounded out to the shortstop to end the rally. A brilliant double-play when Fred Garvey hit a screaming liner at Rog. Wood, after Bill Edger had walked to open the 8th, gave Mellis the fine record of pitching to only 22 batters in the last seven frames. George Brabin's second hit, a single in the 6th after two out, proved the only other hit given up by Mellis after he got past the 2nd inning rally.

Vic Napolitano opened with a single for Oshawa in the last inning and Rog. Wood drew a walk. Jim Rogers sacrificed nicely and Charlie Walsh's single scored Napolitano, but Dick Berning grounded to the box and Jose Morals fanned.

Ted Barnes, who prior to the game was busy handing out cigars to mark the blessed event in his family (it's a girl), carried on with the celebration by banging one out of the park in the 2nd for a homer that was only the start on Homebrew Barnes' big night at the plate. He didn't get a catch in the outfield all night, but he hit a solid single and another out-of-the-park homer before the night was over for a fine three-for-four record, two of them homers.

Barnes' one-man-show was enough in itself to give Oshawa the win after his homer tied the score in the 2nd, but four more solid hits by Wood, Rogers, Berning and Morales gave Oshawa two runs in the third inning. They got at least one hit in each of the next three frames, Barnes hitting his second circuit clout in the 6th, and then in the 7th Merchants bunched four more hits for another pair of runs. Napolitano and Rogers each singled, while Walsh and Berning hit successive doubles to complete the rally.

Rogers' three singles and a sacrifice had a perfect night at the plate. Barnes' three-for-four was next best, while Vic Napolitano, Charlie Walsh and Dick Berning each had a pair of safeties, as did Georgie Brabin of the Marines.

Defensively Jose Morales was the spark of the game with brilliant fielding plays to rob both Al Menzies and Edger on hard-hit grounders, while Vic Napolitano also turned in a nifty performance at shortstop, handing a half-dozen tough chances.

Toronto Water Skiers Seen On Stony Lake

Members of the Toronto Water Ski Club spent the weekend at Trail's End, Stony Lake, and on Sunday provided an exhibition of water skiing. In singles and in pairs the skiers gave an exhibition which received the praise of the large crowd of spectators. Marked skill was evident in the actions of the various entrants and all are planning to enter the Canadian Championships trials at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Skiing on one ski, holding onto the toe line with their toes, hurdling and jumping were all demonstrated. Paul Harding of Trail's End operated the motor.

THREE TOLEDO UNIVERSITY basketball players, involved in the latest bribe scandal to be uncovered by District Attorney Frank S. Hogan, are seen leaving Hogan's office after admitting they had rigged the points in a game with Niagara University last December. The players, left to right are: Carlo John Muzi, Akron; Robert McDonald, Jamaica, N.Y.; William Walker, Toledo. They were said to have accepted $1,750 from a New York fixer to shave their margin of victory over Niagara.

Petes Take Third Straight With 11-5 Win Over Yorks

Don Crowe's sparkling Timbermen handed Toronto West Yorks an 11-5 lacrosse defeat Sunday afternoon at Riverdale Terrace, to avenge last week's 8-5 setback by this club and stretch their current victory streak to three games, in as many days. Russ Slater led the victory march, scoring four as a good-sized crowd watched Timbermen match Toronto's every move for two periods then draw away in the second half of play with a combined display of team power that could not be effectively repulsed by the foe, who nevertheless fought hard to the final bell, under a sweltering sun. It was a good, clean game with seven penalties, four to Yorks, with one accidental eye injury to Joe Convery, when clipped with a stick in the final heat. The victory gives Peterborough a record of 19 victories and six defeats to further increase their senior OLA lead.

Yorks took a 3-2 edge in a hot first stanza as Frank Facto, King and Benny Harris more than offset two tallies by Slater on neat passes from the Whip and the mighty atom Hildebrand. Timbermen evened the score by halftime by virtue of a strong two-way effort against staunch gamesters, with Dugan and Ashbee finding the range, the latter on a pass from Brian Robinson; Teatro soloed for Yorks this frame.

Timbermen combined excellent defence work with a fast, skilful passing attack in the third and fourth quarters to almost completely subdue their rivals with seven brilliant tallies against a single by Facto early in the third and received a big ovation for a glittering display on the difficult terrazza floor. The boys all played well despite the heat with the work of Moon Wooton positively sensational and junior Brian ((Red) Robinson a star.

Mangrum Wins Golf Tournament After Warning

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 30 (AP) Lloyd Mangrum headed for his home course in Chicago today, a $2,250 first-prize cheque in his pocket and his nerves slightly jangled because of a threat on his life if he won the St. Paul open golf tournament.

Mangrum set a St. Paul open record yesterday with a 266 for the 72 holes. He disclosed the threat came Saturday night after he set an 18-hole record with a 10-under-par 62. It was about 11.30 p.m. when he answered the telephone in his hotel room.

A voice told him, he said, "We've got a lot of money bet on the tournament; if you want to get out of St. Paul alive don't win."

He reported the call to authorities and all during yesterday's play uniformed and plain-clothes policemen mingled with the large gallery that followed him. They stayed close to Mangrum, who in turn steered clear of spectators and well-wishers alike.

Didn't Sleep

"I didn't sleep very well last night," he said, "and naturally the call unnnerved my golf game. I refused to shake hands with anybody for fear they would try and twist my hand or wrist."

How much the call upset him was shown by the two-under-par 70 he posted in yesterday's round. It was his poorest score of the four-day tourney over the 6,357-yard Keller municipal course.

He started out with two rounds of 267, five strokes under par, and then fired his record-breaking 62.

His 266 for the 72 holes clipped two strokes off the mark set by Henry Ransom in winning the 1946 event.

Mangrum's first-prize money boosted him into first place among Professional Golfers' Association members making the summer tour, with $18,948. That put him ahead of Ferrier of San Francisco, the previous leader and 1951 Canadian open champion.

Mal. Hanover Sets Record

TORONTO, July 30 (CP). — Malcolm Hanover, owned by Ken MacKinnon, of Owen Sound, and driven by Bill Simmons, smashed the track record for 1 1-16 miles at the Thorncliffe Raceway Saturday when he paced the distance in 2.13, clipping 1 1-5 seconds from the mark which was established a year ago by Oro G. Herbert.

Malcolm Hanover's record was the more remarkable in view of the fact that the track record had been deaded by eight hours of rain on Friday night.

Although the early races were contested over a heavy track, conditions had improved when Malcolm Hanover took his field by the head in the one-mile heat of the $1,000 pacing stake. Malcolm won handily in 2.06 3-5 in the first division and then dazzled his rivals in the second heat.

His final one-sixteenth of a mile was the fastest paced by a horse in two years of competition at Thorncliffe. Malcolm Hanover has been unbeaten at the track this season.

Dangerous Fun

KITCHENER, Ont—(CP)—Receiving complaints from drivers, police located and lectured a nine-year-old boy who was flashing the sun in their eyes by means of a mirror. The mirror was confiscated.

Brother, Sister Share 7 Wins In Swim Meet

VANCOUVER, July 30 (CP)— The Canadian championships wound up here Saturday night in a blaze of McNamee.

Gerry McNamee, 17, of Vancouver, scored swimming's home run when he stroked his way to the 1,500-yard free-style title after winning the 100, 200 and 400-yard free-style during the first three days of the meet.

His sister, Kay, 20, grabbed all the women's free-style races. She took the 100 Saturday night after pumping to easy victories in the 200 and 400 earlier.

Only one record tumbled during four days of splashing up and down the 33 1/3-yard pool in Mahon Park in suburban North Vancouver.

Fifteen-year-old Shirley Campbell, of Fergus, Ont., Friday posted a time of five minutes, 13 seconds in the junior women's 400-yard free-style, smashing her own record set three weeks previously by 4.2 seconds.

Diving Champ

Handsome Leo Vigeant, of Montreal, the bronzed Tarzan of the high board, retained his three-metre Canadian diving championship. He executed some dives which no other rivals even attempts.

The Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club won the team title with 113 points. Montreal was second with 83 and Ocean Falls, BC, third with 70.

Best races of the final night were the junior women's 100-yard free-style and the battle for second place in the men's 1,500 free.

Joan Campbell, of Fergus, won by a finger over Gladys Priestley and Beverley Knee, of Montreal. Centimetres behind them were Shirley Campbell and Doreen Howatt, of Fergus.

Bob Easun, of Stratford, Ont., and Kevin Grant of Los Angeles, swam side by side in adjoining lanes for 44 of the 45 laps. On the last length Grant put on a tremendous spurt to win by an arm's length.

Hockey League To Quit In US

OMAHA, Neb., July 30 (AP)— Floyd Olds, sports editor of the Omaha World Herald, said Saturday "it appears all but certain" that the United States Hockey League "will vote to suspend operation for one year."

League directors will meet here Wednesday. Olds, in his World-Herald column, predicted the decision will be made then.

"The time for the start of practice is drawing near," he explained. "No delays can be made. The league bosses will have to be ready to operate at this huddle or give up the ghost."

Freeze Franchise

But he added:

"The league isn't likely to throw in the sponge and disband completely. With hopes for the future, a one-year suspension would freeze the franchises and protect the territory for the future."

Kesselring Wins Amateur Title For Second Time

LONDON, Ont., July 30 (CP). —Gerry Kesselring, golfing pride of Kitchener who at 22 plays with the poise of a seasoned veteran, won his second Ontario amateur golf championship Saturday.

Kesselring, who plays out of Kitchener Westmount Course, came from behind in both morning and afternoon rounds to defeat Nicke Weslock, veteran from Windsor Essex, one up in 36 holes.

Weslock, the defending champion, started out as if he were going to make a runaway of the final. He was three under par and leading by four holes at the end of the 10th hole in the morning round.

But Kesselring, playing with a slick putter and cool determination, rallied to pull even at the end of the first 18. He dropped one down on the first hole of the afternoon round, tied it up on the 27th, went one up on the 29th, and held on that way to the finish.

Kesselring wound up with a 72 for the par-70 course at the London Hunt Club. Both he and Weslock had sub-par 68s for the morning 18.

Putting Trouble

Putting was Weslock's difficulty after the promising start. Kesselring, down four holes, rammed in a 20-foot putt to take a birdie three on the 11th. Then he swept the 12th, 13th and 14th to tie it up. They battled on even terms for the rest of the round.

Weslock took the lead again on the 19th when Kesselring's putt apparently hit a bump and curled away for a one-over-par four.

On the 27th, Weslock's second shot looped around a trap to the left of the green. He missed an easy chip, leaving himself a 25-foot putt for par. It missed and Gerry drew even, taking two putts for par after getting on in two.

On the 29th, Weslock missed a four-footer to score one over par and give Kesselring the lead for the first time.

From there on, Weslock's putter acted very badly, and he failed on the 30th, 31st, and 32nd with short ones that could have given him birdies.

He made a great bid to tie it on the 36th before the gallery of about 2,000. About 25 feet from the pin in two, his putt curled to within 10 inches and the par-four hole was halved.

In the consolation flight, Bill Givens of Toronto Scarboro defeated John Watson of Chatham on the 42nd hole in a marathon struggle.

Givens was two down before pulling even at the end of the morning. They went through the next 23 holes on even terms before Givens cam through to win on the sixth extra hole.

Sinks 2 Holes-In-One On Same Green In US

BALTIMORE, July 30 (AP).— Frank Gossman, who hadn't shot a hole-in-one in his six years of golf, sank two of them on successive days.

What's more, he potted them from the same tee, on the 125-yard sixth hole at Mount Pleasant course here. Gossman made his first ace Saturday, then followed up with another yesterday.

Irvin Schloss, pro at the club, said chances of shooting two straight holes-in-one on the same green are about a million to one, maybe more.

US Committee To Review Organized Ball

By HARRY P. SNYDER.

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP). —A Congressional committee today began looking at organized baseball in the light of anti-trust laws.

But chairman Celer (Dem., NY) quickly let it be known that his house judiciary sub-committee's investigation will go on in a friendly atmosphere.

The probers, he said, want to preserve the integrity of the game.

As two of baseball's big names —Ty Cobb, the old Detroit immortal, and Ford Frick, president of the National League—stood by ready to testify, Celler said the committee wanted to find out whether organized baseball should be exempted from anti-trust laws.

Celler said that since 1922, when the Supreme Court ruled that organized baseball was neither "interstate" nor "commerce," it has been assumed generally that the game was exempt from anti-trust legislation.

Declaring that "this assumption has recently been drawn into question," he added:

Regulated Itself

"However, in the intervening years the industry has regulated itself without feeling that it was necessary to comply with the laws relating to monopolies and restraint of trade.

"Therefore, organized baseball affords this subcommittee with almost a class-room example of what may happen in an industry which is governed by rules and regulations among its members rather than by the free play of competitive forces."

"Without knowing at this time whether such regulation is in the best interests of baseball because of its many unique characteristics, we may be able to learn something of importance about an industry operates when it regulates itself instead of being forced to comply with anti-trust laws."

Discontent

Celler said the committee has no doubt whatever about the "validity and desirability" of the nations' basic anti-trust policy.

The committee, he said, is aware of "expressions of discontent" about baseball's reserve clause, the farm system, the powers of the high commissioner, franchises, and problems relating to broadcasting and televising of games.

And he added that it knows about a number of lawsuits, pending in courts, based on anti-trust laws and involving treble damages.

The Congressman referred to the cases of Danny Gerdella, former New York Giant, and Fred Martin and Max Lanier, former St. Louis Cardinals, who "jumped" to the Mexican League and then were barred under the rules from further participation in organized baseball. Although the players sued for treble damages, their cases were settled out of court and the players reinstated.

Local Cricketers Lose To Toronto By Six Wickets

By C. H. IRESON.

Peterborough's "A" cricket team went down to defeat at the hands of Toronto St. Edmunds Club Saturday by six wickets, 62 to 57 for four.

The Peterborough entry could field only a weak team due to the holiday conditions in the city and were without the services of two players, A. Pope and F. Booth, who have been the mainstays of the team this season.

The Petes batted first and lost three wickets for five. E. Cotton then came in and played a great game going into the fifth he went out with a score of 30 out of the Petes' 57.

Cotton received his best help from the veteran ex-captain Frank Dyer who scored 12, the other batsmen scoring eight while there were seven extras. H. Edwards with 19 and D. Payne with 21 runs topped the Toronto team's scoring.

O. Payne played a strong game for St. Edmunds being 25 not out when the match was won with only four wickets down. His best assistant was D. Payne with 19 and the pair put in 27 for the third wicket.

In bowling Frank Dyer followed his batting success by taking three of four wickets but the cost was 20 runs. He bowled 11 overs, four being maidens.

The Peterborough "B" team's match which was scheduled for Saturday against Grace Church "B" was defaulted when the city team failed to field a team to make the trip to Toronto.

This coming Saturday, August 4, the "A" team will be guests of Oshawa while the "B" team will play Avro in Toronto.

The results of Saturday's match are:

Peterborough "A"—Batting, B. Roberts 3, F. Arklay, H. Dibben 1, R. Rollwagen 2, E. Cotton 30, R. Illingworth 1, F. Dyer 12, A. Nolan, F. Passyl, R. Harding, J. Robinson, extras seven, total 57.

Fall of wickets, one for zero, two for three, three for five, four for 23, five for 30, six for 46, seven for 46, nine for 55, nine for 57 and 10 for 57.

Bowling, C. Ince, one wicket for five runs, H. Edwards four for 19, D. Payne, four for 21, J. Marsh, zero for five.

St. Edmunds: Batting, O. Payne, 25 not out, W. Edwards, J. Rogers 8, D. Payne 19, H. Patterson 2, L. Inger, five not out, extras three, total 62.

Fall of wickets, one for one, two for 20, three for 47, four for 51.

Bowling, F. Dyer, three wickets for 20 runs, A. Nolan, one for 14, R. Illingworth, zero for 25.

DiMaggio Starts To Hit Yanks Win 3 From Chicago

BY RALPH RODEN.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

New York Yankees expect easier sailing in the tight American League pennant race now that "the big guy" is hitting for the distance again.

Joe DiMaggio, hobbled by injuries all season, came to life during the week-end and forced the experts to put his obituary back on the shelf.

The $100,000-a-year outfielder slammed three home runs in as many games to help the Yankees sweep a three-game series from Chicago and knock the White Sox out of the race for the time being.

DiMaggio clinched Friday night's disputed 3-1 victory with a homer and yesterday he enjoyed his greatest day of the season before 70,972 fans, largest crowd of the year at Yankee Stadium.

The Yankee Clipper drove home five runs on a pair of homers to spark the Yanks to an 8-3 victory in the opener. He singled and scored the insurance run in a 2-0 nightcap triumph.

Two Ahead

The sweep enabled the Yankees to pull two games ahead of Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians. The Indians nipped the Red Sox 5-4 to tie Boston for second place. The fourth-place White Sox are lagging 6½ games off the pace.

In other American League games Washington Senators split a double-header with St. Louis, winning the first game 7-2, but losing the second 8-6. Philadelphia Athletics divided with Detroit Tigers, winning in the nightcap 3-0 after dropping the afternoon game 8-4.

Brooklyn Dodgers continued to make merry in the National League. The Brooks trounced the St. Louis Cardinals 9-3. The runner-up New York Giants shaved the Dodgers' lead to nine games by taking a pair from Cincinnati Reds 3-1 and 6-4. Chicago Cubs also swept a double-header, beating Philadelphia Phillies 5-4 and 8-6. Boston Braves and Pittsburgh Pirates divided, the Pirates winning the opener 6-2 and the Braves the nightcap 5-4.

Fine Pitching

DiMaggio's long-ball busting overshadowed a fine pitching performance by Vic Raschi. Raschi fanned 12 batters for victory No. 15, before he was forced to retire in the ninth inning when he was struck by a line drive off the bat of Chico Carrasquel. The injury was not serious.

Bob Kuzava also pitched brilliantly in the nightcap. Kuzava yielded five hits and fanned nine in turning in the Yanks' 16th shutout of the year.

Birdie Tebbetts, a former Red Sox, ruined his old mates at Boston. Tebbette poled a two-run homer in the fourth and singled to launch the Indians' winning rally in the seventh.

Big Mike Garcia checked the Red Sox on five hits including a three-run homer by Ted Williams. The victory was Garcia's 13th.

The Dodgers, trailing 3-1, scored seven runs in the seventh inning. Six hits, two errors and a walk figured in the uprising. Preacher Roe received credit for the victory, his 15th of the year.

Sal Maglie of the Giants also hung up his 15th win in the opener at Cincinnati. Maglie scattered seven hits.

Player-manager Phil Cavaretta sparked the Cubs in the sweep of Philadelphia. Cavaretta drove home three runs in the opener and clouted a grand-slam pinch-hit homer to feature a six-run game winning rally in the seventh of the nightcap.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Rugged Freddie Cochrane won the world welterweight boxing title 10 years ago last night at Newark, NJ, by out pointing Champion Fritzie Zivic in a rough-and -tumble 15-roundre. Cochrane, 4-1 underdog in the betting, was given a close decision despite loss of one round for a low blow and Zivic's gallant closing surge.

Indians' Chances Are Good Says Cleveland's Al. Lopez

By BILL KING.

BOSTON, July 30 (AP).—Affable Al Lopez, Cleveland's freshman manager, was as thrilled as a major battle-winning general today as he led his sturdy Indians into Washington. There, he hopes, they will begin a general massacre of the American League's second division clubs.

"Our plans worked very well here," Al conceded. "We wanted to get two out of three from the Red Sox and we did. Now I don't feel so bad about Saturday's 16-inning game that Clyde Vollmer stole from us with his grand-slam homer."

But as far as Lopez is concerned, the pennant race still is a wide open affair.

Troublesome

"I won't put my neck out by predicting the pennant winner," Al said. "The top three clubs, the Yanks, Red Sox and my own Indians, will be battling until the last week. The White Sox don't figure to win, but they'll be troublesome all the way."

Much of the Lopez confidence stems from the fact that his Indians have only five more games to play with the Yankees and four with the Red Sox. They do have 12 more with the White Sox but their other 38 are with the second division clubs.

"We've only beaten the White Sox three times in 10 starts to date," Lopez explained. "But we're bound to do much better than that against them."

Small Group Vetoes Security Millard Charges

TIMMINS, July 30 (CP)—C. H. Millard, national director of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL), told a rally here Sunday that management at Hollinger Mines act on rigid orders from a small group of mining and financial interests in negotiating with the union.

This group vetoed any form of union security for its employees, Millard said. Management negotiators at Hollinger had no authority to deal with the steelworkers and acted solely on instructions from Toronto and Montreal offices.

He identified members of the group as J. P. Bickell, J. Y. Murdogh, Balmer Neilly and Jules Timmins.

Millard said the group's power was made evident last week at a mediation meeting with Labor Minister Daley "when mine spokesmen flatly refused to consider the minister's offer to conduct a vote on the check-off.

"We believe Labor Minister Daley's proposal concerning the check-off was fair and reasonable. It suggested a democratic way in which the men could decide for themselves if they wanted it."

Millard said the steelworkers union would stay in the fight and support the strikers as long as required. Financial aid was forthcoming from all Canadian locals and the international union, the Canadian Congress of Labor and possibly the American Federation of Labor.

Advertising Men Elect New President

BANFF, Alta., July 30 (CP) — H. L. Alexander, advertising manager of the Victoria Daily Colonist and Victoria Daily Times, Saturday was elected president of the Western Daily Newspaper Advertising Managers Association at the annual convention here. He succeeds Hugh Mahon, advertising manager of the Lethbridge Herald.

The new executive will include: Vice-president, Len Roper, Calgary Herald; secretary-treasurer, John Toogood, Vancouver Sun.

St. Clair McCabe, general manager of the Thomson dailies and president of the Eastern Daily Newpaper Advertising Managers Association, was chairman of the judging committee.

Milk Price War Starts In New York

NEW YORK, July 30—(CP)—Storekeepers in a heavily-populated neighborhood in New York's Bronx had a milk price war on their hands during the weekend, with containers selling at 10½ cents instead of the regular 21 cents a quart. Business was brisk.

Mike Losurdo, who opened a dairy store recently, offered homogenized milk at 19 cents a quart or two quarts for 37 cents, and the war was on.

His rivals soon knocked the price down to 15 cents a quart or two for 29 cents. Store owner Pete Sanna capped it with a price of 10½ cents a quart.

Union Wins Contract For Five Years

SARNIA, July 30 (CP)—A new agreement has been reached between the Electrical Auto-Lite Company and the United Automobile Workers (CIO), representing 16,000 employees in Canada and the United States, Jack Doucher, plant chairman of the local Auto-Lite, Company, announced in Detroit Sunday night.

Mr. Doucher said the new five-year agreement provides escalator and annual improvement clauses. Under the escalator clause employees will receive a nine-cent cost-of-living increase, of which six cents is retroactive to May 14. The other three cents is retroactive to June 4. The increase is based on the Canadian cost-of-living index, he said.

Air Cadets To Visit Throughout States

ST. THOMAS, July 30 (CP)—A party of 25 RCAF cadets, selected from corps throughout Canada left the RCAF station at nearby Aylmer Sunday for Washington on a goodwill visit that will be taken through the United States.

A party of US cadets is expected to reach the Aylmer station from Washington today. The US cadets will go on a bus and air tour of Ontario and Quebec, returning to Aylmer for the International Air Cadets Assembly, Aug. 3.

Convict First Under New Amendment

Driving When Ability Impaired Made Offence In New Law

Today in police court the Crown got its first conviction in Peterborough county under the amendment to the criminal code making it an offence to drive or be in control of a motor vehicle if a person's ability is impaired by alcohol or drugs.

A charge of drunken driving was laid against, William Brown, 39, of Wellington St. But it was thrown out by Magistrate E. A. Gee, Lindsay, who found him guilty on the lesser charge.

Under the new section, which makes it easier for police to get a conviction on drivers under the influence of alcohol, there is a minimum fine of $50 and a maximum of $500 or three months.

Brown was fined $50 and $8 costs. He was defended by Gordon H. T. Farquharson.

A second charge of careless driving was laid against Brown but it was dismissed when the Crown offered no evidence.

Pleaded Not Guilty

Brown pleaded not guilty to both charges.

He was in collision with a car driven by Gordon Stalker, RR 4, Peterborough, just south of Simcoe St. on Aylmer St. Stalker said he was going south on Aylmer when he saw Brown's car pull out of a lineup of northbound cars just south of the intersection.

Though he put on his brakes and skidded, a collision resulted. Both drivers said they were just about stopped. Nearly $100 damage was caused to the front end of the Stalker vehicle. Brown's received minor damage.

Unsteady on Feet

PC William Scott and Acting-Sgt. Gordon Trennum both said Brown was drunk and unsteady on his feet when he came to police station to be locked up. Brown denied it, said he had consumed only four glasses of beer just before the accident. Three witnesses including his wife, corroborated this evidence.

Brown was given a blood and urinary test to determine the alcoholic contents of his system. But Dr. Herbert Young, Brown's physician and the one who conducted the test, refused to appear in court. He excused himself on grounds of professional privilege.

Seizure In Boat Kills Man, 56, On Lake Scugog

Stricken while out in his boat on Lake Scugog, Francis E. Peck 56, of Highland Creek, died suddenly Sunday afternoon, and was found floating on the water near his boat.

Mr. Peck was staying at Sandy Beach, Ops Township, with his daughter and son-in-law. Sunday afternoon he decided to go out for a ride in his 15-foot boat, equipped with a 3½ h.p. outboard motor.

When last seen alive, he was standing up in the boat, about half a mile out in the lake, pouring gasoline into the tank. He is believed to have fallen overboard after being stricken while still standing up in the boat.

Saw Empty Boat

Shortly afterwards two friends —Albert James, Humber Bay, and George Malloy, Toronto—noticed the boat was empty, and they sped out in a boat of their own to investigate.

They found Mr. Peck floating face downward in the water.

Dr. G. C. R. Hall, Little Britain, pronounced him dead, and said death was caused by an attack of coronary thrombosis. There was no water in the victim's lungs.

OPP Constable B. W. Welde, Lindsay, investigated the fatality.

TWO NEW BUILDINGS

Two new buildings are being erected on the Lindsay exhibition grounds—a new exhibit building and a band shell. The new exhibit building will be of wood and steel and will be 28 feet by 70 feet, and the band shell 28 feet square.

Lt.-Col. F. L. Bradburn Dies Won MC At Passchendaele

Lt.-Col. Frank Lindsay Bradburn, MC, died Sunday morning at his home, 629 Charlotte St., after an illness of several months. Col. Bradburn was born at Lindsay, son of the late T. Evans Bradburn and his wife, Katherine Ormond. He received his education in Peterborough, and from the Collegiate Institute he went on to Upper Canada College.

He was employed for a time in the local works of the Canadian General Electric Co., and then went to Edmonton where he was in business for some years.

At that time he joined a militia unit in the Alberta capital, and shortly after the first war broke out enlisted as a captain in the later famous 49th Battalion, which was recruited in Edmonton, and reverted to a lieutenancy to go overseas.

The officer commanding the 49th was Lt.-Col. W. A. Griesbach, MC, who took the Battalion overseas in October, 1915, won the DSO and advanced to the rank of Major-General. He was appointed to the Canadian Senate in 1921.

Awarded MC

Col. Bradburn saw action in many of the hard fights in which the Canadian forces were engaged, and was awarded the Military Cross for gallantry at Paschendaele in 1917. During the period between the two World Wars, he served for some years as Commanding Officer of the 57th Regiment, succeeding the late Col. A. W. McPherson. He volunteered again in World War II and was assigned to duty at Petawawa Camp. Following his return from overseas in 1919 he was appointed deputy sheriff.

In his youth here, Col. Bradburn was a keen sportsman, staring in rugby and hockey, and was an exceptionally fine tennis player. For years he was was secretary of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club. He was a member of the Canadian Legion, Corinthian Lodge of the Masonic Order, the Peterborough Club and also of the R. A. Morrow Trust.

A member of one of Peterborough's oldest and well konwn families, Col. Bradburn is survived by his sister, Mrs. Cyril Currier (Olive K.), of Ottawa, mother of Dr. E. E. Currier, of this city. He was predeceased by one sister and three brothers. His death will be deeply regretted by his many friends here and elsewhere.

The body is resting at the Comstock funeral home. The Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon, of Trinity United Church, will conduct the funeral service Tuesday at 2.30 p.m. Burial will be at Little Lake cemetery.

Rural Service Suffers Double Loss

Rural municipal service in Peterborough's district has suffered two losses in the deaths of George Mullen, former reeve of Smith township, and Harold Cathcart who had been reeve of Cavan township.

Mr. Mullen had been for many years active in the affairs of Smith, attended its nominations and other community meetings, and was finally elected to the council, concluding with reeveship. Like many others of the men of Smith he took a lively interest in its business and economy, and was prepared to act in the administration when the ratepayers proposed him. A few years ago he retired from the farm on the Lakefield highway to live in the city.

A man of quiet and unassuming disposition, Mr. Mullen was a doer of things, was guided by good judgment, an dwas widely esteemed in the township and also by many friends in the city.

The same tribute, merited by the time and effort he gave to the public affairs of Cavan township, could be said of Harold Cathcart. They were both competent farmers who were willing to join with fellow ratepayers in assuming responsibility for the well-being of their township affairs, they were faithful to the trust for which they received election.

Mr. Mullen and Mr. Cathcart were both friendly men of attractive personalities who are going to be widely missed in both rural and urban Peterborough.

George Mullen was first elected to Smith council in 1929 and again in 1930, came back again as deputy-reeve in 1933 to 1935, and then was reeve in 1936-37.

Couple Celebrate Diamond Wedding

LINDSAY, July 30 — Mr. and Mrs. James McMullen, Lotus, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary recently with 150 in attendance. The Rev. W. C. Hutton was chairman for a brief program.

The two youngest grandchildren, Beth and Allan McMullen, presented 60 white roses to their grandparents. During the evening the Lotus WA presented Mrs. McMullen with a plant.

Mr. and Mrs. McMullen were married in Lindsay by the late Rev. Robert Johnson. They lived east of Lindsay for a short time and 40 years ago moved to the homestead six miles south of Janetville.

They had five daughters and two boys. One daughter, Mrs. A. L. Stevens (Ola), Kendal, died in 1902. The remaining four daughters are Mrs. S. Endicott (Oneta), Lindsay; Mrs. Keith Lathangue (Rena), Bowmanville, Mrs. Elgin Gray (Lorna), Bowmanville and Mrs. C. Endicott (Grace), Peterborough. The two sons are Howard, who lives on the homestead, and Vertil, Pontypool.

Weather Perfect For Weekend's Two Regattas

Saturday was regatta day in the Kawarthas. Fine weather, congenial crowds were favored with fine weather and there were two major events to attract them. One at Crowe's Landing, on upper Stony Lake, and the other at Kawartha Park on Clear Lake. There was little stirring elsewhere on the lakes on Saturday afternoon.

For the fourth year in succession, Al Barker came first in the Crowe's Landing regatta with a total of 13 points, second, Gail Wilkinson with 11, J. Boorman with 8, and fourth, a three-way tie, Les Crowe, Clarence McIlmoyle and D. Wood with six points each. The handsome selection of trophies and useful watersport prizes were presented Saturday evening in the pavilion with a large crowd of cottagers in attendance.

Though sailing wind was poor, three classes were run off and winners were as follows: Canoe sailing, 1 Reg. Bloomfield, 2 Perrin Rork; dinghy sailing, 1 Jack Matthews, 2 Jim Collins; open sailing, 1 Harry Huff, 2 Lyman Crawford-Brown.

There were four outboard racing classes. In the 5 hp class were: 1 Bob Tedford, 2 Susan Dorfman. In the 10 hp, 1 Bill Swartz, 2 George Thomas; in the open event, 1 Norm Thomas, 2 Sam Foote; and the standstart, 1 J. W. Bavington, 2 Sam Foote.

Boys' tandem canoe: 1 Hazell-Todd, 2 John and Jim Cowan. Children's tandem, 1 Peter Dufour-Philip Humber, 2 Gerrie Barker-Gail Wilkinson. Men's open tandem, 1 Les Crowe-Clarence McIlmoyle, 2 Jack Parish-Les MacIntosh. War canoe, 1 Les Crowe, Clarence McIlmoyle, Herb Knox, Jack Rork, 2 Howson Gillespie, Russell, Matthews.

Boys' canoe: 1 Al Barker, 2 Al Rimmer; girls' tandem canoe, 1 Gail Wilkinson-Gerrie Barker, 2 Sally Murdock-D. Spearing; medley canoe, 1 Al Barker, 2 George Findlay. Ladies' tandem, 1 J. Gillespie-C. Russell, 2 Betty Ann and Gail Wilkinson.

Tug-of-war: 1 Don Richardson Al Barker Jim Nicholson,2 Fisher, Tobin, Light. Canoe open, around Gull Rock: 1 Gus MacIntosh, 2 Gerald Johnston.

All swimming events attracted large entries. In the boys' swim, 12 years, 1 John Cowan, 2 Jerry McIlmoyle; children's swim, 1 Phil Humber, 2 Gail Wilkinson; boys' swim, 14 years, 1 J. Boorman, 2 F. Hicks; boys' swim, 16 years, 1 Don Wood, 2 J. Boorman; girls' swim, 16 years, 1 Betty Ann and 2 Gail Wilkinson; open swim, 200 yards, 1 Don Wood, 2 J. Boorman.

The aquaplane event, paddling from balance planks: 1 J. Nicholson-Al Barker, 2 J. Hawke-M. Spearing.

Last event was a decorated boat masquerade, won by three children, J. and C. Hawke and Sally Murdock, and second was a rival group that modestly called themselves Blackbird and Company.

Joan Townsend won the championship of Kawartha Park regatta on Saturday with a total of 28 points, winning the Shipp Trophy, emblematic of championship for those of 16 years and under. Michael Allen was second with 21 points in the same age group and won the Allen Trophy.

It was estimated that 800 were in attendance and besides the regular cottagers there were visitors from South America, Florida, and various American cities. Executives say that it was the most successful regatta that has ever been held in the community.

Light sailing winds also prevailed on Clear lake for the opening events of the regatta but racing started at 9:30 a.m. In the pram sailing results were — 1 Joan Townsend-Rickey Merry; 2 Allan Wotherspoon-Michael Thompson; 3 Wendy Slater-Michael Smith. Canoe sailing—1 Ian Cumberland; 2 Michael Allen; 3 Bill McLelland. Dinghy sailing—1 Susie and Nicky Slater; 2 Richard Wotherspoon-Adam Saunders; 3 Doug and Becky Reed.

Canoeing was the most popular craft event with 24 entries. Boys' single, 10 and under—1 David Smith, 2 Bob McMurtrey; 3 Ricky Brookshill. Boys' single, 16 and under—1 Michael Allen; 2 John Cumberland; 3 Julian Merry. Girls' single, 10 and under—1 Heather Brookshill; 2 Jill Cumberland; 3 Jerry Hickey. Gunwale race open, men or ladies—1 John Cumberland; 2 Michael Allen; 3 Bob Coulter. Girls' single canoe, 12 and under—1 Connie Hickey; 2 Margaret Brewin; 3 Wendy Slater. Girls' single canoe, 16 and under—1 Joan Townsend; 2 Jennifer Crawford; 3 Joan Hunter. Mixed tandem canoe, 10 and under—1 Jill Cumberland-David Smith; 2 Rickey and Heather Brookshill. 3 Peter Merry-Terry Hickey. Mixed tandem canoe,

Coveted Sailing Award Won By Former Peterboro Man

A former Peterborough man, Reg. Dixon, Toronto, is bringing the coveted international six-metre George Cup trophy to Toronto's Royal Canadian Yacht Club today after an absence of 12 years. Son of Mrs. A. E. Dixon, 462 Rubidge St., Dixon on Circe Saturday defeated the defending champion Stork of the Rochester Yacht Club in the deciding race of the three-day series in Rochester.

The finish was one of the most stirring since the trophy was presented for competition and the victory for the Circe was considered an upset. After battling twice around the nine-mile triangle course, the two boats were separated by only 18 seconds as they crossed the finish line.

"Brilliant Manoeuvring"

Light winds and calm water were expected to handicap Dixon's Circe which seems to thrive on medium winds and chop. But "brilliant manoeuvring" kept the Circe ahead except for a brief spell on the third leg when the Stork established an overlap as the craft neared the marker.

It was the second day in a row that the Circe had outguessed the Stork, although another craft, the Meteor, from Youngstown, New York, actually caught the best position at the gun.

Dixon has been sailing six-metres for only two years after gaining a fine reputation as dinghy sailor in Olympic and international competition. He purchased the Circe last winter and this was his first try at the George Cup.

Drop Shows In Number Of Jobless

Figures Going Down Consistently, Says Employment Service

Unemployment in Peterborough and district is considerably going down, according to figures released today by the Peterborough National Employment Service.

During July there was a total of 576 applications—360 male and 216 female—as compared to 720 in July, 1950. July's total last year included 403 male and 317 female.

Vacancies during the month total 119—110 male and nine female—and in July, 1950, 152—135 male and 17 female.

Male vacancies are entirely for skilled labor such as tool makers, machinists, and draftsmen. Of the nine female vacancies, four are for stenographers and four for clerks.

The majority of applicants are unskilled laborers.

A total of 146 male job placements and 81 female placements were made during the month.

HOLIDAYS TOO

Some of the board of works employees are on two weeks' holidays and others are getting a week, depending on their length of service. The staff of Street Commissioner Jim Burgess is reduced during this period, but the holiday arrangement leaves some of the men at work. The contract sewer job by Mohan Construction Co. is advanced on Orpington Road.

Many Events Fete Mary Knox

Miss Mary Knox was entertained at a number of lovely events preceding her marriage to Mr. Ronald McEachern on Saturday. Her former associates on the Clinic staff were entertained at the home of Mrs. A. G. Howson, Chemong Park and a presentation of dishes in Royal Stafford pattern was made. The Beta Sigma Phi Sorority entertained for her with a miscellaneous shower at the cottage of Miss Mary Bolton, Chemong Park. Mrs. Kenneth Knox and Mrs. F. Gray were joint hostesses at the latter's home for a blue shower. Mrs. Eric Martin and Mrs. W. Firth gave a cup and saucer shower at Mrs. Firth's home. A kitchen shower was given at the home of Mrs. K. Wesenberg where Mrs. C. Nayler was a co-hostess. A shower of towels was given when Miss Dorothy McNeely entertained with Mrs. Doug Mortimer (formerly Miss Lois Enborg) as joint hostess. Miss Betty Cunningham of Rochester held a pyrex shower at her home.

Puppet Show For Adults Art Form Says Creator

By ADELAIDE KERR

NEW YORK (AP)—Bil Baird's mother says that when he was a child, punishing him was a headache.

You could put him in a room with all his toys out of reach. When you looked in, 10 minutes later, he would have concoted a fascinating toy out of his shoe laces and be playing a brand new game.

All his life Bil Baird has had the magic touch for creating something out of almost anything he picked up. It shows in a dozen different ways in the puppets created by Baird and his wife Cora, lately starring in the Broadway musical, "Flahooley," set in a toy factory.

Resemble Animals

There is a lot of difference about these puppets. Bil Baird thinks most people resemble animals somewhat, in one way or another. So the soprano, is a poodle, the tenor is a cat, the contralto a chicken.

The puppets are engineered and manipulated with consummate dexterity to roll their eyes, open their lips to sing and talk, raise their eyebrows and shrug their shoulders. The puppet chorus clicks on stage with interlocking footwork as smartly as the Radio City Rockettes.

The Baird puppets are painstakingly constructed by an imagination - sketching - carving - stringing-engineering technique.

"Puppetry is not just entertainment," Bil Baird says. "It's an art form. It's not just for kids; it's for adults. It's to make people think."

The Baird puppets have been used along these lines for years. Uncle Sam employed them during the war to make a film on eating for health, designed for Latin-American distribution. For a biscuit company they made a movie to teach teen-agers that bolted breakfasts produce poor football halfbacks and stagline bait. After making some more educational movies, they went into television in "Life With Snarky Parker."

"There's a terrific future for puppets in the field of education," Baird says.

800 Puppets

The Bairds, parents of 800 puppets, live with them in a big warehouse on West 70th St., near the Hudson River. The puppets inhabit the ground floor. The Bairds live on the second.

Bil Baird helped put himself through college giving puppet shows. Then after a brief period in United States art schools and Paris, he joined the Tony Sarg marionettes in Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves. For four years he ran production in Sarg's New York shop. Then he moved on the the Chicago World's Fair, where his puppet show gave 9,000, six-minute performances in five months, using two sets of puppets and three sets of operators. In the course of his work he married Actress Cora Burlar.

They make a good team. Bil works with the drive of an engine, using a dozen different skills—sketching, sculpture, music and such.

Cora is slender, dark and serene. One of her main jobs is to keep the Baird schedule from getting completely fouled up. Bill is likely to promise to be three places at once—and forget about all of them.

Mrs. Elwood Havlin Northey of Lakefield entertained at a tea in honor of her daughter, Mary Selina, whose marriage to George Elmer Johnston of Brampton takes place Wednesday, August 1 at three o'clock in the Lakefield United Church.

Mrs. George Elmer Johnston of Brockville, the groom's mother, received with the hostess and her daughter.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. H. Lampman, Mrs. W. Leonard, Mrs. J. McKerchar and Mrs. W. Gilman.

Tea and trousseau room assistants were Miss Joan Northey, Mrs. Wm. O'Brien, Mrs. Russel Peel, Mrs. Thomas Chaplin, Mrs. John Arnott, Mrs. Cameron Payne, Misses Caroline Ann and Frances Erskine, Miss Derdrie Moher, Miss Joan Gardiner, Miss Jean Spence, Miss Lyla Finney.

Among those who have entertained for the bride-elect are Mrs. Russel Peel of Galt, Mrs. Gordon Bastedo of Toronto, Mrs. John Lyons of Toronto and Mrs. Samuel Grylls and Mrs. Charles Hunter of Lakefield.

Mrs. Northey will entertain at a beach party after the rehearsal Tuesday.

Torpey-Doyle

In Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, last Tuesday, Margaret Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Doyle, Marmora, was married to Vincent Joseph Torpey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Torpey, Peterborough by the Rev. J. A. O'Neil.

Red roses and seasonal flowers were the setting, wedding music was played by Mrs. Joseph Murray and Mrs. Hugh Brady sang several hymns.

The bride's gown of white slipper satin had a mandarin neckline and French lace trim on the bodice and the full skirt extended in a flowing train. A tiara of seed pearls and orange blossoms held her veil of embroidered Alecon lace and she carried American Beauty roses. She was given in marriage by her father and attended by the groom's sister Miss Margaret Torpey, who wore nile green faille taffeta with halo and mittens of matching material and carried a cascade of Talisman roses.

Groomsman was Joseph Whibbs and the ushers were Bernard Doyle, brother of the bride, and Louis Carveth.

After a reception at the bride's home the couple left for New York city and other centres in USA. Travelling the bride wore a dress of aquainarine embroidered nylon and white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Torpey will live in Peterborough.

Ruth Lytle, Former Teacher Marries Donald H. Barrett

Baskets of mixed summer flowers enhanced the chancel of Trinity United Church, Omemee, on Saturday for the wedding at three o'clock of Ruth Charlene Lytle, who was teacher at Confederation School, Peterborough, to Mr. Donald Henry Barrett of Peterborough. The Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt officiated as their vows were pledged in a double ring ceremony.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mras. Charles J. Lytle of Omemee and the groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barrett of Peterborough.

Miss Ruth Hircock sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the ceremony and at the signing of the register "Because." The wedding music was played by Mrs. Irvine Connell.

White marquisette was created over satin into a strapless gown, completed for the wedding with a jacket of matching satin styled with Queen Anne collar and buttoned down the front with covered buttons. Flaring fullness of the full skirt was emphasized with three pointed pleats from the waist. Her veil was of Swiss illusion, in fingertip length, caught to a heart-shaped headdress and her bouquet was of pink roses in the form of a heart. Mr. Lytle gave his daughter in marriage.

Her bridesmaid was Miss Sheila McElhinney of Toronto and Mrs. George Butt of Peterborough was matron of honor. They were in similar frocks of apple green and orchid nylon marquisette over taffeta with matching gauntlets. Their headbands were of sweet peas and 'mums and they carried muffs made of talisman and yellow roses with white Shasta 'mums.

The groomsman was Mr. Wm. Gardner. Ushers were the bride's uncle Mr. Mervyn Parks and the groom's brother, Mr. Edward Barrett.

Guests were received in the church hall after the ceremony by the bride's mother who wore a gown of dusty rose crepe with a navy velvet hat and corsage of blue sweet peas, and the groom's mother who was gowned in blue triple sheer and wore a black velvet hat and corsage of rose sweet peas.

When leaving later to spend a honeymoon in Muskoka the bride wore a tangerine suit styled with roll collar and bat-wing sleeves and fastened with gold buttons. Her accessories were navy and she had a corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Barrett will live at 555 Hamilton St. on their return.

ShowerGiven For G. Hicks

SPRINGVILLE, July 30 (ENS) —Mrs. Clifford Johnston entertained at her home at a miscellaneous shower for Miss Gertrude Hicks of Toronto, formerly of Springville.

Mrs. Johnston conducted two original contests "What the bride needs on her wedding day" and "What the bride will need after she is married."

Mrs. George Whitefield was the winner of the prize, a comb and stand set.

Mrs. Johnston placed a decorated basket of beautifully wrapped gifts in front of Miss Hicks, the bride-to-be, who, with the assistance of her flower-girl, little Nancy Johnston and her bridesmaid, Miss Doreen Bowles, opened the gifts.

Guests included Miss Annie Brown, Mrs. D. Murray, Mrs. C. W. Seymour and Lila and Joy Seymour and Nancy Petrie, Mrs. Eddie Kimball of Smith, Mrs. Palmer of Toronto, Mrs. Walter Bowles and Miss Doreen Bowles, Mrs. George Whitfield and Carolyn Whitefield, Mrs. Lloyd Whittington, Mrs. Elwood Johnston, Mrs. Jack Magee of Peterborough and Mrs. Gordon McIntosh.

Not present but sending gifts were: Mrs. O. Dunford, Mrs. Wm. Robson and Mrs. Clarence Johnston.

The service of dainty refreshments brought the evening to a close.

MR. AND MRS. ERNEST BUTCHER, the bride formerly Dorothy Hotston.—(Parks Studio Photo)

Dorothy Hotston, E. Butcher Exchange Rings and Vows

In a double ring wedding ceremony at the Grace United church on Saturday afternoon Dorothy Viola Hotston became the bride of Ernest Lyle Butcher. Their rings and vows were exchanged with the Rev. E. W. Rolland officiating.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hotston of Peterborough and was given in marriage by her father. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Butcher of Napanee.

Bridal satin fashioned on long torso lines with skirt extending in a full cathedral train was chosen by the bride. The gown was finished with a nylon yoke edged with Chantilly lace and tiers of lace and satin at the sides of the skirt. Her veil was of French silk illusion, fingertip length, and was beautifully embroidered and enhanced with appliqued clusters. Her head was adorned with a star-shaped tiara of tiny seed pearls and she carried a cascade of American Beauty roses.

Miss Joyce Langton wore a lovely bridesmaid's frock of yellow net with embossed clusters of lily of the valley over yellow taffeta and finished with a large bow at the back. Her hat was of yellow silk net and mohair in a sweetheart shape and trimmed with yellow roses. She carried a cascade bouquet of gloria roses, cornflower, sweet peas and gladioli cups.

Groomsman was Mr. Donald Fish of Napanee and ushers were the bride's brother James Hotston and Laverne Butcher, cousin of the groom.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. E. M. Foster and Mr. Walter Farr sang. Before the ceremony he sang "O Promise Me" and during the signing of the register he sang "Because."

Floral setting at the chancel was of pink and white gladioli banked with ferns.

At the reception which followed, in the Empress Hotel, the bride's mother received in a dress of navy tissue with navy Alecon lace and wore white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by the groom's aunt, Mrs. Butcher of Peterborough who wore navy crepe with white accessories and also had a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride and groom left later on a wedding trip to points in eastern Ontario. Going away the bride wore a pale blue sheer dress made with a shirred bodice front and she had accessories in blue and white and carried a white shortie coat.

Mr. and Mrs. Butcher will make their home in Peterborough.

Princess Margaret To Get More Independence At 21

LONDON, July 30 (Reuters).—Princess Margaret, the girl who likes to have her own way, will get her independence and a $6,000 yearly income from the Government next month when she turns 21.

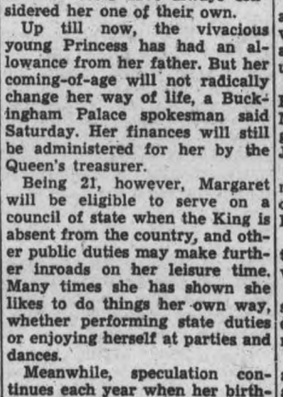
On her birthday, Aug. 21, the King's younger daughter will begin receiving the sum voted to her by the Government, plus a legacy of £20,000 left her several years ago by Mrs. Ronnie Grenville, society hostess and friend of the Royal family, who died in 1942.

The Princess plans to celebrate her birthday at Balmoral Castle, Scotland. She was born there, and the Scots have always considered her one of their own.

Up till now, the vivacious young Princess has had an allowance from her father. But her coming-of-age will not radically change her way of life, a Buckingham Palace spokesman said Saturday. Her finances will still be administered for her by the Queen's treasurer.

Being 21, however, Margaret will be eligible to serve on a council of state when the King is absent from the country, and other public duties may make further inroads on her leisure time. Many times she has shown she likes to do things her own way, whether performing state duties or enjoying herself at parties and dances.

Meanwhile, speculation continues each year when her birthday nears as to whom the Princess will marry. Many names have been linked with hers, and engagement announcements are yearly expected from Balmoral Castle, traditionally site of her birthday celebrations.



This year's possible Royal matrimonial candidates include: The Earl of Dalkeith, 27, heir to Lord Ogilvie, the Earl of Airlie's son; and Billy Wallace, son of Mrs. Herbert Agar, wife of the United States novelist.

But at 21, Margaret's friends believe she may start to think more seriously of marriage. Though her engagement would have to have her father's approval and be discussed by the Privy Council elder statesmen who advise him, the Princess—now fourth in line of succession to the throne—will have more freedom of choice than Princess Elizabeth who may be Britain's next reigning queen.

Princess Elizabeth's two children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, also come before her as heirs to the throne.

Margaret usually celebrates her birthday quietly; a picnic on heather-clad hills behind the Scottish castle and then a family party with a candle-lit cake. But this year's festivities will be gayer and traditionally Scottish—Highland dancing, pipe music, bonfires and a ball.

Birthday presents—she usually gets them right after breakfast—are secret. But friends say Margaret wants a car. She got her driving license in 1948 at Aberdeen. Diamond earrings and a diamond tiara may also be among gifts for the fashion-conscious Margaret who possesses few jewels.

SHE'S NON-POLITICAL — Traude Eisenborn, 19, Communist East Germany's "Ideal of Progressive Women," has requested political asylum in West Berlin. She says she wants to be pretty, not political.

Betty Edwards Weds George Davidson

The wedding was in Trinity United Church Saturday afternoon of Beatrice Jean Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Edwards of Lang, to Robert George Davidson, son of Mrs. Davidson and the late John Davidson, also of Lang.

The Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon performed the ceremony and Mrs. Gordon was soloist, singing during signing of the register "O Perfect Love." Mr. Harry Northrop presided at the organ for the occasion. Gladioli and ferns decorated the altar and chancel.

The bride's gown of white slipper satin was embroidered with rhinestones. A tiara of pearls held her fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses. She was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Miss Phyllis Edwards with her cousin Beverly Emery as flower girl. Miss Edwards wore blue taffeta with a matching headdress and shoulder veil and carried a bouquet of pink and white gladioli. The flower girl was dressed in pink taffeta and carried sweet peas and carnations.

Groomsman was Roy Davidson and the ushers were Archie Davidson and Donald Hope.

The reception was at the home of the bride's parents, her mother receiving in a dress of mauve figured nylon and hat of white with mauve trim and she wore yellow gladioli. The groom's mother also received, wearing black and white figured crepe with matching hat and corsage of pink gladioli.

Later the couple left on their wedding trip to Ottawa and points east, the bride wearing a mauve dress with white accessories and white shortie coat.

They will make their home at Lang.

THE FORMER MISS MARY KNOX AND MR. RONALD McEACHERN who were married Saturday in Mark St. United Church.—(Choate Studio Photo)

Mary Knox Becomes Bride Of R. McEachern, Oshawa

The wedding of Miss Mary Doreen Knox to Mr. Ronald McEachern of Oshawa was solemnized Saturday afternoon in the Mark St. United Church by the minister, the Rev. B. S. Morwood, with a lovely background setting of gladioli banked with ferns. She is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Knox and the groom is the youngest son of Mr. R. McEachern and the late Mrs. McEachern, all of Peterborough.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was lovely in an original gown of French organdy. It was made with a low, double bertha collar and tiny puffed sleeves on the closely fitted bodice and the very full skirt was held at the waist with horizontal tucking. French tulle veiling which fell to waist length was caught into a scalloped cap headdress. She carried a cascade bouquet of Amazon lilies and bouvardia.

Her attendants were Miss Betty Cunningham of Rochester, NY, maid of honor, Mrs. Kenneth Knox and Miss Dorothy McNeely, bridesmaids, and Sandra Nayler and Doris Wesenberg, nieces of the bride, were flower girls.

The bridesmaids' frocks were of light blue French organdy and the maid of honor's was darker blue and the flower girls were in white. The dresses were made in the same style as the bride's, without sleeves. They wore bands of organdy and flowers in their hair and carried baskets of yellow marguerites and blue cornflower.

Attending the groom was Mr. Robert Chapman of Oshawa and ushers were Jack Knox, and Arnold McEachern, brothers of the bride and groom.

Mrs. Donald Hendren was soloist, singing "O perfect love" before the bride entered and "My World" during the signing of the register. The wedding march and other music was played by Mrs. A. E. DeNure.

The reception was held in the church parlours. Mrs. Knox received with the bridal party, wearing a gown of rosewood crepe with a hat of navy lace straw and she had a corsage of pink roses and blue carnations. Also receiving was the groom's sister, Mrs. George Pomeroy. She wore grey crepe with a black velvet hat and a corsage of pink carnations.

Afterward the bride and groom left by motor for points in eastern Ontario and Lake Placid, N.Y., Mrs. McEachern wearing a powder blue gabardine suit with white hat and accessories.

The couple will make their home at 216 Alice St. in Oshawa.

No Shockers From "Schiap" Sticks To Sheath Skirts

PARIS, July 30 (AP)—"Rolling surf" hems and drapery and wavy necklines inspired by the sea were predominant notes in the dress collection shown by Schiaparelli Saturday.

She calls her new line "The Shape."

But an audience which has learned to expect the unexpected of Madame Schiaparelli, most madcap of Parisian designers, found no shocking innovation to goggle at this time.

As for hemlines, Schiaparelli is moved by the tide, and they're sometimes high and sometimes low. Some evening dresses are short in front but trail floor-sweeping trains behind.

Always superb in the color field, "Schiap" has wonderful brocades this season— burnished gold and brass satins, taffetas of the luminescent brilliance of deep sea creatures, and such typical color-combination "shockers" as chartreuse lame with crimson velvet.

The fully pleated bell skirts seen in all other collection thus far are conspicuously absent from Schiapparelli's collection. Instead she goes in for tight sheaths, furled (wrap-around) skirts, and lots of drapery, sometimes criss-crossed on the bodice. Drapery and decolletage are often asymmetric, and she sticks on bustles or waterspout trains ending in a bow.

Some of her hats even have "bustles" behind, but most of her headgear is a rather top-heavy shape.

DOROTHY DIX

Child of Working Mother Should Aid On Housework

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have a daughter who will be 14 in August. I work nine hours a day. The only work she does is breakfast and lunch dishes which she never puts away. She thinks I ask too much of her as her chums don't do any housework. She takes piano lessons which require an hour of practice a day, though she doesn't always do that much. She doesn't even take care of her own personal needs, such as teeth, underwear etc. I think she is old enough to take care of these things, as well as keep her room tidy. Would you help me iron out this situation?

FRANCES

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: Setting down an arbitrary list of duties for a 14-year-old is not easy, but I think the minimum requirements would be to do, and put away, the breakfast and lunch dishes, keep her own room and clothing in order and have dinner started for you in the evening. These things should be done cheerfully, thoroughly and as a matter of routine; she should not have to be reminded of them every morning.

Appeal To Her Vanity

As for her personal neglect, an appeal to her vanity should help correct that. I know 11 and 12-year-old girls who do beautiful jobs of hair-setting and manicuring; they know the importance of grooming at even that tender age. Your daughter, too, should have this impressed upon her. If she won't listen to you in these matters, and many daughters do resist advice from their mothers, try getting a friend, relative, or even a favored teacher to talk to her. Of course, the influence of chums who have no home responsibilities is bad, and can only be counteracted with pep talks from you or by the restriction of privileges, such as dates, movies and evenings out with the girls. All children, no matter how sound the family's financial status, should have specific home duties, and the mother who fails to assign them is falling down badly on her job.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a married woman and my husband loves me very much but I am so plain looking all our friends talk about me. When I go out with my husband I come home and cry all night.

MRS. E. C.

ANSWER: There is no need for any woman to consider herself "plain", and you must have a sorry bunch of friends if they criticize you so. I'm afraid you have built up a complex about your looks and just imagine your friends are critical. You must have looked pretty nice to your husband or he never would have married you.

Your first step in improvement is to stop fretting. That will put lines in your face, and pull down the corners of your mouth in a manner that will most assuredly be unattractive. A friendly smile is the surest antidote to plain looks. Next, go to a good beauty salon. Get a new hairdo, a glamorous make-up and a bright manicure. Above all, practice perfect grooming! That is the one thing that has turned a Plain Jane into a glamour girl.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am very much in love with a fine young man who has all the qualities I admire. He's in the Navy, and will be meeting all types of girls while in service. We plant to be married in three of four years, when he returns home. Do you think if our love is strong we can wait that long and still have the same feelings about each other?

A. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Thousands of servicemen leave their sweethearts for overseas duty and return with, if anything, added devotion. There is no reason to fret over the many things that can happen during your separation. If your truly love each other, you won't change. Of course he'll meet many girls around the world, and you'll meet many boys at home, but your love will remain with each other.

Salad Week Tip

Meals may be made more pleasing with tasty and interesting salads. They furnish crispness, color and flavor to the menu and have appetite and eye appeal as well.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Salad Week Is No Excuse For Adding Foreign Matter

There is a society in existence, I have discovered, to which I am eligible and to which I yearn to belong. Its initials are CSAT-HFPFMS. (Which interpreted means Committee for Stopping All These Human Fiends from Putting Foreign Matter in Salads.

By foreign matter, I for one, have a dead bead on marshmallows. Marshmallows do not belong in my recipes or in any salads I eat. Nor macaroni! I also, while I am gunning, might add that I think shredded cabbage mummified in lime jelly is an insult to any eater—not to mention epicure. Sweet, yntheticflavored, billious green jelly around crisp cool greens—indeed!

What a grumpy way to introduce salad week!

I have some beauties for you. How I wish I could give you some full-color pictures of these salads I am describing. The only way you will see them today, girls, is to create them yourselves, and feast your eyes and then your appetites on them.

The late O. O. McIntyre said there is a knack in preparing the supreme salad that few attain. For him it had to contain tarragon and freshly ground black pepper. For Diamond Jim Brady it must contain olives, red pepper, and "a thought of garlic." I cannot settle that easily. At Christmas time I want slivers of avacado in my tossed green salad. In spring I want watercress and chives and garlic. In summer I want tomatoes and cucumber. In autumn I want anchovy and lobster. I could do with all of them all of the time!

The Perfect Green Salad

This is not a simple matter. It must be made with discrimination. It must be served with distinction.

Use only the inner choice heart of lettuce—it might measure 3½ inches in diameter at its widest part if it came from a medium sized head. Break these leaves into ¼-inch pieces with your fingers. Add 15 blade of chives, cut in ¼-inch pieces; wafer thin half slices of cucumber—using about one-quarter of a cucumber in all; same of small ripe tomatoes using about three; the tips from about 5 sprigs of watercre s and about ½ cup of thin slices of celeryq. Now rub a wooden bowl with a cut clove of garlic. Put the salad mixture in it and place in refrigerator until serving time which should not be more than 15 minutes away. At table dress the salad with ice cold French dressing.

French Dressing: I teaspoon of salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, dash of cayenne, 2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice (or half lime and half lemon juice), 6 tablespoons salad oil. Shake very well before using. A popular variation 1 to add 1 egg yolk and 1 teaspoon paprika.

Individual Luncheon Fruit Salad

Place 4 small delicate lettuce leaves on each plate. I n one place quartered banana dipped in mayonnaise then in chopped nuts; in next place pile of sweet cherries or raspberries; in next place sections of canned grapefruit or fresh; in next place fresh or canned peach halves filled with ball of cream cheese mixed with green maraschino cherries. Pass

Grapefruit Salad Dressing: In top of double boiler melt ¼ cup butter, add ¾ cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon cornstarch and mix well. Add 1 cup grapefruit juice (canned or fresh) and 2 beaten egg yolks. Stir and cook until mixture thickens. Chill. When ready to dress salad add ½ cup cream whipped or ½ cup "whipped topping" made by beating together ¼ cup water with ¼ cup skim milk powder until thick. (See Jellied Salads tomorrow).

Clinic Started To Work With Alcoholics

TORONTO—(CP)—Of the 65 to 75 per cent of persons in Ontario who drink, six per cent are problem drinkers-alcoholics. The rest drink casually and are mainly "social drinkers" but it is the six per cent, the alcoholics, that concerns Ontario's alcoholic research foundation.

Although the group treated since the research institute became active early this year is too small to afford final conclusions a considerable amout of information has been gained, its executive director, H. David Archibald says.

Most of the alcoholics are between 35 and 45 though some are in their 20s or over 60. Few of them, however, are women. It is often the tendency to associate alcoholism with "skid row" types, but this conception is probably wrong. Many persons who are socially and economically productive drink excessively.

Salesmen

The largest percentage treated have been salesmen and clerical workers of whom each represented 22 per cent of the total; 12 per cent were skilled tradesmen, 15 per cent unskilled laborers, 11 per cent skilled workers, 10 per cent professional and eight per cent held managerial posts or owned their own businesses.

Treated

Treatments have been given to 131 persons, 11 of them women.

The foundation is aided by the government but has its own board of trustees, medical advisory board and staff of medical doctors, psychiatrists, social workers and nurses. They operate from their Toronto headquarters and from their 21-bed Brookside hospital at Erindale. Grants have been awarded to two Ontario universities for research work and an educational program is in process of development.

Patients come under the foundation's care through self-reference, reference by relatives, physicians, alcoholics anonymous, hospitals, employers, clergy, social agencies and friends.

Convalescence at Brookside, sometimes preceded by a period of "detoxication" at Toronto General or St. Michael's hospital, usually lasts from seven to 14 days. The patient is helped to recover from the physical consequence of drinking and to gain some insight into the nature of his illness. Clinical treatment may cover two to three months of interviews.

BASIC FRENCH DRESSING for Green Salads: ½ cup vingear, 1½ cups salad oil, ½ teaspoon paprika, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, and if desired some pepper and mustard. Shake well in covered jar.

TONI GUARANTEES YOU

a wave that feels_looks and acts like

NATURALLY CURLY HAIR!

WHICH GIRL HAS THE NATURAL CURL AND WHICH GIRL HAS THE TONI?

Rita Daigle and Pat Barnard, two of New York's loveliest girls. The Toni girl says, "my wave is as soft as silk and it takes no more care than naturally curly hair". Can you tell the naturally curly hair from the Toni wave? See answer below.

FEELS SO-O-O SOFT!

And that softness starts right from the scalp ... goes right to the tips of the hair. With a Toni there's no brittleness ... no frizziness ... even from the very first day!

IT'S HERE

PERMAFIX—Toni's New Wonder Neutralizer Makes a Toni Wave Superior to any other wave you've ever had!

LOOKS SO-O-O LOVELY!

There's gleaming life in every flowing Toni wave. So natural looking that even professional hairdressers often cannot tell the difference.

ACTS SO-O-O NATURAL!

Rain or shine ... shower or shampoo, you need never think about your Toni waved hair ... it needs no more care than naturally curly hair.

Toni's PERMAFIX Neutralizer is a newly discovered formula, safer and yet more effective. No other Home Permanent has PERMAFIX. That's why no other Home Permanent can guarantee the completely natural wave that is always yours with a Toni. Yes, you'll find your new Toni—with new PERMAFIX Neutralizer—softer, lovelier, longer lasting than any other wave you've ever had! Beautiful Rita Daigle, the girl on the left, has the Toni.

NO WONDER—Twice as many Canadian Women Choose Toni as all other Home Permanents Combined!

Race In Germany

ADENAU, Germany, July 30—(AP)—Alberto Ascari of Italy yesterday won the 14th Grand Prix as big-time auto racing returned to Germany for the first time since 1939. Ascari drove a Ferrari around the tricky Eifel Mountains course at an average speed of 83.71 miles an hour.

Clear L. Cottager E. H. Koken Dies

Retitred vice-president and general manager of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Edward H. Koken, New Toronto, died suddenly in a Peterborough hospital on Saturday. He had been in poor health for more than a year and was 75 years of age.

Mr. Koken, a naturalized Canadian, was born in Bethlehem, Pa., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Koken. Made assistant superintendent of Goodyear in Akron in 1907, he was transferred to the Bowmanville plant in 1913 and in the same year started plans for the building of the New Toronto plant. Mr. Koken rose steadily in executive positions, finally becoming vice-president and general manager in charge of production; he retired in 1946. Since then he has spent his winters in Florida and summers at his cottage at Clear Lake, Kawartha Park.

Very prominent in Masonic circles, Mr. Koken was a member of Akron Masonic Lodge 83, St. Patrick's Chapter 147, RAM, of Toronto and Cyrene Preceptory 29 of Knights Templar, Toronto. He was also a member of Rameses Shine, Toronto.

Mr. Koken leaves his wife, the former Louella Porter, and two sons, Frank of Akron and Edward of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Funeral was from the Hendren Funeral Home, Lakefield, to the William Spiers Funeral Home, Toronto, where service will be held on Wednesday at 8 p.m. Burial service will be conducted in Akron at the Rosehill Cemetery on Friday at 4 p.m.

Elderly Man Drowns In Tub

TORONTO, July 30 (CP). — James B. Foote, 72, president of the Foote Transit Company, a lake shipping organization, drowned in his bathtub Sunday. His body was discovered by a maid. Mrs. Foote said she believed her husband had been overcome with a "weak spell."

Born at Owen Sound, he was the son of the late Capt. James Ferguson Foote, former master of Canadian Pacific Railway Upper Lakes passenger boats.

Capt. James Foote was appointed shore captain at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., for the Canadian Lakes and Ocean Navigation Co. Ltd, and later moved to Toronto. In 1903 he was made manager of the Marine Department of the Toronto Insurance and Vessel Agency Ltd. He held that ofifce until 1928 when he founded the shipping organization of which he was head.

Ctpa. Foote's firse wife, Annie Dedrick, of Owen Sound, died in 1927.

He is survived by his widow, the former May Bayley, a son James D. Foote of Toronto, a daughter Mrs. Anna A. Grant, also of Toronto, and a sister Mrs. Norman McKay of Owen Sound.

Funeral services will be held at Owen Sound.

Pakistan Gov't Asks Australia To Mediate

WELLINGTON, NZ, July 30—(AP). — Nias Niak, a secretary at the Pakistan Legation, said tonight Pakistan has asked Australia and New Zealand to mediate the dispute with India over Kashmir.

He said Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies ofered to mediate July 18 and Pakistan accepted the offer, but India refused.

Schoolgirls Visit Royal Navy

LONDON, July 30 (CP)—The Royal Navy today played host to a party of 50 Canadian schoolgirls who are touring Britain as guests of Toronto's millionaire industrialist, Garfield Weston.

Conducted by Dr. Muriel Roscoe, dean of women at McGill University, the girls were officially greeted at the dockyards by officers of the navy and whisked off on a sightseeing tour.

With young sailors as guides they spent more than an hour inspecting historic HMS Victory, Nelson's flagship in the Battle of Trafalgar.

Passing through the dockyards, the visitors had a closeup view of Britain's modern warships and by special invitation were taken aboard the Home Fleet aircraft-carrier Vengeance, just back from North Atlantic exercises.

Luncheon

Later, the tourists were entertained at luncheon by members of the Women's Royal Naval Service of Kent Barracks, the only exclusive women's barracks in the country.

After the lunch the girls were driven to Portsmouth city council chambers where the Lord Mayor, Alderman A. Johnson, presented them with keys to the city.

"This is a part of our trip we'll long rermmber," remarked Ann Carstairs, of Courtenay, BC.

"Our tour through HMS Victory was one of the most thrilling we have experienced to far. We've certainly been surprised to find Britain such a delightful country and her people so thoroughly charming."

Tomorrow the girls pay a visit to Salisbury and Oxford University.

Armament Men Study Red Guns

OTTAWA, July 30 — A handful of seasoned soldiers at Army headquarters, Ottawa, quietly and efficiently have been building themselves a reputation as the most versatile marksmen in the Canadian Army.

All members of the Army's Directorate of Armament Development, they are familiar with the Russian Tokariv rifle and Degtyarvo light machine gun; the German MG .42 or infamous "cheese-cutter"; the American .50 calibre Browning, .30 calibre Browning automatic rifle (BAR); the well-known Garand, the death-dealing .75mm recoilless rifle and a host of other weapons.

They fire the whole kit and caboodle at every opportunity, which usually is more frequently than they handle their own issue rifle or Bren gun.

Commanded by Capt. R. M. McGibbon of Fredericton, N. B., their job is to examine, test and study the weapons of other countries. Their reports influence the design of comparative Canadian weapons.

Assisting Capt. McGibbon is Lt. L. G. Ramsey of Halifax, N. S.; BSM Clayton Wormell, Grand Manaan Island, N. B. and S/Sgt. Ed Bovey of Kingston, Ont.

The four man team of experts also is familiar with most of the pyrotechnics associated with modern warfare. Many of these are as spectacular as they are dangerous to handle.

Sentenced To 3 Years For Looting Cabin

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., July 30 (CP)—Wilfred Livingstone, 22, of Brantford, with a record of several convictions for theft, today was sentenced to three years in penitentiary for breaking and entering a trapper's cabin north of here July 13.

Arrested in the Sault under the name of Robert Miller, Livingstone was one of five transient youths who pleaded guilty to looting the lonely backwoods cabin. Three of the boys, juveniles, received suspended sentences and the fourth, David Rivers, 16, of Sudbury, was sentenced to one year in reformatory.

Obituary

KEVIN PAUL ALLEN

Kevin Paul Allen, 20, 182 Lock St., died in Toronto hospital Sunday following a lengthy illness.

He was born and educated in Peterborough, son of Bartholomew Allen and the former Irene McMurray and has lived here all his life.

He was a member of Sacred Heart church and an altar boy for 14 years. He was a member of the St. Peter's Kiwanis Key club and a member of the Boy Scouts for three years.

Keystone Cops Try Comeback

HOLLYWOOD, July 30 (AP) —Remember the Keystone Kops, careening and skidding their jalopy in hot pursuit of some bank robber?

Fighting on roofs, sliding down awnings, landing on top of the crooks—and getting custard pies in the face?

Well, these desperate law enforcers, who panicked moviegoers from 1914 to 1934, are working toward a comeback on television.

There are four oldtimers left. They are Heinie Conklin, with the painted black moustache and baggy clothes. . . Chester Conklin not a relative) with walrus moustache and bowler hat. . . Hank Mann, with the droopy lip spinach and pancake fedora. . . and Tom Kennedy, massive man with moustache to match.

Their object was revealed yesterday at the fourth annual reunion of Quebec-born producer Macke Sennett's actor, stuntman, and bathing-beauty "alumni."

This first half-hour film, if it turns out well, will be offered to television outlets as a sample for a proposed series.

Lindsay Couple Mark 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Sanderson, 19 Elgin Street, Lindsay, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary July 24 at a family reunion dinner.

Mrs. Sanderson is the former Margaret Ellen Brien, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Brien, Dunsford. Mr. Sanderson is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sanderson, Emily.

They were married in 1901 by the Rev. J. H. Strike, then pastor of Queen Street United Church, Lindsay.

They farmed for many years on the Bobcaygeon Road on the outskirts of Lindsay. Seven years ago they retired and moved to their present home in the town. They are members of Queen Street United Church, where Mr. Sanderson served for several years on the Board of Stewards. He is also a member of the Orange Order and the IOOF. He has served on the Fair Board.

There are five daughters, Mrs. Bernard Preston (Blanch), Peterborough; Mrs. Russell Earle (Stella), Ida; Mrs. Edgar Patterson (Myrtle), and Mrs. Hartley Rodman (Ethyl), both of Lindsay, and Mrs. John M. Christie (Margaret), Toronto. There are nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Workers End Wildcat

DETROIT, July 30 (AP). — Dodge main plant workers voted Saturday to end a three-day wildcat strike which had made idle 25,000 employees and threatened Chrysler Corporation production.

Art Grudze, president of Local 3 UAW-CIO, said maintenance men would go back Sunday and production would resume at midnight.

A strike vote will be taken next Friday, the UAW workers decided at a mass meeting Saturday.

Girl Falls 100 Feet No Bones Broken

MILLINOCKET Me., July 30. —(AP)—A 22-year-old girl was recovering today—with no bones broken — from a 100-foot fall Saturday night down the granite face of Maine's highest mountain.

Marcia Doolittle of Schenectady, N.Y., was reported in good condition at Bangor hospital after her rescue yesterday from nearly the peak of 5,000-foot Mt. Katahdin.

Landing on a ledge saved her from falling another 200 feet into a basin studded with boulders.

Her hiking companion, David Chipman, 23, of Boston, raced miles to the base of the mountain for help.

Aged Farmer Found In Bush

OTTAWA, July 30 (CP) — A 100-man search for Michael Prytula came to an end Saturday when the 82-year-old district farmer, missing since Tuesday, was found lying in a swampland a few miles from his home.

Searchers said they found him with his clothes in tatters, his face covered with insect bites and generally weak from hunger and exposure. He was rushed to hospital where authorities said the aged farmer was recovering quickly.

Prytula left his South Gloucester farm early Tuesday to search for a $10 bill which he said he lost in the swamp when he had wandered into that same area more than a month ago.

Police said he apparently had tried to climb a fence, slipped and had fallen to the ground on the other side. He had been too weak to get back on his feet again and had lain there until discovered.

Roseneath Honors Peter Muller Family

ROSENEATH, July 30—(ENS) —Roseneath LOL hall was filled to capacity on Friday evening when the neighbours and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Muller and son, Martin, held a suprise party in their honor, before leaving for their new home near Barrie.

The evening was spent in dancing with music furnished by the Murphy-Adams orchestra.

Following lunch at midnight, the gathering was called to order, and Mr. Clarence Parker read an address voicing the regrets of the people of the community in losing such good neighbors. Mr. Lloyd Parker, on behalf of the gathering, presented them with wool blankets and a purse of money.

Mr. Muller made an appropriate reply.

Press President Dies

HAMILTON, July 30 — (CP) — George Allen, 78, presiednt of the Reid Press, Limited, died at his home here last night.

Mr. Allan founded Reid Press Limited with the late George Reid shortly after the turn of the century and became president of the firm a few years later.

The widow and two daughters survive.

Peace Talks Not Appeasement Says MacArthur

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP). — Gen. Douglas MacArthur's use of the word "appeasement" in his Boston speech last Wednesday did not apply to the current talks in Korea, says an aide to the deposed Far Eastern commander.

The aide, Maj.-Gen. Courtney Whitney, issued the statement last night to clarify what he described as a "complete misrepresentation" of MacArthur's Boston speech in the New York Times' section reviewing the news of the last week.

Whitney said the Times statement "to the effect that in his Boston address Gen. MacArthur attacked the cease-fire negotiations now under way in Korea as appeasement is a complete misrepresentation."

The Times had no comment on Whitney's statement.

"Last March 24," Whitney added, "the general publicly announced his readiness at any time to engage in such talks with the enemy commander in the field in an effort to find a satisfactory formula under which further bloodshed might be avoided and the United Nations objectives in the liberation and unification of Korea, under a free and representative government, might be achieved through peaceful means.

"Since the start of the present cease-fire conferences, it has been his fervent hope that they would serve this purpose without resort to appeasement on our part."

Rescue Hero, 64, Buried Friday

Pallbearers at the funeral of Robert Henry Collingwood, 64, of 337 Downie St., were A. R. Jones, Harry Lane, Harry Helson, Jack Clark, Charles Batchelor, and Kenneth Newton.

Mr. Collingwood, assistant foreman in the CGE, drowned Tuesday afternoon when he tried to rescue two girls who were in difficulties while swimming in Lake Kashagawigamog, 80 miles north of Peterborough.

The two girls were rescued but Mr. Collingwood drowned.

He had been an employee of CGE for 41 years.

The funeral was at the Nisbett funeral home and was largely attended. Many of his fellow employees returned from their vacations to pay their respects. The service was conducted by the Rev. W. A. Filer, Hamilton, former rector of All Saints' Anglican church. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

City Must Wait Okay From Gov't On Parking

"City council cannot move in on a lot without permission just because the federal government owns it," said City Clerk Outram today in regard to extending parking facilities on the recently cleared property at Charlotte and Louis Streets.

Council is ready to level the ground and moke it suitable for the parking of cars as soon as consent comes from government authority.

"People have been asking us when the council was going to do something there," Mr. Outram said, "and that is the answer. The government acceded to the requests from the council for the removal of the buildings, but the council still hasn't word that they can go on the property and take over temporarily until construction of the postal-customs building is about to start."

Wounded By Rifle

AJAX, July 30 — (CP) —Robert McNab was wounded in the groin yesterday when a .22 rifle he was examining discharged accidently. He was taken to Oshawa General Hospital where an emergency operation was performed to remove the bullet.

BurmaRedChiefs Link Up With Chinese

RANGOON, July 30— (AP) — Burmese Communist forces fighting against the government, are officially reported to have shifted their main operational zone gradually to the frontier areas adjoining Communist China.

Their big holdings had been in Central Burma and the northward movement is looked upon as a strategic one for international Communist liaison purposes rather than as a retreat.

United States officials here express a fear that the Red Burmese may be trying to seize a base area that will give them easy access to supply and training facilities in China's Communist-ruled Yunnan province.

Foreign observers here feel that a linkup of Burmese and Chinese Reds along the Yunnan frontier could mean a rapid buildup of Burmese Communist forces like the buildup of Ho Chi Minh's Communist- led forces in Indo-China on another frontier with China.

Burmese Communists are in open rebellion against the Socialist Government at Rangoon, headed by Thakin Nu.

Keep Open Rail

Although Communist insurgent bands and other dissidents are spotted all over Burma, their principal stronghold has been in the Yamethin district, 250 miles north of Rangoon. Estimates are that now no more than 300 Reds are operating south of Yamethin—just enough to keep open a break in the Rangoon-Mandalay rail trunk line.

From Central Burma, the Communists and other rebels have moved and sometimes been pushed by government troops to the Mandalay area, which, just before last January, was free of insurgents. More than 1,000 insurgents now are operating around government-held Mandalay.

Communists are slowly infiltrating from Mandalay's environs northeastward to the Northern Shan States and are nearing Lashio, the old Burma Road city, where the refugee Chinese Nationalists recently started their drive into Yunnan. The Burmese Reds are about 100 miles from Red China.

Kill Eight

Communists attacked an army convoy between Mandalay and the military academy town of Maymyo, reports from that area said today, killing eight government soldiers and wounding six at a cost of 12 Reds.

Continued Red attacks on North Burma rail lines were reported along the Mandalay - Myitkyina link, where one train was blasted off the tracks and another had to outrun three seperate assaults.

There are an estimated 15,000 to 20,000 poorly armed Red insurgents and probably an equal number of plain dacoits (bandits) ravaging the Burman countryside.

Facing them in battle are about 45,000 British-equipped government regulars, about 30,000 military police and several thousand auxiliaries.

Dangerous Work

BRISTOL, England (CP)—Six scientists had their hair singed when a 30-foot cosmic radiation balloon exploded during a Festival of Britain demonstration here.

JOY IN KAESONG—Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, the senior delegate of the UN negotiating team, is photographed by a Communist cameraman as he leaves the Kaesong conference building for a luncheon recess. In doorway, hatless, are Maj. Gen. L. C. Craigie (center) and Rear Adm. Arleigh Burke, two other members of the UN team.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Toronto People's fast ball team Sunday took the second straight game in their best of three series with Montreal Robitaille Motors to clinch the eastern Canada amateur softball championship won last year at the Canadian National Exhibition.

The first game of the series on Saturday night went scoreless till the 12th inning when Doug Gilbert, Toronto shortstop, hit a single with the bases loaded to win the game. The first game was a pitcher's duel with Montreal's Paul Saindown striking out 15 men and Toronto's Russ Johnson collecting 12 strikeouts.

At Belleville, Lloyd Shaw, Toronto auto racer, drove his half-miler to an Ontario record at the Parkland race meet Saturday. Shaw was clocked in 30 seconds flat over the half-mile track, two fifths of a second better than his former record set in Toronto last week.

Hitting an estimated speed of 90 miles an hour in the straight-away, Bill Braden of Waterdown, Ont., piloted his Aerial IV hydroplane to an easy win Saturday in the feature event of the 3rd annual Hamilton Power Boat Association regatta.

Clyde Knoll of Port Colborne, Ont., headed the prize winners with victories in the 10 h.p. stock utility, 25 h.p. service racing and the 33 h.p. service racing.

The Ontario Racing Commission held two meetings Saturday to probe further the suspected fixing of races at Fort Erie track by jockeys.

The meetings followed announcement that jockeys Bobby Keane of Toronto and Phil Marchese of Pawtucket, Rhode Island, had been ruled off Ontario tracks for life "for conduct prejudicial to the best interests of racing."

Another meeting is expected today.

At Philadelphia, Saul Wachs, 19, of Philadelphia, Saturday won the United States junior chess championship. Ross Siemms, 15-year-old Ontario junior champion from Toronto, won a special trophy for being first among boys under age 16 in the tournament.

Silvia Procktor, 18, of Young, Sask., exceeded the Canadian senior women's amateur discus record by three-quarters of an inch Saturday at the Saskatchewan track championships.

Miss Procktor hurled the discus 120 feet, 1¾ inches. This topped the mark of 120 feet, one inch, set in 1928 by Toronto's Bobby Rosenfeld.

Baseball's search for a commissioner to replace A. B. Chandler at $65,000 per year enters the serious phase within the next two weeks.

Ellis Ryan of Cleveland Indians a member of the screening committee, said in a telephone interview from Cleveland that he expected both leagues to meet shortly after Aug. 1 "when for the first time we will talk about specific names."

A long list of potential commissioners has been prepared.

At Rochester, NY, Rex Dixon of Toronto made it two-in-a-row Saturday when he skippered The Circe, representing the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, to a 18-second victory to capture the Silas George Cup.

When Dixon brought his six-metre craft across the line ahead of the local club's Stork in the third state of the race, it marked the first time in 12 years that the Toronto Yacht Club had won the cup.

The Stork, sailed by Jerry Castle, won the opening race on Thursday, but Dixon came back Friday and evened matters in the 50-year-old fresh water event on Lake Ontario.

Unknown Golfer Wins

DECATUR, Ill., July 30 (AP)—An unknown amateur golfer, Jim Frisina of Taylorville, Ill., showed up the big-time pros yesterday by winning the 36-hole Decatur invitational golf tournament with a 10-under-par 132.

Frisina shot consecutive 66s Saturday and yesterday to beat out veteran pros Ben Hogan and Byron Nelson by one stroke.

Hogan shot a final 68 and Nelson a 67 to tie for second with 133. Each won $750.

Apartment Looted

LOS ANGELES, July 30 (AP)—About the time golfer Lloyd Mangrum was being warned not to win the St. Paul open tournament Saturday night, his apartment here was looted.

Police said there was no way of telling what was stolen until Mangrum and his wife return.

Buffalo Captures Two Events In Henley Meet

By CECIL SMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont., July 30 (CP)—A United States rowing club garnered two of the four-star events at the 1951 Royal Canadian Henley regatta which ended Saturday on the old Welland canal.

Buffalo West Sides captured the team championship in the four-day meet to win the Maple Leaf trophy, and retained their supremacy in the Henley senior eights for the fifth consecutive year to retain the Ned Hanlan memorial trophy.

But some of their success was shared by a couple of Canadian clubs, the Toronto Dons and St. Catharines Collegiate.

Jack Guest

Jack Guest, Jr., of the Dons, stroked his slim shell across the finish line first in the championship singles over the Henley distance, one mile, 550 yards. His time was 8:18.4.

Guest finished six open lengths of water ahead of his only rival, Bobby Williams, 20-year-old Hamilton Leander sculling star who won the United States national singles championship this year.

Guest was beaten out in the first round of the singles at Henley, England, this year but he made no mistake Saturday as he took the lead and never ran into trouble.

St. Catharines Collegiate Institute's crew of eight retained possession of the Calder Cleland memorial trophy for the third successive year when their high school eights came home ahead of two US crews, De La Salle High School, Detroit, and Canisius High School, Buffalo, who finished in that order.

Richest Prize

The Calder Cleland memorial trophy, put up for competition in 1945 by the late W. B. Cleland in memory of his son who was killed in the Second World War, is a $5,000 Omar Khayyam jug, which once belonged to Empress Eugenie of France and is the richest Canadian rowing prize.

In winning the team title, West Sides racked up a total of 328 points, 171½ more than their closest rivals, Toronto Dons, second with 156½ points.

Detroit Boat Club placed third with 113, one more than St. Catharines, fourth with 112. Toronto Argonauts were fifth with 109 points.

Seniors Win

Buffalo had the team title clinched before Saturday's card was completed when their senior eights finished two open length ahead of Detroit Boat Club, who placed second in front of Lincoln Park, Chicago.

Besides their championship in the senior eights, West Sides had two other firsts in the final day's card, in the senior 155-pound eights and in the senior 145-pound fours. Fort William was disqualified from the latter event although they came home only feet behind West Sides. No reason was given for the disqualification and St. Catharines, finishing a poor third, were conceded second place.

St. Catharines, Undines Rowing Club of Philadelphia, and Dons each won two of Saturday's finals, while Seattle and De La Salle each garnered one.

Closing out the point standing were Hamilton with 44; Seattle 29½; Fort William 25; Philadelphia Undines 25; Wyandotte, Mich., 20½; Chicago Lincoln Park 20; Ecorse, Mich., 14½; Philadelphia Vespers 12; Minneapolis 11½; Detroit Rowing Club 11; Brockville, Ont., 9½; Winnipeg 5; Philadelphia Fairmounts 5; Philadelphia Bachelors' Barge 4; and New York Athletic Club 3.

Missed $5,900

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., July 30 (CP). — Thieves who stole $1,000 worth of costume jewelry from a store Friday night missed $5,900 in bonds which had been wrapped in brown paper. Earlier they were reported stolen and police had to cancel notices sent across Ontario and Quebec listing the bond numbers.

Tried To Flag Train

PICKERING, July 30 — (CP) — John F. Brown, 41, of Pickering tried unsuccessfully to flag a Toronto-Montreal flyer yesterday, seconds before it crashed into his stalled automobile on the Canadian National Railways crossing here. Brown said he ran up the tracks waving a flashlight in an effort to bring the train to a halt.

Farm House Burns

WALLACEBURG, July 30 — (CP)— Fire Sunday destroyed the farm home of Lloyd Davis on concession 11, Chatham township, despite an hour-long flight by two engines of the township fire brigade. Neighbors helped Davis to remove all his furniture. Loss was estimated at $3,500.

The Winner!

FORT ERIE, Ont., July 30 — (CP)—The race track crowd here talked today about "the lady in black" who made only two bets last week. But she won $11,000. Two $1,500 bets spread across the board in two races netted her more than $5,000 each.

50 RAF Pilots

LONDON, Ont., July 30—(CP). —Fifty-six provisional officers of the RAF arrived at London airport Sunday for flight training under the N.A.T.O. scheme. They arrived in three RCAF Dakota transports from Dorval airport near Montreal.

Russia's Arms Build Up Threatens World—Marshall

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP) — Defence Secretary George C. Marshall has warned Congress that "the enemy's build-up" is increasing the danger of all-out war.

Marshall left no doubt he was referring to Russia as the enemy and to reported Communist build up of troops and supplies in Korea and elsewhere.

The defence secretary testified before a closed meeting of the House of Representatives Appropriations Committee which released part of the testimony today but deleted other portions for security reasons. The committee is considering the Administration's $60,000,000,000 military budget proposal for the year which started July 1, 1951.

President Truman, in a speech in Detroit Saturday, warned of Communist build-ups for war "around the world." The President said the free nations must have men and munitions on "hand—ready for any emergency."

400,000 in Europe

Marshall testified last Friday before the Senate Appropriations Committee that the U. S. will have 400,000 troops in Europe next year. This was about twice the number of previous estimates, some by Marshall himself.

The defence secretary's new estimate drew a barrage of questions. But Marshall stuck to the 400,000 figure. He wrote chairman James Richards (Dem. S.C.) of the House of Foregin Affairs Committee Saturday, noting that ihs estimate had been questioned and saying that the 400,000 is correct —340,000 ground forces and 60,000 air force personnel.

Marshall explained in his letter the figure includes supply and supporting troops as well as combat units.

Marshall said he was "deeply concerned" that Russia apparently had trapped the American people into developing an attitude of letdown.

"It is tragic," he said, "that we should be so susceptible to propaganda, that a single speech would create a state of mind that can very seriously react to our disadvantage in the world picture.

"That is the trap, that is the cleverness, and the ready response to it in America is tragic. We should not change our whole procedure every time the Kremlin decides on some new point. That, to my mind, is distressingly serious, because with so little effort they have accomplished so much to our great disadvantage."

The single speech to which Marshall referred was Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob Malike's bid for Korea truce talks which led to the present negotiations in Kaesong.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, told the committee an armistice or cease-fire in Korea "may lead to our undoing unless we take steps to prevent such undoing."

Cochise Wins $100,000,

CHICAGO, July 30 (AP)—For a horse that was a doubtful starter, 5-year-old Cochise from the east made quite a runaway for the $100,000 top prize in the $143,750 Arlington Handicap.

Buddy Raines, trainer for Donald Ross' Brandywine stable, said that he was contemplating scratching Cochise up until 7.30 Saturday morning—some 10 hours before race time—because of the muddy condition of the track. Jockey Ovie Scurlock, however, prevailed on Raines to start him.

The rich handicap, which closed Arlington's 36-day meeting before 28,192 patrons, was run on a "good" track and Cochise scampered the mile and a quarter in 2.05 4/5, beating out favorite Oil Capitol, owned by Tom Gray, of Texas, and Mrs. Harry Trotsek, of Louisville, by one length.

Cochise took the lead early and was never headed in paying off $13. $6.20 and $4.

Oil Capitol returned $3.40 and $2.40. Third in the eight-horse field, one length back of Oil Capitol, was Rokeby stable's County Delight.

Cochise, a big grey, boosted his year's earnings to $144,425 and his lifetime winnings to $255,415.

Appeal Annulment

SINGAPORE, July 30 (Reuters) —Troops, armored cars and police were on the alert today as an appeal against the Bertha (Jungle Girl) Hertogh case opened in civil appeal court. Mansoor Adabi, 21-year-old Malay schoolteacher, is appealing against a supreme court ruling which declared null and void his Moslem marriage with Bertha last year, when she was 13.

Wounded Picketer

TIMMINS, July 30—(CP)—Add Donald, the Hollinger moose, to those who are having troubles in this strikebound gold mining area. Donald, who, incidentally, is a female, was limping today when strikers on the picket line saw her. She apparently had been in a fight with two dogs and had been bitten on the hind leg while killing one of them. Donald is a yearling moose born when her mother wandered inside the Hollinger mine enclosure. She lives in the mine area.

UK Giant Union Demands Government Hold Prices

By SIDNEY WEILAND

LONDON, July 30—(Reuters)—Britain's Labor Government received clear warning today that its vast trade union following expects drastic action to hold the price line.

Unions representing 2,500,000 workers came out solidly with a sharp demand that more should be done to bring down spiralling prices.

In a series of resolutions tabled for the Trades Union Congress annual meeeting in September, they charged that big business profits were going up while workers' pockets emptied.

Peg Dividends

Prime Minister Attlee's government has already moved to placate the unions. The government last week pegged company dividends so that they can rise no higher than the peak yields recorded in the last two years. The unions also were promised a return of some price controls to cut living costs.

But union chiefs still are not convinced that there is equality of sacrifice to help pay for the arms drive. They want proof that the real value of wages will not fall further.

The Trades Union Congress agenda shows that the unions expect still more from the government. The resolutions on wages, prices and profits, tabled by 10 unions, are expected to get wide support from most of the 8,000,000 organized workers affiliated to the congress.

Living Down

One motion, presented by the 140,000-strong Civil Service Clerical Association, says workers' living standards have seriously depreciated in consequence of the failure of wages to keep pace with living costs.

The National Union of Railwaymen, with 420,000 members, calls for reduction in the cost of living wage increases to meet changed prices, strict price control, more government subsidies to reduce prices, more taxes on profits, and removal of sales tax from non-luxury goods.

Nearly all the resolutions press for tight curbs on big business profits, and express alarm and strong protest at rising prices of goods in the shops—costs of consumer goods have risen 25 per cent since 1947.

However, the government will be satisfied by the TUC attitude to its foreign policy and rearmament. Only three resolutions, tabled by unions with a combined membership of 80,000, are critical of the arms drive.

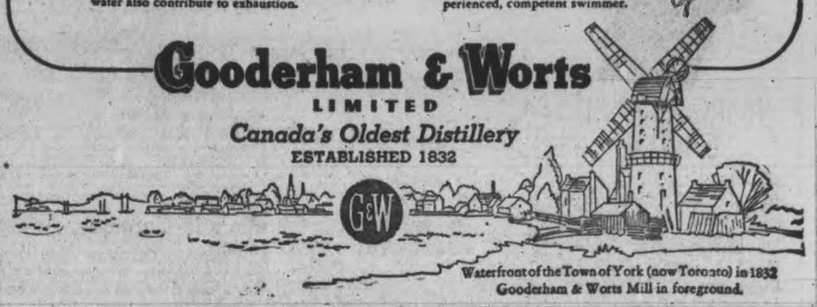
Three resolutions protest at rearmament of Germany, and one union considers diplomatic relations with Spain are not only an insult to British people but a betrayal of all the pledges made by the labor movement.

Civil service unions come out in strong support of the principle of equal pay for women, which the government says it cannot afford at present.

Several unions want a bigger workers' share in the running of the nationalized industries, and there is some support for a cut in compensation payments to dispossessed private owners.

Inventor Dies

BRONXVILLE N.Y., July 30 (AP)—Oscar Rosen, 63, inventor of newspaper printing machinery, died Saturday of a heart attack. President of the Wood Newspaper Machinery Company for the last 15 years, he held a number of patents on newspaper mechanical equipment.



Swimming, canoeing, rowing, sailing, fishing—these enter into most vacation plans. But too often, holidays bring tragedies—over 1000 Canadians drown each year.

The Canadian Red Cross Society water safety rules are printed here in the hope that both adults and children will learn them, respect them, and obey them.

RED CROSS Rules for Water Safety

1. Learn to swim safely. Join a swim class sponsored by Red Cross or other recognized organizations. Know your own limitations as a swimmer.
2. Learn artificial respiration. The briefest delay in applying it may cost a life.
3. Where to swim. If possible, swim in a supervised area. Investigate unknown water before swimming or diving. Respect "DANGER" signs.
4. When to swim. Late morning and afternoon are the safest hours in which to swim.
5. Temperature and time. Between 70° and 80° is best (warmer water relaxes too much, colder exhausts) 30 minutes is long enough in the water for the average swimmer.
6. Swimming after eating. Wait at least 2 hours after eating a regular meal before swimming.
7. Panic contributes to most accidents. Learn to scull and tread water. Novices must stay in shallow water while learning to swim.
8. Exhaustion. Avoid over-activity before a swim. Over-exertion while swimming, and extremely cold water also contribute to exhaustion.
9. Always have a companion when fishing, swimming or boating. Never swim alone.
10. Reaching aids. Learn how to use all reaching aids; how to use floating objects to support yourself; how to throw handline and ring buoy.
11. Cramps. If hit by stomach cramps, scull to support yourself and call for help. To ease leg cramps, take a deep breath, submerge, and seize cramped muscles with thumb and fingers of one hand, pressing through the muscles to meet those of the other hand.
12. Currents. Never buck a current. Swim diagonally across and with its flow. If unable to reach shore, drift to save strength and call for help. If caught by an undertow, go with it and swim diagonally upwards to the surface.
13. Weeds. Use gentle, slow drawing and shaking movements to get out of weeds. Swim with the current, not against it, until freed.
14. Boating. If capsized, hang onto the boat and call for help. Never enter a canoe unless you are an experienced, competent swimmer.

Disappearance Of Scientists Still Mystery

LONDON, July 30 — (AP) — The memories of two mysteriously missing British diplomats have become a prize of the cold war.

Wherever they are, Guy Burgess, 40, and Donald D. MacLean, 38, carry in their minds intimate knowledge of Anglo-American relations. MacLean even knows of diplomatic negotiations related to the wartime development of the Atomic bomb.

The Russians thirst for information of that sort, even when slight dated. Obviously, Britain wants to find the two men and bring them home.

There is no indication they have gone over to the Russians. But they have vanished.

Untidy, heavy-set Burgess and hawk-faced, chain-smokeing MacLean are known to have been in the French Port of St. Malo on May 26. They had slipped out of England the previous day.

From St. Malo it is believed they took a taxi to Rennes to catch a train to Paris.

No Documents

Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison has assured the House of Commons that Burgess and MacLean took no official documents with them.

Their only value then to the Russians would be what they remember.

It seems inconceivable that they could remain in Western Europe and continue to elude the police. There were 15,000 sleuths engaged in the opening phase of the search.

A more remote possibility is that one or both men met with foul play.

It is a standard police assumption that a person needs considerable help to disappear. The theory that a Communist agent or agents supplied this help to Burgess and MacLean has this to support it:

1. Who but a Communist would go to all the trouble.
2. Persons slipping into the soviet sphere could expect a rude reception unless they were cleared through first by a Red agent.

One British official said he was puzzled by the Soviet reaction to the disappearance. If Burgess and MacLean are in Soviet hands the Russians have made no effort to exploit them for propaganda purposes.

At the time he vanished MacLean was head of the foreign office's American department. Among other things, that department was concerned with negotiations for American bases in Britain.

Burgess was second secretary of the British embassy in Washington until he ran afoul of Virginia's speed laws last February and was recalled home as a result.

MILLIONAIRE LEFTIST Frederick Vanderbilt Field, released from jail for his appearance before U.S. Senate internal security subcommittee, is shown above as he took the witness stand to testify on the Institute of Pacific Relations, which has been linked with Communist influences. Field has been described as "sugar daddy" of the institute.

Movie Column

Vivian Blaine Changed Girl After Broadway

By JACK QUIGG

HOLLYWOOD, July 30—(AP)—Vivian Blaine, who quit Hollywood in disgust after six frustrating years as "A sweet little girl" in color musicals, is back in town again. And her friends hardly know her.

"I used to be the qiet type," the blond [illegible] explained. "You know, the nice gal who always got the boy. Now I'm noisy like 'Gangbuster'."

The change, she said, is the result of her rollicking role in Broadway's hit musical "Guys and Dolls." For it she switched her style completely. Now she has a brand new career.

Restraint Is Gone

Gone is the restraint that characterized her early Hollywood efforts. "Guys and Dolls" called for a singer with the bounce and exuberance of a Betty Hutton who was also an expert comedienne. Vivian pulled out just what was needed.

Now on a three-month leave of absence from the play, she is here for a flashy role in "Skirts Ahoy," playing a New York sales girl "Who joins the Waves because three years ago she had gone rowing with a sailor in Central Park."

She said the same movie makers who gave her the cold shoulder after she left Hollywood are now peppering her with attractive offers.

Miss Blaine left pictures in 1946 and hit the road with her husband, Manny Frank, a talent agent who became her manager after their marriage in 1945. It was the same sort of life she had left before she cracked the movies —singing for a living.

She had been an entertainer since the age of 14, when she sang for dimes at club smokers, church festivals and for small bands around her native Newark, NJ.

Lot More Money

Now there was one difference —she was making a lot more money.

"We went anywhere and everywhere," she said, "Around the world, in fact."

Providentially, Manny ran into one of the producers of "Guys and Dolls" about that time. The result was an audition for Vivian. "But they thought I was too strong for the role of the Salvation Army Girl."

Then, a year later, she encountered the producer. He told her they had written in a new part—Adelaide, the moll of a Broadway character.

Suddenly he recalled her audition. "That was it," said Miss Blaine. "I auditioned again and got the role."

JETS FOR EUROPE—Thunderjet fighter planes, bound for Atlantic Pact nations under the Mutual Defense Assistance Program, are hoisted aboard the USS Corregidor at Port Newark, N.J. The jets will add punch to the air and ground team General Eisenhower is building for defense of Western Europe.

German Housing Shortage Expected To Last 18 Years

By BRACK CURRY

FRANKFURT, July 30—(AP)—Two families or more to an apartment is the outlook for most West Germans for the next 18 years.

Allied occupation officials say it will take that long to return to pre-war housing conditions.

Unless, that is, many Germans discard their opposition to such new-fangled ideas as prefabricated housing.

Two million houses and apartments were destroyed beyond reasonable repair by bombing and battle damage. An additional 2,000,000 are needed to care for 9,000,000 refugees from the east.

Obsolescence is adding to the shortage by hacking away at least 50,000 dwelling units each year. The normal population increase calls for 75,000 new units a year.

Government Subsidies

Since the war, the Germans have built only 700,000 new houses and apartments. More than 80 per cent of the new dwelling units are financed by government subsidies.

Due to low wages and high living costs, it is almost impossible for the working man to build his own house.

In small towns, houses cost about 15,000 marks $3,450) and in the cities 18,000 marks. Many German workers earn only about 250 marks ($57.50) a month.

Only about 25 per cent of all Germans live in houses to which they have title. So the bulk of the population must stay in rented housing.

Company ownership of housing constitutes only about 3.5 per cent of the total housing although in certain districts of the industrial Ruhr it takes up as much as 31 per cent of workers' housing.

When the German does get a brand new house or apartment he usualy finds it was built just as in his grnadfather's time.

Prefabricated houses have had little success among the Germans. Most banks decline to make loans on houses constructed of wood or other light materials.

Workers May Strike At US Ford Plant

MONROE, Mich., July 30 (AP) —Employees at the Ford Motor Co. wheel plant here agreed Sunday to take a strike vote against the company.

A spokesman for Local 723 of the United Auto Workers (CIO) said the strike vote probably would be taken this week.

A long shutdown of the vital plant would result in the closing down of Ford plants thoughout the United States, a Ford spokesman said.

The union said the dispute was caused by a "breakdown in collective bargaining."

How Do Brain Cells Work? Scientists Seek Answer

By ALTON T. BLAKESLEE.

ST. LOUIS, July 30 — (AP) — How does a brain cell, or a nest of them, generate a thought?

How do certain brain cells work to let you hear sounds, or see sights? How do others originate nerve signals so you can walk, or talk or eat?

The answers may well lie in the chemistry of brain cells. Some first steps toward answers to these and other puzzles about brain work are under way here at the Washington University Medical School by a research team headed by Dr. Oliver Lowry.

The researchers are trying to learn the exact chemistry of different parts of the brain. The human brain is a mixture of many types of cells, unlike the liver, which is composed of cells that are all alike.

Minute Pieces

They are studying pinpoint-pieces of brain tissue weighing as little as 1-28,000,00th of an ounce. This is sometimes just a few tiny brain cells. Or they can run tests on a single large cell.

Part of the search is to learn what enzymes; or chemical accelerators, are present in cells from different parts of the brain; whether the cells differ in the kinds of enzymes present, or in the amounts, and whether there are enzymes in the brain not found elsewhere in the body.

Brain cells may work differently because of their enzymes, or because of the different kinds of hook-ups between cells, Dr. Lowry said. A single cell may be hooked up by tiny filaments—the axons and bendrites — with several hundred other cells.

The studies have been under way for two years with rabbit brains. Human brains will be studied later.

Pieces of the brain are plunged into liquid nitrogen, for quick-freezing without formation of srystals. Then while frozen they are cut and dried into their flaky sheets.

Chemical Tests

With micro - instruments, a little nest of cells can be picked out from any part of the brain desired. This nest is put into a test tube, mixed with chemicals that react with enzymes present. The presence of enzymes, and their amounts, is measured.

The goal is to learn some basic facts about brain tissue. The findings and the methods may also be helpful in studying the origin and growth of cancer.

Boy Wanders Off While Berry Picking

BELLEVILLE, July 30 (CP)—Police throughout Eastern Ontario and in Toronto are seeking 12-year-old Robert Anderson who has been missing since Friday when he wandered away from a berry picking party near his Thurlow home nine miles northwest of Belleville.

His parents believe he may have tried to hitch-hike to the home of his aunt, Mrs. Leslie Davis, in Toronto, but he had not reached there late Sunday night.

Choir Visits Welsh City

CARDIFF, Wales, July 30 — (Reuters)—Cardiff put on a civic welcome for the Elgar Junior Choir of Vancouver, spending this weekend in the Welsh capital on a goodwill singing tour of Britain.

The choir was given tea at the city hall by the Deputy Lord Mayor and the Deputy Lady Mayoress, Alderman and Mrs. D. T. Williams.

The choir sang two selections—"Guide Me Oh Thou Great Jehovah" and "Come Again My Love." The choir's founder, C. A. Findlater, and Mrs. Findlater, thanked Cardiff for their welcome.

During the weekend members of the choir are staying at the homes of friends in the city. Arrangements were made for this hospitality by the Cardiff Temperance Union at the request of the local Festival of Britain committee.

Friday night, the choir joined forces with a local one—the Cardiff Temperance Juvenile Choir—to give a concert in the Cory Hall here.

New Train Ferry Largest In World

DUNKERQUE, France, July 30 (Reuters)—A new train ferry — described as the world's largest—went into service Sunday on the Dover, England, to Dunkerque route. The 3,400-ton St. Germain, built in Denmark for the French National Railways, has four parallel rail tracks which run the full 140 feet length of the ship. She can carry 500 passengers in their railway coaches and 25 autos, as well as freight.

Kicked By Horse Child Recovering

TORONTO, July 30 (CP) — Three-year-old Susan Anderson of Stratford, is recovering in hospital following a freak accident in which she was kicked in the head by a horse while she was out driving in an automobile with her parents.

Brought to Toronto following the accident Saturday night under police escort, she underwent an emergency operation to relieve pressure caused by a fractured skull. Hospital authorities said her condition was fair.

The accident occurred when the family, with Susan sitting in the front seat on her mother's lap, were out driving. The car tried to avoid a horse which was said wandering loose on the street.

The animal struck the automobile and sprawled across it, a hoof smashing the right window and hitting Susan on the head. Mrs. Anderson suffered cuts about the head and chest from flying glass.

20 Planes Still Hunt Missing Airlift Craft

JUNEAU, Alaska, July 30 (CP) —Twenty planes pressed a search Sunday for a Korean airlift plane, missing since July 21 on the Alaska coast with 38 aboard.

The greatest activity was south of the point where the pilot made his last report from the Tokyo-bound plane. Searchers were following up a report from the town of Craig that a large plane was heard over that village the night the plane vanished.

The Canadian Pacific Airlines DC-4 took off from Vancouver on the hop to Tokyo via Alaska.

TB Deaths Fewer

RIO DE JANEIRO (CP). — Fewer people are dying from tuberculosis in Brazil although the death-rate is still high. The death-rate in April this year was 1.7 per 1,000 compared with 1.9 per 1,000 during the same month last year.

Airport Produces Pilots, Grain Crops

KITCHENER, July 30 (CP) — An airport four miles north of Preston, which produces pilots corn, oats and wheat was formally opened Saturday. The airport was developed by the Kitchener-Wellington Airport Commission representing Kitchener, Waterloo, Galt, Guelph and Preston, with the assistance of the transport department.

The farm produce is grown by neighboring farmers who lease unused parts of the airport for their crops. Revenue from the rents pay maintenance costs.

Victim May Identify Robbers In Lineup

BRANTFORD, July 30—(CP)—James Stark, of Brantford, will arrive in Toronto today, accompanied by a police constable, to check the identity of suspects in a police lineup, Deputy Chief Constable George Kerr said here Sunday night.

Toronto police have reported two men were arrested in Toronto Friday as robbery suspects reported to fit description Stark gave police after two men robbed him of $213 here.

Canada Refuses To Ship Arms Until Rifle Chosen

PETERBOROUGH POSTMEN STOPPED WORK briefly and gathered in a local restaurant this morning for a conference. The topic under discussion was the possibility that they would have to buy bus tickets out of their own pockets for their routes. The conference lasted about 15 minutes. Then they went back to work.

Negotiators Stalled Over Buffer, After 5 Days Talk

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

UN ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 31. (AP)—Armistice negotiators argued stubbornly for an hour and 34 minutes today on where to draw the cease-fire line in Korea without getting any closer together. It was the fifth successive day United Nations and Communist delegations devoted to the buffer zone issue. The announced result of each session was the same: no progress. "The area of disagreement has neither broadened or narrowed," an official UN spokesman said. The Reds want UN forces to abandon their present battle line and pull back to the 38th parallel.

Delegates meet again at 11 am Wednesday (9 pm Tuesday EDT) in their 16th session at Kaesong for another try at breaking the deadlock.

No Compromise

"There was no indication of a compromise to me today," commented the briefing officer, Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols. "On the other hand, as you know, a position can be adjusted very quickly. That is neither optimistic nor pessimistic."

The official UN communique said:

"There was no perceptible change in the expressed viewpoints of the two delegations," in Tuesday's sessions.

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy amplified the Allied position, the announcement said, trying to show "the mutual benefit to be derived from acceptance of this view."

North Korean Lt.-Gen. Nam Il replied by repeating "his previously stated stand."

The UN wants the demilitarized zone established along present battle lines, cutting across North Korea for more than 80 miles. The Reds want a buffer zone centred on the 38th Parallel, prewar political dividing line of North and South Korea.

Demonstrators

South Koreans demonstrating in their temporary capital at Pusan shouted:

"We oppose any cease-fire at the damned 38th Parallel."

Thousands paraded through the streets of the southern port city Tuesday. They carried banners announcing "We oppose to the death any cease-fire without unification."

They want to unite all Korea from Pusan to its southern tip to the Yalu River at its northern border with Manchuria.

From Tokyo came reports that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, UN commander, may be planning to issue a statement on the thorny issue of where to establish a buffer zone that has deadlocked efforts to end the shooting war.

Joy stuck to his guns Tuesday as delegates met in Kaesong. First he elaborated on and argued for the UN position.

Then he listened to Gen. Nam. Nuckols did not disclose the Red general's remarks, but his listeners concluded that Nam asked the Allied delegation to re-consider the Red proposal overnight.

The briefing officer said he did not intend to give the impression the talks had reached a stalemate over the issue—the second point on the five-point program.

Asked for his personal impression, Nuckols said:

"I would say that an area of disagreement continued to exist."

2 Men Charged In Bank Robbery Third Man Soon

TORONTO, July 31 (CP).—Two Toronto men today were charged with the $4,200 robbery of a bank at nearby Bradford last Thursday.

Credit for nabbing Frank Watson, 33, and Leonard Jackson, 29, was given Edmund Tong, sergeant of detectives, whose suspicion of a gang that frequented a cocktail bar led to the arrest of the two men Monday.

Police said they believe the pair are members of "The Numbers Mob"—bank robbers who operate with signals in the manner of a football team and who are believed responsible for $100,000 worth of bank holdups this year.

Sgt. Tong, who spent three months of undercover investigation on the gang, said the arrest of a third member is imminent.

Jackson and Watson, alleged members of a trio that robbed the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch in Bradford, will appear in a police line-up today.

Fled Down Lane

A squad of policemen lay in wait for Jackson Monday inside his fashionable apartment, but approaching from the rear, he saw the officers and fled down a back lane, police said.

Sgt. Tong said he saw Jackson throw a bundle into a car parked in the lane. When recovered from the motorist, who planned to leave for Kapukasing a short time later, the bundle was found to contain $1,500, identified from serial numbers as part of the Bradford loot, Tong said.

Sgt. Tong chased Jackson along back lanes and brought him down with a flying tackle.

Watson was arrested simultaneously by another squad while he slept in his apartment. Police said he was handcuffed "before he knew what was happening."

The third man being sought eluded police scouring the downtown area for him last night.

Watson's remark to his landlady as he was taken out gave police further reasons to believe there is a "mastermind" behind the holdups.

Watson shouted: "Call the shoe. Tell Eddie to get me a lawyer."

39 Missionaries Leave Red China

NEW YORK, July 31 — (CP) — Th eNew York Times says today 39 foreign missionaries—including several Canadians and Britons—arrived in Hong Kong Sunday from inside Communist China.

A Hong King dispatch says the group arrived through Canton from scattered Chinese centres.

The only Canadian mentioned by name of Ruth Dean of Kitchener, Ont., member of a Mennonite mission at Hochuan, Szechuan. The story says an unidentified Canadian woman doctor had to hand over to the Communists a hospital in west Yunnan established by the China Inland Mission.

Protestant missionaries in the group refused to describe their experiences for fear of reprisals against persons still in China who acted as guarantors so that they could leave, the Times says. But a German Roman Catholic priest said he had been confined in his house at Ysingyang, Honan, for months before his departure.

UK Recognizes Right Of Normal Search

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 31 (AP)—A British embassy spokesman said today Britain has informed Egypt it recognizes her "normal right" to search ships in Egyptian territorial waters. The spokesman added that Britain does not recognize Egypt's claimed right to search ships in connection with the Arab blockade of Israel.

A note containing the British view was presented to the Egyptian government by British Ambassador Sir Ralph Stevenson, the spokesman said, in connection with the searching of the British ship Empire Roach. The incident occurred in the Red Sea July 1.

14 Forest Fires

TORONTO, July 31 (CP) — Fourteen forest fires burned today in various sections of Northern Ontario. However, the lands and forest department reported all of them "in a controlled stage."

The forest fire hazard rating was given as "medium to high" across the province.

New Hospital Will Be Built For Backward Children

GUELPH, July 31— (CP). — The Federal Government will contribute $3,275,000 toward the cost of a new 240-bed hospital at Smiths Falls, Ont., for mentally deficient children, it was announced today by Health Minister Martin.

His announcement was contained in a speech prepared for delivery at the opening of the new Guelph General Hospital.

Largest Grant

Mr. Martin said the grant to the Smiths Falls hospital is the largest ever made since the Federal Government's national health program was inaugurated three years ago.

The new hospital, to be built by the Ontario Government, will also serve as a school for mentally deficient children. The only comparable institution in the province is the Ontario Hospital at Orillia.

"For many years now," said Mr. Martin, "Orillia has had a long waiting list and many parents have been unable to secure adequate care for mentally retarded children."

Includes School

The Smiths Falls hospital will be modern in every way. It will have full training facilities both for classroom and vocational training in shoemaking, furniture repair, dressmaking and other trades. A hospital farm will be operated in conjunction with the institution. The hospital will also be equipped to deal with medical and surgical cases and to provide the latest physiotherapy treatment.

"The construction of this new institution is evidence of our determination — in Ontario and throughout Canada—to meet the challenge of mental illness," said Mr. Martin. "It is also an indication of the changing attitude towards the whole problem of mental health."

Three Elderly People Stabbed

ORMSTOWN, Que., July 31. (CP)—Three persons were stabbed to death last night at Anderson Corner, near this town 55 miles southwest of Montreal. Police were holding 31-year-old Alcide Martin as an "important witness" in the case and said he had confessed to killing the three. Dead were Mrs. Anthime Allen, 74, her husband Anthime Allen, 67, and a neighbor, Nelson Cusson, 74. Police said they were told by Martin that the killings occurred following an argument between Martin and Anthime Allen, his grandfather.

Police said Martin, father of four children who live with their mother at St. Henri de Mascouche, about 15 miles north of Montreal, was on leave from the Royal 22nd Regiment and was slated for overseas service.

They said he walked into the Montreal headquarters of the provincial police at 4 a.m. today and told of having committed one murder at Anderson Corner.

Three Bodies

When police investigated they found three bodies lying outside the Allen home.

"They were lying in the yard in their own blood," said Inspector General Norbert Labbe, of the Provincial Police. "All had been stabbed."

Police said that Martin, under questioning, told them he had used his fists, his feet and finally a pocket-knife with a three-inch blade to kill the three elderly people about 11 p.m. last night.

Police gave out this story, as obtained from Martin:

He had been in Montreal yesterday and did some drinking. Then he drove to his grandfather's place at Anderson Corner and became involved there in an argument with the old man.

Used Penknife

The two went into the Allen yard and the argument continued. Then, Martin said, he beat the old man up and finished him off with the penknife.

Allen's cries attracted Mrs. Allen and she went into the yard to help him and met the same fate. Before she died Mrs. Allen's outcries attracted the neighbor, Cusson, who, in like manner, became the third victim.

Police said the first they heard of the slaying was when Martin, after driving by car from Anderson Corner, walked into headquarters in Montreal and told about one killing.

Police said Martin told them the argument began when his grandmother complained about him not visiting her during the last six months.

Fair Exchange

TORONTO, July 31. (CP) —Two prominent Toronto couples, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Bain and Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Watkins, have exchanged marital partners after divorce, it was learned today. Ellen Bain, former wife of the well-known Toronto stockbroker and horseman, was married to Mr. Watkins last week. In Mexico City, Margaret Watkins was married to Mr. Bain July 21. The foursome before their divorces frequently were seen together in smart spots in Toronto and other cities.

Indo-China Rebels Make Peace Feeler

SAIGON, Indo-China, July 31 (Reuters)—Taking a clue from the Korean cease-fire talks, the radio of the Communist-controlled Vietminh rebels today put out a new peace feeler to the French.

"Why not open peace negotiations in Vietnam?" it asked. The broadcast quoted "French press extracts" speculating on a cease-fire in Indo-China on the same basis as in Korea. The rebel radio said: "The Indo-China war is as absurd as it is unpopular."

But the announcer also called for a "mass rebellion" against Vietnam's recent decision to mobilize 60,000 men for training as reservists.

Canada Sends $50 Million Arms To Italy

MONTREAL, July 31 (CP)—A $50,000,000 gift of arms and military equipment from Canada was started on its way to Italy today in a brief ceremony at a Montreal pier.

A token shipment of the military aid, fourth similar gift Canada has sent overseas under its Atlantic treaty obligations was turned over by Defence Minister Claxton to Mario di Stefano, Italian ambassador to Canada.

The defence minister made the symbolic gesture of "presenting" the Italian ambassador with a 25-pounder self-propelled gun, which was then hoisted to the deck of the M. V. Montrose, which will take the shipment to Italy.

Previously, Canada made arms contributions of approximately $50,000,000 each to Belguim and The Netherlands. A smaller shipment, valued at about $5,000,000, has been sent to Luxembourg.

The arms and equipment are enough for a full army division, and include guns, tanks, trucks and spares.

Indo-China Governor Killed By Assassin

SAIGON, Indo-China, July 31 —(Reuters). — Thai Lap Thanh, 56, Governor of South Veitnam, was killed today by a Nationalist rebel who sidled up to him with a live bomb concealed in his pocket. The assassin was blown to pieces by the explosion, and four French officers standing nearby were wounded.

The Governor, who was on an inspection tour in the Sadec area, 75 miles south-west of Saigon, had just stepped from his automobile.

Eye-witnesses said the killer had calmly strolled through a police cordon with his hands in his pockets. In one pocket he clutched a grenade. When near enough, he pulled out the safety pin—but kept the bomb in his pocket.

There was a heavy explosion. The Governor and the killer, described as a rebel Vietminh death volunteer, fell dead.

Arms Building Urged

HONG KONG, July 31 (Reuters)—China's Communist leaders today urged a boost in arms building and army recruiting because of the questionable success of the Korean truce talks.

"It is still difficult to determine at present whether the talks will be successful," Peiping radio said.

Oil Refinery Stops Flow In Iran Dispute

By ALEX VALENTINE.

TEHAN, Iran, July 31 (Reuters) —The biggest oil refinery in the world trickled to a standstill today—halted by the dispute between Britain and Iran over its ownership.

As the last huge valve was shut, Averell Harriman arrived back here from huried London talks. The United States envoy brought with him brightening prospects of healing the breach between the two countries and starting the refinery again.

The final act of cutting off the daily 15,000,000 gallons of oil which had flowed for years at Anglo-Iranian's huge Abadan refinery came this morning with the closing down of distillation unit 80. No. 80 is the most modern and biggest in the world and was kept going to the last as the rest of the huge layout gradually ceased operating during the last two months while the oil conflict raged.

Harriman was sent here by President Truman to attempt to settle the dispute touched off when Iran seized the British-owned industry.

It looked today as if he might be well on the way to succeeding.

He brought back from London agreement by the British government to send a cabinet minister to Iran to investigate and re-open stalemated talks with the Iranians.

Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison told parliament yesterday that Richard Stokes, Lord Privy Seal, would lead a mission to Tehran as soon as "certain points" had been cleared up.

US, Britain Must Settle Wrangle Over Rifle Claxton Tells Allies

Three Nations Will Meet This Week In Washington; Britain Wants New Rifle To Replace US Garand

MONTREAL, July 31. (CP)—Canada served notice on her Atlantic Pact allies today that she is through making major arms shipments to Europe until the wrangle over a common rifle is settled one way or another. Defence Minister Claxton, in an outspoken statement on the American-British rift over a common rifle, made these points in formally turning over equipment for a division to Italy: 1. Canada, in switching from British to US arms, now has enough US arms for a division but has stopped taking .300 Garand rifles from the Americans.

2. The Government may decide to keep the .303 British-type rifle for the time being or adopt some other rifle and send the Garands to Europe.

3. Canada's rifle policy "will depend largely on the outcome" of this week's meeting in Washington in which he and the defence ministers of the US, the United Kingdom and France will try to settle the rifle argument. The core of it is that Britain has started to produce a .280 calibre weapon, the US wants to stick to the .300.

4. Once the rifle question is settled, "we shall have further equipment to transfer to European countries on a considerable scale but until these matters are decided we are going to keep most of that equipment."

Likely Last

Turning to the Italian Ambassador aboard the arms-laden steamship Montrose, Mr. Claxton said candidly "This is likely the last large shipment of arms we shall make for some time."

Mr. Claxton recalled that the Italian shipment brings to three Atlantic Pact divisions the number Canada has equipped with the British-type arms she is abandoning. The other countries to get them were Belgium and Holland. In addition Luxembourg got enough 25-pounders for an artillery regiment.

The minister's statement indicated Canada is set to take a tough stand at the standardization meeting in Washington Aug. 2 and 3.

Expected New Gun

He said Canada had "hoped and expected" for a long time that the US and UK "would agree on a new weapon to replace the Garand and the .303. . . under consideration were weapons of two different calibres, the .300 and the .280."

"Our part in this operation was to do the work on adapting or remaking the existing .303 mark 4 rifle and the Bren (.303) gun to take either .300 or .280 rimless cartridges. We have done our part of the job. Both could be done, though at considerable expense.

"Canada's attitude made it plain that we would accept as standard anything agreed to by the UK or US. Unfortunately, such an agreement has not yet been reached. . . Canada will go to the (Washington) meeting with the intention of doing everything possible to secure the greatest measure of agreement. . ."

US Senator Will Fight For Joint Seaway

By JAMES C. MUNN

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—Senator Blair Moody (Dem., Mich.) today promised a determined fight to put authorization for the St. Lawrence Seaway and power project into the $8,500,000,000 Foreign Aid Bill.

"I can assure you," Moody told a reporter, "that the Senate will have an opportunity to act on the St. Lawrence proposal at this session."

He said chairman Tom Connally (Dem., Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, had promised him and Senator George Aiken (Rep., Vt.) a hearing before the committee on inclusion of the St. Lawrence legislation in the foreign aid measure.

Try Amendment

If the committee does not agree, Moody told a reporter, an amendment will be offered when the bill reaches the Senate floor.

Legislation to authorize the project was shelved last week by the Public Works Committee of the House of Representatives when it adopted, 15 to 12, a tabling motion by Representative Tom Pickett (Dem., Tex.).

Moody, blasting critics of the long-proposed St. Lawrence Seaway, said the time has come "when the matter can no longer be considered on sectional grounds."

"It is," he said, "a project that is absolutely essential to national defence—as pointed out by President Truman, Secretary of Defence Marshall and Defence Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson."

(President Truman, in a major speech at Detroit last Saturday, described the St. Lawrence project as one of the most urgent facing the country.)

UK Protests Wheat Charge

LONDON, May 31 (CP). —The international wheat conference met again today to study Britain's protest against a six-cents-a-bushel carrying charge added to the agreed wheat price by Canada and the United States.

Informed sources expected the conference to end late tonight with a statement on the outcome.

So far, the closed session of members of the international selling agency has produced few clues on the progress of the discussions.

Both sides were said to be steadfast. Britain claims it is unjust for the North American countries to raise the price of wheat—controlled by agreement through the organization—without the consent of the other contracting parties. Several other wheat-buying countries are said to agree.

Canada's argument is believed to be that wheat is worth much more on the free market than the agreement price of $1.80 a bushel, and that the six-cent boost does not even cover the carrying costs.

Timmins Worried, No Sign Of Progress In Mine Strike

TIMMINS, July 31. (CP)—Worried Timmins, which lives on gold watched with apprehension today the lack of progress in the Hollinger Mine strike. Granting the check-off of union dues is almost the sole remaining issue in the dispute which began three weeks ago.

Worry creased the foreheads of many of the community's 30,000 residents following the Sunday night statement at a public meeting of C. H. Millard, national director of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL), that unless the strike were settled—"and settled fast"—striking emembers would be taken to jobs in steel mills and mines elsewhere in Ontario where the union has contracts.

No Desire To Uproot

But Eamon Park, union publi ity director, said on Monday: "There is no desire on the part of the union to uproot families and men from the area."

He added: "However, it is inevitable that more strikers will decide to seek employment in other places, particularly since they can obtain higher wages and better working conditions by doing so. We will not stand by and watch the company attempt to freeze out or starve out the Hollinger miners."

Mayor Philip Fay had no comment on the union statements but Councillor James P. Bartleman, a former mayor, said:

Believed Would Stay

"I thought they would stand and fight. You can't win a battle by withdrawing hundreds of miles back of the firing line."

The check-off — under which the company collects union dues from pay checques — is the chief stumbling block in the strike of some 1,500 USA workers. The company at mediation conferences has refused to grant the check-off but has made wage concessions which it contends meets the miners' pay demands.

Reeve, Councillor Fight Ice Price War

CRYSTAL BEACH, Ont., July 31 (CP)—The price of ice in this Lake Erie resort town melted during the weekend.

The Crystal Ice Company, headed by Reeve Claude Brewster, charged that the Teal Ice Company, operated by Councillor Vincent Teal, was delivering ice outside the confines of Crystal Beach for less than the regular price, which, depending on size, ranged from 15 to 30 cents a block.

Following its charge, the Crystal Company hired extra drivers and trucks and began selling any size block for a dime. The Teal Company met the competition.

Residents are taking the price war coolly.

Unidentified Body Found In Subway

TORONTO, July 31 (CP)—The body of an unidentified man was found today in a subway excavation, a three-quarter-inch-thick reinforcing rod through the head. The man had plunged 34 feet from the street, landing on the upright rod, during the night.

The excavation at Yonge and Front streets, like others along Yonge Street where Toronto's subway is under construction, is protected only by wooden railings.

United States Plans More Frequent Atomic Bomb Tests

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON, July 31. (AP)—The United States Atomic Energy Commission is planning "much more frequent tests" of its weapons in the future. This was announced yesterday at a press conference in connection with AEC's 10th semi-annual report to Congress. The report was made public today. At the conference it was also disclosed that the United States has developed some weapons that have a bigger "bang" — that is, greater "energy release" — than others. The commission said that was one reason why some weapons have been tested in remote Eniwetok while others with lesser "bang" have been tested in Nevada.

"One of the considerations (in choosing testing grounds) is hurting somebody," chairman Gordon Dean of the AEC told reporters. "When they get very large (in energy-releasing capacity) we take them away from people."

The commission did not make it clear whether the weapons differed in actual physical size. The AEC previously has disclosed that it is working on the development of atomic warheads for guided missiles and artillery shells as well as on bombs.

AEC Report

To Congress, AEC reported:

1. Continued progress so far in 1951 in military and peacetime applications of the atom—including advances towards developing atomic-powered submarines and aircraft.

2. Increased acquisition of uranium ores and stepped-up production of fissionable materials from them.

3. Achievement by the United States of the No. 2 spot making "the free nations" in production of uranium—second only to the Belgian Congo. (Sumner Pike, a commission member, said some time ago that the US had surpassed Canada to take over second place.)

The commission announced completion of an experimental device with which it hopes to determine whether it will be actually possible to "breed" or create new atomic fuel at a rate faster than operating fuel is consumed. First operation of the "breeder" is scheduled to takep lace in about two or three weeks."

Hydrogen Bomb

There was no mention in the report to Congress of how things are going on the projected hydrogen bomb.

New advances toward developing atomic energy machines designed to power submarines and aircraft were listed among the progress items in the military field.

In various other fields of atomic endeavor AEC reported:

1. Laboratory experiments have given hope of eventually finding a treatment for saving people exposed to heavy doses of radiation during atomic bombings or accidents.

2. Production and distribution of American-made radioactive isotopes—the atomic program's first definite contribution to peaceful application of the atom's power—have been increased.

3. New aplications for the materials in industrial, agricultural and medical fields were found.

These included studies designed to determine exactly how a cow produces milk; a new remote-control technique for measuring the water content of snowfall on mountain slopes; and a new method for testing the efficiency of rust-preventives.

Russia Ties Up Satellites In Contracts

BERLIN, July 31 (AP)—Russia intends to tie up the output of its satellites this year with new five-year trade agreements, Berlin sources reported today.

East Germany indicated the Kremlin's plan by announcing that Soviet-German talks on a five-year trade treaty would start here Aug. 15.

Henrich Rau, chief of economics for the Soviet zone government, also instructed his staff to prepare data for additional conferences on five-year agreements with Poland, Czechoslovakia, Red China, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

Foreign quarters interpreted the move to mean that Moscow has decided its economic course for the next five years and now wants to guide all its pro-Communist neighbors along that course.

Whether it will be a five-year "peace" or "war" economy is a Soviet secret. The progress of the Korean armistice talks might be a tipoff in his direcion.

The last Russian five-year plan expired in April and there have been no announcements out of Moscow for the future.

Soviet trade relations with the satellites have been on a short-term basis up to now. This has kept the Soviet Union in a flexible position to shift her demands.

UK May Invest In Alberta Oil

LONDON, July 31 (CP)—Hugh Gaitskell, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said today he would authorize British capital investment in Alberta oil development "if I am satisfied a sufficiently-good case exists."

Gaitskell was replying to a question put in the House of Commons by Conservative Nigel Fisher.

Some members have criticized the government for not encouraging British investment in the Alberta fields. Gaitskell would have to authorize the use of scarce dollars to make it possible.

Answering Conservative Anthony Hurd on another question, Gaitskell said Britain bought 54,000 tons of feed wheat and 50,000 tons of barley from Canada this year to supplement farm feed. He said it would not be in the public interest to disclose the extent of further authorizations for the purchase of low-grade wheat and coarse grains in Canada.

Royal Pair Approves Canada Tour Plans

OTTAWA, July 31 — (CP). — Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh have approved the itinerary for their October visit to Canada and it likely will be made public later this week, it was learned today.

The itinerary has been returned to Canada and now awaits study and approval by the Canadian Cabinet. However, this is expected to be a formality. Cabinet meets today and Thursday.

Contents of the itinerary are a state secret, but the Royal couple is expected to land at Quebec City about October 1 or 2. The itinerary will take them to as many Canadian centres as possible and still keep within the Princess' request that the tour be kept informal.

The Royal couple is expected to spend one week on a private holiday, probably on the west coast, and to make a side trip to Washington and New York.

Mrs. Jane Battelle

BANCROFT, July 31 (ENS)—The funeral of Mrs. Eliza Jane Battelle was held Sunday from the chapel of the Sandercock Funeral Home.

The late Mrs. Battelle who had been ill for five years was a resident of Bancroft for 30 years. Born 81 years ago, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Phillips of England. Her husband predeceased her a number of years ago.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Edna Battelle of Bancroft and Mrs. W. Stringer of Toronto; and two sons, John and Hubert of Bancroft.

Interment was in Mount Pleasant cemetery, with Rev. K. Cutler officiating.

The bearers were Stewart Burgess, Jack Stewart, Allan Loney, Cleveland Loney, W. Baumhour, D. Munro.

426 HONORED—Canada's 426 (Thunderbird Squadron has completed year's successful run on the Korean airlift. In recognition of the feat, the squadron received with U.S. Military Transport Service flag. In return, the Americans were presented with a hand-painted copy of the Thunderbird badge. At the ceremony at Dorval airport were, left to right: Col. W. W. Goss, U.S air transport chief; Wing Cmdr J. K. MacDonald, 326 commanding officer; C. M. Drury, deputy defence minister; and Air Commodore A. D. Ross, RCA.F air transport chief

Gamblers Fix Horse Races At Fort Erie

TORONTO, July 31 — (CP).—The Telegram says today in a newspage story that a "well-heeled gang of gamblers" has attempted, with success in some cases, to "fix" horse races at the Fort Erie track by bribing jockeys.

In a dispatch from Fort Erie, the newspaper says many of the gamblers are from the United States, but recently have worked out of Toronto.

The story was published as the Ontario Racing Commission met in special session at the Fort Erie track to investigate conditions which last week resulted in the commission barring jockeys Bobby Keane and Phil Marchese from Ontario tracks for life. It was alleged that they were connected with "fixed" races.

Police Protection

A third jockey, Alfred Nash, was said to have been placed under police protection after he told authorities that he had been approached to pull his horse in a Fort Erie race. He refused.

The Telegram story says:

"Suspension of the two jockeys —Keane is from Toronto, Marchese is from the US, and not known too well in these parts—is just the beginning.

"Bookmakers last week were not having any part of large bets on Fort Erie races as the rumblings 'the fix was in' grew stronger.

"Gamblers known to the big-city circuit in the US are the targets of the Racing Commission. They have approached jockeys with big money.

"Method of operation was to pay off jockeys to hold in their horses and assist another horse, 'the one the gamblers had their money on,' to get home in front.

"While all this has been going on, thousands of dollars bet with bookies on Fort Erie races under scrutiny have not been paid off. And the boycott on large bets is still on.

"Police won't even make a guess as to the number of jockeys or gamblers involved. One official put it this way: 'There are so many people hooked up in this whole thing it's impossible to figure numbers with any degree of accuracy'."

The Telegram quotes an unidentified police official as saying:

"'At the moment, it appears as if there were very few of our own citizens mixed up in the affair. Investigation to date has mainly uncovered the fact that the men involved were from many parts of the United States, including New York and Chicago, who travel from track to track looking for a "soft" spot in the race set-up to swing a deal'."

Well-Known Chinese Chef Dies; Ill Briefly

One of the best-known members of the local Chinese community, Stanley Chan Bong, 52, of 295 George St., died Tuesday in hospital. Death came after a short illness.

He lived in Peterborough 12 years and was best known as a chef. For the last year-and-a-half he was chef at the Grand Hotel.

He was born in Sun Moy, China, and before coming to Peterborough he lived in Toronto.

Mr. Bong was a member of George St. United church.

The funeral will be 3:30 p.m. Thursday at the Belleghem funeral home, the Rev. Arnold Mathews of George Street United church officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Peaceful Use Of Power Of Atom Long Time Off

LONDON, July 31 (AP)—Development of British atomic power stations to substantial output "is likely to take a generation at least," the government's scientific advisory council reported today.

The council is composed of scientists appointed by the government to give expert advice on the public use of scientific research.

There is a "reasonable prospect" that atomic power can eventually be produced at about the same price as electric power produced by coal, it said.

Ernie Evans Buried Was CCL Organizer

The funeral service for Ernie Evans, 60, Canadian Congress of Labor representative in Peterborough, was held today in New Toronto.

A general representative of the CCL for the last nine years, one of his most recent assignments was organizing the production and office workers at the Outboard Marine plant. He was also heading negotiations for the local garage and automotive employees.

He died Saturday after two severe heart attacks within three days. At the time he was vacationing with his family at Parry Sound.

Mr. Evans was vice-president of the CCL Amalgamated Building and Construction Workers Union. He came to Canada from Liverpool in 1910 as a carpenter. And he has been identified with the labor movement since.

He leaves a widow, two daughters and four sons, all of Etobicoke.

Government Official Goes Before Board

WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP)—Oliver Edmund Clubb, director of the state department's office of Chinese affairs, goes before the department's loyalty security board to answer undisclosed charges.

Clubb's appearance before the secret panel follows full clearance yesterday by the panel of John Paton Davies, Jr., another career diplomat. The state department said Davies had been heard and cleared on both loyalty and security questions.

Both men were suspended from duty June 27 pending hearings.

Thomas Fitzgerald Armstrong, Cavan Township, died suddenly Monday.

He leaves four sisters, Mrs. S. S. Staples (Mildred), Peterborough, Miss Helena Armstrong, Toronto, Mrs. William Hutchinson (Isabella), Peterborough, and Miss Hazel Armstrong at home, and one brother Alfred H., Toronto.

The funeral will be held at the MacPherson Funeral Home, Millbrook, Wednesday, at 2 p.m. The Rev. A. A. Chote will conduct the service. Burial will be in St. Paul's Cemetery, Cavan.

Hospital Renovation Starts At Old Civic

Information that came to the Council recently indicated that in the financing of the purchase of the Nicholls Hospital property 40 members of the Pentecostal Assemblies here and there throughout the country had guaranteed a bond of $40,000. That was an average of $1,000 by each guarantor. The deed of the property is still in the hands of the city until final payment has been made.

City Solicitor W. F. Huycke, KC, informed the Council that the closing of the details of purchase and transfer were expected at any time now.

In the meantime, the Rev. Tarry Found, president of the college for which the old hospital was purchased, has occupied rooms in the building with his family, and work of renovating is under way.

Feared Lost, Two Men SpendNightUnderBoat

LINDSAY, July 31. — Two Lindsay men, one a member of the town Police Department, were feared lost on Tyres Mountain Friday night.

Constable John Hunter and a friend, Roy Taverner, left Friday to investigate the fishing possibilities on the mountain. Hunter did not turn up for duty at the police station at midnight. An early morning search was organized to find the missing men.

The two men turned up in Bobcaygeon on Saturday niin.

They explained that while fishing on the lake, a storm and night made it impossible for them to find the landing. They turned over the boat for protection and spent the night there. In the morning the boat was launched and the landing was reached, and they proceeded to Bobcaygeon.

Ben-Gurion Leads Israel Vote

Reds Rebuffed As Labor Party Takes Early Lead

TEL AVIV, Israel, July 31.—(AP)—Complete returns from Jerusalem showed today that Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion's Mapai (Labor) party won 37 per cent of the vote there in yesterday's parliamentary elections. Observers expected Ben-Gurion's party to maintain this pace around the country.

Holy City voters sharply rebuffed the Communists, giving them only two per cent of the total.

The Conservative General Zionist party, which claimed the backing of American Jewry, was second with 12 per cent in Jerusalem, the first city to complete returns.

The Mapai won 46,000 votes in 200 polling stations in Tel Aviv, Israel's largest city, with the General Zionists second with 36,000 out of a 136,000 total. The Nationalist right wing "Cheruth" party was third with 14,000.

Conceals Population

Compiling election returns in Israel is complicated by the fact that the country still is technically at war with its Arab neighbors. For that reason some of the figures are given in percentages and some in figures in order not to reveal the exact distribution of the population.

There were 17 parties competing for 880,000 votes throughout Israel in elections for the 120 seat knesset (parliament)in the country's second election in its three-year history.

Observers were surprised by the poor showing made by the Communists and the pro-Russian Mapai.

Educator Dies Crash Injuries

WINDSOR, July 31 (CP). — Charles Quienneville, 45, widely-known educationist in western Ontario and manager of the Tilbury Farmers' Co-operative, died in hospital Monday night of injuries suffered in an automobile collision at Woodslee, 15 miles east of here.

Clifford Trepanier, 20, of Tecumseh, and Fergus Dillon of Windsor, driver and passenger in the other car, are both in hospital with severe injuries.

Mr. Quenneville was a former business administrator of the Separate School Board.

At one time he was a member of the Lowe Vocational School teaching staff in Windsor. He was the author of a textbook on elementary economics which was used in Ontario schools for many years.

He left Windsor during the early war years to serve as secretary to the president and general manager of the Provincial Bank of Canada in Montreal. He returned to Windsor in 1948 and taught school in Rodney for one year.

Police said the car Mr. Quenneville was driving, a 1940 model, struck Trepanier's car broadside at an intersection. Both automobiles were wrecked.

Prices Drift Down On Market

TORONTO, July 31 (CP) — Stock market prices drifted a little lower today in early dealings. Volume for the first three hours was 883,000 shares.

Industrials were lower with declines mostly fractional. Steels, liquors, refining oils and banks showed a majority of losses. Manufacturing companies and agricultures were mixed while papers, utilities and foods weakened. Retail stores tended a little higher.

Base metal gains and losses were about balanced. Anacon Lead, Consolidated Smelters, Estella, Falconbridge, Silver Standard and Castle climbed pennies. Ascot, East Sullivan, Sherritt-Gordon and Steep Rock slipped a little lower.

Western oils were fairly mixed.

Senior golds slipped fractionally as Dome, Giant Yellowknife, Hollinger and McIntyre declined. Secondary golds were mixed.

Head Of Harwell May Leave Post

LONDON, July 31 —(AP)—Sir John Cockcroft may quit as head of Britain's atomic research establishment at Harwell, the supply ministry announced last night.

London newspapers have been predicting that the 54-year-old physicist, who has headed the Harwell project since 1946, would resign to become the British cabinet's top adviser on defence research.

The supply ministry said "the question of a successor to Sir John Cockcroft is under consideration against the possibility of his resigning."

Newspaper reports have said Cockcroft will be succeeded by Dr. Basil F. J. Schonland, 55, now director of the Bernard Price Institute of Geophysics at Johannesburg, South Africa.

PUBLIC MEETING BY CITY COUNCIL

A public hearing of the ratepayers of the City of Peterborough will be held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, Peterborough, on Thursday evening, August 2nd, commencing at 7.30 o'clock, by the City Council, in respect to the request made to the City Council by the Board of Education of the City of Peterborough that the Council issue debentures for an additional sum of $65,000 toward the cost of the new Collegiate Institute to be built on the west side of Monaghan Road, immediately south of Gillespie Street.

The Board of Education originally requested the City Council to issue debentures for the sum of $585,000 and this debenture by-law was submitted to the ratepayers at the last Municipal Election and a majority of the ratepayers favoured the issuing of these debentures.

The Board of Education has informed the City Council that an additional sum of $65,000 is required to construct and furnish the proposed school, if the school is to include a gymnasium, as originally planned.

Under the High Schools Act, Revised Statutes of Ontario 1950, Section 48, Sub-section 7, Municipal Councils may pass by-laws for the purpose of raising or borrowing money required by the Board of Education for permanent improvements to school buildings, without submitting a by-law to the vote of the electors. In view of these Statutes, the Ontario Municipal Board is prepared to approve the issuing of these debentures, if the City Council requests the Municipal Board to do so.

At the special meeting of the City Council to be held on Thursday evening, August 2nd, the Council proposes to give first and second readings to a by-law entitled, "A By-law Authorizing the Borrowing of $65,000 Upon Debentures for Permanent Improvements, Namely, the Construction of a New Collegiate Institute."

However, before considering the passing of the by-law, the Council invites all ratepayers having interest in this matter to attend this meeting and make any representations they desire concerning the proposed passing of this by-law by the City Council.

Members of the Board of Education will be present at this meeting to explain the reasons that have caused the Board to decide unanimously that the gymnasium is required as part of the new Collegiate Building and to answer any questions

Dated at Peterborough, this 26th day of July, 1951.

E. A. OUTRAM,
City Clerk.

CHIEF OF "THE LITTLE FOXES", stunning Pegi Brown (at top of staircase) in the role of Regina Giddens, cruelly dominates her gentle sister-in-law Birdie (Kate Reid) whose hair has whitened and wits scattered; and her own daughter Alexandra Giddns, played by Ann Murray. This is the strongest drama which the Summer Theatre has brought to the Queen Mary stage this season.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Expedition Hunts For Lost City

JOHANNESBURG (CP). — An expedition is preparing here under Francois Balsam for another search for the "Lost City" of the ancient Kalahari Desert in Nortrern Cape Province.

Balsam said that on his last trip to the region three years ago he believes he came within 30 miles or so of the ruins. These were first seen in 1885 and roughly located northeast of Kjikji.

J. D. Herholdt ,one of three Johannesburg men who claim to have discovered the city, said that on their last visit to the ruins they saw two huge tombs cut out of the solid rock on a hillside, and in front of each tomb was a huge rock covered with strange carvings.

The region between the Zambesi and the Orange Rivers is not entirely desert, for at different times of the year large tracts are covered with grass and scrub providing cover for game. Natives of the region, including Bushmen and Balakahari, number about 50,000 and live chiefly by hunting.

PIONEER SWIMMER—First person to swim the Northumberland Strait between Prince Edward Island and the mainland is 23-year-old nurse Evelyn Henry of Keppoch, P.E.I. She made the crossing in eight hours and 49 minutes. Surface distance is about nine miles, but strong tides stretched the swimming distance to about 15 miles. An expert swimmer and horseman, she made the attempt because "I just wanted to see if I could swim that far."

Outdoor Service Held At Woodland Estate

CAMPBELLFORD, July 31 — (ENS)—An outdoor church service, under the direction of the Young Adult Fellowship of the Campbellford Baptist Church was held at the Woodland Estate, Healey Falls on Sunday. The service included recorded music under the direction of G. I. Blair.

Rev. H. S. Staples of the Campbellford Baptist Church directed the meeting, in which Marshall Heinbaugh of the Philadelphia Opera Company sang "God Will Take Care Of You". Mrs. A. P. Rowe, Bolton, accompanied at the piano.

Mrs. H. S. Staples read the scripture lesson, and Douglas Nicholas thanked all who had taken part in the outdoor service.

Rev. John McGibbon of Christ Church, Campbellford, was the guest speaker. Rev. McKibbon spoke on "Wasted Values" and told his listeners to stop and take stock of themselves.

Plant On Vacation

CAMPBELLFORD, July 31 — (ENS)—The Campbellford Cloth Company, Campbellford's main industry, has closed down for two weeks holidays with more than 200 employees taking their vacations. This makes the town a quiet place, and is particularly noticeable around noon, with none of the usual noonday rush period.

Results Of By-Elections May Set Date Of UK Vote

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON

LONDON, July 31 (CP).—Britain faces the prospect of major tests of party strength next month in two vital parliamentary by-elections which may serve as rehearsals for an early general election.

The vacancies are in the Lancashire riding of Droylesden, caused by the death of Labor member Rev. G. S. Woods, and the Conservative-held Lanark, opened up by a call to the Upper House of Lord Dunglass following the death of his father, the Earl of Home.

Supporters of Government and opposition forces alike point to both seats as ideal testing ground.

In a straight fight against labor in the last general election, the Tories won Lanark, a Scottish seat, by 685 votes in a poll of 40,000, while Labor carried Droylesden by a majority of 4,136 in a three-cornered fight which brought out more than 51,000 votes.

The Liberal party, whose candidate polled 5,483 votes in that contest, has decided against entering the fight and Conservatives are counting on a clear field against Labor.

Their hopes have been raised by the latest public-opinion poll, which gave them an 8½ per cent. lead over Labor. In a straight fight, they contend, such a swing of support would produce a Conservative victory.

If they succeed it will constitute the first Socialist by-election reverse in six years. Sixteen by-elections have been held since the present House was elected in February, 1950, without a single change in party representation.

At Westminster opinion is about evenly divided on the chances of an autumn general election.

There is common agreement, however, among Government supporters that ministerial differences prevail over the timing of an appeal to the country. These factions are reported to be lined up in three main groups:

1. Those favoring a test of the mood of the electorate in the two by-elections. Proponents of this view would call an immediate general election if Labor won both seats, but mark time if the results show no change or the opposition registers a gain.

2. A strong group advocating a "wait-and-see" policy in the hope of early improvement in the international and domestic pictures.

3. A small number urging an early appeal to the country, even if it involved cancellation of the Labor conference, scheduled for the first week in October. Supporters of this move say it would forestall a showdown with the fiery Aneurin Bevan, former Labor minister, over the rearmament program and other issues.

Meanwhile, reports were circulated by the anti-Socialist weekly Recorder that a serious rift had developed in the higher echelon of the Conservative party. It charged that a move had been initiated by a group of party malcontents to oust Winston Churchill from the party leadership.

The paper says this group is rebelling against the Conservative leader's support of the Government's policy of patience with Iran in the oil crisis.

On the strength of these reports the Recorder is conducting a poll of Conservative MP's to find out whether they prefer to fight the next election under Churchill or without him.

Present standing in the 625-member House Labor, 313; Conservatives and allies (including speaker), 297; Liberals, 9; Irish Nationalists, 2; Independent, 1; Unionist, 1; vacant, 2. Total—625.

'The Little Foxes' Powerfully Done By Summer Theatre

By T. J. ALLEN

"The Little Foxes", a play by Lillian Hellman made famous by Tallulah Bankhead on stage and Bette Davis on the screen, is very different from anything else the Summer Theatre has done this season. It is a serious and psychological drama displaying the passions of hate and greed as sharply as the modern stage has done it. It is not a lovable or kindly play—the Hubbards are a despicable, hateful lot—and there is very little comedy to relieve its bite. The players last night held the audience enthralled. It saw and felt the cankers of covetousness and guile eating the hearts of men and women, driving a gentle wife to drink, a daughter to despair, and killing a husband. It is a strong play; it was powerfully done.

The story in brief is this: Two Hubbard brothers and their ambitious, equally contriving sister of the southern States marry into and gain control over decent, decaying southern gentry, and ruthlessly destroy them and exploit the poor whites and negroes of their town. The social implications of the play are important but fortunately for its dramatic impact, do not overwhelm the disclosure of the personal motives of the chief characters.

Pegi Brown In Lead

Pegi Brown, a newcomer to Peterborough but not to Canadian radio and stage, takes the leading part of Regina, made famous by Tallulah Bankhead and Bette Davis. She is a fine and beautiful actress and played with great poise and force. She is a superb figure on stage and, incidentally, her gowns are stunning.

Constant Summer Theatre goers must be impressed by the versatility and growth in artistry of the permanent company. Here on stage last night were actors who have gained popularity and established reputations for their comedy, sentimental touch, light romance, their parts as ingenuous young things. Last night they were in different guises.

Artistic Versatility

Peter Mews and Oscar Hubbard was bluffly cunning, roughly harsh, inept in wickedness. Frank Perry was a sneaky son. Gerry Sarracini was the bachelor brother Hubbard, strong in his malefaction, amoral in his principles—he made significant use of his profile, his jaw, his hands and his laugh; a subtle characterization. Kate Reid was astoundingly effective as the wilted gentlewoman (Birdie) married and marred by one of the Hubbards. When she was on stage she shared its centre of interest with Pegi Brown. It was as sure a dramatic realization as I have seen Miss Reid give.

The negro maid, Addie, was played by Lane Drury who secured the confidence of the audience as well as of her young charge Alexandra (Ann Murray), the daughter of Regina and her ailing husband Horace Gliddens. Horace was poignantly played by Bill Needles. Manservant Cal was done by Ron Bailey, and it is to his credit that he made the part more than a stock caricature. George Cobb made a brief appearance in the first act as the Chicago entrepreneur William Marshall.

It was a pulsating, sincere production of impressive, dramatic contours. Characters were well defined and differentiated. The stage setting was visual proof of the thoroughness with which this theatre group attacks its work. I have never seen a Southern plantation home, but the illusion on the Queen Mary stage is sufficient. I particularly admired the stairway, the vista of dining-room and the colored window on the staircase landing.

The play continues all week. Do not go if you fear having your heart drained to the lees. Director of the play is William Needles.

Girls Look After Institute Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD, July 23 — (ENS) — The Seymour West Women's Institute held their July meeting in the form of a "Girls' Day" when they met at the home of Mrs. E. Fairman.

Mrs. Donald Rutherford read a letter from Miss Kennedy, who is a missionary in India, thanking the ladies for the parcel of Sunday school papers they had sent her.

After the business period, Mrs. Thomas Campbell took the chair for the following program:

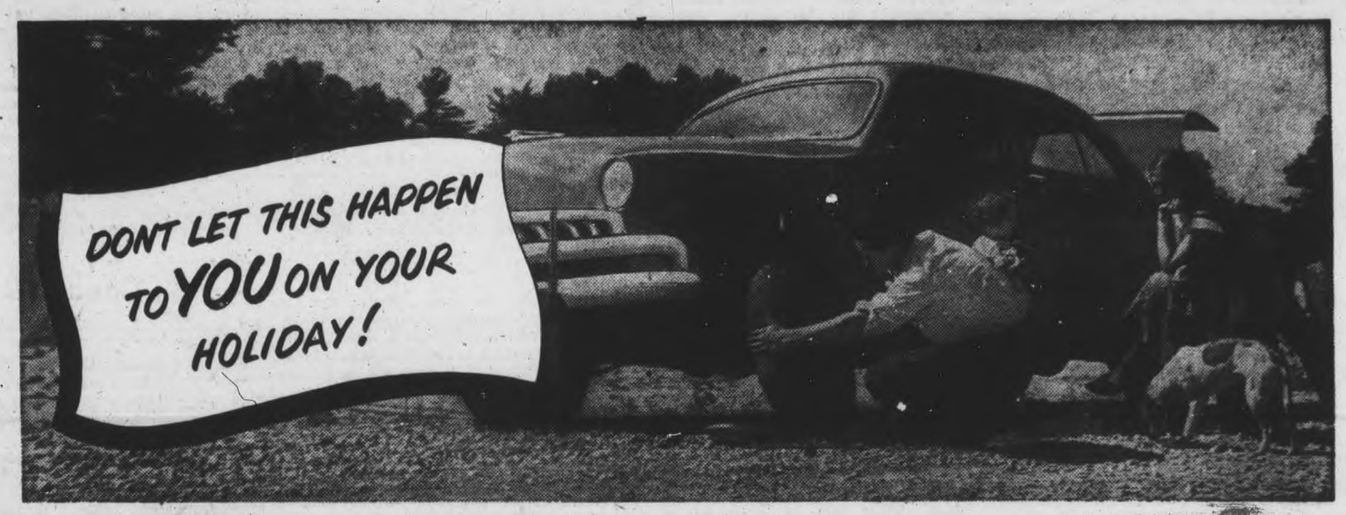
A talk on a recent trip to Peterborough by the girls was given by Iona Bright. The places of interest the girls and their ader visited were Silverwood' Dairy, Quaker Oats, the Lift Lock, Empress Hotel, the Peterborough Examiner and the Brinton Carpet Factory. Marilyn Rutherford played a piano solo and Joyce Bright gave a reading. Lois and Joan McCulloch gave a vocal duet and Laurine Bright played a selection on her guitar.

Dorothy Fairman gave a three-minute comment on the "Cereal Shelf." She had on display 20 different kinds of cereals, and told how these could be made into interesting dishes. The girls each received a silver teaspoon for the two projects they completed, last summer's Garden Club and the Cereal Shelf project. The presentations were made by Mrs. Allan Lewis, president of the Institute.

British Admiral Dies, Organized Convoys

LONDON, July 31 — (AP) — Admiral Sir Max Kennedy Horton, 68, organizer of the screen which guarded American convoys to Britain in the Second World War, died Monday.

He was famous as a submarine commander in the First World War. He sank the first German ship of that war, the light cruiser Helm, in Helgoland Bight and later sank a German destroyer at the mouth of the Ems River.



He retired from the Royal Navy in 1945.

Toronto Police Arrest Two Holdup Suspects

TORONTO, July 31 — (CP) — Two more suspects in the Bradford bank robbery last Thursday were rounded up Monday—at gunpoint.

Police fired five shots after one man before he surrendered after a chase through suburban Parkdale. The other suspect was arrested in a downtown roominghouse by detectives with drawn guns.

The two, held on charges of vagrancy, are being questioned in connection with the $4,200 robbery. Three men, arrested last week, are still being held.

What Is The Kremlin Up To?

Has Russia really had enough of the Cold War, or is it merely trying to lull the West into feeling that it has, and while the West dozes, will launch a major offensive, military or political?

• • •

Moscow sponsored the original move for an armistice in Korea, be it remembered. Less than a fortnight ago one of its war heroes who has been in total eclipse for the last four years emerged in Poland as the chief speaker for Russia's armed forces. This Marshal Zhukov, Soviet commander-in-chief during the last phases of the war, got along well with the Western allies in Berlin and is known to believe in the necessity of co-operation with the war-time Allies. A new Soviet English-language magazine News has recently appeared. There was much advance Russian publicity about it as a journal established to promote "closer understanding between the people of the Soviet Union and the Anglo-Saxon world."

• • •

Has the Kremlin found the Cold War too expensive? Has the strength and determination of the West forced Russia into a peaceful attitude? If it has, this will be the great victory of the Korean War, and its justification. But there are doubts in Western minds, and deep suspicions. President Truman in Detroit last Saturday urged the Americans not to relax their defensive effort. General J. A. Van Fleet, commander of the Eighth Army in Korea, has issued a troop order. In spite of hopes of peace in Korea, "we must be alert at all times", the order reads. "We must not and will not permit this great United Nations Army to become a victim of a Communist ambush." The order is almost routine under the circumstances of cease-fire discussions; such orders were given to troops in Europe a few hours before the German surrender, when rumours of peace were rife. But the tone of General Van Fleet's order is not usual: a phrase such as "a Communist ambush" smacks of tense suspicion.

• • •

Whether Russia is moving towards honest conciliation or to renewed conflict remains to be seen. The West is unduly nervous about every Russian move. Is it not strong enough to keep its head and, where there are words of peace, to hear them without frenzied suspicion?

The new Soviet magazine News, for instance has been chewed page by page by every western commentator who has had his eyes on it. Of course it is propaganda; but it could conceivably be propaganda on the side of mutual understanding between the Russian and Anglo-Saxon worlds. In it Moscow is taking a tricky approach: to promote understanding between Russia and the U.S.A., and Russia and the British separately, but not together. On one page News woos American prejudice against Britain; on another British suspicion of the U.S.A. It reminds the Americans that the Empress Catherine II "refused to support England's hostile policy towards the United States." On the opposite page an article tells the British that while they "lived through the ferocious bombing of Coventry or London" the Americans made "a net profit of 53 billion dollars" out of the war. It tells Commonwealth people that "the first purpose (of the Pacific Pact) is definitely and finally—if gradually—to detach Australia and New Zealand from the Commonwealth, and economically to the United States, just as Canada has already been virtually detached and subordinated." This is propaganda—but people brought up in a western democracy may be expected to keep their heads level above it.

Salute To A Salad

From out the bush where men are men and meat is the stuff of life has come the king of salads or the queen of salad-makers. (Canada may perhaps still claim such regal titles since this country is not yet a republic, although the Postmaster General has abolished 'Royal Mail' to the bush and all the Kingdom of Canada.) Specifically, Mrs. Walker Ohlman has been named the champion salad-maker of Canada and her Chef's Salad Bowl the prize dish in a Canada-wide (whoopee!) contest. The contest was sponsored and administered by the magazine Chatelaine.

Now, the weird and wonderful thing about the whole shebang is this: women in every province, in big cities and small; women renowned as cooks or trained in the best schools of domestic science; women who have made a high cult of salads in homes where husbands are never allowed a morsel of meat; women who exist on and for salads—from all these actual and possible contenders, Mrs. Doreen Ohlman who lives eight isolated miles from Plevna, Ontario, won this contest. That is the verdict of chief dietitians and professors of household economics throughout Canada who judged the entries in regional and national centres.

Plevna is a hamlet a dozen miles north of Mountain Grove on No. 7 Highway. Mountain Grove is about half-way between Ottawa and Peterborough; there is, we believe, a gas station at Mountain Grove and a place to buy a few groceries. The winner does not live in as settled a part of the country as that. She lives eight miles beyond Plevna, which is well north of the highway, in the remotest corner of Frontenac County. It was out of this Land o' Lakes and timber and fishermen and hunters that the King of Salads came; that is where its Queen lives.

Doreen Ohlman has had no training as a dietition, so we read. Her home is in the wilds; she has no super market in which to shop; no exotic ingredients are available to her. Rocks and speckled trout and bass and deer abound at her back door, but none of these went into the salad.

Ah! What is this bowl of kings, this prize salad? We feel that in justice to the creator and creation we must publish it, even though Chef's Salad Bowl by Mrs. Walker Ohlman may be a copyrighted concoction. Here it is:

CHEF'S SALAD BOWL

1 head lettuce
1 cup diced cucumbers
1 green pepper, cut in narrow strips
1 cup ham or luncheon meat cut in strips
3 hard-cooked eggs, quartered
2 tomatoes cut in wedges
½ to ¾ cup French dressing
1 tablespoon crumbled blue cheese
1 tablespoon catsup

Break lettuce in bite size pieces in salad bowl. Add cucumber, green pepper, ham, eggs and tomatoes. Combine remaining ingredients. Mix thoroughly. Pour over salad and toss lightly. For a main course, or serve in individual dishes.

Well, that is the great Canadian salad. It looks, in its theory, very tasty. If Plevna were only a little closer (it is 100 miles north-east of Peterborough) and the mails a little quicker, we would beseech Mrs. Ohlman to send us an edible copy. Big as it is—and the judges say it is a meal in itself—we might also like to have her send, just to top off the salad, one of those abounding deer or speckled trout from her back door.

A Nice Bit Of Loot

An American sergeant, member of an Eighth Army reconnaissance team in Korea, sent a souvenir "picked up in Seoul" home to his mother. Soldiers are as keen to have souvenirs as any other travellers, and they have an unusual opportunity to pick up little nick-nacks free. Thus tens of thousands of souvenirs from Italy and Holland and Germany have found their ways into Canadian homes. But the American sergeant outdid others. He sent home a souvenir rug which the Korean Consul-General in New York says is worth "$100,000, if such a priceless national treasure can have a price tag."

The rug, measuring 18 feet 11 inches by 8 feet, is made of 48 matched leopard skins. The sergeant himself must have felt that he had got his hands on something a bit unusual, for he said in a letter to his parents "The gook (Korean) who sold it to me said it was worth at least $25,000 and it came from the Chang Duk Palace in Seoul." The "Gook" underestimated the value, but was right about its original home. It had been presented as a state gift to the late Queen Min who was assassinated by the Japanese shortly before Japan annexed Korea. It was among other fabulous gifts presented her by Eastern potentates.

Souvenirs like this are evidence of looting far beyond the scope of most Canadians in the last war. But Americans do things in a big way. In the last war they were known to have capitalized on the loot which they sent home to such an extent that some returned to find comparative riches waiting for them: the cash value of looted old paintings, valuable jewels and the like. Canadian soldiers might have envied their American brethren, but they lacked either the same gumption or opportunity. Canadian Army postal regulations were quite strict, and parcels for mailing home had to be within certain weight and size limits. The American sergeant in Seoul who liberated the large rug wrapped it up in a duffle bag and paid $39.20 to send it home to his mother by air mail.

The Korean Ambassador to Washington, Dr. Yang Yu Chan has rightly said that "it is a very odd souvenir for a soldier to send home." He is making enquiries. So, presumably, is the American Army. Who knows what other big deals this and other soldiers have been pulling in liberated South Korea? Perhaps it is time for the U.N. Army commander to put up a sign in Seoul: "The Looting Period Is Now Ended." It could borrow the same sign which the Canadian Army put up at the entrance to Ortona, a week after that Italian town was captured.

We read that a depressed state of mind may be caused by lack of sulphur in the body. Does this suggest that the cure for depression is to get lit up?

Soviet "News" New Policy?

By
W. N. EWER
(U.K. Information Office)

I CAN see no ground at all for thinking—as many people seem to have thought—that the publication of the new Moscow English-language periodical News is a symptom of a change or of any coming change in Soviet policy.

For the thesis, both of the editorial and of the chief articles, is a very familiar one in Soviet propaganda: the peoples of the world desire peace; the Soviet Union stands for, and works for, peace; but the peace of the world is threatened by "the men who are planning to bring down upon humanity the catastrophe of atomic war".

✧ ✧ ✧

"THE British Government of today", writes the academician Tarle, "demonstratively proclaims its readiness to take an active part in any attack the transatlantic powers may decide to launch against the Soviet Union whenever it considers it opportune and convenient". He accuses the "Labour Ministers" of "savage and grossly provocative utterances". This is hardly the language of conciliation. And it is certainly not new.

Nor did Mr. Molotov who, a few days after the publication of News, made one of his rare utterances, strike any new or any conciliatory note. "We must not forget for one minute that the governments of the imperialist powers will resort to all kinds of undermining and vile actions in order to send into our countries their hired agents, and will not grudge any money to send spies, saboteurs and provocateurs".

THE whole content of News is, in fact, merely a repetition of one of the most familiar themes of Soviet propaganda: the innocence and the peaceful intentions of Russia; the malevolence of warmongering of the "imperialist governments". It marks no change, and suggests no coming change, in policy.

The interest of the articles—especially of Tarle's contribution on Anglo-Soviet relations—lies neither in the theme, which is hackneyed, nor in its purpose, which is obvious, but in its handling. From beginning to end, Tarle does not use a single Marxist argument. He is Soviet Russia's leading historian, but he deals with the history of Anglo-Russian relations as if neither Marx nor Engels nor Lenin had ever written a word. He treats his problem as that of the relation between two great imperial powers, as identical with that of the relations between Britain and Tsarist Russia "in all the long centuries". That throws an interesting light on present-day Stalinist doctrine.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is no attempt to disprove or deny that Soviet Russia today is as imperial as Tsarist Russia. That is accepted, and indeed assumed, as the basis of the whole argument. For that argument is, first, that history shows that, given the desire, British and Russian statesmen can come to terms in spite of "imperialist proclivities": and, second, that Britain has nothing to fear from Russia today, because "if ever in modern history a 'saturated state' existed, that state is the Soviet union as it exists today".

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS application of Bismarck's famous phrase about imperial Germany to Soviet Russia by a Soviet historian is startling in its naivete. Certainly Russia might well feel for the moment saturated. She has absorbed three European republics; she has annexed territory from five others: she has brought five theoretically independent countries—as well as Eastern Germany—under her complete domination. It is a satiety greater than any of which Bismarck ever dreamed.

But Tarle conveniently forgets that Germany's saturation, after the annexation of Alsace and Lorraine, did not last many years. This "saturated" state was soon seeking more lebensraum in Africa and the Middle East.

AND the real cause of world tension today is precisely that nobody can feel in the least sure that the Soviet rulers are satisfied even with the vast conquests they have made. "After all", says Tarle, as if it were a self-evident and generally accepted truth, "the Soviet Union has no designs on a single foot of any foreign territory, whether in Europe, Asia or any other part of the world".

But is this so self-evident as the academician would have us believe? Mr. Molotov declared in 1940 that "the territorial aspirations of the Soviet Union centre south of the national territory of the Soviet Union in the direction of the Indian Ocean." That aspiration has been neither fulfilled nor renounced. The Soviet government has demanded bases on the Bosporos and the Dardanelles; and Soviet official propagandists have demanded the cession by Turkey to the Soviet Union of Kars and Ardahan. All this is scarcely evidence of a saturation on which the world can comfortably rely as an adequate guarantee of peace.

NOR are these bland assurances of any value as evidence. That is the real trouble. They may at the moment and for the moment be genuine enough. It may well be that, faced by the evident determination of the Western Powers to oppose further aggression, if necessary by arms, the Soviet Government has come to the conclusion that it will be wise to pursue a policy of prudence and even of peaceful co-operation. If so, as the Manchester Guardian remarked the other day, "It will be the greatest vindication of rearmament". But we cannot be sure. We cannot forget how tragically some of our statesmen believed precisely similar assurances from Hitler. We have to look to the actions of the Soviet Government, not to the words of its propagandists.

So the assurances by academician Tarle and his colleagues of News that Russia is seeking only peace are of no more significance than their accusations that the British Government is planning war. What is significant, is their admission, and indeed insistence, that the Soviet Union has to be regarded and treated as an imperialist power, even though, for the moment, a "saturated" one.

Ably And Fully Stated

(Detroit Free Press)

Gen. Eisenhower, in opening the new Atlantic Pact headquarters in France, gave voice to a one-sentence editorial which tells the story of a free world's aims better than anything we can think of at the moment. He said:

"It is our prayer that with high courage and the support of our people and the grace of God, we shall not fail in striving to lift from the hearts of men the fear of cellblocks and slave camps."

An American View: DAVID'S DILEMMA

Signing A Treaty

(WINNIPEG TRIBUNE)

AN Ottawa despatch states that the possibility of sending "a large delegation representing all the major political parties to the Japanese peace treaty signing in San Francisco is being discussed unofficially" in the capital.

This is a fair sample of Ottawa thinking. To get one man's signature on a formal document which has already been agreed upon it is considered desirable to send a large and representative delegation—large enough to impress larger and wealthier countries with the idea that Canada is some punkins. The average Canadian taxpayer could easily think of better ways to spend the money.

Doubtless there is something to be said for having all of the Dominion's political parties represented, as evidence that in this Dominion foreign affairs are not bedevilled by party policies. Even so, the taxpayer could probably think of less wasteful ways of demonstrating this happy condition.

If it is desired to make a real impression it might be a good idea to include a Japanese-Canadian in the delegation. Perhaps that would do something toward making amends for the way we treated our citizens of Japanese origin during the war. If the aim is to make an impression with money, a donation of a few thousand Canadian dollars to some Japanese university, school or hospital would probably win more friends and influence more people than a junket for some of our politicians.

Canada Broadens Overseas Arms Aid

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

NEXT week Canada will considerably broaden the scope of its program of military assistance to overseas countries allied in mutual defence against aggression, in regard not only to the extent of actual arms contributed, but also as to the geographical range of the countries aided and the status of the latest nation to benefit. On Tuesday, Hon. Brooke Claxton, Defence Minister, and other officials will ceremonially despatch enough rifles, machine guns and artillery to equip an entire division of the Italian Army, which only seven years ago was among the forces of the enemy but now is allied with Canada through the Atlantic Pact.

The weapons to be shipped to Italy, and replaced here with US-type arms, will extend southward the perimeter of European countries so far aided under the Canadian program. Previous gifts of equivalent proportions have gone to The Netherlands and Belgium and some artillery has also been presented to Luxembourg. The new contribution is significant not only for its practical and timely value, but also as a symbol of the full-circle change which has brought relations with Italy, in a few short years, to a basis of confidence and co-operation to attain mutual aims.

In view of the special post-war difficulties experienced by Italy and its vulnerability to both internal and external Communist pressures, Canadians will endorse the material help being extended to supplement Italy's own efforts to strengthen Western Europe's defences. Along with subsequent assistance to be given other Atlantic Pact countries and the substantial military aid being provided by the United States, it will add to the gradually expanding build-up of Europe's effective resources of resistance.

Silent Organ Teaching

(U.K. Information Office)

Music classes of the future may be conducted in almost complete silence through the use of one of Britain's newest inventions, the silent electronic organ.

Invented by Mr. N. Belham, senior science master at the Mid-Essex Technical School the organ can take up to 24 pupils at a time, each with a separate keyboard. Players are provided with headphones and the teacher, sitting at a console, can listen in or speak to any player, and the apparatus can play back any passages in which mistakes have been made. The teacher can also connect pupils for duets, trios or quartets.

The idea of a silent electronic organ first occurred to Mr. Belham during the war when he was working on radar. He was given a grant by the University of London to enable him to put his idea into practice.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And I saw another mighty angel come down from heaven, clothed with a cloud: and a rainbow was upon his head, and his face was a it were the sun, and his feet as pillars of fire: and he had in his hand a little book open: and he set his right foot upon the sea, and his left foot on the earth, and cried with a loud voice, as when a lion roareth: and when he had cried, seven thunders uttered their voices. And when the seven thunders had uttered their voices, I was about to write: and I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Seal up those things which the seven thunders uttered, and write them not....

And the voice which I heard from heaven spake unto me again, and said, Go and take the little book which is open in the hand of the angel which standeth upon the sea and upon the earth. And I went unto the angel, and said unto him, Give me the little book. And he said unto me, Take it, and eat it up; and it shall make thy belly bitter, but it shall be in thy mouth sweet as honey. And I took the little book out of the angel's hand, and ate it up; and it was in my mouth sweet as honey: and as soon as I had eaten it, my belly was bitter.

And he said unto me, Thou must prophesy again before many peoples, and nations, and tongues, and kings. (Rev. 10: 1-4, 8, 11.)

Memo For Mr. Turnbull

(Brantford Expositor)

It is interesting and encouraging to find the Deputy Postmaster-General, Walter J. Turnbull, forecasting for Canada's postal service improvements of a character "so revolutionary as to be almost of the Jules Verne variety." True, some sardonic complainant or sour critic may snap, "It's about time!", but letting that pass, the deputy is to be commended for the enthusiasm and imagination he evinced when he mentioned highway post offices and transport, and not only these but jet planes, as possibilities "when, and if, it is found in the interest of better service to do so."

Perhaps, however, Mr. Turnbull did protest a trifle too much when he made this slightly cryptic remark: "Some of the people who have been loudest in their condemnation of these increases (advances in postal rates) have been those who have been getting the biggest bargain in the past. If those who in the past have been responsible for our greatest deficits would, in future, undertake to pay their full way, we could immediately cut the first class mail rate by one cent without in any way curtailing any form of service."

Well, before levelling blanket charges inferential of undue favors granted, the Deputy Postmaster-General might do well to look into that little matter (mentioned the other day in his own chief's annual report) of the several million dollars' worth of service given every year to parliamentarians, and others, who are accorded the privilege of sending letters, election propaganda and other extraneous matter entirely free of charge through the post.

Radio Engineer Picks Up TV From 2,100 Miles

By HARRY ECCLES

TORONTO — (CP)—New and amazing distance records for television reception have been reported, but like previous cases they are something of a freak.

These scattered long-distance cases in no way affect the plans for Canadian television. The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has just announced award of a contract to the Bell Telephone Company for maintenance of a television link between Montreal, Toronto and Buffalo. The Montreal and Toronto stations will be in operation in 1952.

While reception generally is limited at present to receivers close to American TV stations, a veteran Halifax radio engineer has set new long distance reception records. He is Arleigh Canning.

Experiments 2 Years

Since he started experimenting two years ago Canning has chalked up a total of 17 stations from which he has watched programs. He uses an ordinary commercial TV set with a standard "booster". But he's put a lot of work into his efforts.

Canning, chief operator for the CBC in Halifax, first experimented with a receiver atop various high points in Nova Scotia. The trips were unsuccessful and he wound up with the receiver in his living room and an aerial on his roof.

His confirmed distance record so far is Houston, Texas, about 2,100 miles distant, but he has also received programs at times from Sao Paulo, 4,200 miles away in Brazil.

Over The Hills

Mountain peaks and deep valleys are no bar to educational radio droadcasts in Colombia, one of the most mountainous Central American Republics.

Pupils in country schools, children of peasants separated by hilly country from the capital at Bogota, are regularly receiving programs in Colombia. Originator of the program was Father Joaquim Salcedo, a young priest, who regularly produces programs from a station 75 miles away from Bogota.

"I wanted to reach the social centres and to be in touch with the peasants who can neither read nor write," the priest explains. "So instead of having pupils come to the schools, we brought the schools to the pupils."

At each meeting place for the pupils, in the various farmhouses or assembly halls, there is a battery-powered receiver, and textbooks previously distributed are used as a guide for the lessons.

IN HER CHICAGO HOME, nine-months-old Virginia Brousseau looks at the bandaged paw of her pet Boxer dog, Angel, after the baby bit the animal in retaliation for a playful nip by the six-month-old pedigreed animal. The baby and the dog are playing together again, but they seem to have an understanding that there'll be no more biting.

Bronte Becomes Village Established 100 Years Ago

BRONTE, Ont., July 31—(CP)—A century is a long time to wait, but this little community on the shore of Lake Ontario, 10 miles northeast of Hamilton, is finally realizing its destiny.

It officialy becomes a village today after more than 100 years of ups and downs during which it deteriorated from a thriving shipping centre to a population of less htan 300, then made a comeback to be proud of.

Some residents have always maintained that Bronte was cheated. Back in 1848 a survey of the community was mdae and it was decided that Bronte would have the distinction of being the seat of Halton County.

But that was before the coming of the railway. Instead of taking the southern route along Lake Ontario, the railway was built further north. The community of Milton, today a town, became the county seat.

Loss of the railway line almost brought extinction to Bronte, named after the Duke of Bronte—better known in history books as Lord Nelson.

Fishing Industry

It was the fishing industry that saved Bronte. Fish on the open markets in Hamilton and in Toronto, 27 miles east, came from Bronte and still does today.

In more recent years, Bronte has become a location for summer homes. Many of the summer residents have taken up permanent residence and the population now is 1,200.

The three-man commission which ran the affairs of the community has been disbanded. Tonight residents will gather in a local hall and nominate candidates for a five-man council, including a reeve, deputy reeve and three councillors.

The election has been set for Aug. 13 and the first thing on the agenda of the new council will be establishment of a police force and appointment of a village clerk and assessor.

The village, covering 550 acres, with four miles of streets and 36 industries, will have its problems too. Erosion on the lakefront will have to be tackled and Bronte is about to undertake construction of a $192,000 water system.

But, with a natural shelter for a harbor, Bronte has high hopes for the future, particularly if the St. Lawrence Seaway is constructed.

Gold Output Up Value Slumps

TORONTO, July 31 (CP). — Ontario gold mining production statistics for the first half of 1951 were up in everything except value, says the Ontario Department of Mines.

It adds, however, that the month of June "showed the effect of labor migration to better-paid jobs" and June's production was down all along the line, except for silver. Wage-earners employed in June numbered 12,630, compared with 13,371 in June, 1950.

Six-month figures for 43 gold mines, with corresponding 1950 figures in brackets, were:

Tons of ore milled 5,271,323 (5,146,133); gold ounces 1,239,673 (1,215,548); silver ounces 215,015 (206,639); value $45,822,590 ($46,-985,981).

June figures, with June, 1950, in brackets, were:

Tons milled 846,471 (856,286); gold ounces 199,329 (201,699); silver ounces 40,613 (38,916); value $7,463,192 ($7,794,499).

Canada Buys 100 Bombers

OTTAWA, July 31 — (CP) — Canada has bought 100 wartime Mitchell light bomber planes from the United States Air Force to meet the immediate needs of her expanded air froce training program.

An RCAF spokesman confirmed Monday night that a "considerable number of the twin-engined Mitchells, used extensively as a bomber - reconnaissance aircraft during the Second World War, have been bought from the USAF. They will be used for bomber-reconnaissance training.

Other sources said the actual number of planes involved is 100. The cost of the planes could not be learned.

The first of the planes will be delivered to the RCAF base at Trenton next week and the first station to be supplied with them will be operational training unit of the RCAF at Chatham, NB.

The RCAF already has a number of Mitchells in operation as training planes. But with new training establishments to be opened in the west and hundreds of air trainees from Canada's Atlantic Pact partners due to come to this country for training, she needs more.

Court Orders Pickets To Stop

OGDENSBURG, NY, July 31—(CP)—Longshoremen unloaded a Canadian freighter here Monday after refusing for three days to cross a seamen's picket line.

The picket line, set up by the Seafarers' International Union (AFL) was removed in response to a restraining order issued by Justice E. Howard Ringrose of the State Supreme Court.

The order was requested by the Diamond Match Company which contended that placards carried by pickets falsely implied that difficulties existed between the company and its employees. The union did not contest the order.

The SIU set up the picket line at the Diamond Company's docks Friday for the second time in two weeks. Longshoremen refused to cross the line to unload 1,500 cords of pulp wood from the freighter Westcliffe Hall, owned by the George Hall Corporation of Montreal.

The SIU seeks recognition by the Hall Company which currently has a contract with the National Seamen's Association of Canada.

THAT WAS JOE—Chicago White Soxer Ed Stewart scrambles part way up the fence as fans in the left field stands join in the grab for Joe DiMaggio's first inning circuit clout at Yankee Stadium, July 29. The Yank star's homer sent in Joe Collins to tie the score. DiMaggio, over whom there's lots of head-shaking this season, poled another 4-bagger in the sixth frame with two men on. His club work accounted for the New York Yankees' winning margin over the visitors, 8-3.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Lorne Parkin, a policeman who filled an important spot in the line of the Canadian champion Toronto Argonauts last season, will be out of action for a month.

Parkin suffered a broken thumb in the rugged scrimmage session Saturday morning.

"That hurts us quite a bit," said coach Frank Clair. "Parkin is one of our best linemen. This could mean that we won't have him for our opening game with Ottawa."

Bernie Custis, a quarterback who formerly played with Syracuse University, turned up at the football training camp of Hamilton Tiger-Cats Monday night. Custis, who impressed with his passing, came from Cleveland Browns and his arrival may have eased some of the sorrow felt when the Browns reached in and took quarterback Stan Heath from the Tiger-Cats during the spring.

Veteran jockey Pat Remillard booted home four winners at the Ascot Turf Club meet at Fort Erie race track Monday. He also had a second.

Remillard scored by three lengths aboard Graydon Tina in the feature event. Remillard's other victories were aboard Rose Worth in the third, Mother's Chance in the fourth and Bootalong in the seventh. His mount Wallacetown was beaten by a neck by Our Reverie in the first.

Chicago White Sox keep dropping in the pennant race, but their hit-and-run star, Orestes Minoso, still is the man to catch in the American League batting race.

Through Sunday's games, Minoso owned a .346 mark, climbing two percentage points during the week, for a six-point margin over Washington's Gil Coan.

In the National League, Stan Musial of St. Louis has opened up a 17-point lead in the National League batting race with a .375 average, including Sunday's games. While Musial boosted his average four points, Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn Dodgers slipped five, to .358.

Charley Gehringer said Monday he will start a rebuilding program for the 1952 season when he formally takes over as general manager of Detroit Tigers Oct. 1. Gehringer confirmed reports that salary cuts are in store for numerous Tiger players next year.

A bid of $42,000 for a bay son of War Admiral-Myrtlewood topped the strong opening of the summer thoroughbred yearling sales at Keeneland Monday as 97 colts and fillies brought an average of $7,691. The purchaser was Humphrey S. Finney, the Maryland horseman who acted as agent for an unnamed buyer.

St. Louis Browns announced Monday night the purchase of pitcher Fred Sanford from Washington Senators on waivers. At the same time it was announced that pitcher Dick Starr, of the Browns, is going to the Senators, also on waivers. The Browns sent Sanford and catcher Roy Partee to the Yankees in December, 1948, for $100,000 and Starr, catcher Sherm Lollar and Red Embree.

London bookmaker Douglas Stuart Monday made Sugar Ray Robinson an 8 to 11 favorite to regain the world middleweight boxing title from Randy Turpin. Turpin was listed at even Monday. Stuart was the first of Britain's legal bookies to announce his prices on the return bout scheduled Sept. 12 at New York's polo grounds.

Mimico Wins In Rough Game With Toronto

By The Canadian Press.

The home grounds of Mimico Mountaineers and Toronto West Yorks are separated by only a few miles but the two teams acted like anything but good neighbors in their Ontario Lacrosse Association senior game last night.

Two fights, four major penalties and a match misconduct provided some fist-swinging diversion as the Mounties defeated the visiting West Yorks 17-8.

Frank King of Toronto and Don McPhail of Mimico started the brawling in the first quarter and got the first two majors. Then King, who suffered a cut on his left cheek in the fight, received a match misconduct for attacking McPhail in the penalty box.

Mimico's Chuck Simpson and Toronto's Jack Howse topped off the fighting with two more majors in the third quarter.

When it came to lacrosse, Ken Dixon with four goals for Mimico, and Denny Peterson with three, provided the best displays.

Tigers Win

At Hamilton, meanwhile, the Tigers took over sole possession of second place by beating fifth-place Brampton Excelsiors 12-8.

It was the ninth win in 11 starts for the hot Tigers, now eight points back of league-leading Peterborough.

Merv McKenzie, Al Doyle, Jack Dorney and Don McFarlane got two goals each for Hamilton. Clark Lyons had three for Brampton, Nick Ferri getting two.

The Mimico victory moved the Mounties into a third-place tie with St. Catharines Athletics while Toronto remains in a last-place tie with Fergus Thistles.

Man Charged With Fix Try

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP).—A 33-year-old Brooklyn fruit dealer has been accused by the District Attorney's office of attempting to fix the national collegiate championship basketball game between CCNY and Bradley March 28, 1950.

James O'Leary, secretary to District Attorney Frank S. Hogan, said today that Jack Rubinstein was one of a group who offered Gene Melchiorre, Bradley's all-America cage star, $10,000 if he would throw the title game with CCNY.

Melchiorre told the district attorney he refused to accept the bribe. City College beat Bradley 71-68 at Madison square Garden.

At the same time, Mogan's office disclosed that Jack (Zip) West, wanted by police in connection with the fixing of Toledo and Bradley games, stil was at large today.

The district attorney's office described Rubinstein as an associate of West. Rubinstein was arrested late yesterday and was formally booked on charges of bribery and conspiracy early today.

Some Sport Views

By DON GRANT

Although late in the baseball season, the major league clubs are still hunting for new talent to weave into their network throughout the United States.

✦ ✦ ✦

Lately a number of teams such as the St. Louis Browns and the St. Louis Cardinals have extended their long arms into Ontario and Western Canada for young Canadian baseball prospects. A few have been taken in for major league tryouts and are now gaining experience for the climb into the big league clubs.

An opportunity arises again this year for Ontario boys interested in a major baseball career as the St. Louis Cardinals will hold a tryout program in Hamilton on August 10 and 11. The age limit has been set between 17 and 23 years.

✦ ✦ ✦

Due to a slump in the Peterborough minor baseball leagues in 1947-48-49, the talent from the district will be limited, if any do go.

In 1945 former baseball players interested in reviving the game in the city after the war began a juvenile league, backed by a midget league. A number of disputes over players due to a zone regulation and lack of coaches saw the leagues gradually fade.

Faced with a player situation, either to draw from the United States or develop city youngsters, the senior baseball team chose the middle road.

During the past two years under an agreement with the Recreation Commission, the Petes have produced a minor league coach. Danny Brown, now in the St. Louis Browns' chain, brought the young lads along last year and this year was succeeded by Dick Golden, a big league prospect.

To train young baseball players clubs require more coaches, who are interested in seeing the boys advance.

✦ ✦ ✦

Training should also start earlier in the season as soon as the ground is dry instead of waiting until late May. The schedule should open in May and continue into August. To carry the league over the summer holiday period each team should carry a large roster.

Each one of these suggestions has its drawback and problems but the minor league operated in 1945-46 from early May until after school started, proving that if they were adopted the city would have a stronger minor league.

✦ ✦ ✦

As last year the Lakeshore teams will likely send representatives to the ball tryout. Cobourg's Bob Jamieson caught, in 1950, the baseball scout's eye and was swept into the ever-increasing network.

This year the tryout program will be held at Hamilton's Civic Stadium, the home of the Hamilton Cardinals. On hand to watch the prospects will be veteran Cardinal scouts Frank Crespi, Bennie Borgmann and Joe Cusick, working with manager Vedie Himsel.

Baseball Attendance Slips 9 Per Cent In Mjor Leagues

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)—The American business world considers baseball attendance a sensitive indicator of the public's urge to spend money on amusements.

So says the conservative Wall Street Journal in a front-page survey of "baseball business." The financial daily finds the "money shortage" only one of the reasons for the turnstile slump. Television and bad spring weather were others.

There is a slump. As yet it's not alarming—about nine per cent below last year, in the American and National Leagues.

For 654 home dates a total of 10,236,531 fans saw big-league games through Sunday. A year ago the total for 639 home dates was 11,020,523. On a per-game average this comes to 15,652 in 1951—17,247 in 1950.

Detroit Low

Detroit is a low spot with the listless Tigers practically out of the pennant race. Last year they led the parade at this time, averaging 26,479 every time they opened the gates. Now they do 17,592.

But in Chicago, where fans are excited about the go-go Sox, attendance is up 65 per cent. Last year's daily turnouts of 13,334 have ballooned to 22,100. In the National League Cub Park business is slumping badly. The Cubs are seventh.

Only the New York Yankees are over the 1,000,000 mark. Last year the Yanks, Tigers and Cleveland Indians all were in the 1,000,000-plus department at this stage.

Why does all this concern the business world?

"The number of baseball fans turning out for games is of interest to other business men besides the handful of baseball club owners," the Wall Street Journal article read. "This time of year attendance at the nation's ball parks is a sensitive indicator of the public's urge to spend money on amusement. Slow amusement spending often means pinched family budgets and more reluctant spending for consumer goods."

16% In Minors

George Trautman, president of the National Association of Minor Leagues, indicates a 16-per-cent slump is to be expected from the minors. Clubs have folded but the only league to quit since the season started is the Border League.

Here are the 1951 attendance figures including Sunday's games:

17-Year-Old Girl To Tee Off In Dom. Meet

EDMONTON, July 31 (CP). — A slim, dark-haired 17-year-old is on her way to Quebec today to play against the best women golfers in Canada.

Rae Milligan, from Jasper, Alta. is a member of the Alberta team for the women's inter-provincial team championships in Quebec Thursday. She was chosen to replace Mrs. H. Adams of Calgary who voluntarily stepped down to allow the youthful golfer to add strength to the team.

Rae played in her first Alberta tournament—the second in her life—last week. The muscular Miss emerged Alberta women's golf champion. She romped to easy wins in the preliminary rounds and then came through with an impressive 8 and 6 victory over defending titlist Mrs. A. K. Snell of Edmonton in a 36-hole final.

Mrs. Adams, in a sporting gesture, didn't wait until next year when the provincial champion, for the first time, will automatically get a spot on the inter-provincial team. The Calgary woman qualified for the team with her scores in 10 test matches during the summer, in which Rae did not take part.

Daughter of Pro

Miss Milligan became the second 17-year-old to win provincial women's championship this year and the youngest person ever to win the Alberta title. Last month at Toronto, pert, freckle-faced Marlene Stewart of Lookout Point near Niagara Falls, romped to the Ontario women's championship.

Miss Milligan, daughter of J. E. Milligan, Minaki Lodge, Ont., golf pro, has been around golf courses since she began to walk. But she didn't take up the game until she was 12.

"I didn't like golf at first," she said. "It seemed as though there were always other things to do."

But with her father's patient coaching and a lot of practice her game and her interest in it picked up. Soon she began touring the hometown Jasper links in comfortable 77s and 78s.

Then, last year, she entered her first tournament—the Minnesota Resorters Tournament—at Alexandria, Minn. Scoring a smashing victory over a field of close to 50, she decided to enter this year's Alberta women's tournament.

Between seasons, Rae attends Jasper high school and plays some badminton. Last year, the grade 12 student won the Alberta junior women's championship.

Out At The Kawartha

With many of the ardent golfers migrating to distant places for their vacations, a temporary lull has come over the competitions. In the important club championship play Jack Raine has moved into the semi-finals with a win over Joe Gatfield. Three matches have yet to be played in the men's two-ball to bring it up to date.

The Kawartha course will see a record number of golfers from all over this section of the country, starting at 6 a.m. this Saturday and continuing until dark on Monday of the same weekend. Such will be the extent of the Kawartha Lakes Amateur Tournament. "Will the greens be fast?" has been a question heard more than once around the club house. Well, we think, with the possible exception of the early a.m.s, they will be. The fertilizer recently applied is showing favorable effects, and combined with the good work being done by Mac and the boys, the greens should be in splendid condition—but the conclusion, according to our gleanings, is that the boys who can put a good back spin on the ball will be "right in there."

2-Year-Old Colt Nears Record

TORONTO (Thorncliffe Raceway, July 31 (CP). — Bobby Herbert, a two-year-old colt making the second start of his life, came close to making harness-racing history at Thorncliffe raceway Monday afternoon when he paced a mile in 2.10 4-5 — only 1-5 second off the all-time Canadian record for two-year-olds.

Bobby Herbert was bred and is owned by William H. Herbert and Son, of London, Ont. He was sired by Alpa Hal and his dam, Jean Herbert, is a full-sister to Oro G. Herbert, which established the mile record of 2.04 4-5 at Thorncliffe a year ago.

In his first start at Thorncliffe on July 18, Bobby Herbert raced in 2.18 winning easily from a field of cheap pacers. On Monday afternoon he was racing against a field of older horses and romped home to a ridiculously easy win.

Secondary highlight of the day was the driving of Jack Mehlenbacher, OHA referee, who moves up to National Hockey League officiating circles next winter. Mehlenbacher scored a double as he won with Irene Frisco and Ima Lady. Both horses made records for themselves over the fast Thorncliffe strip. Irene Frisco paced the mile in 2.10 1-5 and Ima Lady went the distance in 2.12 1-5.

Palica Back To Pitch Against Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, July 31 (AP)—Manager Charles Dressen of Brooklyn Dodgers said Monday pitcher Erv Palica will rejoin the team in Pittsburgh today.

Palica, 23-year-old righthander, has been working out privately in Brooklyn since he pitched in the exhibition game against Philadelphia Athletics at Cooperstown, NY, July 23.

Dressen called Palica a "gutless kid who doesn't belong in the majors" after a 13-12 loss to the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates several weeks ago. He said Palica would pitch nothing but exhibitions until he shows "he's ready to throw the way he should."

Yankees Win As DiMaggio Boobs, Drives In Winner

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

For one of the few times since he came up to New York in 1936, Joe DiMaggio last night felt like diging a hole in Yankee Stadium and diving into it. The flawless flychaser, recognized for his ability to do the right thing at the right time, really pulled a dilly.

Fortunately for him, the Yankees came on to win—beating Detroit Tigers 5-4—to minimize DiMaggio's mental lapse. The victory increased the Yanks' first-place margin to 2½ games over the idle Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox.

The score was tied at 2-2 when the Sox came to bat in the eighth. Doubles by Gerry Priddy and George Kell with one out put the Tigers in front 3-2. Steve Souchock flied deep to DiMaggio. Kell tagged up and headed for third.

No Try

DiMaggio made no attempt to head him off. Instead he began to jog toward the Yankee dugout with the ball in his right hand. Dick Bartell, alert Tiger third base coach, waved Kell plateward. Joe finally understood why his mates were yelling at and waving to him. But by then it was too late. Kell had scored the second run of the inning.

"I thought it was the third out," explained the embarrassed Yankee Clipper later.

But it was DiMaggio's ninth-inning hit that drove in the winning run for the Yankees. With runners on second and third and two out, Joe blooped a single to right. That brought in Joe Collins with the winning run.

Collins also had got on via a blooper. With two away, he plopped a short fly behind third for a double. Bobby Brown walked to bring up Dimaggio.

Ed Lopat, although raked for 10 hits, went the distance to register his 13th triumph. He has lost six. Virgil Trucks was the loser. He had replaced starter Fred Hutchinson in the eighth.

Hoot Evers collected a single, triple and homer for Detroit.

While the American League's activity was limited to one game, every team but Brooklyn and Pittsburgh was active in the National.

Bats in Five Runs

An eighth inning double by Roy Smalley drove in the tying and winning runs as Chicago Cubs nipped New York Giants 7-6. The Cub shortstop batted in five runs in all. His homer in the second came with two on. The Giants had fought back to go ahead 6-5 in the top of the eighth on Bobby Thomson's three-run homer.

Dutch Leonard was credited with his 10th victory in relief. George Spencer was the loser.

The loss dropped the Giants 9½ behind the leading Dodgers.

A two run, eighth inning rally, climaxed by Del Rice's double, gave St. Louis Cardinals a 5-4 victory over Boston Braves and boosted the Red Birds into a third-place tie with Philadelphia Phils.

Hal Rice's single, a sacrifice and another single by Solly Hemus had tied the score before Rice's game-winning two-bagger off loser Vern Bickford. Cliff Chambers went the route for his seventh victory.

Cincinnati Reds spotted the Phils a 5-0 lead and roared back to win 6-5 on a ninth-inning single by Bobby Adams and a triple by Connie Ryan. Jim Konstanty was the victim in relief.

British Women Mean Business

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP). — Britain's Wightman Cup tennis team—which hasn't won the mug since 1930—"means business" this year, Mrs. D. C. Shepherd-Baron said today.

"Our six players are in very good condition," said Mrs. Shepherd-Baron. "Frankly, I don't know exactly what chances we have of regaining the cup. You've beaten us badly for many years. But we're really going to have a go at it."

The Wightman Cup competition is scheduled for the Longwood Cricket Club, Boston, Aug. 24 and 25.

Jean Walker-Smith, Britain's top player, heads the team which also includes Jean Quertier, Kay Tuckey, Joy Mottram, P. E. Ward and Helen Fletcher.

Sugar Threatens To Sue UK Paper

LONDON, July 31 (Reuters).—Sugar Ray Robinson, en route back to the United States, today threatened to sue Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express. Robinson said the paper misquoted him.

In a story from Paris last Friday the Express reported that the former world middleweight champion had said he would hang up his gloves after his return fight in New York Sept. 12 with Britain's Randolph Turpin. Turpin captured Robinson's crown here earlier this month.

Robinson said in cable from the liner Liberte to the Express:

"I did not make any such statement to anyone. It is an unmitigated lie. Unless your denial of that story receives just as much prominence in your paper, I shall surely take you to court."

Robinson added that he did not intend to quit boxing for at least two years.

Will Investigate Secrets Of Coral Reef

By LOUIS L. LECK

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—The secrets of the Great Barrier Reef, the world's biggest single coral area, will be open to scientists when a permanent marine research station is erected on the reef shortly.

Among research subjects that are expected to attract Australian and international biologists are the study of slimy coral secretions in connection with influenza virus and research into venomous reef life such as shell and stone fish, of which almost nothing is known.

£3,750 grant from the Queensland State Government has paved the way for construction of the station on Herno Island, in the heart of the reef area which extends more than 1,200 miles along the Northwest Coast of Australia. The Queensland Government also will pay £750 a year towards operating costs.

Dr. I. M. Mackerras, secretary of the marine station sub-committee, said the grant meant that erection of the station could proceed immediately.

Greatest In World

"Australia has the greatest extent of reef in the world, one of the richest in animal and plant life," he said.

The station will cost from £8,000 to £10,000 to build and equip, and will be made of coral brick on the spot.

It will have laboratories, sea water circulated tanks, and living accommodation for biologists. Field work will be done in two dinghies with outboard motors.

Only permanent staff will be a technician-caretaker to look after equipment. Scientists and university student groups will visit the station to do research.

Not Eligible

VANCOUVER, July 31 (CP) — The son of Michael (Archangel) Verigin Monday disclosed that he is a Jehovah's Witness minister and thus cannot take over his father's title as spiritual leader of Doukhobors at Hilliers, on Vancouver Island. Russell Verigin, 28, said that the title "Archangel" died Saturday with his father.

Labor Ruling

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board ruled Monday that workers need not pay union assessments to hold their jobs under a union shop agreement. The unanimous decision involved a contract of the United Auto Workers (CIO) at the Louisville, Ky., works of International Harvester Company.

Europe Afraid

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP) — Executive Director Kent Cooper of The Associated Press said Monday Europe is "afraid to death of our defence pressure." "They're afraid it might turn into an aggressive policy," Cooper told reporters as he arrived on the liner Mauretania.

Heart Expert Dies

MONTREAL, July 31 (CP)—Dr. Cecil Clinton Birchard, 65, of Montreal, chief medical officer of the Sun Life Assurance Co., of Canada, and one of Canada's foremost heart specialists, died yesterday in Toronto, it was learned here. A pioneer in Montreal in the use of the electrocardiograph, he was one of the founders and first president of the Canadian Heart Association.

Examines Damage

KANSAS CITY, July 31 (AP). Charles Sawyer, Secretary of Commerce, arrived here yesterday from Washington to get a personal picture of the flooo damag. Sawyer was accompanied by Thomas N. McDoiald, Commissioner of Public Roads, who said damage to important highways and secondary roads in Kansas alone is estimated t $12,000,000 or $13,000,000.

Crops Increase

TORONTO, July 31 (CP) — Fruit and vegetable crops throughout most of Ontario will show an increase in production over 1950, says the seasonal report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. The warm moist weather has favored the crops generally although there is a possibility of a lower yield than last year locally.

TRIPLE TOW—Bound for Hamburg, Germany, with three surplus Canadian corvettes in tow, is the Dutch tug Zwarte Zee, said to be the largest, leaving Vancouver Harbor. She had two corvettes in tow, the third lashed alongside; once in the open sea she was to take all three in tow. The vessels will be fitted out as whaling ships.

Seamen Enjoy Private Rooms, Window Drapes On Freighter

VANCOUVER, July—(CP)— A ship sailed into Vancouver harbour recently that marks the last word in accommodation for seamen.

From the captain of the motorship Lylepark, built on Scotland's Clyde, down to the lowliest galley boy, each of the 36 men crew has his own private cabin, modernistic oak furniture, soft bed, matching window drapes.

There's even a hotplate arrangement so that each man can make himself a pot of tea without stirring from his roon.

The remarkable thing about it —the first freighter in the world to boast individual cabins for the members of the crew—is that the owners are not bunch of upstarts, lacking in respect for the traditions of the sea.

Successful Idea

They are a pair a Scotsmen whose forbearers started the Denholm Line with a wooden schooner in the sugar trade.

These two modern Denholms took a lively interest in the building of the Lylepark, even though they gave the naval architects a free hand.

And the two Mrs. Denholms rummaged Glasgow searching for the attractive material of gay tartan check and thistle used for window drapes.

As for the individual cabin idea, you've only to chat with Captain Alex. Brown, O.B.E., to find out what a resounding success it is.

"When a man's room is his own he takes real pride in it," the veteran skipper said. "It does big things for his morale. He has a bit of privacy, and when 36 men work together on one ship for six weeks at a stretch, that can mean a lot."

Old salts along the waterfront are dropping in at the pier and coming away with their eyes popping at some of the other remarkable new ideas to be seen aboard the freighter.

The cargo winches, normally belching steam and making a shuddering clatter that echoes throughout the ship, are silent on the Lylepark.

No Noise

Her winches are "splash-lubricated" house entirely in thick steel cases. The gears work in an oil bath like the engine of a Rolls Royce. Hence, no noise.

"Nice when a ship's unloading at night," said Chief Engineer Robert Huggan. "A man can get some sleep."

And in the hold, the Lylepark has something new in diesel engines. Instead of the regular oil, they run on much cheaper residual heavy boiler oil.

The oil is processed in purifiers and centrifugal separators and fed pre-heated to the fuel pumps.

Engineers all over the world are watching this one because it may change the whole economics of marine diesel operations.

Started Fire

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31 (AP)—Kenneth Skinner, 17, was quoted by police Monday night as admitting he "got a crazy idea" and deliberately started an apartment house fire that claimed eight lives July 22. Earlier, Skinner had insisted he started the dawn Sunday fire accidentally while attempting to light a cigaret in the lobby of the four-storey building.

Man Dies After Crash

OSGOODE, Ont., July 31 (CP) —Funeral services will be held today for Robert Gardner, 74-year-old monument dealer, who died in hospital Saturday from injuries suffered in an accident last Wednesday. He received back and head injuries when his automobile was struck by a Canadian Pacific Railway train near Osgoode, 20 miles south of Ottawa.

Heroin Seized

WINDSOR, July 31 (CP) — A 35-year-old Windsor salesman was arrested and "a larger than average" amount of heroin seized in an RCMP narcotic detail raid on an Ouellette Avenue rooming-house over the weekend. Charged with illegal possession of narcotics, Raymond Bangle, was remanded for one week when he appeared in police court Monday.

3 Killed In Crash

MUSKEGON, Mich., July 31 (AP)—Three men were killed and a fourth was injured critically in an automobile accident Monday night. The dead were Marion E. Willcutt, 36; his brother, Max, 31, and Robert E. Willard, 24, all of Muskegon.

VERDUN POLICE are today investigating their first murder in 12 years. The tiny blonde and blue-eyed murder victim was Carol Windsor, a friendly seven-year-old child, whose maltreated body was discovered in the home of her grandmother after Edwin Yulle, a 23-year-old Montrealer who had spent 18 months in a mental home, gave himself up to police shouting, "I have killed a little girl!" In the above photo Edwin Yulle is shown, centre, being brought to Coroner's Court flanked by Constables Walter Daniels and Marcel Renaud to attend the inquest where he was found criminally responsible for the death of the seven-year-old child.

These Chicks Get Very Best, Pens Air-Cooled

OKOTOKS, Alta., (CP).— The biggest poultry farm of its kind in Western Canada is located just south-west of Okotoks on the farm of Peter Gerlitz.

Mr. Gerlitz keeps more chickens than you would ever hope to see—between 36,000 and 40,000 of them.

The farm turns out 3,000 2½ to 3 pound fryers and broilers every week of the year.

And every week 3,000 one-day-old chicks are received by the farm from various hatcheries to keep the supply going.

Mr. Gerlitz was a railwayman working out of Calgary when he decided to give up city life and go farming in 1927.

He raised grain and cattle until seven years ago the decided to go into the poultry business in a big way.

Things were not too easy at first. He was harassed by labor troubles, excessive losses, and a fire which destroyed his big brooder house and thousands of birds.

But the establishment is running smoothly now and the quality and flavor of his broilers attract countrywide attention.

"It has been a long, hard struggle," he says. "But I think we are over the hump now and the plant is in high gear."

The chickens are housed in huge two-storey brooder houses, penned in cages. The pens are brilliantly lighted day and night, and are heated and air-conditioned.

Chicks are fattened for 10 weeks, and by then have increased in size to between 2½ to 3 pounds and are ready to be killed and dressed for market.

Mr. Gerlitz favored White Leghorns at first, but he is slowly turning his entire output over to New Hampshires.

MR. AND MRS. HUGH V. GILTNER and their daughter Deloris, are shown with the huge leopard skin sent them by their son, Sgt. Elverne H. Giltner, from Korea, where he is serving with the 8th Army. Korean Consul General David Namkoong has been quoted in New York as saying the rug is worth $100,000 and is a "Priceless national treasure," formerly owned by Queen Min. It is 18 feet, 11 inches by eight feet in size and is made up of 48 matched leopard skins. Sgt. Giltner wrote his mother that he bought the rug from a Korean and that it came from the Chang Duk Palace in Korea.

TV Reception Affects Sale Of Houses

By HOWARD C. HEYN

HOLLYWOOD, July 31 (AP).—Many an elegant dwelling goes begging these days, right in the heart of the Hills made famous by movie millions.

Know why? No TV.

Those mystic picture waves just won't hurdle barriers like radio will. And people rich enough to live in such neighborhoods won't buy where television reception is bad.

It's getting to be quite a serious problem, one promising to affect property values.

Most real estatemen, traditionally talkaive, are stricken suddenly dumb upon mention of the subject.

But some of the most luxurious residential sections—deep in canyons north of Beverly Hills and Westwood—get no television at all.

One of the few property salesmen willing to discuss the matter (anonymously) says television has become this much of a factor: "If you told a prospect that TV reception was bad, you'd never sell the house."

Television engineers are fairly certain that reception ultimately will be made possible in canyons and on nearly all hillside, by use of reflectors and perhaps booster antennae. But this will take time, a lot of money an dmore research.

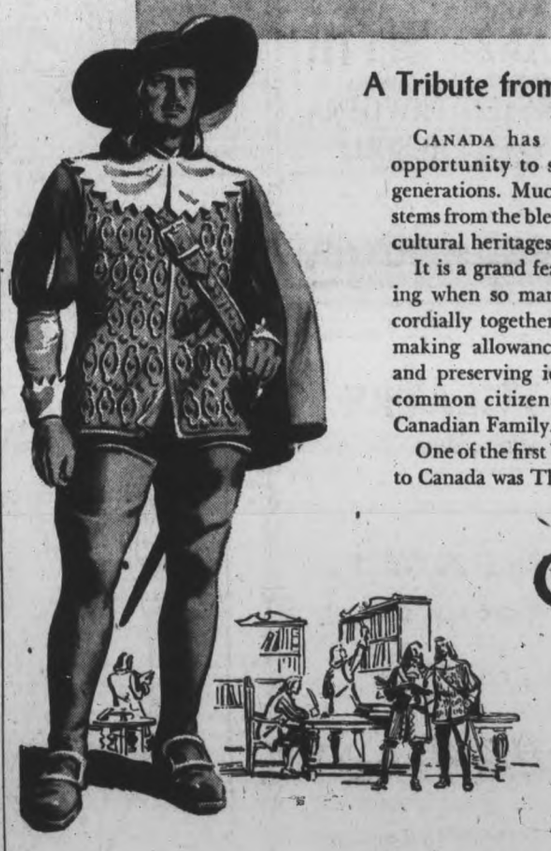
The Canadian Family owes much to . . . . Wales



A Tribute from Calvert to Canadians of Welsh descent

CANADA has been a land of opportunity to settlers for many generations. Much of our strength stems from the blending of racial and cultural heritages from many lands.

It is a grand feat of nation building when so many cultures march cordially together, cooperating and making allowances, merging ideas and preserving ideals, linked by a common citizenship in the great Canadian Family.

One of the first Welshmen to come to Canada was Thomas Button who set sail in Henry Hudson's Discovery in 1610 to find the North West Passage. Another famous Welshman was David Thompson whose surveys are the basis of our maps of Western Canada.

The Welsh are a quiet, serious, devout and music loving people. Their industry in the fields of chemical and mining engineering, language and science teaching, manufacturing, editing and law has contributed much to Canada's progress.

Auto Rolls Down Hill, Charge Laid

Man, 35, Said Driver Of Car Reported Stolen From Pembroke

An out-of-town man who gave the name of William David Waslew, 35, no fixed address, was remanded in police court today on a charge of drunken driving.

Waslew was jailed shortly after midnight. It was alleged he was driving a stolen car that turned over on the Westclox hill, near the western approach to the Lift Lock tunnel.

The car, a grey 1949 model sedan, was earlier reported by Pembroke police to be stolen. An investigation is being made to see if Waslew is wanted there on a more serious charge.

Meanwhile he is remanded in custody to Thursday.

Showing No Lights

The stolen car was said to be travelling east about 11.30 p.m. at a fair speed, hugging the south side of the road, and showing no lights.

It clipped off a danger sign on the top of the hill and rolled down the steep hill on its left side for 150 feet. An estimated $400 damage was caused to the car.

Waslew emerged uninjured.

He told four witnesses—Jack McConkey, Canal Rd.; Tony O'Brien, 203 Park St.; Ken Dack, 204 Hamilton St.; and William Oliver, 564 Hamilton St.—that he was not the driver of the car. He said he was a hitch-hiker and the driver had left immediately after the accident.

Booked As Drunk

None of the four witnesses saw anybody else in the vicinity of the car, though they were on the scene almost immediately after the car came to a standstill.

Police Constables William G. Scott and Ed Paterson brought Waslew back to the police station and booked him on a drunk charge.

Today in police court Waslew didn't appear to understand the charge when it was read to him. Magistrate R. B. Baxter, Port Hope, questioned whether or not he was yet sober, and remanded him in custody to Thursday.

That was all right with Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, KC, who said the police were checking on him.

A WOMAN DIED under the heavy buck-rake attachment of this tractor-hauled hay loader. Mrs. Christena Watson, 82, was killed Monday afternoon when the rake struck her and she was pinned beneath it. The X at the left of the tractor marks the spot where her body was found. Driver of the tractor was John Kerr, RR 5, Campbellford, who was working on the farm of Mrs. Watson's son, Harry. Mrs. Watson died minutes after being struck.—(Reid Photo)

Woman, 82, Hit By Hay Rake, Dies

Watching Hay Loader On Son's Farm, Dies Minutes Later

CAMPBELLFORD, July 31 —(ENS).—A tragic accident on Monday afternoon took the life of Mrs. Christena Watson, 82. Mrs. Watson was struck by a tractor and buck-rake attachment on the farm of her son, Harry Watson, on Lot 15, Concession 7 of Seymour township.

She had returned to her son's farm only the day before, after having visited for some time with her daughter, Mrs. Gordon Linn.

The woman had been standing at the rear of the farm home watching John Kerr, RR 5, Campbellford, working with his tractor on the Watson farm. Kerr had taken a load of hay to the barn and was travelling back to the hay field when he noticed the old lady standing near the roadway.

Saw Dress on Rake

After picking up his load of hay in the field he was returning to the barn and on passing the house glanced down and noticed a piece of blue print dress, protruding from the rear of the hay-rake.

He immediately stopped the tractor and got off, whereupon he discovered Mrs. Watson's body pinned to the ground by the trailing edge of the heavy hay-rake. He summoned his brother, Ralph Kerr, and Harry Watson who were working nearby, and the three men lifted the heavy hay-rake and extricated the woman's body.

Medical aid was summoned but the woman died a few minutes later at the scene without ever regaining consciousness.

Cause Unknown

It has not yet been definitely established whether the elderly woman was struck by the front of the hay rake as she was crossing the roadway in the barnyard, or whether she suffered a fainting spell and was lying on the ground when the tractor with its load of hay came along.

The body had been dragged about 50 feet by the heavy wooden platform of the hay-rake.

The buck-rake attachment consists of a number of sharpened wooden prongs about 12 feet long. with this device attached to the front of a tractor, the operator drives along a windrow scooping up about a third of a wagon load of hay. The rake is then elevated through a hydraulic system and taken to the barn where it is dropped onto rope slings to be hoisted into the hay mow.

When the rake is loaded the hay is several feet higher than the head of the tractor operator, and this obscured the vision of the driver completely.

Dr. F. M. Dure, Coroner of Brighton, was called and after consulting with Crown Attorney Harry F. Deyman of Cobourg, said no inquest will be held. He gave the cause of death as shock and internal injuries. The accident happened about 2:40 p.m. Provincial Constable Donald W. Erskine of Campbellford investigated.

She is survived by one son, one daughter and a grandchild, Ruth L. Linn. Her husband, James Watson, died seven years ago. Mrs. Watson was formerly Christena Summers.

Funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon from her home at 2 p.m. The Rev. James McAvoy, of Burnbrae Presbyterian church will officiate. Burial will be in Burnbrae cemetery.

Cry Wolf

Crying "Wolf!" is going to get somebody in trouble one of these days, one Peterborough man thinks. Monday night, he saw four children swimming in the Otonabee river at the south end of Riverside Park. They were all calling for help, he said, although none of them were in any real distress. Another man, who heard their cries dived in fully clothed and swam over only to find their cries for aid were counterfeit.

"Somebody's going to get drowned that way," said the eyewitness.

Maynooth Man Drowns In Baptiste Lake

BANCROFT, July 31 (ENS)—Michael Edward Fitzgerald, 43, of Maynooth, who drowned in Baptiste lake Sunday night while on a one-day fishing trip, was buried in Maynooth. Baptiste lake is 12 miles northwest of Bancroft.

Fitzgerald, who had gone to the lake with five Maynooth companions, was standing up in a boat late Sunday night and paddling with one oar. His friends on shore heard a sudden shout and a splash from somewhere out in the darkened lake.

They jumped into the water and swam out to where the boat was drifting—some 150 feet offshore—but were unable to find him. Three Toronto tourists, attracted by the shouts, arrived on the scene in a boat and located the body by flashlight.

Dived For Body

One of them, Sidney Ewing, Alderwood, dived into the water and towed the body to shore. With him with two Toronto men Wilmot and George Murphy.

The three applied artificial respiration for two hours but without success.

Coroner Dr. O. W. Anderson, Bancroft, gave a verdict of accidental death and said there would be no inquest.

Fitzgerald was believed to have been in the water less than 10 minutes. He was found, lying on the bottom, in 10 feet of water.

He had gone to Baptiste lake Sunday for a day's fishing with five other villagers—Jack Green, Lawrence and Eugene Flynn, Donald Grant, and Harold Scott.

Went Out Alone

About 10.30 p.m. Fitzgerald decided to go out in the boat by himself. He stood up in the stern and paddled from side to side with one oar. It was the last time his companions saw him alive.

He is believed to have lost his balance in the darkness and fallen overboard. Friends say he could swim only a few strokes.

OPP Corp. Archie Grayling and Constable George Lloyd, Bancroft, investigated.

He was a bachelor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Fitzgerald, Maynooth. Besides them he leaves three brothers—John of Barry's Bay, Morris of Maynooth, and Patrick of Combermere; two sisters—Mrs. W. McEvoy (Mary), Maynooth, and Mrs. W. Bond (Bessie), Belleville.

The funeral was today from the Maynooth Roman Catholic church, the Rev. Father Wright officiating.

Plane Crashes In Stony L., Three Hurt

Struck Hydro Wires Strung Over Lake From Island To Shore

Three men were slightly injured Monday afternoon when their light plane hit hydro wires at McCracken's Landing and crashed into Stony Lake.

Hurt were: Dunlop Mathias, 26, 192 McDonnel St.; Kenneth Wyatt, 29, River Rd. S., and Orville Braden of Hamilton. All suffered head lacerations.

An eyewitness, Russ Carveth, said "When the plane hit the wires, there was a blue flash just like lightning, and the plane went into the water. All you could see was water flying."

Carveth said the plane—a high-wing light aircraft fitted with pontoons—was coming in for a landing just in front of the boat livery his family operates.

Didn't See Wires

The pilot, Mathias, apparently did not see the hydro wires strung from the landing across to an island in the lake. "Either the propellor or the pontoons hit the wires and the floats were torn right off," said Carveth.

Carveth went out in a boat and found one of the passengers crawling out. Mathias was still in the plane, blood streaming from a cut on his head.

The three were given first aid on the spot, and later were brought to Peterborough, where Mathias and Wyatt were treated at Civic Hospital. They were released later.

Hydro service to the district was disrupted for an hour after the crash, which tore the cross-arm off one pole, and ripped wires from half a dozen poles. At present, the plane is on a shoal in about six feet of water.

Posties Call Halt Over Bus Ticket Problem

About a dozen Peterborough postmen stopped work briefly this morning when faced with the possibility of having to buy bus tickets for their routes.

The work stoppage lasted for about 15 minutes when a group of them gathered in a downtown restaurant for coffee and a talk about the situation.

On July 1, a contract between the Postmaster General's department and the Peterborough Bus Lines for carrying postmen ran out.

One of the postmen said he understood that since that time no money had been received from the government department and that Postmaster H. E .White had been supplying money for tickets out of his own pocket.

Mr. White would not confirm this information. At noon all postmen were out on their routes.

Collarbone Broken

BETHANY, July 31 (ENS)—A Cavan township farmer is in Civic Hospital with a broken collar bone, brush burns and lacerations received when his team of horses bolted Monday.

Arnold Bidgood was bringing in hay Monday morning when his team of horses bolted and upset a wagon loaded with hay.

He was treated by Dr. J. J. Hamilton and Dr. G. M. Longfield, of Bethany, before he was admitted to hospital in the afternoon.

Hospital officials reported today that he was progressing favorably.

Work On New Reservoir Starts Next Year

While the summer rains were simply watering the city's lawns in the first six weeks of this summer, the weather was relieving demand on the capacity of the waterworks.

That supply from the sky distracted attention from the narrow margin of sufficiency to meet the needs and flow of the multitude of taps all around town.

So, it was said at the Utilities Commission Meeting Monday afternoon, and gratefully, too, for the "co-operation" of nature's rain-making capabilities.

However, that was a "break" that could hardly be expected two years in a row.

On Lakefield Road

The additional 2,000,0000 gallon reservoir that is to be build next year will be located on the west side of the Lakefield highway, across the road from the filtration plant, R. L. Dobbin manager mentioned. It will be on the Brown property which was acquired for just such necessary enlargements.

The reservoir will contain filtered water, ready for delivery by the pumps into the mains. This project is required to increase the capacity of storage of water that comes from the filters ready for consumption.

Mr. Dobbin said the new Utilities office building at Aylmer and Dalhousie Streets should be finished by December.

The detail of an "electric eye" for automatic opening of the main door for customers has to be discarded because it would entail setting up posts outside. Instead, there will still be facility of entry. Merely touching the handle will open the door.

Outram On Committee Studying Municipal Finance

TORONTO, July 31. (CP)—Personnel of the nine-member provincial-municipal committee which will study problems of municipal finance, responsibility and administration was announced today by Premier Frost. Municipal representatives on the committee were selected by the municipalities with the Government appointing its representatives.

E. A. OUTRAM

Government representatives will be J. W. P. Carter of the Department of Municipal Affairs with R. L. Kennedy of the Ontario Municipal Board as alternate; H. H. Walker of the Department of Agriculture, with G. L. Duffin of the same department as alternate; G. S. Tattle, department of Health, with Dr. A. H. Sellers as alternate; J. L. Zoller, Department of Highways, with W. A. Clarke as alternate.

Municipalities are represented by Reeve W. E. Brandon of Swansea, with Mayor Clare of Guelph as alternate. Reeve Brandon is the representative of the Ontario Association of Mayors and Reeves.

Association of the Rural Municipalities nominee is Reeve E. B. McMillan of Chesterville village with Reeve J. McLennan of Charlottenburg as alternate. Alderman K. G. Crawford of Kingston will represent the Ontario Municipal Association with E. A. Outram, city clerk of Peterborough as alternate.

The Northwestern Ontario Municipal Association's representative is J. W. Walker, municipal clerk of Fort Frances, with F. J. Hooper, city clerk of Kenora, as alternate.

Harold J. Chater, provincial statistician, was appointed chairman by the government.

The decision to create the committee was arrived at during a joint conference of municipal officials and Premier Frost last month.

Exhaustive study will be made of the present grant system with consideration being given to the suggestion that "free" grants be made rather than tying the municipality to the use of the money for specific purposes.

During the earlier conference representatives of the municipalities held that the "ear-marking" of grants for specific purposes by the government at times worked to the disadvantage of the municipality.

The committee will meet at an early date, Premier Frost said.

PUC Plans To Extend Gilmour St. Water Main

Utilities Commission decided Monday to extend the water main on Gilmour St. to Gordon Ave. at a cost of approximately $1,750.

Application was for connection to a new house west of Albertus, requiring 200 feet of six-inch main costing $750. R. L. Dobbin, manager, reported that eventually this water line would have to be carried on to Gordon Ave., to serve seven lots. This would require an additional 300 feet of six-inch main at an outlay of $1,000.

When all the lots are occupied the expected revenue for water services will be about $710 a year.

Charge for the one service that has now been applied for will be $30 a year.

PUC Start Foundation Work For High St. Substations

Although Utilities Commission does not expect delivery until next year of the equipment for the second transformer station they are setting up on High St., some foundation work has already begun.

One of them, more advanced in construction, is on the High St. hill. The other is being located down on the flat land in the vicinity of the CPR. There is a third completed on Clifton St. in Ashburnham, a fourth near the Auburn power plant on the north side of the city, and one each on the properties of the Quaker Oats Co. and Canadian General Electric Co.

The Commission decided a few years ago to divert their transfer load to the fringes of the city from the main substation on Aylmer St. First of the present series of subsidiary stations was the one on the north side of Romaine St., near the CNR. It was built at a cost of $55,000. The site was chosen for the reason that it was adjacent to a group of industries.

The Clifton St. transformer was erected for industrial and domestic use in the Ashburnham section, and its cost showed a substantial increase over the one on Romaine St.

These outdoor transformers, which appear to the layman to be unprotected from the weather, now cost the Commission about $70,000 each. Actually, the actual equipment is enclosed in the customary transformer housing, and is al that the service requires. Vastly bigger layouts are seen at Leaside and also at the new Hydro-Electric nest of transformers which HEPC has named in honor of Mr. Dobbin, out on the second line of Smith.

To citizens who are unacquainted with electrical engineering, these substations may be taken for granted as some vague kind of machinery set up in their neighborhoods, but they are integrally important in the distribution of power which Utilities Commission buys from the Hydro for local requirements.

Mr. Dobbin said that the capacity of the Aylmer St. station had reached the limit of its capacity, and the Commission decided that it was cheaper to scatter these branches strategically especially in relation to the industrial areas. they also avoid loss of power in high voltage extension, that is in taking the load of the manufacturing plants, plus the demostic and commercial demand.

At Mr. Dobbin's estimate of cost the two substations on High St. will cost, when completed, a total of about $140,000.

The more the public understands their place in the distribution of the city's power, and their service to homes and factories, the more they will be appreciated by people who may not know much about the technical and engineering details of their set up.

Eight To Swim For City At International Meet

Peterborough will be represented at the International Invitation Swimming Meet to be held in Watertown, New York, Saturday and Sunday.

The meet is sponsored by the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States and the Watertown Chamber of Commerce.

Eight boys who train at the Lions Club pool will leave Peterborough for Watertown Friday night. They have entered 24 individual and relay events—all possible races with age groups for them.

Last year the Peterborough swimmers won two firsts at this meet.

The eight going are Don Wood, Ralph Wood, Jim Starr, John Boorman, Terry Reid, Ross Dobbin, Wilton Tranter and Alex Baptie.

POTENTIAL BASES

Natural harbors and landing fields, three of which can handle our B-36, need improvement, but have great military potential.

OBSOLETE ARMS

Spain's army is badly-armed mostly with pre-World War II equipment. She needs modern guns and tanks . . .

The Newsmap and picture chart above highlight pros and cons in acceptance of Franco as a Western ally. Other European allies, notably France and Britain, have registered strenuous objections to dealing with the Spanish dictator.

Canadians Know Little About Own Geography

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor.

For nearly 16 years Dr. Grifith Taylor has been trying to prod Canadians into learning their own geography. Now he is leaving Canada, but he is going to keep on prodding.

Dr. Taylor is one of the world's best known geographers and his column in "Who's Who" is a recital of books, medals and honors, and assignments from Antarctica to the Arctic.

He was born at Walthamstow, England, in 1880 lived for years in Australia, and has been head of the Department of Geography at the University of Toronto since 1935. He now has retired from the university and is going to Australia to lecture and write; including one more book on Canada —for senior school students. (He sails from Quebec tomorrow on the Franconia.)

In his time in Canada he has been telling us that we know less about our own geography than any other major people. By geography he does not mean a recital of names of bays, capes and rivers. He means all the characteristics of a country—soil, climate and capacity to support the people; and the characteristics of the people themselves. He relates people to their environment and does not think we can plan what we should become unless we know what we have to start with —both its assets and limitations.

Great Future

Even before the major oil finds in Alberta, for instance, he predicted a great future for that province, because of the variety of its resources.

His ideas of population are interesting in these hopeful days. For permanent population he puts agricultural possibilities first; and gives a big rating to coal.

He says the mean July temperature is the deciding factor in agricultural possibilities, with an average July temperature of 57 degrees marking the northern limit. In Canada this limit runs roughly from northern Newfoundland to James Bay, and then swoops to the northwest to the mouth of the Mackenzie River in the Arctic, with British Columbia offering a varied picture of fertile lands set among mountains.

The limit for dense wheat is considerably south of the July-57 line. And, of course, large areas which qualify on temperature, do not qualify because of rocky terrain—such as that of the mineral-rich pre-Cambrian shield, which covers about half of Canada's total area.

His many lectures have made Dr. Taylor widely-known, and thousands of Canadians know more about their country as a result of his having lived here.

This write, who once interviewed him, can testify wryly that his enthusiasm for geography was matched only by his enthusiasm for running up flights of stairs on a tour of his department.

193 Pounds Marihuana

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP). —A man whose automobile yielded what police called the largest cache of marijuana ever recovered in the United States yesterday was indicted on three narcotics counts. A District Grand Jury returned the indictment against John Wetherbee, 28, of New York. Treasury agents and city police recovered 193 pounds of marijuana hidden in the upholstery and body panels of a sedan. Narcotics agents said the weed was worth $221,666.

Chemistry Waves Magic Wand and Produces Marvels

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Coming through chemistry — abundant food for everyone, by discovery of the secrets of photosynthesis.

Fuels for trips to the moon—heateresisting materials for faster jet planes.

Clothes that won't wrinkle or lose a crease.

Fresh water from the sea to offset water shortages—new foods and more minerals or metals from the oceans.

Drugs to control cancer, polio and other diseases.

Artificial proteins, maybe—and maybe even ation of life.

Fantastic? Chemists already are on the way to bringing many of them true. And on the basis of past performances, the predictions should be treated with respect.

Take a moment for a look back, and a glance ahead.

Big Conclave

The occasion is the diamond jubilee year of the American Chemical Society, founded 75 years ago and now the largest professional scientific society in the world. Special ceremonies will include a world chemical conclave this September in New York and Washington, bringing top chemists from over the world.

Seventy-five years ago, chemistry was a small industry in the United States.

Chemistry Waves

Today, chemicals are the foremost industry of the country, in multi-billion dollar operations.

The parade of new and better and once-dreamed of things from chemistry is staggering in variety. . . .

Processed foods and more nutritious foods, vitamins, sulfa drugs and antibiotics, synthetic gems, synthetic tires for autos, long - lasting, bright - colored paints.

Plastics to the tune of 1,500.-000,000 pounds a year now, oils and gasolines, synthetic gasoline, dyes creating new rainbows, synthetic soaps, bromine and magnesium mined from the sea, plastics and greases made from sand and carbon.

Man-made fibres from rayon to nylon and half a dozen much newer ones with special advantages; shrink-proofing of clothes, moth - proofing, rainproofing; movies and photography and TV, synthetic hormones, modern cigarettes, better baseball, cosmetics, cheaper and better books, more potent war weapons.

Have Big Hand

And the atom bomb. Chemists had a huge hand in making the bomb possible. They have a major role in bringing about atomic power for peacetime use.

For centuries chemistry was a collection f arts and crafts. But the magic of research was taking form slowly.

The wand created, among other things, a giant of chemical research, still young and vigorous. No one can predict what the coming years will bring. But some things are clearly on the horizon.

There will be better plastics, better, clothes for coolness or warmth and comfort and appearance, better homes, more and better drugs to control diseases; better preservation of foods.

An old worry is whether there are or will be too many people, too many mouths to feed, too many people to clothe and supply with material things.

Sure They'll Find Answer

Some chemists are confident they will find answers—maybe by using inexhausible raw materials of sand, air and water in place of metals and coal and oil. Sugars may come from wood; proteins from yeasts or artificial blending of protein building blocks; fats from coal and other things. Earth may some day be used in new ways to form bricks and slabs for home.

There is progress now toward solving the secrets of photosynthesis, the process by which plants create foodstuffs from sunlight, carbon dioxide, water and nitrogen. Man could create limitless supplies of food once he can duplicate photosynthesis in his own factories.

Much of the terrific energy of the sun now is wasted. It is partly a chemical challenge to learn how to use it more efficiently for heat and for power.

The human body is made of an inexpensive amount of chemicals. In biochemistry lie the answers to many secrets of health and life.

Eden Says Arming Only Way To Survive

QUEBEC, July 31—(CP)—Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden said Monday night the rearmament program of the Western democracies is "the only way to stop the Communists, whose leaders have respect for force only."

The British Conservative Party deputy-leader arrived aboard the Empress of France.

Mr. Eden will spend some time in Montreal and later will be the guest of Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey at Port Hope, Ont., before he proceeds to the University of Denver, Colo., where he will deliver an address.

Electrocuted

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., July 31 (CP)—Patsi Durant, 20, was electrocuted Monday at Queenston quarries, five miles north of here, when he accidentally touched a derrick carrying 550 volts. He came here from Italy only two months ago.

EDMONTON, July 31 (CP) — The 10,000th soldier to enlist in the 27th Canadian Infantry Brigade for service in Europe joined the army here Monday. He was Dugald Gordon Gillespie, 24, of Edmonton.

Attack On Yugoslavia Would Bring UN Aid

NEW YORK, July 31—(AP)—Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate to the United Nations, said last night that if Yugoslavia is attacked by Russia, the UN will go to the rescue.

Austin made his statement in response to questioning by UN news correspondents on a radio-television show, "United Or Not?"

He said the UN last fall had adopted a program called "Peace Through Deeds" which committed all members to the program "All for One and One for All." This, he said, meant military assistance in case of attack.

Austin added, however, that he does not believe any Soviet attack on Yugoslavia is imminent.

War Risk Greatest

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—Senator Brien McMahon (Dem., Conn.) just returned from a tour of Western European countries, said yesterday "the chances of war with Russia are greater today than they have been."

McMahon, chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, told a press conference:

"I think we are in for a very anxious year. We must be on the alert for anything."

Harvest Festival

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP).—The National Council of Churches yesterday urged a revival of the observance by churches of the old-time autumn "harvest festival." The festival, said a statement by the Council, has been abandoned by most churches in favor of Thanksgiving Day services "in whose worship the references to seedtime and harvest are peculiarly lacking."

STOPS WALKING—Thomas Patrick Jackson, a 39-year-old Englishman who has walked through much of the Orient and the Americas, plans to settle in Montreal for a while to study for his BA degree at McGill University. Jackson says he rarely accepts a lift while on a walking tour, still averages 50 miles a day. He has worked as a teacher in China and Panama and was working as a prisoner-of-war in a copper mine 70 miles from Hiroshima when the atom bomb was dropped.

DEER HEARTS AND GENTLE PUPPIES—Deer and dachshunds can live together in harmony—provided there's plenty of chow to go around. This happy "family group" on a farm near Bergen, Germany, proves it. A German farmer found two young deer, injured and abandoned. He took them home, only to discover his pet dachshund had given birth to seven little, long ones. Now, all nine pets are growing up together.

Two Top US Women Swim In CNE Splash

TORONTO, July 31 (CP). — Two leading American women marathon swimmers will race in the three-mile event at the Canadian National Exhibition here next month.

George Duthie, CNE sports director, said Monday he has received an application from Joyce Machae Hawdyluk, 27-year-old swimming instructor of San Francisco who has set 10 US distance records.

She is expected to give some tough competition to Berniece Looney Crandall of Ashtabula, O., who has won easily in the last four years.

Ladies Steal Spotlight At Thorncliffe Track

TORONTO, July 31 (CP). — The ladies are edging the horses out of the limelight at Thorncliffe raceway.

Today's feature event is exclusively for lady-drivers.

Six ladies will be wielding the whips in the race, with Mrs. Grace Grieg of Toronto picked by the track handicapper to win with Peter Aubrey.

In addition to the purse for the race, a special purse of $100 has been posted for the drivers.

Speaker Tells Of Cify Life 100 Years Ago

A picture of how people in Peterborough and the surrounding area lived a century ago was presented Monday at the Rotary luncheon meeting.

Speaker was A. A. Burridge, owner of Century House—Canadiana museum and antique establishment at Pleasant Point on Sturgeon Lake.

Mr. Burridge is well-known in Canadian athletic circles as well as for his famous antique collection. During the Second World War he was OC of COTC at McMaster University. He was director of athletics at this university 1930-1945. Previous to that time he was assistant director of athletics at McGill University, Montreal and althletic director of Glebe Collegiate, Ottawa. He was also Ontario's representative to the National Council of Physical Fitness during the Second World War.

Started First Playground

Mr. Burridge made an important contribution to recreation in Peterborough in 1914. In that year he started the first playground ever to be held in the city. This playground and Mr. Burridge's visit to the city was under the auspices of the Local Council of Women.

In his address to Rotary, Mr. Burridge exhibited several antiques which he explained as describing modes of life in this area 100 years ago.

Among this collection were articles used both by the ruling class and workmen of that period. Included were different types of glass and pewter ware, canes, china and porcelain ornaments, a bootjack, skates, candle mould, apple pealer, butter stamps and taster, pistols and spitoon.

One of the more humorous articles in this collection, Mr. Burridge called a sparking lamp. He explained that when a young man came to call on his lady friend in those days, her mother lit the sparking lamp. The idea was that when this little lamp had burnt out, the caller was to leave. "Usually a very short time," the speaker commented.

Mr. Burridge was introduced by the Rev. Ivan Morgan of Murray St. Baptist Church and thanked by Ford Warren.

Legion Team Wins

HASTINGS, July 31 (ENS) — Tanners and Legion met in their first game of the best of three series, with Legion winning 7 to 2.

Crowley was the winning pitcher and turned in a neat five-hit effort.

Blackbourne went the route for Tanners and turned in his best chore of the season. He had one bad inning in the fifth when he got wild and Legion pushed in three runs. However, he settled away for the remainder of the game. F. Beavis on short had a bad night and was the cause of the three Legion tallies.

Padget Pitches Springfield To 3-1 Triumph

By The Associated Press

Bill (Spec) Padget is a big winner for a last-place club.

The 26-year-old righthander turned in his 12th victory last night as he pitched Springfield Cubs to a 3-1 victory over the third-place Syracuse Chiefs.

Padget checked the Chiefs on eight hits and blanked them after the first inning. Gene Hooks drove in two Springfield runs on a pair of singles.

The setback prevented the Chiefs from taking over second place from Buffalo Bisons who dropped a 3-1 decision to Ottawa Giants.

Gerry (Red) Fahr stopped the Bisons on six hits to post his second victory without a loss since arriving from Cleveland.

Tom (No-Hit) Simpson blanked the Giants until the sixth inning when Fred Gerken socked a two-run homer to win the game.

Royals Split

Montreals' league-leading Royals split a doubleheader with Toronto Maple Leafs, winning the first game 7-5 but losing the second 3-1.

The Royals clinched the opener with a six-run blast in the second inning, including home runs by Johnny Welaj and Jim Russell. Bob Alexander started and gained credit for his 12th victory.

Cliff Fannin stopped the Royals on seven hits in the second game. Fannin also tripled to launch a three-run rally in the third.

Baltimore Orioles edged Rochester Red Wings 9-8 in 10 innings. Mike Goliat tripled home Johnny Mayo with two out to break up the game. Marv Rickert of the Orioles sent the game into overtime with a two-run homer in the top of the ninth. The blow was Rickert's 21st.

Strict Simplicity Keynotes Dior New Showing

PARIS, July 31 (AP).—Christian D'Ior, Paris' top fashion dictator, Monday launched his most revolutionary collection since the new look.

Extremely simple, extremely chic, the "long line," as D'Ior calls his new silhouette, has longer skirts (some looked about 12 inches from the floor), shorter bodices, and the barest minimum of frou-frou: "One button, one bow, one pleat," the designer describes it simply.

In one sweep, D'Ior has abolished nearly all trimmings, and brought women down off tall, teetery heels. His low (about 1½-inch) square heels, he explained, "make walking safer and have given women a new aplomb."

Except for some fully-pleated, bell-shaped cocktail and evening skirts, D'Ior stuck to a moderately-flared skirt for all models. There were no tight skirts, and no two-piece dresses.

Suit jackets were extremely short—barely below the waist—to make the skirts look even longer. All skirt fullness was pulled to the back.

D'Ior introduced a political note in his collection by naming all his ball gowns after countries, including the smallest republics, but carefully forgetting to honor Russia and her satellites.

While d'Ior used almost nothing but blacks and dark greys, another Paris couturier today opened a collection which avoided these basic shades completely. Always turned to bronzy browns, bigees, bright hues and greens and winter white for his suits and dresses.

Alwyn's skirts were even longer than D'Ior's—some practically ankle length—cut in a point on one side. The irregular effect was reported in jackets longer one side than the other, and in symetrical decolletage pointing sharply to one side.

Turner-Reynolds Nuptials Are Held

MARMORA, July 31 (ENS). — A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora, on Monday when Leona Mae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reynolds of Marmora became the bride of Maxwell George Turner, son of Mrs. Walter Couch and the late George Turner of Belleville. The Rev. George D. Young was the officiating minister. The church was decorated with gladioli, sweet peas and hydrangea. Wedding music was played by the organist, Mrs. Alex Fraser, and during the signing of the register Mrs. E. C. Prentice sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a gown of white bridal satin, lace trimmed with overskirt forming a fish-tail at back. Her three-quarter length veil was of embroidered nylon net held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms and lily of the valley. She carried a bouquet of red roses and baby's breath.

Miss Marion Reynolds, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, was dressed in mauve moire embossed taffeta and matching picture hat. She was also attended by her sisters, Jennie and Nina Reynolds as bridesmaids. They were attired in green and yellow nylon net over taffeta with matching picture hats. Joan McCaffrey, niece of the bride, was flower girl and was dressed in pink organdy with matching headdress and veil. She carried a nosegay of sweet peas and rose buds and the attendants carried bouquets of pink roses and their hats were trimmed with orange blossoms.

Clarence Reynolds, brother of the bride, was groomsman and the ushers were Eldon Killian and William Charleton.

A reception was held in St. Andrew's hall with Circle 2 of the Women's Association catering to the guests. The bride's mother received in a gown of navy sheer and white straw hat. The groom's mother, who also received, wore navy sheer with navy felt hat and each had a corsage of pink roses.

Later the bride and groom left for a trip to Rochester and New York. Travelling the bride wore a navy skirt with white jacket and pink accessories and corsage of red roses. They will live at 51 North Front St., Belleville.

Guests were present from Niagara Falls, NY; Chippawa, Toronto, Niagara Falls, Ont., Haven Hill, Mass., Bowmanville, Sudbury, Corbyville and Frankford.

Honor Newlyweds

BAILIEBORO, July 31 (ENS)—A lare number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Edgerton in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Little (nee Ethel Edgerton) who were recently married.

Mr. Max Perrin was chairman for a very splendid program. An address of congratulations was given by Reeve Harry Campbell. Presentation of gifts was made by Miss Gwen Beebe. The groom replied and unch was served.

M. O'Donoghue Weds Wm. F. Harrington

Pink and white gladioli decorated the altar of St. Martins' Church Ennismore, for the wedding of Margaret Mary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. O'Donoghue and William Francis Harrington, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Harrington.

The Rev. V. J. Gilliogly, parish priest, officiated, with Harry and Bobby Kyle, cousins of the groom, serving mass. Mrs. John P. Flood was organist and chair members were all close relatives of bride and groom. At the offertory of the mass Mrs. John E. O'Donoghue, ount of the bride sang 'Ave Marie' and during the signing of the register Mr. James Harrington, cousin of the groom, sang the Hymn "Thy Name oh Mother Mary."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a simply designed gown of white bridal satin with yoke of embroidered nylon. Her shoulder veil of silk embroidered net was caught to a bandeau of the satin trimmed with tiny orange blossoms. Her boquet was red roses.

Only bridal attendant, Mrs. Fergus Cavanagh of Peterborough, was gowned in powder blue corded taffeta her head dress being of the same material in bandeau style with short veil of matching blue. She carried a nosegay of pink and white roses, Mr. Fergus Cavanagh was groomsman and ushers were Mickey O'Donoghue of Peterborough, cousin of the bride and John Harrington cousin of the groom.

The reception was held at the Kawartha Country Club, where the brides mother received wearing powder blue with black accessohies and a corsage of red roses. Also receiving was the groom's sister, Mrs. Dan Cavanagh, a corsake of pink and white roses.

Leaving on a motor trip to Northern Ontario the bride was wearing a dress of blue printed silk with black accessories. Her hat was of black mohair and summer velvet and her corsage of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrington will live in Peterborough.

Presentation Made Mrs. S. S. Staples

SPRINGVILLE, July 31 (ENS) —Mrs. S. S. Staples, and daughter Barbara, who recently moved from this locality to Peterborough were honored by the congregation of Springville United Church last week, when Mrs. Owen Murray and Mrs. Donald Cathcart, representing the Springville congregation, called at their new residence in the city and presented Mrs. Staples with an expansion bracelet wrist watch and a necklace and Miss Barbara Staples with a traveller's alarm clock in a leather case. The recipients voiced their appreciation and sent a card of thanks to the church.

Mrs. Staples has been a prominent and loyal membe r of the Springville congregation in it's many activities and she will be greatly missed. For many years she has been Superintendent of the cradle roll of the Sunday School and has held many offices in the Women's Missionary Society and the Women's Association of the Church.

The appreciation and good wishes of the congregation go with Mrs. Staples and her daughter to their new home in the city.

The Women's Missionary Society have planned a very special meeting for Wednesday evening Aug. 8th at Springville United Church.

Daisy Murray Westington, formerly of Springville and Peterborough will sing and her husband Dr. Mars Westington of Hanover College, Indianapolis will speak on the subject, "The Sun Shines Bright."

This service is open to the public and is being held in the evening instead of in the afternoon, to give men as well as women an opportunity to hear this talented singer and speaker. At the close of the meeting refreshments are to be served and a social hour spent with Dr. and Mrs. Mars Westington.

British Fashions Keep Same Lines, Stress Material

By MURIEL NARRAWAY.

LONDON, July 31 (CP). — Britain's fashion fans can relax.

Secrets of the new fall fashions have just been released by London's Big Ten of Couture, and it seems that last year's suits and dresses are still pretty up-to-date. This will mean a lot to smart women with small budgets.

Last year's straight-skirted suits need little changing. Basic lines stay much the same as they have been these last two winters, and the length remains just below the knees.

Although there are few surprises in design, a large stock of beautiful materials give an exquisite finish and color to challenge any necessity. Design lies in good tailoring emphasized by surprise touches at pockets, waist and lapels.

Michael, designer for Lachasse, shows considerable invention in the casual elegance of suit jackets built on the lines of the "hackling" jacket. The side seams of the basque are slit so that hands slide through to pockets in the skirt. In both suits and loose coats the designer uses the brigand collar—shallow at back and deeply cuffed in front.

Lachasse is the newest member of the Big Ten.

Charles Creed, noted for adding piquancy to the straightest lines, puts this year's emphasis on the skirt. He permits a little fullness while keeping the popular pencil-slim outline.

This he does in four different ways, including alternately straight and bias panels of kilting, and narrow horizontal pleating in a style he calls "Venetian blind." His jackets are perversely buttoned from left to right like a man's and often have several cuffs to a sleeve and several layers to a collar.

Colors this year are dark with a lot of pewter greys and earthy browns.

Court Quashes Divorce Given 53 Years Ago

LONDON (CP)—Britain's high court has declared invalid a divorce granted 53 years ago to a wealthy Briton who married his family's housemaid in Quebec.

The court's judgment also had the effect of dismissing a petition for legitimacy by 50-year-old Philip Gatty of Preston, Lancashire, whose counsel said the decision would have a bearing on death duties paid on the estate of Gatty's mother.

Story

Evidence in court brought out this story:

Frederick Gatty, whose family owned a flourishing dye works, emigrated to North America in the 1890s when the family objected to his engagement to Margaret Baker, a young housemaid employed at his home. Frederick sent a gift to Miss Baker and she used it to buy a ticket to Canada.

In November, 1895, the couple was married in Quebec. Two years later Gatty was granted a divorce in North Dakota on the ground of desertion and subsequently married Francis Irwin in Winnipeg. They had two children, including Philip Gatty who brought the petition of legitimacy.

The court ruled that Frederick Gatty had shown no intention of living in North Dakota and that by English law that decree of divorce could not be recognized.

Floating Store On B.C. Coast Finds A Market

VANCOUVER (CP).—Mr. and Mrs. Bill Graham are doing a flourishing business with their floating departmental store, plying between isolated communities along the British Columbia coast.

Three years ago Bill bought a rotting schooner hull that had been abandoned, half full of water, on the beach. With the aid of his father he repaired the vessel and built a plywood and cedar superstructure.

Beginning his second year afloat, he set out this summer with his wife and three children for a two-months' cruse northward with a $10,000 stock of goods.

Different store departments are scattered along much of the cruiser's 70-foot length. Long lines of tartan skirts hang from a metal frame. There are racks of men's blue denims, work socks, nylon shirts, boys and girls shoes, and lingerie.

There are also candies, watches, alarm clocks, costume jewelery and many other items including soft drinks. The latter are especially popular in Indian settlements.

They'll see old friends like Chief Henry Speck on Turnour Island, Ole Hanson at Lagoon Logging Camp up by Minstrel, and all the Gang at Alert Bay.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Jellied Salad, Ritz Class Found In Crab Meat Recipe

It is still National Salad Week and today, if you want it, you have a chance to serve one of the smartest jellied salads it is possible to make.

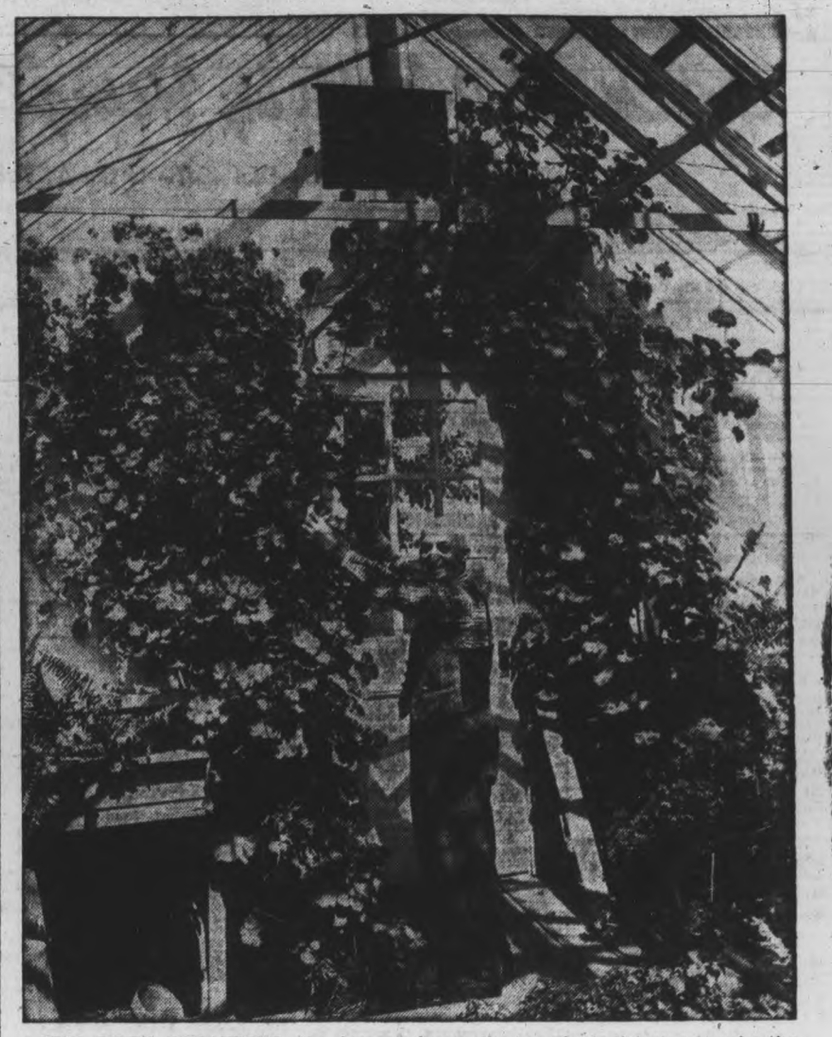
Jellied crab meat is the name. If you serve this with a little fanfare you could invite even Queen Mary. (She might not come—but this is a democracy and nobody can stop you mailing the invitation.)

Jellied Crab Meat Salad

To serve six soak 1 tablespoon gelatine in ¼ cup cold water for 5 minutes. Add this to ¾ cup hot boiled salad dressing (see below.) After the gelatine has dissolved in the hot dressing add 1 cup flaked crab meat (1 7-oz. tin), one-half cup of diced celery, ½ of a seeded green pepper chopped, 2 tablespoons chopped canned pimiento, 2 tablespoons chopped olives, ½ teasoon salt, ¼ teasoon paprika, 2 teaspoons vinegar. Fill individual or large moulds which have been rinsed out with cold water. Chill. Serve on bed of greens garnished with wedge of lemon and gherkin and stuffed or ripe olive.

Boiled Salad Dressing

In top of double boiler stir together 4 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon flour and when mixed stir in 1 cup milk and let cook until thick. Beat 2 egg yolks slightly and add 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon cayenne pepper, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon mustard and ½ cup vinegar. Stir this into the cooked mixture and stir until it thickens to dressing consistency. Remove from heat and pour over the stiffly beaten egg whites, using a folding motion to mix. Chill.



Jellied Chicken and Vegetable

Two tablespoons gelatine, 3 cups hot chicken broth or canned chicken soup, 2 cups slightly undercooked vegetables—(these may include peas, string beans cut small, carrots, asparagus, tiny cauliflower flowerets, 1 cup diced chicken meat (or veal or ham, 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento, 1 green pepper chopped. Soak gelatine in the cold water or broth for 5 minutes. Add hot broth and stir until gelatine is dissolved, add salt and cool. Pour in a ½-inch layer into cold wet mould and let stiffen until nearly set. Add some of the vegetables and chicken meat, then some jelly, and repeat until all ingredients are added. Chill until firm. This is attractive if unmoulded on watercress and pale little lettuce leaves. Pass mayonnaise.

Potato Salad In Tomato Aspic

Potato Salad: 4 cups cold cooked potatoes diced, ½ cup mayonnaise, 3 tablespoons melted butter or ½ cup cream, 2 tablespoons minced green pepper, ¼ tablespoon paprika, 2 teaspoons salt, 3 or 4 stalks celery diced, 2 or 3 tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons chopped green onion or chives. Pour melted butter or cream over diced potatoes and let stand 5 minutes before mixing salad.

Tomato Aspic: Cook together 1 28-oz tin tomatoes, 1 teaspoon each peppercorns, salt, sprig of parsley blade of mace, slice of onion, 1 cup celery for 30 minutes slowly. Soak 1½ teaspoons gelatine and 1/3 cup cold water. Strain tomatoes over gelatine and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Cover bottom of loaf pan with some of the tomato aspic, and when cool add the potato salad and the remaining aspic. Chill until set. This is effective when served in the centre of a platter of cold cuts.

TWO HUGE GERANIUMS, the larger over 12 feet high and both a solid mass of blooms, are the pride of John Bell, gardener for the CPR at Port McNicoll's famous dockside gardens. Grown in his greenhouse, the two plants threaten to raise the roof. DOROTHY DIX

Father of Two Hits Snags In Search For Second Wife

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a man of 30, divorced and the father of two children. In 1949 my wife walked out on me and the children. I loved her very much, and am devoted to the youngsters. Recently I met a very nice girl and went with her quite a while, but she broke off with me because she felt she couldn't undertake the responsibilities of my children. She was very truthful about it, so the only thing I could do was stop seeing her. Lately I have been drinking a lot, not to drown my sorrows but just to be with the boys. I know I can stop any time, and settle down, if I could only find a wife who would share my home and my children.

Dorothy Dix

ANTOINE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I'm sorry that I cannot publish your name and address, nor forward to you any mail I receive, but you should have no difficulty in finding the kind of woman you want. First of all, you will not find her at a bar, Antoine, so it would be a good idea to give up so much drinking with the boys and go places where you will find nice girls.

Many Girls Are Capable

A girl who takes over the care and rearing another woman's children assumes a grave obligation, and it's amazing how many are willing and capable to do the job. A good stepmother is a gift from heaven. Don't be discouraged by the disappointments you have had so far. Try again, but don't rush into marriage until you're sure of the right person. Good luck!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: A few months ago I met a girl; we seemed be a perfect match and I soon realized I was falling in love. Then she told me she was married to a soldier overseas. I felt like a heel and we decided to stop seeing each other. However, in spite of our determination, we still meet occasionally. Now her husband in coming home and she hasn't made up her mind whether she loves him or me. Her husband is a fine person and until she met me there was no doubt of her devotion to him. She hopes to make up her mind when he returns home, but in the meantime I cannot understand her indecision.

W. W.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: No matter how gay a charmer your young lady may be, she is not for you, and you'd better run fast to escape further involvement in a sorry mess. Probabilities are as soon as she lays eyes on her husband again she'll fall in his arms and wonder what she ever saw in you. You've been a good antidote for her loneliness, but that's all, so better find yourself a nice unattached girl.

You realize yourself how emotionally unstable this girl is, and if you'd feel like a heel going out with her, imagine how low your self-respect would sink if you tried to break up her marriage. As a young man of good character and fine instincts, you deserve more of life than the dregs of a second-hand romance.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My father-in-law, at 86 married my husband's first wife who is in her forties. My husband is an only child and his father threatens to will everything (and he has a considerable estate) to his wife unless we invite her to our home. We have been married twenty years; I have almost forgotten about my husband's divorce and our children have never been told of it. I shrink from the thought of inviting this woman to my home. Am I justified in refusing to have her?

L. M. R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are definitely justified in your refusal to entertain your step-mother-in-law, even if it means waving goodbye to the inheritance. Your father-in-law, is sadistically anxious to break up the harmony in your home, and at any cost don't let him have his way. As for the money, he probably wouldn't leave it to your husband anyway; his wife will most certainly take care of that angle.

Keep your own self-respect and don't pander to the old man's eccentricities.

EASY DOES IT

OTTAWA —(CP)—A landlord, taking a driving lesson from his tenant, drove the tenant's car out of his driveway at high speed, glanced off a parked car and crashed into the house across the street, cracking the wall. The parked automobile belonged to another tenant. Both cars were badly damaged but no on was hurt.

Acid May Help Slow Children

CAPE TOWN (CP)—Forty pupils in a school in Uitenhage near Port Elizabeth are in the final stages of a six-month experiment which it is hoped will show whether the intelligence of backward childre ncan be stimulated by the use of glaumatic actid in tablet form.

The experiment is believed the first of its kind ever attempted, and if concrete results could be obtained it might have worldwide significance in the treatment of such children.

Under the medical supervision of Dr. W. Van Rensburg of the Stellenbosch University, the experiment is being conducted by Dl L. de Plessis, an official of one of South Africa's leading training colleges.

All the children were given medical and intelligence tests before the experiment began. Twenty selected backward children were placed with 20 others of equal age and intelligence, one group being given the tablet treatment for checks on their progress against the other group.

Teachers have already noted improved health and greater responsiveness among the children, says C. J. Oathuizen, principal of the school. The amount of increase in mental responsiveness will be studied at the conclusion of the experiment.

Friends Honor Miss Mary Tinney

CAVAN, July 31 (ENS)—Cavan community hall, attractively decorated with baskets of summer flowers was the setting on Friday evening for a presentation to Miss Mary Tinney whose marriage to Mr. John Taylor, Port Hope, takes place early in August.

Mrs. Mervin Kinsman and Mrs. O. V. Carley received the 125 guests who came from Peterborough, Bethany, Garden Hill, Nestleton, Millbrook, Ida and Cavan.

Mrs. Lavergne Fallis, Millbrook, was chairman and invited Miss Tinney to a decorated chair near the platform. Miss Evelyn Mantle, Bethany, played selections on the piano. A much appreciated number was a duet by Mrs. Archie Kennedy and Mrs. Sanfield Staples. June Wright, Bethany, delighted the audience with her tap dancing. Mrs. Lavergne Fallis read a humorous selection on advice to the bride-to-be on how to preserve a husband.

Mrs. Kenneth Braithwaite read an address of good wishes and Mrs. W. White, Mrs. Eldrich Snyder and Mrs. Roy Ferren made the presentation of a Lazy-Boy chair and foot rest. Miss Tinney thanked all for their kindness and a buffet lunch was served.

Mrs. Donald Tinney and Mrs. J. Forder, Nestleton, poured tea from silver services placed at either end of a nicely appointed table, centred with a bowl of roses flanked by tall pink tapers in silver holders.

Assisting with the service of refreshments were Mrs. Fred Byers, Mrs. Ralph Tyler, Mrs. W. White, Mrs. Milton Carr, Mrs. E. Synder, Mrs. R. Ferren, Mrs. James Robinson, Garden Hill, Miss Audrey Keene, Toronto, and Miss June Stinson.

GONDOLIERS GO GAS—After centuries of hand-propulsion, the famed gondolas of Venice have succumbed to progress, and now have new gasoline engines for power. Here, a souped-up gondola, its oars at rest and its steersman seated comfortably at the motor controls, breezes along the St. Maroo waterfront — to the fascination of tourists and citizens of Venice.

5 Cars, Truck In City Mishap

A car driven by Gary Reeds, St. Catharines, received a damaged left fender when it collided with a dump truck Monday night on Rogers St., north of the CPR tracks.

Clarence Bebee, RR 8 Peterborough, was driver of the dump truck which was loaded with gravel at the time of the accident. Bebee was going south on Rogers and came over a grade, just north of the railway tracks, and there collided with Reeds.

Police say that Reeds, driving north on Rogers, was five feet over the centre of the road.

The truck escaped damage. Neither man was injured. PCs Douglas Farthing and Grant Gillespie investigated.

Early Monday night a car that got half way up the court house hill, Murray St., couldn't make it and slipped back down the hill colliding with another car coming from behind.

The first car was driven by Raymond P. Peters, 71 McDonnel St. He started up the hill, stopped, and then started back. Stan Dunford, 497 Dickson Ave., driver of the car behind, cut left to avoid the slipping, car but was unsuccessful.

The left front fender of Peters' car was damaged and Dunford's car received a damaged wheel rim and a broken main spring.

Peters' had no emergency brake and the foot brake was poor, police report. PCs Douglas Farthing and Grant Gillespie investigated.

A car driven by Albert E. Jeeves, 580 Howden Ave., late Monday morning backed up into a the car lot of Harry Goodman, 210 Hunter St. The car struck a second car belonging to Goodman, damaging the left front fender and grill of the Goodman vehicle —a total of $40 damage.

PC Harold Andrew investigated.

Blast Wrecks Apartment

CLIFFORD, Ont., July 31 (CP) —Four persons were shaken up today when an unexplained blast wrecked their apartment. Police believe the explosive was dynamite.

Clayton G. McPhail, owner of a service station and garage over which the apartment is located, his two sons and Ruby Gilkinson, a maid, were asleep in the apartment.

The blast ripped off a banister, blew an outside door to bits and knocked a cellar door of its hinges. Parts of the outside door were found 40 feet away. The partition in a sunroom in which McPhail was sleeping crumbled and a large hole was torn through a double hardwood floor and the foot of the stairs.

Police were unable to explain the blast. They said it might have been the work of a prankster.

Said Don McPhail, 20, a son: "We thought a barel of gasoline had exploded. They (police) figure it was dynamite—they found a fuse." He said the explosive aparently was placed inside the back door.

Clifford is 50 miles south of Owen Sound.

J. D. Howson Enlists As Chaplain In Army

The Rev. J. Donald L. Howson, 36, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Howson, 548 Aylmer St., has enlisted as a chaplain in the Canadian Army.

Mr. Howson is rector of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Fredericton, New Brunswick.

He was born and educated in Peterborough. He graduated from PCVS and entered Trinity College, University of Toronto, in 1933. Later he spent one year at McGill University and one year at St. Andrew's, University, Scotland. In 1939 he became rector of St. Andrew's Church in Fredericton.

He served as a navy chaplain during World War 2 and was stationed at Cornwallis, Nova Scotia.

Following the war, he obtained his Master of Philosophy degree at the University of Toronto before returning to his church in Fredericton.

About three weeks ago he enlisted to serve overseas as a chaplain with the Canadian Army. He expects to serve either as a chaplain in a Canadian Army hospital in Tokyo or with the Canadian forces in Europe, and will go overseas some time after September 1.

Kennedy Tours West

TORONTO, July 31 (CP) — Agriculture Minister Kennedy of Ontario leaves tomorrow on a tour of Western Canada which will wind up the last week of August at the conference of provincial agricultural ministers in Victoria.

Mr. Kennedy will be at Port Arthur Thursday night and at Winnipeg Saturday. From there he will go to Regina, North Battleford and Edmonton. He is likely to visit Alaska before going on to Victoria.

King Returns To Public Life

LONDON, July 31 (Reuters)—The King today carried out his first official public engagement since his illness began in May. He decorated 65 persons who had received awards in the birthday honors list.

For more than an hour, the King, wearing the uniform of Admiral of the Fleet, stood beside a small table on which was a cushion bearing the orders and decorations.

Thirty-four new Knights Bachelor knelt before the King who touched each of them lightly on the shoulder with his sword. When they rose they were officially Knights.

Among the recipients were two whose honor commemorated centenaries — Christopher Chancellor, general manager of Reuters which celebrated its 100th birthday two weeks ago, and Gerald Barry, the man responsible for the organization of this year's Festival of Britain.

Henry Turner, secretary of the Commonwealth Press Union, the newspaper organization devoted to Commonwealth press interests, also received his accolade.

Nationalist General Fighting In China

TAIPEH, Formosa, July 31. — (AP) — Chinese Nationalist military quarters today confirmed for the first time that Nationalist Gen. Li Mi is campaigning against Communists in Southwest China.

They had been silent for several days on a Rangoon report that Li's forces from Northern Burma had crossed into Yunnan province on a 100-mile front. But they said his main job was to develop, expand and encourage guerriallas fighting Communists there.

Interested Spectator

LONDON (CP).—Excited guest at a wedding ceremony here was three-year-old Susan Mortlemens, who somehow got her head jammed in the railings. Guests plied her with chocolates until she was freed by firemen.

Alarm, Police Keen

WOODSTOCK, July 31 (CP)—Constable Bud Brown was right on the spot when the burglar alarm in a corner bank began to ring early today. His cruiser had stopped for a stoplight.

But search of the bank produced no burglar. Constable Brown's theory: Vibrations of passing trucks set off the alarm.

Obituary

WILLIAM LEE

HARWOOD, July 31.—William Lee died at his home just east of Harwood on Saturday. Mr. Lee was born at his farm home 58 years ago, and resided there all of his life. He had been ill for a year or more but during the last three months became steadily worse.

Requiem Mass was said in the Church of the Sacred Heart on Monday morning by the Rev. Father Fitzgerald, of Burnley. Burial was in St. Michael's cemetery, Cobourg. He is survived by his widow, Henrietta (Young) Lee, and three children, Eleanor, Marion and Ronald.

MRS. HERBERT STENSON.

Mrs. Herbert Stenson of 535 Reid St., died today at her residence following an illness of two years. She was born in Harriston, Ont., Emily, daughter of the late James Allen and Isobel Fraser, and came to Peterborough 68 years ago. Prior to this she lived in Cobourg. Her husband, Herbert Stenson, former prominent shoe merchant of this city, predeceased her in 1949.

She leaves two nieces in Toronto, Miss Jessie Norton and Mrs. Clara Hargrave. Mrs. Stenson was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian church and a very active worker.

Funeral service will be held on Thursday at the Belleghem funeral home at 2 p.m. The Rev. Arnold Mathews of George Street United church, in the absence of the Rev. Charles Boyd, will officiate. Burial will be at Little Lake cemetery.

ARTHUR MAURICE WARD

Mystery Lifts Around Unknown Body

NEW ORLEANS, July 31 (AP) —Part of the mystery surrounding a man found dead in a Louisiana swamp is cleared up, but his identity remains a puzzle.

Sam Jones, the one first identified as the victim, gave officers his version of how the man died. Jones said that Donald Easterwood, once tried and acquitted on a charge of murdering Jones, knew the man's name.

Easterwood, 26, was arrested at his Baton Rouge home after this disclosure by Jones yesterday and jailed on a charge of investigation of murder. He refused to say anything because his lawyers were not present.

Easterwood had been free on bond as a material witness. He was first arrested last week after Jones was found alive in Denver, Colo.

John Faulkner, chief deputy criminal sheriff, said the 40-year-old Jones signed a statement in which he said the man fell on a knife and killed himself during a fight. Faulkner quoted Jones as saying he put the body in the swamp.

Jones is being held under a murder charge.

Seven Escape As Jeep Upsets

Seven Peterborough youths escaped serious injury at 3:35 a.m. today when the jeep in which they were riding crashed into the south curb of the Murray-Aylmer St. intersection and upset.

Four of them, including the driver, Thomas C. Feeley, 16, of 261 Lake St., were skinned and bruised but otherwise uninjured.

They were Marvin Buchan, 294 Lake St.; Donald Byers, 27 Park St., and William Davis, aso 27 Park St. Thethree uninjured occupants were Larry Payne, 89 Park; Joe O'Brien, 163 Princess St.; and Mike Gooley, 35 Stewart St.

Feeley may be charged with careless driving.

The jeep is owned by the Drive-In Theatre.

Feeley was driving home from the ttheatre, going south on Aylmer St. When about 30 feet from Murray St., he applied his brakes before making a right turn to go east on Murray.

Apparently he was going too fast to control the jeep. Instead of making the turn it crashed into the south curb on Murray and turned over.

Damage, estimated at $300, includes the undercarriage, hood, windshield and top.

PCs Jack Wilson and William G. Scott investigated.

Lindsay Man Chooses Wrong Spot, Witness

LINDSAY, July 31 — A Lindsay man has been charged with theft following an episode witnessed by Constable Gordon Eberts of the town police department.

Constable Eberts was patrolling Saturday evening when he saw two men headed for a shaded spot about 6.20 p.m. He reported that one of the men threw the other to the ground and started searching his pockets and removed a cigarette lighter. At this point the constable collared the agressor and turned him in on a theft charge.

The other man was charged with being intoxicated in public.

Ottawa Publishes Book Howe To Survive A-Bomb

OTTAWA, July 31—(CP)—The Health Department released today a 48-page booklet telling how to survive atomic attack and said it is "must" reading for every Canadian without delay.

One hundred and thirty thousand copies are being printed as a preliminary step to bring home to the public its comprehensive lessons on what to do under a variety of perilous circumstances. They will cost 10 cents apiece.

The department said this is one of 12 pamphlets or booklets being published in a drive to acquaint the whole country with the dangers that may erupt at any moment. But this is the one for the man in the street.

Three Others

Released at the same time were three others, one on the training plan for CD workers, one on the effects of an atomic bomb explosion on structures and personnel, and one on Canadian organization for CD.

The survival booklet has placed in a Caandian context the lessons that have already been learned about atomic dangers.

"There are some precautions we can take right now, like building shelters in our cellars or gardens," it says. "In addition there are lessons we should learn without delay . . . which will enable us to act quickly if a raid comes. The booklet will tell us what to do about these."

The booklets are going out to provincial and municipal CD authorities and may be obtained through or from the King's Printer here. The department has also given permission for their reproduction by anyone who sees fit to do so.

Seaway To Cost $35 Million Extra In Canada

OTTAWA, July 31 (CP)—The cost of the controversial St. Lawrence seaway and power project will go up another $35,000,000 if Canada decides to go ahead and build it without US co-operation.

Government experts estimated today this will send the overall cost of the development into the neighborhood of $740,000,000, an expenditure that would be spread out over the five to six years it would take to complete the project.

Had the U.S. joined Canada in the construction, the total cost would have been around $704,142,000 of which the U.S. would pay $483,915,000 and Canada $220,227,000. That estimate was made on the basis of prices prevailing in December, 1950.

Costlier Route

The reason for the higher cost of the development if Canada decided to go ahead alone would be that an all-Canadian waterway would have to be constructed entirely on the Canadian side of the St. Lawrence. The builders, thus would lose the advantage of certain geographical and less costly features of the American shore.

However, even if the overall cost does leap ot $740,000,000, that does not mean that Canada's federal government will have to bear the entire financial load. A big portion—approximately one-half—of the cost would be paid by Ontario and New York State, which would share equally the benefits of 2,200,000 horsepower of electrical energy to be harnessed in the St. Lawrence.

Harness Power

The broad aim of the project is to harness the power resources, which lie in the international section of the river between Ontario and New York, and to provide a deep waterway for ocean-going shipping up through the Great Lakes chain.

This means that existing canals in the waterways system, now going to a depth of 14 feet, would have to be deepened to 27 feet to accommodate the heavier ocean vessels.

One thing likely to be considered by the cabinet is whether the hydro and waterways phases of the project should be separated. It might then allow Ontario to join with New York State in the construction of the power production facilities, leaving the seaway in abeyance.

GOOD DEED TREE—Quadruple amputee Pfc. Hubert E. Reeves, Joliet, Ill., is presented with a "money tree" at the Valley Forge Hospital by Ambrose Vavorak, a Flint, Mich., tavern keeper. Vaverak started puttnig silver pieces in a lit candle, and customers soon built up the 46-pound "tree." Started last Jan. 15, it is now worth about $700. Looking on are Col. John M. Welch, commanding officer of the hospital, and Mrs Vaverak.

Alexander Thinks Sons Will Stay Become Citizens

OTTAWA, July 31 —(CP)—A forecast that his sons would remain in Canada and become citizens was made by the Governor-General, Viscount Alexander, in an interview published Monday.

The interview at Nightingales, Viscount Alexander's new home in England where he has been on vacation, quoted the Governor-General as saying his term in Ottawa, which began April 12, 1946, was "more than worthwhile."

He added: "If I were a young man I would go and make my career in Canada. My boys love it so much I believe they will remain in Canada and become Canadians."

Viscount and Lady Alexander have two sons, both in school in England, who have spent a number of summer vacations in Canada. The Alexanders are expected to return to Ottawa by air next Thursday.

NIGHTMARE ON THE PICKET LINE—Striking phone company employes in San Francisco showed some new numbers in piket line garb as they turned up in early morning clad in long nightgowns. Their costumes and signs hinted at nightmarish working conditions. Under their nighties, the girls were fully clothed.

Cattle Buyer Suicides On Road Near Ottawa

OTTAWA, July 31—(CP)—An American cattle buyer, identified as Charles B. Gildstein, 37, of Ware, Mass., was found dead in his truck parked in a clump of bushes off a highway on the outskirts of Ottawa Monday. He had been shot in the head.

Coroner Dr. Harry Dover said it was a case of suicide and there would be no inquest.

Goldstein was well-known in the Ottawa Valley to which he made numerous business trips.

End In Sight?

HAMILTON, July 31 (CP) — Witnesses offered a dubious explanation after George Morris was hauled out of Lake Ontario 1½ miles from shore yesterday. They said he chased a beach ball into the lake and just kept on going. When pulled out he was still going but weary. He didn't get the ball.

Whitby Police Chief ChargedTaking Bribes

WHITBY, July 31 — (CP). — The executive committee of the Whitby Ratepayers' Association Monday night demanded an open hearing on 15 complaints against Police Chief Ronald Love.

The complaints include charges of accepting gifts, consuming liquor in a police cruiser, taking prisoners to a beverage room, assaulting a constable, and opening mail addressed to other police officers.

The association in this town, 28 miles east of Toronto, says it hass igned statements to back up the complaints. The information has been placed in the hands of Whitby's recently-formed Police Commission which comprises Judge J. F. MacRae, Mayor William Elliott, and Crown Attorney Alex Hall.

News Camera Man Retires In West

WINNIPEG, July 31 (CP). — The retirement of Harry Steel, 65, pioneer Western news photographer, after 30 years with the Winnipeg Free Press, was announced Monday.

The first news photographer to become a full-time employee of a Western Canada newspaper, Mr. Steel covered some of the West's biggest stories with his camera. He considers the capture of the strangler, Earl Nelson, in 1927 his most exciting assignment. Nelson was believed to have slain at least seven persons in Canada and the United States before he fas captured at Killarney, Man.

Among the thousands of pictures taken in his 50 years of photographic work — "I wish I had a nickel for each"—Mr. Steel prizes one of an ice-encrusted fire engine beside a collapsed Winnipeg threatre roof as probably his best. Three firemen died in the disaster. The picture was used by some of the world's biggest papers, including the London Daily Mirror and the New York Times.

Colorful Lawyer Dies, Explorer, Reporter

NEW YORK, July 31—(AP)—Funeral services are to be held today for Howard Wiswall Bible, 79, a lawyer who pursued a colorful career in war and in peace. He died Saturday.

After graduating from law school he went on exploring expeditions to Africa and Northern Canada.

Early in the First World War, Bible was a war correspondent for the old New York Globe and The Times of London. Later, he became one of President Wilson's first $1-a-year men, helping run the British blockade to bring needed German dyes to the United States.

After the war, he practised international law in England, the US, Canada and Europe.

Sense of Humor

HAMILTON, July 31 (CP) — Even tax accessors have a sense of humor—if slightly warped. Two assessors trudging on their rounds here cut from one house to another across a lawn. "Hey!" yelled the householder from her door. "What do you think the sidewalks are for?" "To raise the assessment," was the quick reply.

Common Pilfering

LONDON (CP).—When a man appeared in court charged with stealing scarce bananas from the Spitafield Market, the magistrate asked if there was much pilfering. A market seller replied, "I am afraid it is an accepted part of market life."

Douglas Criticizes US For "Military" Asian Politics

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)—Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the US Supreme Court Monday criticized the Asian policies of both General MacArthur and the administration.

Americans, Douglas wrote in Look magazine, have become "victims" of "the military philosophy." And this, he said, may produce a "crusade against America" in Asia.

He said the US has relied too heavily on the military since the end of the Second World War.

Because of their training, Douglas said, military men have no "ear for political trends, no skills in evaluating social or economic conditions," and "they are not reliable political reporters or advisers."

Three Revolutions

Douglas said three main revolutionary factors are at work in Asia—"an intensive nationalism born of a deep revolt against foreign domination, a passionate resolve to be rid of landlordism," and "a burning concept of equality for the colored races."

The Communists, he said "win over the masses by promising programs of reforms that have their historical origins, not in Russia, but in the US."

In contrast, the justice continued, "we stand for stability, for the status quo. Which means we are behind the powers that be, the vested interests, the landlords of Asia."

He said that America has placed its military power and influence behind "some of the most vicious elements in Asia." He said that when the US announced its support of the French in Indo-China "a shudder passed through Southeast Asia."

Communist Led

While there is no doubt that the rebels in Indo-China are Communist-led, he said, "it is also true that the French imposed on that area one of the most vicious colonial systems in all history."

He said the US erred in Korea by crossing the 38th Parallel.

"It was perfectly plain that China would enter the war if we pressed our claims above the 38th Parallel. That was the time to call a halt, save the lives of our men, and reach for a political settlement of Korea's problems."

If India is swpet into the Soviet orbit, Douglas said, America "would then stand alone without allies" and "it might then be too late to win even a war." He concluded:

Near Tragedy

"The appalling fact is that we are nearer to that tragedy than our people realize. We are indeed on the verge of that disaster. Our insecurity is not Russian armed might. Our insecurity is our political bankruptcy in influencing Asai's destiny.

"Communism is winning Asia by default. We have been rendered largely impotent because we have become victims of military thinking."

Pouring Rain Ends Cricket Test Match

LEEDS, England, July 31 — (Reuters)—The fourth cricket test match between England and South Africa was abandoned as a draw today after heavy rain last night and this morning saturated the ground and prevented any play.

England lead 2-1 in the series, with one match drawn and one more match to be played at the Oval in London Aug. 16.

With only six hours left for play today, a draw appeared inevitable in any case. South Africa, with all their second innings wickets in hand, were 120 runs ahead.

Final scores: South Africa 538 and 87 for no wickets, England 505.

Girl Loses Dollar Bond With Fiance

MONTREAL, July 31 (CP). — Penny is chasing a dollar around town.

That's not a new kind of double-talk, it's the story of 19-year-old Penny Brazeau who lost a Canadian dollar bill that is a link in an international romance.

Last September Penny became engaged to a young United States naval reserve officer, Jack Fisher of Hastings on the Hudson, NY, following a whirlwind courtship. He gave her the bill saying:

"This will be a bond between us. Keep it until I return with an engagement ring."

When he came back with the ring, Penny kept the dollar as a keepsake. But, Sunday, Penny's sister needed some change and took the dollar from Penny's piggy bank by mistake, spending it in a drug store.

Now Penny is frantically trying to recover it because every time Jack Writes from his training station in San Francisco he asks her if she still has the bill.

Maybe you have it. The serial number is NM-4980531.

De Gasperi Cabinet Seeks Approval Vote

ROME, July 31, (AP).—Premier Alcide de Gasperi today seeks a parliamentary vote of confidence for his seventh cabinet. He is expected to win approval in both the Senate and Chamber of Deputies where his Christian Democrats hold large majorities.

De Gasperi resigned as Premier July 14 and was asked to form a new government by President Luigi Einaudi.

After a week-long discussion with his party's members, the 70-year-old Premier formed a new cabinet with three Republican and 14 Christian Democrat ministers—including himself.

26,000 CNR Employees Study New Book of Rules

MONTREAL—(CP)—Going to school these summer days are 26,000 Canadian National Railways employees.

And they had better know the answers when it comes to what may be regarded as writing 26,000 individual books.

The reason for this mass examination-writing is the issuance of a new book of standard rules. The rules will come into effect Aug. 26.

Right now the Canadian National people who have to do with train operation—at headquarters, in stations, dispatchers' offices, out on the tracks and bridges, in the signal department and in engine cabs, freight cabooses and passenger trains—are studying the new rule book.

There are competent instructors. Classes are held at various points across the system and an instruction car is touring the lines.

After all this study and instruction each employee will be given a book—an a, b, ,c or d book, depending upon his classification of employment.

Then he will write the answers to a long list of questions bearing on the 681 rules in the new manual.

Can Crib

He can crib a little from the rule book if his momery fails, but after the written test comes a stiff oral examination. How he answers these questions will depend his future as a railroader.

No individual will be exepected to recite word for word the 681 rules, many of them with subsections and illustrative diagrams.

But by the time the instructor gets through with the examination he will know whether his "pupil" understands thoroughly the import of the the rules and is qualified to fill a position of responsibility.

The present rule book for the operating man has been in service since 1929 on the Canadian National. Since then new rules or alterations have been issued periodically, born of changing conditions. All changes now are included in the new book.

A major addition deals with centralized traffic conrtol. This comparatively new and somewhat amazing device provides for the operation of trains from a central conrtol point. From it all switches and signals can be operated over long stretches of track, in some cases exceeding 100 miles.

Another important section of the new book deals with "Uniform Code of Operating Rules."

Beginning Aug. 26 the rules will be uniform not only so far as the Canadain National system is concerned but will apply with equal force to all railroad lines in Canada. They all had a part in making the new book.

The importance of this is emphasized when it is realized that nearly all Canadian lines, and United States lines running into Canada, use each other's facilities to some extent.

In the past the "owning" company's rules have governed operations of trains with "running rights" over the owning company's lines. Now the rules will be the same for all, with lessening of complications.

There is one subject on which the new rules place special emphasis. Under the heading "General Notice", appear these words:—

"Safety is of the first importance in the discharge of duty."

US Production Below Normal

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—A decline in United States industrial production "somewhat more than seasonal" is indicated in July, the Federal Reserve Board reported today in a summary of business conditions.

The board's index of output of factories and mines, based on the 1935-39 average as 100, may decline to around 215 in July, the board said.

The post-war high was 223 in May. June it stood at 222. It reached a high of 244 during the Second World War.

In forecasting a drop this month, the board's summary attributed the decline mainly to vacation shutdowns in non-durable goods industries and a further restricted volume of automobile assemblies.

Censorship Planned If Enemy Attacks

WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP)—In the event of enemy attack, the Defence Department expects to be ready with a program of communications censorship "in a matter of hours."

Plans for this were disclosed to the House of Representatives Appropriations committee by Jack Gorrie, acting chairman of the National Security Resources Board, during hearings on the 1952 military budget. The committee made the testimony public today.

In it, Gorrie said:

"On censorship, in the event we were attacked, you have to have it in force in a matter of hours. The quicker the better, because it prevents the enemy from knowing the destruction he may cause on your country."

Old One's Best

ALLENTOWN, Pa., July 31. (CP)—Mrs. John Kropf, 65. yearned for the modern conveniences. She bought an electric refrigerator and gave her old icebox to a junkman. Two kids playing in the junkyard opened the icebox and found $13,815 in cash wrapped in a box.

Mrs. Kropf, flabbergasted, said her ailing 82-year-old husband had apparently hidden the money there. She rewarded the children.

Transport Strike Boost Use Of Air Services

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

WELLINGTON, NZ—(CP)—Railway and waterfront strikes in New Zealand have resulted in a tremendous increase in air freight and passenger travel. The past year has seen the biggest increase in use of airways in New Zealand's history.

Officials are confident that much of the extra business will be retained now that users have realized the advantages of air services. At the same time there has been an enormous growth in the use of aircraft for fertilizing pastures, which has become the most rapidly growing aspect of farming in the dominion.

Internal freight traffic in New Zealand increased by 51 per cent in the past financial year and freight traffic across the Tasman Sea to Australia increased by 55 per cent. Internal passenger traffic grew by 16 per cent and Tasman traffic by 38 per cent.

State Operated

These figures relate only to state operated air services. All trunk routes in New Zealand are state-owned and only minor services are carried on by private firms. They, however, have shown an equally rapid growth during the year.

In 1949-50 only eight companies were engaged in aerial top-dressing which was still in its infancy as a farming operation. They distributed 5,003 tons of fertilizer. In 1950-51 there were 26 firms engaged in top-dressing and they dropped 44,822 tons of fertilizer from the air.

The number of aircraft used for this purpose is still increasing rapidly and larger, more suitable planes are being brought into service equipped with specially designed gear for spreading larger quantities of fertilized. The process is proving especially useful in New Zealand where much of the farming pasture is steep and not easily top-dressed from the ground.

Half Signature Rules Out Will

SYDNEY, Australia (CP).—An ex-serviceman's last wish to leave all his possessions, valued at more than £100, to a lifelong woman friend was nullified here when he died in the act of signing the will.

A justice of the peace and other winesses were present when the man began to sign the document, but collapsed and died after after writing his christian names.

As he had no relatives and no dependents, he is officially assumed to have died intestate. Proceeds of the sale of his real and personal property will be transferred to general revenue.

A. A. House, Deputy Public Trustee, explained that a will is not valid unless signed by witnesses in the presence of the executor. Even if the executor lost consciousness while witnesses were signing, the will would not be valid.

Beast of Prey

Lodges Honor Grand Master

MARMORA, July 31—(ENS)—Members of Springbrook LOL 442 and Stirling LOL 110 with their wives met at pringbrook Grange Hall on Friday to honor Right Wor. Bro. Frederick C. Bateman, Grand Master of Ontario East, who enjoys membership in both of these lodges.

Wilfred Spencer, former reeve of Rawdon township and a member of Petherick's Corners LOL, was chairman. Mrs. Florence McKeown, organist of Springbrook United Church, presided at the piano.

The program commenced with a solo, The Lord's Prayer, by William Reynolds, Stirling, who sang for an encore "The Rose of Tralee." Musical selections on the violin by Phil Beaudrie accompanied by Eileen Cooke at the piano further enlivened the gathering. Philip Carr, of West Huntingdon, Past County Master, gave some humorous recitations to be followed by X. P. Mayhew, of Stirling, with a comic song to his own guitar accompaniment.

As speaker of the evening Past County Master W. J. Cottrell, of Marmora LOL 319, gave a ten-minute talk on "The marks of a true Orangeman."

A number of congratulatory speeches were heard from the following: George Thompson, of LOL 442, and ex-Warden of Hastings county; William Anderson, of Stirling LOL 110; David Cotton, of Springbrook LOL 442; Harry Morrow, of Frankford LOL; Philip Carr, of West Huntingdon LOL 300; W. J. Barlow, of LOL 442 and clerk of Rawdon township; Sidney Demorest, Worshipful Master of Stirling LOL 110; and Murney Bateman, Worshipful Master of Springbrook LOL 442. The chairman called upon Wor. Bro. Rev. H. E. Beare, of LOL 442 to read an address of appreciation of the services rendered the Order by Right Wor. Bro. Bateman and of congratulation on his elevation to his present high office in the Order. The Grand Master was presented with a wallet of money while his wife received a gift of red roses. In response, he reviewed his life as an Orangeman. He felt that all young Protestants should join the Orange Order, also he stressed fidelity to the Union Jack, saying that if it were not for the Orange Order there would be no Union Jack in Canada today. He placed a high value upon the Sunday school movement and declared it was the duty of parents to see that their children get their religious education in the Sunday school. He announced the appointment of Bro. Rev. H. E. Beare as a deputy Grand Chaplain for Ontario East.

The program closed with the National Anthem.

Adjournment was then made to the dining room of the hall where the ladies served an excellent lunch.

The Grand Master whose full name is Frederick Caleb Bateman comes of a family steeped in Orange tradition. His father the late John Bateman had seven sons.

The Grand Master who is 47 years old joined the Order on July 6 1922. Wor. Bro. Roy Barton was WM of Springbrook LOL 492 at that time and is now that lodge's fifer.

R.W. Bro. Bateman was elected W.M. of his Lodge in December 1931. His health did not permit him to accept the office of District Master when it was the turn of his lodge to have one of its members in the chair. However, his faithful attendance at Grand Lodge over the years resulted in his election first as Lecturer and since then to the other offices leading to that of Grand Master.

After residing in his native township of Rawdon continuously since birth, he moved to Stirling a few years ago where with his wife, he conducts a ladies clothing store. Five of his six brothers were present on the night of his initiation. Two have since died. The surviving four were present on Friday evening to honor him.

Farmer Loses Finger Helping Right Tractor

ROSENEATH, July 31—(ENS)—An Alnwick Township farmer lost the fourth finger on his left hand Saturday when his hand was caught in a tow truck hoist.

The farmer, Cephas Robins, 36, was helping garagemen from Roseneath right a tractor that a few minutes before had overturned on a slope, bruising Robins severely.

Robins had been levelling the ground around cottages owned by Ed Breckin on the south shore of Rice Lake, five miles west of Roseneath. Dr. B. M. Woods, Cobourg, attended Robins.

Last week, Robins'. brother, also a farmer in Alnwick Township, was injured when he fell from a haymow in his barn.

Mexico Appeals For More Newsprint

OTTAWA, July 31 — (CP) — Mexico appealed to Canada Monday for more newsprint to avert a growing scarcity hitting Mexican newspapers and crippling a campaign to wipe out illiteracy in that country.

Antonio Martinez Baez, Mexico's Economics Minister, accompanied by two newspaper publishers, called on government officials seeking support of an appeal which will be directed to Canadian newsprint producers at a meeting in Montreal Wednesday. He was told it was a matter for the trade.

Mr. Martinez Baez said in an interview that Canadian producers have cut exports to Mexico by about 6,000 metric tons in the first six months of 1951.

Thompson Forecasts Victory In Election

WINGHAM, Ont., July 31 (CP)—Walter Thompson, Ontario Liberal leader, Monday night told a large crowd here that at the next election he will be premier of the province. He addressed the Huron-Bruce Liberal nomination convention.

"Don't say after the election we did nothing," he told his supporters. "Let's get down to work now."

Mr. Thompson advocated a reduced gasoline tax to the farmer, and certificates to farmers for the purchase of gasoline. He urged better homes for the aged and further expansion of industry in Northern Ontario.

Bulgarian General Reported Arrested

BELGRADE, July 31—(AP)—The Yugoslav press reported today that Maj.-Gen. Slavco Trinski of Bulgaria has been arrested secretly in that country as a spy.

Without disclosing the source of its information, Borba — the voice of Premier Tito's government—said the arrest was part of a purge of all Bulgarians opposing Russian domination.

The front-page article described Trinski as a veteran Communist and long-time advocate of Yugoslav-Bulgarian co-operation.

The newspaper claimed only seven of the 11-man Bulgarian politburo are "Russia's men" and that opposition to the regime is increasing.

FAMOUS WALL

Excavations indicate that the old Roman wall around London was built between 75 and 85 AD.

Prehistoric Reptile Found Died 75 Million Years Ago

WINNIPEG (CP).—The remains of a gigantic marine reptile that swam in a Manitoba sea about 75,000,000 years ago were discovered recently near Morden, Man., 65 miles southwest of here.

L. T. S. Norris-Elye, director of the Manitoba Museum, said the prehistoric monster is known as a mosasaur, a "sea lizard" that lived beneath the seas of cretaceous times.

"It dwarfs anything that has been found in Manitoba to date," the director said.

The discovery was made by Walter Stephenson during mining operations in Bentonite clay deposits about 10 miles northwest of Morden.

The jaw bone, which has been brought to the museum, is more than 40 inches long. The stubby teeth average more than two inches in length.

Actually the skeletal remains of at least two, and possibly more of the animals are contained in the jumble of bones being excavated by museum technicians. Enormous ribs and vertebrae have also been identified.

Bones Scattered

Area of the spot where the bones are scattered throughout the Bentonite clay measures roughly 25 by 12 feet. But the bones are so mixed up it is impossible at the present time to make an accurate estimate of the length of the reptile.

Bones of another mosasaur were discovered in this area last year. This prehistoric creature has been estimated at 25 to 30 feet in length. However, bones of the latest find are nearly twice as large as similar pieces of last year's discovery.

It is possible the monster may eventually be identified as a tylosaurus, the largest type of mosasaur, museum officials said. These long, sinuous sea serpents were as large as medium sized whales and equal in bulk of many of the dinosaurs.

Distant relatives of the mosasaurs, the "monitor" lizards of the old world, still exist.

The first mosasaur remains were discovered in a sandstone quarry in Holland on the Meuse River in 1780. Since then a number have been unearthed in other parts of the world.

Windsor To Get 300 New Houses

TORONTO, July 31 — (CP) — William Griesinger, Ontario minister of planning and development, announced Monday that construction will begin immediately on 300 houses at Windsor.

Cost of the houses, part of a 5,000-house project, will be shared by the federal, provincial and municipal governments.

Cost of the present project has been estimated at $2,631,755.

The houses will be built on Windsor's east side on city-serviced property.

Fifteen other municipalities are reported negotiating with the government but the Windsor contract is the first to reach the concrete stage.

Windsor board of control has directed that the houses have three bedrooms and be built of brick.

Want Aid For Captives

WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP)—Three Senators have urged that the Korean cease-fire talks be broken off unless the Communists permit medical teams to treat allied war prisoners now in Communist hands. Senators Styles Bridges (Rep. NH), Harry Cain, (Rep. Wash.) and Everett Dirksen (Rep. Ill.) asked that this be made "an immediate condition of continuing truce talks."

ASBESTOS in action

Back in the 1870's a man of far vision saw miraculous possibilities in the practically indestructible mineral asbestos. He visualized fireproof building materials and insulations of every kind. He saw packings and brake linings that would resist burning friction.

He was H. W. Johns, co-founder of Johns-Manville. Today, many of his ideas have been achieved and even surpassed thanks to modern research. In the transportation field alone, for example — speedy ships, giant locomotives, fast planes, heavy trucks and comfortable automobiles, all depend on asbestos. Yes, the magic mineral plays an important role in our modern age!
